ARCHBISHOP PARKER'S

P R E F A C E.

OF all the sentences pronounced by our Saviour Christ in his whole doctrine, none is more serious, or more worthy to be borne in remembrance, than that which he spake openly in his gospel, saying, "Scrutamini scripturas, quia vos putatis in ipsis vitam æternam habere, & illæ sunt, quæ testimonium perhibent de me." "Search ye the scriptures; for in them ye think to have eternal life, and those they be which bear witness of me." These words were first spoken unto the Jews by our Saviour; but by him in his doctrine meant to all. For they concern all of what nation, of what tongue, of what profession soever any man be. For to all belongeth it to be called unto eternal life, so many as by the witness of the scriptures desire to find eternal life. No man, woman, or child, is excluded from this salvation; and therefore to every one of them is this spoken; proportionally yet, and in their degrees and ages, and as the reason and congruity of their vocation may ask. For not so lieth in charge to the worldly artificer to search, or to any other private man so exquisitely to study, as it lieth to the charge of the public teacher to search in the scriptures, to be the more able to walk in the house of God ("which is the church of the living God, the pillar and ground of truth") to the establishing of the true doctrine of the same, and to the impugning of the false. And though whatsoever difference there may be betwixt the preacher in office, and the auditor in his vocation, yet to both it is said, "Search ye the scriptures," whereby ye may find eternal life, and gather witnesses of that salvation, which is in Christ Jesus our Lord.

For although the prophet of God, Moses, biddeth the king, when he is once set in the throne of his kingdom, to describe before his eyes the volume of God's law, according to the example which he should receive of the priests of the Levitical tribe, to have it with him, and to read in it all the days of his life, to the end that he might learn to fear the Lord his God, and to observe his laws, that his heart be not advanced in pride over his brethren, nor to swerve either on the right hand, or on the left; yet the reason of this precept, for that it concerneth all men, may reasonably be thought to be commanded to all men, and all men may take it to be spoken to themselves in their degree. Though Almighty God spake to his servant Joshua in precise words, "Non recedat volumen legis hujus ab ore tuo, sed meditaberis in eo diebus ac noctibus," &c. "Let not the volume of this book depart from thy mouth, but muse therein both days and nights, that thou mayest keep and perform all things which be written in it, that thou mayest direct well thy way, and understand the same:" yet as well spake Almighty God this precept to all his people in the direction of their ways to himward, as he meant it to Joshua. For he that hath care of all, he accepteth no man's person; his will is, that all men should be saved; his will is, that all men should come to the way of truth*. How could this be more conveniently declared by God to man, than when Christ his well-beloved Son, our most loving Saviour, the way, the truth, and the life of us all, did bid us openly, "Search the scriptures," assuring us herein to find eternal life; to find full testification of all his graces and benefits towards us, in the treasure thereof.

Therefore it is most convenient, that we should all suppose, that Christ spake to us all in this his precept of searching the scriptures. If this celestial Doctor (so authorised by the Father of heaven, and commanded, as his only Son, to be heard of us all) biddeth us busily to "search the scripture," of what spirit can it proceed, to forbid the reading and studying of the scriptures? If the gross Jews used to read them, as some men think, that our Saviour Christ did shew, by such kind of speaking, their usage, with their opinion they had therein to find eternal life, and were not of Christ rebuked or disproved, either for their searching, or their opinion they had therein to find eternal life, how superstitiously, or superficially soever some of them used to expound the scriptures; how much more unadvisedly do such as boast themselves either to be Christ's vicars, or to be of his guard, to loath christian men from reading, by their covert slanderous reproaches of the scriptures, or in their authority by law or statute to contract this liberty of studying the word of eternal salvation? Christ calleth them not only to the single reading of scriptures (saith Chrysostom) but sendeth them to the exquisite searching of them, for in them is eternal life to be found, and they be (saith himself) the witness of me: for they declare out his office, they commend his benevolence towards us, they record his whole works wrought for us, to our salvation. Antichrist therefore he must be, that, under whatsoever colour, would give contrary precept or counsel, to that which Christ did give unto us. Very little do they resemble Christ's loving Spirit, moving us to search for our comfort, that will discourage us from such searching, or that would wish ignorance or forgetfulness of his benefit to reign in us; so that they might by our ignorance reign the more frankly in our consciences, to the danger of our salvation. Who can take the light from us in this miserable vale of blindness, and mean not to have us stumble in the paths of perdition, to the ruin of our souls? Who will envy us this bread of life, prepared and set on the table, for our eternal sustenance, and mean not to furnish us, or instead thereof, with their corrupt traditions, and doctrines of man, to infect us? All the whole scripture, saith the holy apostle St. Paul, inspired from God above, is profitable to teach, to reprove, to reform, to instruct in righteousness, that the man of God may be found and perfect, instructed to every good work.

* That is, his revealed will contained in his BLESSED WORD; which, as the good Archbishop is here contending against the church of Rome, ought to be read by all men, and not by the PRIESTS only.

Search therefore, good Reader (in God's name) as Christ biddeth thee, the holy scripture, wherein thou mayest find thy salvation. Let not the volume of this book (by God's own warrant) depart from thee; but occupy thyself therein in the whole journey of this thy worldly pilgrimage, to understand thy way how to walk rightly before him all the days of thy life. Remember, that the prophet David pronounceth him the blessed man, which will muse in the law of God both day and night: Remember, that he calleth him BLESSED, which walketh in the way of the Lord, which will search diligently his testimonies, and will in their whole heart seek the same. Let not the covert suspicious insinuations of the adversaries drive thee from the search of the holy scriptures, either for the obscurity which they say is in them, or for the inscrutable hidden mysteries they talk to be comprised in them, or for the strangeness and homeliness of the phrases they would charge God's book with. Christ exhorteth thee therefore the rather for the difficulty of the same, to search them diligently. St. Paul willeth thee to have thy senses exercised in them, and not to be a child in thy senses, but in malice. Though many things may be difficult to thee to understand, impute it rather to thy dull hearing and reading, than to think that the scriptures be insuperable to them which with diligent searching labour to discern the evil from the good. Only search with an humble spirit, ask in continual prayer, seek with purity of life, knock with perpetual perseverance, and cry to that good Spirit of Christ the Comforter. And surely to every such asker it will be given, such searchers must needs find, to them it will be opened. Christ himself will open the sense of the scriptures, not to the proud, or to the wise of the world; but to the lowly and contrite in heart. For he hath the key of David, who openeth, and no man shutteth; who shutteth, and no man openeth. For as this Spirit is a benign and liberal Spirit, and will easily be found of them which will early in carefulness rise to seek him, and as he promiseth he will be the Comforter from above to teach us, and to lead us into all the ways of truth, if that in humility we bow unto him, denying our own natural senses, or carnal wits and reasons: so he is the Spirit of purity and cleanness, and will recede from him whose conscience is subject to filthiness of life. Into such a soul this heavenly wisdom will not enter. For all perverse cogitations will separate us from God. And then how busily soever we search this holy table of the scripture, yet will it then be a table to such to their own snare, a trap, a stumbling block, and a recompence to themselves. We ought therefore to search to find out the truth, not to oppress it; we ought to seek Christ, not as Herod did, under the pretence of worshipping him to destroy him; or as the Pharisees searched the scriptures to disprove Christ, and to discredit him, and not to follow him; but to embrace the salvation which we may learn by them.

Nor yet is it enough so to acknowledge the scriptures, as some of the Jews did, of the holiest of them, who used such diligence, that they could number precisely, not only every verse, but every word and syllable, how often every letter of the alphabet was repeated in the whole scriptures. They had some of them such reverence to that book, that they would not suffer in a great heap of books, any other to lay over them; they would not suffer the book to fall to the ground as nigh as they could; they would costly bind the books of holy scriptures, and cause them to be exquisitely and ornately written. Which devotion yet, though it were not to be discommended, yet was it not for that intent why Christ commended the scriptures, nor they thereof allowed before God. For they did not call upon God in a true faith, they were not charitable to their neighbours; but in the midst of all this devotion, they did steal, they were adulterers, they were slanderers and backbiters: even much like many of our christian men and women now-a-days, who glory much that they read the scriptures, that they search them and love them, that they frequent the public sermons in an outward shew of all honesty and perfection: yea, they can pick out of the scriptures virtuous sentences, and godly precepts to lay before other men. And though these manner of men do not much err from such searching and studying, yet they see not the scope, and principal state of the scriptures: which is, as Christ declareth it, to find Christ as their Saviour, to cleave to his salvation and merits, to be brought to the low repentance of their lives, and to amend themselves, to raise up their faith to our Saviour Christ, so to think of him, as the scriptures do testify of him. These be the principal causes, why Christ did send the Jews to search the scriptures. "For to this end were they written," saith St. John. "Hæc scripta sunt ut credatis, & ut credentes vitam habeatis æternam." "These were written, to this intent, that ye should believe, and that through your belief ye should have everlasting life."

And here, good Reader, great cause we have to extol the wonderful wisdom of God, and with great thanks to praise his providence, considering how he hath preserved and renewed from age to age, by special miracle, the incomparable treasure of his church. For first he did inspire Moses, as John Chrysostom doth testify, to write the stony tables, and kept him in the mountain forty days, to give him his law. After him he sent the prophets; but they suffered many thousand adversities; for battles did follow, all were slain, were destroyed, books were burnt up. He then inspired again another man to repair these miraculous scriptures, Esdras I mean, who of their leavings set them again together. After that, he provided that the seventy Interpreters should take them in hand. At the last came Christ himself: the apostles did receive them, and spread them throughout all nations. Christ wrought his miracles and wonders; and what followed? After these great volumes, the apostles also did write, as St. Paul doth say, "These be written to the instruction of us, that he come into the end of the world." And Christ doth say, "Ye therefore do err, because ye know not the scriptures, nor the power of God."

ARCHBISHOP PARKER'S PREFACE.

God." And Paul did say, "Let the word of Christ be plentiful among you." And again saith Col. 3.
David, "Oh! how sweet be thy words to my throat, above the honey, or the honey-comb to Psalm 119.
my mouth." Yea Moses saith, "Thou shalt meditate in them evermore; when thou risest, and Deut. 16.
when thou sittest down, when thou goest to sleep, continue in them," he saith; and a thousand places more: And yet after so many testimonies thus spoken, there be some persons that do not yet so much as know what the scriptures be. Whereupon nothing is in good state amongst us, nothing worthily is done amongst us. In things which pertain to this life, we make very great haste, but of spiritual goods we have no regard.' Thus far John Chrysostom.

It must needs signify some great thing to our understanding, that Almighty God hath had such care to prescribe these books thus unto us: I say, not prescribe them only, but to maintain them, and defend them against the malignity of the devil and his ministers, who always went about to destroy them. And yet could these never be so destroyed, but that he would have them continue whole and perfect unto this day, to our singular comfort and instruction; where other books of mortal wise men have perished in great numbers. It is recorded, that Ptolomæus Philadelphus, king of Egypt, had gathered together in one library at Alexandria, by his great cost and diligence, seven hundred thousand books, whereof the principal were the books of Moses; which, reserved not much more than by the space of two hundred years, were all burnt and consumed in that battle, when Cæsar restored Cleopatra again after her expulsion. At Constantinople perished under Zenon, by one common fire, a hundred and twenty thousand books. Johan. Sa-

At Rome, when Lucius Aurelius Antonius did reign, his notable library, by a lightning from heaven, was quite consumed. Yea it is recorded, that Gregory I. did cause a library of Rome, containing only certain Painim's work to be burned, to the intent that the scriptures of God should be more read and studied. What other great libraries have there been consumed, but of late days? And what libraries have of old, throughout this realm, almost in every abbey of the same, been destroyed at fundry ages, besides the loss of other men's private studies, it were too long to rehearse.

Whereupon, seeing Almighty God, by his divine providence, hath preserved these books of the scriptures safe and sound, and that in their native languages they were first written in, the great ignorance that reigned in these tongues, and contrary to all other casualties, chanced upon all other books, in maugre of all worldly wits, who would so fain have had them destroyed; and yet he by his mighty hand, would have them extant as witnesses and interpreters of his will toward mankind. We may soon scan cause most reverently to embrace these divine testimonies of his will, to study them, and to search them, to instruct our blind nature, so sore corrupted and fallen from the knowledge in which first we were created; yet having occasion given somewhat to recover our fall, and to return again to that divine nature, wherein we were once made, and at the last to be inheritors in the celestial habitation with God Almighty, after the end of our mortality here, brought to his dust again. These books, I say, being of such estimation and authority, so much revered of them, who had any mean taste of them, could never be put out of the way; neither by the spite of any tyrant, as that tyrant Maximian destroyed all the whole scriptures, wheresoever they could be found, and burnt them in the midst of the market; neither the hatred of any Porphyrian philosopher or rhetorician, neither by the envy of the Romanists, and of such hypocrites, who from time to time did ever bark against them: some of Gilfride, Mon.
them not in open sort of condemnation, but more cunningly under subtle pretences; for that, as they say, they were so hard to understand, and especially, for that they affirm it to be a perilous matter to translate the text of the holy scripture, and therefore it cannot be well translated.

And we may behold the endeavour of some men's cavillations, who labour all they can to slandeur the Translators, to find fault in some words of the translation: but themselves will never set pen to the book, to set out any translation at all. They can in their constitutions provincial, under pain of excommunication, inhibit all other men to translate them without the Ordinaries, or the Provincial Council, agree thereunto. But they will be well aware never to agree, or give counsel to set them out; which their subtle compass, in effect, tendeth but to betray what inwardly they mean, if they could bring it about, that is, utterly to suppress them.
Being in this their judgment far unlike the old fathers in the primitive church, who have exhorted indifferently all persons, as well men as women, to exercise themselves in the scriptures, which, by St. Hierome's authority, be the scriptures of the people. Yea, they be far unlike their old forefathers, that have ruled in this realm, who in their times, and in divers ages, did their diligence to translate whole books of the scriptures to the erudition of the laity; as yet at this day be to be seen divers books translated into the vulgar tongue, some by kings of the realm, some by bishops, some by abbots, some by other devout godly fathers. So desirous they were of old time to have the lay sort edified in godliness, by reading in their vulgar tongue, that very many books may be yet extant, though for the age of the speech and strangeness of the character of many of them, almost worn out of knowledge. In which books may be seen evidently, how it was used among the Saxons, to have in their churches read the four gospels, so distributed and picked out in the body of the evangelists books, that to every Sunday and festival day in the year, they were sorted out to the common ministers of the church in their Common Prayers, to be read to their people. Now as of the most antient fathers the prophets, St. Peter testifies, 1 Pet. 3. that these holy men of God had the impulsion of the Holy Ghost, to speak out these divine testimonies: so it is not to be doubted, but that these latter holy fathers of the English church had the impulsion of the Holy Ghost, to set out these sacred books in their vulgar language, to the edification of the people, by the help whereof they might the better follow the example of the godly christians in the beginning of the church; who not only received the word with all readiness of heart, but also did search diligently in the scriptures, whether the doctrine of the apostles were Acts 17.

agreeable to the same scriptures. And these were not of the rascal sort, saith the divine story, but they were of the best and of most noble birth among the Thessalonians, Birrhenses by name. Yea, the prophets themselves in their days, writeth St. Peter, were diligent searchers to enquire out this salvation by Christ, "Searching when, and at what article of time, this grace of Christ's dispensation should appear to the world."

What meant the fathers of the church in their writings, but the advancing of these holy books? Where some do attribute no certainty of undoubted verity, but to the canonical scriptures. Some do affirm it to be a foolish rash boldness to believe him, who proveth not by the scriptures, that which he affirmeth in his word. Some do accurse all that is delivered by tradition, not found in the legal and evangelical scriptures. Some say, That our faith must needs stagger, if it be not grounded upon the authority of the scripture. Some testify that Christ and his church ought to be avouched out of the scriptures, and do contend in disputation, that the true church cannot be known, but only by the holy scriptures: for all other things, saith the same author, may be found among the heretics. Some affirm it to be a sinful tradition, that is obruded without the scripture. Some plainly pronounce, that not to know the scriptures, is not to know Christ.

The Scriptures beyond

Wherefore, let men extol out of the church practices as highly as they can; and let them set out their traditions and customs, their decisions in synods and councils, with vaunting the presence of the Holy Ghost among them really; as some do affirm it in their writing, let the grounds and their demonstrations, their foundations be as stable and as strong as they blaze them out; yet will we be bold to say with St. Peter, "Habemus nos firmiorem sermonem propheticum:" We have for our part a more stable ground, the prophetic words (of the scriptures) and doubt not to be commended therefore of the same St. Peter, with these words, "Cui dum attenditis, seu lucernæ apparenti in obscuro loco, rectè facitis, donec dies illucescat," &c. "Whereunto, saith he, while ye do attend as to a light shining in a dark place, ye do well, until the day-light appear, and till the bright star do arise in our hearts." For this we know, that all the prophetic scripture standeth not in any private interpretation of vain names, of several churches and catholic and universal sees, of singular and wilful heads, which will challenge by custom all decision to pertain to them only: who by working so much for their vain superiority, that they be not ashamed now to be of that number, "Qui dixerunt, linguam nostram magnificabimus, labia nostra nobis sunt, Quis noster dominus est?" "Which have said, with our tongue will we prevail, we are they that ought to speak. Who is Lord over us?" And while they shall thus contend for their strange-claimed authority, we will proceed in the reformation begun, and doubt no more, by the help of Christ his grace, of the true unity of Christ's catholic church, and of the uprightnes of our faith in this province, than the Spanish clergy once gathered together in council (only by the commandment of their king) before which time the Pope was not so acknowledged in his authority which he now claimeth) I say, as surely dare we truit, as they did trust of their faith and unity.

Council Brac-

Yea, no less confidence have we to profess that, which the fathers of the Universal Council at Carthage in Africa, as they write themselves, did profess in their epistle writ to Pope Celestin, laying before his face the foul corruption of himself (as two other of his predecessors did the like error) in falsifying the canons of Nicene council, for his wrong challenge of his new claimed authority. Thus writing, "Prudentissimè enim justissimèque providerunt (Nicena & Africana decreta) quæcunque negotia in suis locis (ubi orta sunt) finienda; nec unicuique provinciæ gratiam Sancti Spiritus defuturam, qua æquitas à Christi sacerdotibus & prudenter videatur, & constantissimè teneatur: Maxime quia unicuique concessum est, si iudicio offensus fuerit cogitorum, ad concilia suæ provinciæ, vel etiam universale, provocare." "That the (Nicene and African decrees) have most prudently and justly provided for all manner of matters to be ended in their territories, where they had their beginning. And they trusted, that not to any one Province should want the grace of the Holy Ghost, whereby both the truth or equity might prudently be seen of the christian prelates of Christ, and might be also by them most constantly defended; especially, for that it is granted to every man (if he be grieved) the judgment of the cause once known, to appeal to the councils of his own Province, or else to the Universal." Except there be any man which may believe, that our Lord God would inspire the righteousness of examination to any one singular person, and to deny the same to priests gathered together into council without number, &c. And there they do require the bishop of Rome, to send none of his clerks to execute such provincial causes, lest else, say they, might be brought in the vain pride of the world into the church of Christ.

Inter leges

In this antiquity may we, in this christian catholic church of England, repose ourselves, knowing our own annals of ancient record, that king Lucius, whose conscience was much touched with the miracles which the servants of Christ wrought in divers nations, thereupon being in great love with the true faith, sent unto Eleutherius then bishop of Rome, requiring of him the christian religion: but Eleutherius did readily give over that care to king Lucius, in his epistle: "For that the king, as he writeth, is the vicar of God in his own kingdom, and for that he had received the faith of Christ, and for that he had also both Testaments in his realm, he willed him to draw out of them by the grace of God, and by the council of his wise men, his laws, and by that law of God to govern his realm of Britain; and not so much to desire the Roman and emperor's laws, in the which some default might be found, saith he, but in the laws of God nothing at all." With which answer the king's legates, Eluanus and Medwinus, sent as messengers by the king to the Pope, returned to Britain again, Eluanus being made a bishop, and Medwinus allowed a public teacher. Who, for the eloquence and knowledge they had in the holy scriptures, repaired home again to king Lucius; and by their holy preachings, Lucius, and the noblemen of the whole Britain, received their baptism, &c. Thus far in the story.

And

And yet may it be true that William of Malmſbury writeth, that Phaganus and Deravianus were ſent after, as coadjutors with theſe learned men, to the preaching of the goſpel, which was never extinguished in Britain from Joſeph of Arimathea his time: As to St. Auſtin the firſt biſhop of Canterbury they do openly avouch.

Now therefore knowing and believing with St. Paul, "Quod quæcunque præſcripta ſunt, ad noſtram doctrinam præſcripta ſunt, ut per patientiam & conſolationem ſcripturarum ſpem habeamus:" "Whatſoever is afore written, is written before for our inſtruction, that we, through the patience and comfort of ſcriptures, might have hope;" the only ſurety to our faith and conſcience is to ſtick to the ſcriptures. Whereupon while this eternal word of God be our rock and anchor to ſtick to, we will have patience with all the vain inventions of men, who labour ſo highly to magnify their tongues, to exalt themſelves above all that is God. We will take comfort by the holy ſcriptures againſt the maledictions of the adverſaries, and doubt not to nourish our hope continually therewith; ſo to live and die in this comfortable hope, and doubt not to pertain to the elect number of Chriſt's church, how far ſoever we be excommunicated out of the ſynagogue of ſuch, who ſuppoſe themſelves to be the univerſal lords of all the world, lords of our faith and conſciences at pleaſure.

Finally to commend further unto thee, good Reader, the cauſe in part before intreated, it ſhall be the leſs needful, having ſo nigh followed that learned preface, which ſometime was ſet out by the diligence of that godly father, Thomas Cranmer, late biſhop in the ſee of Canterbury; which he cauſed to be prefixed before the tranſlation of the Bible, that was then ſet out. And for that the copies thereof be ſo waſted, that very many churches do want their convenient Bibles, it was thought good to ſome well-diſpoſed men, to recognize the ſame Bible again into this form as it is now come out, with ſome further diligence in the printing, and with ſome more light added partly in the tranſlation, and partly in the order of the text; as not condemning the former tranſlation, which was followed moſtly of any other tranſlation, excepting the original text, from which as little variance was made, as was thought meet to ſuch as took pains therein. Deſiring thee, good Reader, if ought be eſcaped, either by ſuch as had the expending of the books, or by the oversight of the Printer, to correct the ſame in the ſpirit of charity; calling to remembrance what diverſity hath been ſeen in men's judgments in the tranſlation of theſe books before theſe days: though all directed their labours to the glory of God, to the edification of the church, to the comfort of their chriſtian brethren. And always as God did further open unto them, ſo evermore deſirous they were to reform their former human overſights, rather than in a ſtubborn wilfulneſs to reſiſt the gift of the Holy Ghoſt, who from time to time is reſident; as that heavenly Teacher, and Leader into all truth; by whoſe direction the church is ruled and governed.

And let all men remember in themſelves, how error and ignorance is created with our nature. Let frail man confeſs with that great wiſe man, that the cogitations and inventions of mortal men be very weak, and our opinions ſoon deceived. For the body, ſo ſubject to corruption, doth oppreſs the ſoul, that it cannot aſpire ſo high, as of duty it ought. Men we be all, and that which we know, is not the thouſandth part of that we know not. Whereupon, ſaith St. Auſtin, "Otherwiſe to judge than the truth is, this temptation riſeth of the frailty of man. A man ſo to love and ſtick to his own judgment, or to envy his brothers, to the peril of diſſolving the chriſtian communion, or to the peril of ſchiſm, and of heresy; this is diabolical preſumption. But ſo to judge in every matter, as the truth is, this belongeth only to the angelical perfection." Notwithſtanding, good Reader, thou mayeſt be well aſſured nothing to be done in this tranſlation, either of malice or willful meaning in altering the text, either by putting more or leſs to the ſame, as of purpoſe to bring in any private judgment by falſification of the words, as ſome certain men have been overbold ſo to do, little regarding the Majeſty of God in his ſcripture; but ſo to make it ſerve to their corrupt error. As in alledging the ſentence of St. Paul to the Romans, the ſixth, one certain writer, to prove his ſatiſfaction, was bold to turn the word of Sanctificationem, into the word of Satiſfactionem, thus; "Sicut exhibeamus antea membra noſtra ſervire immunditiæ & iniquitati, ad iniquitatem; ita deinceps exhibeamus membra noſtra ſervire juſtitiæ, in ſatiſfactionem." That is, "As we have given our members to uncleanness, from iniquity to iniquity, even ſo from henceforth let us give our members to ſerve righteousneſs into ſatiſfaction." Where the true word is, "into ſanctification." Even ſo likewise for the advantage of his cauſe, to prove that men may have in their prayer faith upon ſaints, corruptly alledgeth St. Paul's text, Ad Philemonem, thus, "Fidem quam habes in Domino Jeſu, & in omnes ſanctos:" leaving out the word Charitatem, which would have rightly diſtributed into Omnes Sanctos; as Fidem unto, In Domino Jeſu. Where the text is, "Audiens charitatem tuam, & fidem quam habes in Domino Jeſu, & in omnes ſanctos," &c. It were too long to bring in many examples, as may openly be found in ſome men's writings in theſe days, who would not be counted the chief pillars of the catholic faith, or to note how corruptly they of purpoſe abuſe the text to the commodity of their cauſe.

What manner of tranſlation may men think to look for at their hands, if they ſhould tranſlate the ſcriptures, to the comfort of God's elect, which they never did, nor be not like to purpoſe it; but be rather ſtudious only to ſeek quarrels in other men's well-doings, to pick fault where none is: and where any is eſcaped through human negligence, there to cry out with their tragical exclamations, but in no wiſe to amend by the ſpirit of charity and lenity, that which might be more aptly ſet. Whereupon, for frail man (compaſſed himſelf with infirmity) it is moſt reaſonable, not to be too ſevere in condemning his brother's knowledge or diligence, where he doth err, not of malice but of ſimplicity, and eſpecially in handling theſe ſo divine books, ſo profound in ſenſe, ſo far paſſing our natural underſtanding. And with charity it ſtandeth the Reader not to be offended with the diverſity of tranſlators, nor with the ambiguity of tranſlations. For, as St. Auſtin doth witneſs, "By God's providence it is brought about, that the holy ſcriptures, which be the salves for every man's sore, though at the first they came from one language, and thereby have been spread all over the whole world; now by diversity of many languages, the Translators should spread the salvation that is contained in them, to all nations, by such words of utterance as the Reader might perceive the mind of the Translator: and so consequently to come to the knowledge of God his will and pleasure: And though many rash Readers be deceived in the obscurities and ambiguities of their translations, while they take one thing for another, and while they use much labour to extricate themselves out of the obscurities of the same; yet I think, saith he, this is not wrought without the providence of God, both to tame the proud arrogancy of man by his such labour of searching, and also to keep his mind from loathsomeness and contempt, where if the scriptures universally were too easy, he would less regard them. And though, saith he, in the primitive church the late Interpreters, which did translate the scriptures, be innumerable, yet wrought this rather an help, than an impediment to the readers, if they be not too negligent. For, saith he, divers translations have made many times the harder and darker sentences, the more open and plain.'

So that of congruence, no offence can justly be taken for this new labour, nothing prejudicing any other man's judgment by this doing: nor yet hereby professing this to be so absolute a translation, as that hereafter might follow no other that might see that, which as yet was not understood. In this point it is convenient to consider the judgment that John once bishop of Rochester was in, who thus wrote: 'It is not unknown, but that many things have been more diligently discussed, and more clearly understood by the wits of these latter days, as well concerning the gospels, as other scriptures, than in old time they were. The cause whereof is, saith he, for that to the old men the ice was not broken, or for that their age was not sufficient exquisitely to expend the whole main sea of the scriptures; or else, for that in this large field of the scriptures, a man may gather some ears untouched after the harvest-men, how diligent soever they were. For there be, saith he, in the gospels, very many dark places, which without all doubt to the posterity shall be made much more open. For why should we despair herein, seeing the gospel, writeth he, was delivered to this intent, that it might be utterly understood by us, yea, to the very inch? Wherefore, for as much as Christ sheweth no less love to his church now, than hitherto he hath done, the authority whereof is as yet no wit diminished; and forasmuch as that Holy Spirit, and perpetual keeper and guardian of the same church, whose gifts and graces do flow as continually, and as abundantly, as from the beginning; who can doubt, but that such things as remain yet unknown in the gospel, shall be hereafter made open to the latter wits of our posterity, to their clear understanding?' Thus far this writer.

Only, good Readers, let us oft call upon the Holy Spirit of God, our heavenly Father, by the mediation of our Lord and Saviour, with the words of the octonory Psalm of David, who did so importunately crave of God, to have the understanding of his laws and testament. Let us humbly on our knees pray to Almighty God, with that wise king Solomon in his very words, saying thus:

A prayer for the readers of the scriptures.

" O GOD of my fathers, and Lord of mercies, thou hast made all things with thy word,
 " and didst ordain man through thy wisdom, that he should have dominion over thy creatures,
 " which thou hast made, and that he should order the world according to holiness and righteous" ness, and that he should execute judgment with a true heart: Give me wisdom which is ever " about thy seat, and put me not out from among thy children. For I thy servant and son of " thine hand-maiden, am a feeble person, of a short time, and too weak to the understanding of " thy judgments and laws. And though a man be never so perfect among the children of men,
 " yet if thy wisdom be not with him, he shall be of no value. O! send her out, therefore, from
 " thy holy heavens, and from the throne of thy Majesty, that she may be with me, and labour " with me, that I may know what is acceptable in thy sight. For she knoweth and under-" standeth all things. And she shall lead me soberly in my works, and preserve me in her power.
 " So shall my works be acceptable by Christ our Lord. To whom with the Father and the " Holy Ghost be all honour and glory, world without end." Amen.

How to take Profit by Reading of the HOLY SCRIPTURES.

WHosoever mindeth to take profit by reading the scriptures, must,

1. Earnestly and usually pray unto God that he will vouchsafe to teach the way of his statutes, give understanding, and direct in the path of his commandments, Psalm 119.

2. Diligently keep such order of reading the scriptures, and prayer, as may stand with his calling and state of life; so that at the least twice every day this exercise be kept, Deut. 11. 19: the time once appointed hereunto after a good entry, be no otherwise employed, Luke 9. 62: superstition to be avoided, Isa. 29. 36: at one other time that be done, which is left undone at any time, Ephes. v. 16.

3. Understand to what end and purpose the scriptures serve, which were written, to teach, that we may learn truth: improve, that we may be kept from error: correct, that we may be driven from vice, 2 Tim. 3. 16, 17: instruct, that we may be settled in the way of well doing: comfort, that in trouble we may be confirmed in patient hope, Rom. 15. 4.

4. Remember that scriptures contain matter concerning, 1. Religion and the right worshipping of God, as Faith in one God, Father, Son and Holy Ghost: the state of mankind by creation, fall and sin, and regeneration in Christ: the church and government thereof before and since Christ: the word of God written in the Old and New Testament: sacraments before and since Christ: and the end and general judgment of the good and wicked. 2. Commonwealths and government of people by good and evil magistrates, peace and war, prosperity and plagues, and quiet and disordered subjects. 3. Families, and things that belong to household, in which are godly and blessed, ungodly and plagued husbands, wives, parents and children, masters and servants. 4. The private life and doings of every man in wisdom and folly, love and hatred, soberness and incontinence, mirth and sorrow, speech and silence, pride and humility, covetousness and liberality. 5. The common life of all men, as riches, poverty, nobility, favour, labour and idleness.

5. Refuse all sense of scripture contrary to the articles of the Christian faith, contained in the common creed, and the first and second table of God's commandments.

6. Mark and consider, 1. The coherence of the text, how it hangeth together. 2. The course of times and ages, with such things as belong unto them. 3. The manner of speech proper to the scriptures. And, 4. The agreement that one place of scripture hath with another, whereby that which seemeth dark in one is made easy in another.

7. Take opportunity to read interpreters, if he be able: confer with such as can open the scriptures, Acts 8. 30, 31, &c: hear preaching, and to prove by the scriptures that which is taught, Acts 17. 11.

THE FIRST BOOK OF MOSES,

CALLED

GENESIS*

* This word signifieth the beginning and generation of the creatures.

THE ARGUMENT.

Moses in effect declarcth three things, which are in this book chiefly to be considered: First, that the world, and all things therein, were created by God; and that man being placed in this great tabernacle of the world to behold God's wonderful works, and to praise his name for the infinite-graces wherewith he had endued him, fell willingly from God through disobedience, who yet for his own mercies sake restored him to life, and confirmed him in the same by his promise of Christ to come; by whom he should overcome satan, death and hell. Secondly, that the wicked, unmindful of God's most excellent benefits, remained still in their wickedness, and so falling most horribly from sin to sin, provoked God (who by his preachers called them continually to repentance) at length to destroy the whole world. Thirdly, he assureth us by the examples of Abraham, Isaac, Jacob, and the rest of the patriarchs, that his mercies never fail them whom he chusetb to be his church, and to profess his name in earth, but in all their afflictions and persecutions he ever assisteth them, sendeth comfort and delivereth them. And because the beginning, increase, preservation, and success thereof might be only attributed to God, Moses sheweth by the examples of Cain, Ishmael, Esau, and others, which were noble in man's judgment, that this church dependeth not on the estimation and nobility of the world: and also by the fewness of them, which have at all times worshipped him purely according to his word, that it standeth not in the multitude, but in the poor and despised, in the small flock and little number, that man in his wisdom might be confounded, and the name of God evermore praised.

CHAP. I.

1 God created the heaven and the earth, 3 The light and the darkness, 4 The firmament. 9 He separateth the water from the earth. 16 He createth the sun, the moon, and the stars. 21 He createth the fish, birds, beasts. 26 He createth man, and giveth him rule over all creatures, 29 And provideth nurture for man and beast.

* Ps. 33. 6, and 136. 5. Eccles. 18. 1. Acts 14. 15. and 17. 24.

† Or, waste.

In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth.

And the earth was without form and void, and darkness was upon the deep, and the Spirit of God moved upon the waters.

* Heb. 11. 3.

3 Then God said, Let there be light: and there was light.

† Heb. between the light, and the darkness.

4 And God saw the light that it was good, and God separated the light from the darkness.

† Heb. So wasth evening, & was the morning.

5 And God called the light, Day, and the darkness he called Night. † So the evening and the morning were the first day.

- * First of all. and before that any creature was, God made heaven and earth of nothing.
b As a rude lump, and without any creature in it: for the waters covered all.
c Darkness covered the deep waters: for yet the light was not created.
d He maintained this confused heap by his secret power.
e The light was made before either sun or was created: therefore we must not attribute that to the creatures that are God's instruments, which only appertaineth God.

6 ¶ Again God said, * Let there be a † firmament in the midst of the waters: and let it separate the waters from the waters.

Before Christ 4004.

7 Then God made the firmament, and separated the waters, which were under the firmament, from the waters which were above the firmament: and it was so.

* Ps. 33. 6. and 136. 5. Jer. 10. 12. and 51. 15. † Or, spreading over, and air.

8 And God called the firmament, † Heaven. So the evening and the morning were the second day.

* Ps. 148. 4.

9 ¶ God said again, * Let the waters under the heaven be gathered into one place, and let the dry land appear: and it was so.

* Ps. 33. 7. and 89. 12. and 136. 6. Job 38. 4.

10 And God called the dry land, Earth: and he called the gathering together of the waters, Seas: and God saw that it was good.

11 Then God said, † Let the earth bud forth the bud of the herb, that seedeth seed, the fruitful tree, which beareth fruit according to his kind, which hath his seed in itself upon the earth: and it was so.

12 And the earth brought forth the bud of the herb, that seedeth seed according to his kind, also the tree that beareth fruit, which hath his seed in itself according to his kind: and God saw that it was good.

† As the sea and rivers, from those waters that are in the clouds, which upholden by God's power, lest they should overwhelm the world.

* That is, the region of the air, and all that is above us.

† So that we see it is the only power of God's word that maketh the earth fruitful, which else naturally is barren.

‡ This sentence is so oft repeated, to signify that God made all his creatures to serve his glory, and the profit of man; but for sin they were accursed, yet the elect, by Christ, they were restored, and serve to their wealth.

13 So the evening and the morning were the third day.

14 ¶ And God said, * Let there be ^k lights in the firmament of the heaven, to ^l separate the day from the night, and let them be for ^m signs, and for seasons, and for days and years.

15 And let them be for lights in the firmament of the heaven, to give light upon the earth: and it was so.

16 God then made two ⁿ great lights: the greater light ^o to rule the day, and the lesser light to rule the night: he ^p made also the stars.

17 And God set them in the firmament of the heaven, to shine upon the earth, 18 And to ^q rule in the day, and in the night, and to separate the light from the darkness: and God saw that it was good.

19 So the evening and the morning were the fourth day.

20 Afterward God said, Let the waters bring forth in abundance ^r every ^s creeping thing that hath life: and let the fowl fly upon the earth in the ^t open firmament of the heaven.

21 Then God created the great whales, and every thing living and moving, which the ^u waters brought forth in abundance according to their kind, and every feathered fowl according to his kind: and God saw that it was good.

22 Then God ^v blessed them, saying, Bring forth fruit and multiply, and fill the waters in the seas, and let the fowl multiply in the earth.

23 So the evening and the morning were the fifth day.

24 ¶ Moreover God said, Let the earth bring forth the ^w living thing according to his kind, cattle, and that which creepeth, and the beast of the earth, according to his kind, and it was so.

25 And God made the beast of the earth according to his kind, and the cattle according to his kind, and every creeping thing of the earth according to his kind. And God saw that it was good.

26 Furthermore God said, * * Let us make man in our ^x image according to our likeness, and let them rule over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the heaven, and over the beasts, and over all the earth, and over every thing that creepeth and moveth on the earth.

27 Thus God created the man in his image: in the image of God created he him: he created them ^y male and female.

28 And God ^z blessed them, and God said to them, ^{aa} Bring forth fruit and multiply, and fill the earth, and subdue it, and rule over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the heaven, and over every beast that moveth upon the earth.

29 And God said, Behold, I have given unto you ^{ab} every herb bearing seed, which is upon all the earth, and every tree, wherein is the fruit of a tree bearing seed: ^{ac} that shall be to you for meat.

30 Likewise to every beast of the earth, and to every fowl of the heaven, and to every thing that moveth upon the earth, which hath life in itself, every green herb ^{ad} shall be for meat: and it was so.

31 * And God saw all that he had made, and lo it was very good. So the evening and the morning were the sixth day.

C H A P. II.

2 God resteth the seventh day, and sanctifieth it. 15 He setteth man in the garden. 22 He createth the woman. 24 Marriage is ordained.

THUS the heavens and the earth were finished, and all the ^{ae} host of them.

2 For in the seventh day God ended his work which he had made, ^{af} and the seventh day he rested ^{ag} from all his work, which he had made.

3 So God blessed the seventh day, and ^{ah} sanctified it, because that in it he had rested from all his work, which God had created and made.

4 ¶ These are the ^{ai} generations of the heavens and of the earth, when they were created, in the day that the Lord God made the earth and the heavens,

5 And every ^{aj} plant of the field, before it was in the earth, and every herb of the field, before it grew: for the Lord God had not caused it to ^{ak} rain upon the earth, neither was ^{al} there ^{am} man to till the ground,

6 But a mist went up from the earth, and watered all the earth.

7 ¶ The Lord God also ^{an} made the man ^{ao} of the dust of the ground, and breathed in his face breath of life, ^{ap} and the man was a living soul.

8 And the Lord God planted ^{aq} a garden eastward in ^{ar} Eden, and there he put the man whom he had made.

ADAM and EVE

Genesis Ch. III. v. 10.

I heard thy voice in the garden and I was afraid.

W. J. G.

9 (For out of the ground made the Lord God to grow every tree pleasant to the sight, and good for meat: the tree of life also in the midst of the garden, and the tree of knowledge of good and evil.

10 And out of Eden went a river to water the garden, and from thence it was divided, and became into four heads.

11 The name of one is Pishon: the same compasseth the whole land of Havilah, where is gold.

12 And the gold of that land is good: there is bdelyum, and the onyx stone.

13 And the name of the second river is Gihon: the same compasseth the whole land of Cush.

14 The name of the third river is Hiddekel: this goeth toward the eastside of Ashur: and the fourth river is Perath.)

15 Then the Lord God took the man, and put him into the garden of Eden, that he might dress it and keep it.

16 And the Lord God commanded the man, saying, Thou shalt eat freely of every tree of the garden, 17 But of the tree of knowledge of good and evil, thou shalt not eat of it: for in the day that thou eatest thereof, thou shalt die the death.

18 Also the Lord God said, It is not good that the man should be himself alone: I will make him an help meet for him.

19 So the Lord God formed of the earth every beast of the field, and every fowl of the heaven, and brought them unto the man to see how he would call them: for howsoever the man named the living creature, so was the name thereof.

20 The man therefore gave names unto all cattle, and to the fowl of the heaven, and to every beast of the field: but for Adam found he not an help meet for him.

21 Therefore the Lord God caused a heavy sleep to fall upon the man, and he slept: and he took one of his ribs, and closed up the flesh instead thereof.

22 And the rib which the Lord God had taken from the man, he made he a woman, and brought her to the man.

23 Then the man said, This now is bone of my bones, and flesh of my flesh. She shall be called woman, because she was taken out of man.

24 Therefore shall man leave his father

Which was a sign of the life received of God. That is, of miserable experience, which came by disobeying God. Which Havilah is a country joining Persia eastward, and inclineth towards the west. God would not have man idle, though as yet there was need to labour. So that man might know there was a sovereign Lord, whom he owed obedience. By this death he meaneth the separation of man from God, who is our life and chief felicity: and also that disobedience is the cause thereof. By moving them to marry and submit themselves to Adam. Signifying, that mankind was perfect, when the woman was created, which before was like an unperfect building. So that marriage requireth a greater duty of us toward wives, than otherwise we are bound to shew to our parents.

and his mother, and shall cleave to his wife, and they shall be one flesh.

25 And they were both naked, the man and his wife, and were not ashamed.

CHAP. III.

The woman seduced by the serpent, 6 enticeth her husband to sin. 8 They both flee from God. 14 They three are punished. 15 Christ is promised. 19 Man is dust. 22 Man is cast out of Paradise.

NOW the serpent was more subtil than any beast of the field, which the Lord God had made: and he said to the woman, Yea, hath God indeed said, Ye shall not eat of every tree of the garden?

And the woman said unto the serpent, We may eat of the fruit of the trees of the garden;

3 But of the fruit of the tree which is in the midst of the garden, God hath said, Ye shall not eat of it; neither shall ye touch it, lest ye die.

4 Then the serpent said to the woman, Ye shall not die at all.

5 But God doth know that when ye shall eat thereof, your eyes shall be opened, and ye shall be as gods, knowing good and evil.

6 So the woman (seeing that the tree was good for meat, and that it was pleasant to the eyes, and a tree to be desired to get knowledge) took of the fruit thereof, and did eat, and gave also to her husband with her, and he did eat.

7 Then the eyes of them both were opened, and they knew that they were naked, and they sewed fig-tree leaves together, and made themselves aprons.

8 Afterward they heard the voice of the Lord God walking in the garden in the cool of the day, and the man and his wife hid themselves from the presence of the Lord God among the trees of the garden.

9 But the Lord God called to the man, and said unto him, Where art thou?

10 Who said, I heard thy voice in the garden, and was afraid: because I was naked, therefore I hid myself.

11 And he said, Who told thee that thou wast naked? Hast thou eaten of the tree, whereof I commanded thee that thou shouldest not eat?

12 Then the man said, The woman which thou

For before sin entered, all things were honest and comely. As satan can change himself into an angel of light, did he abuse the wisdom of the serpent to deceive man. God suffered satan to make the serpent his instrument, and to speak in him. In doubting of God's threatening, she yielded to satan. This is satan's chiefest subtilty, to cause us not to fear God's threatenings. As though he should say, God doth not forbid you to eat of the fruit, save that he knoweth that if ye should do thereof, ye should be like to him. Not so much to please his wife, moved by ambition at her persuasion. They began to feel their misery, but they sought not to God for remedy. The sinful conscience fleeth God's presence. His hypocrisy appeareth in that he hid the cause of his nakedness, which was the transgression of God's commandment.

13 And the Lord God said to the woman, Why hast thou done this? And the woman said, The serpent beguiled me, and I did eat.

14 ¶ Then the Lord God said to the serpent, Because thou hast done this, thou art cursed above all cattle, and above every beast of the field: upon thy belly shalt thou go, and dust shalt thou eat all the days of thy life.

15 I will also put enmity between thee and the woman, and between thy seed and her seed. He shall break thine head, and thou shalt bruise his heel.

16 ¶ Unto the woman he said, I will greatly increase thy sorrows, and thy conceptions. In sorrow shalt thou bring forth children, and thy desire shall be subject to thine husband, and he shall rule over thee.

17 ¶ Also to Adam he said, Because thou hast obeyed the voice of thy wife, and hast eaten of the tree, (whereof I commanded thee, saying, Thou shalt not eat of it) cursed is the earth for thy sake: in sorrow shalt thou eat of it all the days of thy life.

18 Thorns also and thistles shall it bring forth to thee, and thou shalt eat the herb of the field.

19 In the sweat of thy face shalt thou eat bread, till thou return to the earth: for out of it wast thou taken, because thou art dust, and to dust shalt thou return.

20 (And the man called his wife's name Eve, because she was the mother of all living.)

21 Unto Adam also and to his wife did the Lord God make coats of skins, and clothed them.

22 ¶ And the Lord God said, Behold, the man is become as one of us, to know good and evil. And now lest he put forth his hand, and take also of the tree of life, and eat, and live for ever, 23 Therefore the Lord God sent him forth from the garden of Eden, to till the earth, whence he was taken.

24 Thus he cast out man, and at the East side of the garden of Eden he set the cherubims, and the blade of sword shaken, to keep the way of the tree of life. Gen. 3. 24.

C H A P. IV.

1 The generation of mankind. 3 Cain and Abel offer sacrifice. 8 Cain killeth Abel. 23 Lamech a tyrant encourageth his fearful wives. 26 True religion is restored.

Afterward the man knew Eve his wife, which conceived and bare Cain, and said, I have obtained a man by the Lord.

2 And again she brought forth his brother Abel, and Abel was keeper of sheep, and Cain was a tiller of the ground.

3 ¶ And in process of time it came to pass, that Cain brought an oblation unto the Lord, of the fruit of the ground.

4 And Abel also himself brought of the first fruits of his sheep, and of the fat of them, and the Lord had respect unto Abel, and to his offering.

5 But unto Cain and his offering he had no regard: wherefore Cain was exceeding wroth, and his countenance fell down.

6 Then the Lord said unto Cain, Why art thou wroth? and why is thy countenance cast down?

7 If thou do well, shalt thou not be accepted? and if thou doest not well, sin lieth at the door: also unto thee his desire shall be subject, and thou shalt rule over him.

¶ Then Cain spake unto Abel his brother. And when they were in the field, Cain rose up against Abel his brother, and slew him.

9 Then the Lord said unto Cain, Where is Abel thy brother? Who answered, I cannot tell. Am I my brother's keeper?

10 Again he said, What hast thou done? the voice of thy brother's blood crieth unto me from the earth.

11 Now therefore thou art cursed from the earth, which hath opened her mouth to receive thy brother's blood from thine hand.

12 When thou shalt till the ground, it shall not henceforth yield unto thee her strength: a vagabond and a runnagate shalt thou be in the earth.

13 Then

His wickedness and lack of true repentance appeareth in this, that he burdeneth God with his fault, because he had given him a wife.

Instead of confessing her sin, she increaseth it by accusing the serpent.

He asked the reason of Adam and his wife, because he would bring them to repentance, but he asketh not the serpent, because he would shew him mercy.

As a vile and contemptible beast. Isa. 65. 25.

He chiefly meaneth satan, by whose motion and craft the serpent deceived the woman.

That is, the power of sin and death.

Satan shall sting Christ and his members, but overcome them.

The Lord comforteth Adam by the promise of the blessed seed, and also punisheth the body for the sin which the soul should have been punished for, that the spirit, having conceived hope of forgiveness, might live by faith.

The transgression of God's commandment was the cause that both mankind and all other creatures were subject to the curse.

These are not the natural fruits of the earth, but proceed of the corruption of sin.

Or gave them knowledge to make themselves coats.

By this derision he reproacheth Adam's misery, whereinto he was fallen by ambition.

Adam deprived of life, lost also the sign thereof.

Man's nature, the state of marriage, and God's blessing, were not utterly abolished through sin, but the quality or condition thereof changed.

That is, according to the Lord's promise, chap. 3. 15. Some read, To the Lord, as rejoicing for the son which she had borne, whom she would offer to the Lord the first fruits of her birth.

This declareth that the father instructed his children in the knowledge of God, and also how God gave them sacrifices signify their salvation: albeit they destitute of the sacrament of the of life.

Because he was a hypocrite, and offered only for an outward shew without sincerity of heart.

Both thou and thy sacrifice shall be acceptable to me.

Sin shall torment thy conscience.

The dignity of the first born is given to Cain over Abel.

This is the of the reprobate, when they are reproved of their hypocrisy, even neglect God, and despite him.

God revengeth the wrongs of his saints, though none complain; for the iniquity itself crieth for vengeance.

The earth shall be a witness against thee, which mercifully received that blood which thou most cruelly sheddest.

Thou shalt have rest: for thine heart shall be in continual fear and care.

15 Then the Lord said unto him, Doubtless, whosoever slayeth Cain, he shall be punished sevenfold. And the Lord set a mark upon Cain, lest any man finding him should kill him.

16 Then Cain went out from the presence of the Lord, and dwelt in the land of Nod toward the East side of Eden.

17 Cain also knew his wife, which conceived and bare Enoch: and he built a city, and called the name of the city by the name of his son, Enoch.

18 And to Enoch was born Irad, and Irad begat Mehujael, and Mehujael begat Methushael, and Methushael begat Lamech.

23 Then Lamech said unto his wives Adah and Zillah, Hear my voice, ye wives of Lamech: hearken unto my speech: for I would slay a man in my wound, and a young man in mine hurt.

24 If Cain shall be avenged sevenfold, truly Lamech seventy times seven fold.

25 ¶ And Adam knew his wife again, and she bare a son, and she called his name Seth: for God, said she, hath appointed me another seed for Abel, because Cain slew him.

26 And to the same Seth also there was born a son, and he called his name Enos. Then began men to call upon the name of the Lord.

5 The lawful institution of marriage, which is, that two should be one flesh, was first corrupt in the house of Cain by Lamech.

6 His wives, seeing that all hated him for his cruelty, were afraid: therefore he braggeth that there is none so lusty that were able to resist, although he already wounded.

7 He mocked God's sufferance in Cain, jesting, though God would suffer to punish him, and yet give him license to murder others.

8 In these days God began to move the heart of the 9 Read chap. i. 26.

10 By giving them both one name, he noteth the inseparable conjunction of man and wife.

12 He proveth Adam's generation by them which came of Seth, shew which is the true church, and also what care God had over the same from the beginning, in that he continued ever his graces toward it by a continual succession.

13 The chief cause of long life in the first age, was the multiplication of mankind, that according to God's commandment, at the beginning, the world might be increased with people, which might universally praise his name.

14 That is, he led an upright and godly life.

15 To shew that there was a better life prepared, and to be a testimony of the immortality of souls and bodies. As enquire where he became, is mere curiosity.

 30 And Lamech lived, after he begat Noah, five hundred ninety and five years, and begat fons and daughters.

4 For seven days hence I will cause it to rain upon the earth forty days and forty nights, and all the substance that I have made, will I destroy from off the earth.

• Matt. 24. 5 ■ Noah therefore did according unto all that the Lord commanded him.

37. Luke 17. 26. 1 Pet. 3. 20. 6 And Noah was six hundred years old, when the flood of waters was upon the earth.

7 ¶ So Noah entered and his sons, and his wife, and his sons wives with him into the ark, because of the waters of the flood.

■ Of the clean beasts, and of the unclean beasts, and of the fowls, and of all that creepeth upon the earth,

9 There came two and two unto Noah into the ark, male and female, as God had commanded Noah.

10 And so after seven days the waters of the flood were upon the earth.

11 ¶ In the six hundredth year of Noah's life, in the second month, the seventeenth day of the month, in the same day were all the fountains of the great deep broken up, and the windows of heaven were opened.

12 And the rain was upon the earth forty days and forty nights.

13 In the self same day entered Noah with Shem, and Ham, and Japheth, the sons of Noah, and Noah's wife, and the three wives of his sons with them into the ark.

14 They and every beast after his kind, and all cattle after their kind, and every thing that creepeth and moveth upon the earth after his kind, and every fowl after his kind, even every bird of every feather.

15 For they came to Noah into the ark, two and two, of all flesh wherein is the breath of life.

16 And they entering in, came male and female of all flesh, as God had commanded him: and the Lord shut him in.

† Or, shut it upon him. 17 Then the flood was forty days upon the earth, and the waters were increased, and bare up the ark, which was lift up above the earth.

18 The waters also waxed strong, and were increased exceedingly upon the earth, and the ark went upon the waters.

† Heb. waxed strong mightily. 19 The waters prevailed so exceedingly upon the earth, that all the high mountains that are under the whole heaven were covered.

20 Fifteen cubits upward did the waters prevail, when the mountains were covered.

21 Then all flesh perished that moved upon the earth, both fowl and cattle, and beast, and every thing that creepeth and moveth upon the earth, and every man.

† God compelled them present themselves to Noah, as they did before Adam, when he gave them names, chap. 2. 19.

‡ Which was about the beginning of May, when all things did most flourish.

§ Both the waters in the earth did overflow, and also the clouds poured down.

¶ Every living thing that God would have preserved on earth, came into the ark to Noah.

‡ Learn what it is to obey God only, and to forsake the multitude, 1 Pet. 3. 20.

22 Every thing in whose nostrils the spirit of life did breathe, whatsoever they were in the dry land, they died.

23 So he destroyed every thing that was upon the earth, from man to beast, to the creeping thing, and to the fowl of the heaven: they were even destroyed from the earth. And Noah only remained, and they that were with him in the ark.

24 And the waters prevailed upon the earth hundred and fifty days.

CHAP. VIII.

13 The flood ceaseth. 16 Noah is commanded to come forth of the ark with his. 20 He sacrificeth to the Lord. 22 God promiseth that all things shall continue in their first order.

NOW God remembered Noah, and every beast, and all the cattle that was with him in the ark: therefore God made wind to pass upon the earth, and the waters ceased.

2 The fountains also of the deep, and the windows of heaven were stopped, and the rain from heaven was restrained.

3 And the waters returned from above the earth, going and returning: and after the end of the hundred and fiftieth day the waters abated.

4 And in the seventh month, in the seventeenth day of the month, the ark rested upon the mountains of Ararat.

† Or, stayed. † Or, Armenia.

5 And the waters were going and decreasing until the tenth month: in the tenth month, and in the first day of the month, were the tops of the mountains seen.

6 ¶ So after forty days, Noah opened the window of the ark, which he had made, † Heb. at the end of forty days.

7 And sent forth a raven, which went out, going forth and returning, until the waters were dried upon the earth.

The is sent forth and returneth.

8 Again he sent a dove from him, that he might see if the waters were diminished from off the earth.

He sendeth the dove.

9 But the dove found no rest for the sole of her foot: therefore she returned unto him into the ark (for the waters were upon the whole earth) and he put forth his hand, and received her, and took her to him into the ark.

10 And he abode yet other seven days, and again he sent forth the dove out of the ark.

11 And the dove came to him in the evening, and lo, in her mouth was an olive-leaf that she had pluckt: whereby Noah knew that the waters were abated from off the earth.

‡ Which was the month of December.

† It is like that the raven did fly and fro, resting on the ark, but came not into it, as the dove that was taken in.

‡ Which is a sign that the waters much diminished: for the olives grow not on the high mountains.

13 ¶ And in the six hundredth and one year, in the first day of the first month, the waters were dried up from off the earth: and Noah removed the covering of the ark, and looked, and behold, the upper part of the ground was dry.

14 And in the second month, in the seven and twentieth day of the month, was the earth dry.

15 ¶ Then God spake to Noah, saying,

16 Go forth of the ark, thou and thy wife, and thy sons, and thy sons wives with thee.

17 Bring forth with thee every beast that is with thee, of all flesh, both fowl and cattle, and every thing that creepeth and moveth upon the earth, and bring forth fruit and increase upon the earth.

18 So Noah came forth, and his sons, and his wife, and his sons wives with him.

19 Every beast, every creeping thing, and every fowl, all that moveth upon the earth after their kinds, went out of the ark.

20 ¶ Then Noah built an altar to the Lord, and took of every clean beast, and of every clean fowl, and offered burnt-offerings upon the altar.

21 And the Lord smelled a savour of rest, and the Lord said in his heart, I will henceforth curse the ground no more for man's cause: for the imagination of man's heart is evil, from his youth: neither will I smite any more all things living, as I have done.

22 Hereafter seed-time and harvest, and cold and heat, and summer and winter, and day and night shall not cease, so long as the earth remaineth.

11 And my covenant will I establish with you, that from henceforth all flesh shall not be rooted out by the waters of the flood, neither shall there be flood to destroy the earth any more.

12 Then God said, This is the token of the covenant which I make between me and you, and between every living thing that is with you, unto perpetual generations.

13 I have set my bow in the cloud, and it shall be for a sign of the covenant between me and the earth.

Noah declareth his obedience in that he would depart out of the ark without God's express commandment, as he did not enter in without the same: the ark being a figure of the church, wherein nothing must be done without the word of God.

For sacrifices, which were exercise of their faith, whereby they used give thanks God for his benefits.

That is, thereby he sheweth himself appeased, and his anger to rest.

The order of nature destroyed by the flood, is restored by God's promise.

God increased them with fruit, and declared them his counsel touching the replenishing of the earth.

By virtue of this commandment beasts rage not so much against them as they would, yea, and many serve his use thereby.

By this permission man may with a good conscience use the creatures of God for his necessity.

That is, living creatures and the flesh of beasts that are strangled: and hereby all cruelty is forbidden.

That is, I will take vengeance for your blood.

Not only by the magistrate, but oft-times God raiseth up one murderer to kill another.

Therefore kill is deface God's image, and so injury is not only done man, but also to God.

To assure you that the world shall be more destroyed by a flood.

The children which not yet born, are comprehended in God's covenant made with their fathers.

Hereby we see that signs or sacraments ought not to be separated from the word.

When shall see my bow in the heaven, they shall know that I have not forgotten my covenant with them.

God doth repeat this the oftener, confirm Noah's faith so much the more.

This declareth what was the virtue of God's blessing, when he said, "Increase and bring forth," Chap. 1. 28.

 5 Of these were the isles of the Gentiles divided in their lands, every man after his tongue, and after their families in their nations.
 6 ¶ Moreover, the sons of Ham were Cush, and Mizraim, and Phut, and Canaan.
 7 And the sons of Cush, Seba, and Havilah, and Sabtah, and Raamah, and Sabtecha: also the sons of Raamah were Sheba and Dedan.
 8 And Cush begat Nimrod, who began to be mighty in the earth.
 9 He was a mighty hunter before the Lord, wherefore it is said, As Nimrod the mighty hunter before the Lord.

6 The building of Babel was the cause of the confusion of tongues. 10 The age and generation of Shem unto Abram. 31 Abram's departure from Ur with his father Terah, Sarai and Lot. 32 The age and death of Terah.

THEN the whole earth was of one language and one speech.

2 And ^a as ^b they went from the ^c East, they found a plain in the land of ^d Shinar, and there they abode.

3 And they said one to another, Come, let us make brick, and burn it in the fire. So they had brick for stone, and slime had they instead of mortar.

4 Also they said, Go to, let us ^e build us a city and a tower, whose top may reach unto the heaven, that we may get us a name, lest we be scattered upon the whole earth.

5 But the Lord ^f came down to see the city and tower which the sons of men builded.

6 And the Lord said, ^g Behold, the people ^h is one, and they have all one language, and this they begin to do, neither can they now be stopped from whatsoever they have imagined to do.

7 Come on, ⁱ let us go down, ^j and there confound their language, that every one perceive not another's speech.

8 So the Lord scattered them from thence upon all the earth, and they left off to build the city.

9 Therefore the name of it was called ^k Babel, because the Lord did there confound the language of all the earth: from thence then did the Lord scatter them upon all the earth.

10 ¶ ^l These are the generations ^m of Shem: Shem was an hundred years old, and begat Arphaxad two years after the flood.

11 And Shem lived, after he begat Arphaxad, five hundred years, and begat sons and daughters.

12 Also Arphaxad lived five and thirty years, and begat Salah.

13 And Arphaxad lived, after he begat Salah, four hundred and three years, and begat sons and daughters.

14 Salah lived thirty years, and begat Eber.

15 So Salah lived, after he begat Eber, four hundred and three years, and begat sons and daughters.

16 Likewise Eber lived four and thirty years, and begat Peleg.

17 So Eber lived, after he begat Peleg, four hundred and thirty years, and begat sons and daughters.

18 And Peleg lived thirty years, and begat Reu.

22 Moreover Serug lived thirty years, and begat Nahor.

23 And Serug lived after he begat Nahor, two hundred years, and begat sons and daughters.

24 And Nahor lived nine and twenty years, and begat Terah.

25 So Nahor lived, after he begat Terah, an hundred and nineteen years, and begat sons and daughters.

26 ^l So Terah lived seventy years, and begat Abram, Nahor, and Haran.

27 ¶ Now these are the generations of Terah: Terah begat ^m Abram, Nahor, and Haran: and Haran begat Lot.

28 Then Haran died before Terah his father in the land of his nativity, in Ur of ⁿ the Chaldees.

29 So Abram and Nahor took them wives, The name of Abram's wife was Sarai, and the name of Nahor's wife Milcah, the daughter of Haran, the father of Milcah, and the father of ^o Iscah.

30 But Sarai was barren, and had no child.

31 Then ^p Terah took Abram his son, and Lot the son of Haran, his son's son, and Sarai his daughter in law, his son Abram's wife: and they departed together from Ur of the Chaldees, to ^q go into the land of Canaan, and they came to ^r Haran, and dwelt there.

32 So the days of Terah were two hundred and five years, and Terah died in Haran.

1 Abram's name is changed to confirm him in the promise. 8 The land of Canaan is the fifth time promised. 12 Circumcision is instituted. 15 Sarai is named Sarah. 18 Abraham prayeth for Ishmael. 19 Isaac is promised. 23 Abraham and his house are circumcised.

WHEN Abram was ninety years old and nine, the Lord appeared to Abram, and said unto him, I am God † all-sufficient: * walk before me, and be thou † upright,

2 And I will make my covenant between me and thee, and I will multiply thee exceedingly.

3 Then Abram fell on his face, and God talked with him, saying,

4 Behold, I make my covenant with thee, and thou shalt be a † father of many nations.

5 Neither shall thy name any more be called Abram, but thy name shall be * Abraham: * for a father of many nations have I made thee.

6 Also I will make thee exceeding fruitful, and will make nations of thee: yea, kings shall proceed of thee.

7 Moreover, I will establish my covenant between me and thee, and thy seed after thee in their generations, for an * everlasting covenant, to be God unto thee, and to thy seed after thee.

8 And I will give thee, and thy seed after thee, the land wherein thou art a stranger, even all the land of Canaan, for an everlasting possession, and I will be their God.

9 ¶ Again God said unto Abraham, Thou also shalt keep my covenant, thou, and thy seed after thee in their generations.

10 * This is my covenant which ye shall keep between me and you, and thy seed after thee, * Let every man-child among you be circumcised:

11 That is, ye shall circumcise the * fore-

12 And every man-child of eight days old among you shall be circumcised in your generations, as well he that is born in thine house, as he that is bought with money of any stranger, which is not of thy seed.

13 He that is born in thine house, and he that is bought with thy money, must needs be circumcised: so my covenant shall be in your flesh for an everlasting covenant.

14 But the uncircumcised † man-child, in whose flesh the fore-skin is not circumcised, even that person shall be cut off from his people, because he hath broken my covenant.

15 ¶ Afterward God said unto Abraham, Sarai thy wife shalt thou not call Sarai, but † Sarah shall be her name.

16 And I will bless her, and will also give thee a son of her, yea, I will bless her, and she shall be the mother of nations: kings also of people shall come of her.

17 Then Abraham fell upon his face, and laughed, and said in his heart, Shall a child be born unto him that is an hundred years old? and shall Sarah that is ninety years old bear?

18 And Abraham said unto God, Oh that Ishmael might live in thy sight.

19 Then God said, * Sarah thy wife shall bear thee a son indeed, and thou shalt call his name Isaac: and I will establish my covenant with him for an * everlasting covenant, and with his seed after him.

20 And concerning Ishmael, I have heard thee: lo, I have blessed him, and will make him fruitful, and will multiply him † exceedingly; twelve princes shall he beget, and I will make a great nation of him.

21 But my covenant will I establish with Isaac, which Sarah shall bear unto thee, the next * year at this season.

22 And he left off talking with him, and God went up from Abraham.

23 ¶ Then Abraham took Ishmael his son, and all that were born in his house, and all that was bought with his money, that is, every man-child among the men of Abraham's house, * and he circumcised the fore-skin of their flesh in that self-same day, as God had commanded him.

24 Abraham also himself was ninety years old and nine, when the fore-skin of his flesh was circumcised.

25 And Ishmael his son was thirteen years old, when the fore-skin of his flesh was circumcised.

26 The self-same day was Abraham circumcised, and Ishmael his son:

27 And all the men of his house, both born in his house, and bought with money of the stranger, were circumcised with him.

3 Lot receiveth two angels into his house. 4 The filthy lusts of the Sodomites. 16 Lot is delivered. 24 Sodom is destroyed. 26 Lot's wife is made a pillar of salt. 33 Lot's daughters lie with their father, of whom come Moab and Ammon.

AND in the evening there came two angels to Sodom: and Lot sat at the gate of Sodom, and Lot saw them, and rose up to meet them, and he bowed himself with his face to the ground:

2 And he said, See, my lords, I pray you, turn in now into your servant's house, and tarry all night, and wash your feet, and ye shall rise up early and go your ways. Who said, Nay, but we will abide in the street all night.

3 Then he pressed upon them earnestly, and they turned in to him, and came to his house, and he made them a feast, and did bake unleavened bread, and they did eat.

4 But before they went to bed, the men of the city, even the men of Sodom compassed the house round about, from the young even to the old, all the people from all quarters.

5 Who crying unto Lot, said to him, Where are the men, which came to thee this night? bring them out unto us that we may know them.

6 Then Lot went out at the door unto them, and shut the door after him,

7 And said, I pray you, my brethren, do not so wickedly.

8 Behold now, I have two daughters, which have not known man: them will I bring out now unto you, and do to them as seemeth you good: only unto these men do nothing: for therefore are they come under the shadow of my roof.

9 Then they said, Away hence: and they said, He is come alone as a stranger, and shall he judge and rule? we will now deal worse with thee than with them. So they pressed sore upon Lot himself, and came to break the door.

10 But the men put forth their hand, and pulled Lot into the house to them, and shut to the door.

11 Then they smote the men that were at the door of the house with blindness, both small and great, so that they were weary in seeking the door.

12 ¶ Then the men said unto Lot, Whom hast thou yet here? either son-in-law, or thy sons, or thy daughters, or whatsoever thou hast in the city, bring it out of this place.

13 For we will destroy this place, because the cry of them is great before the Lord, and the Lord hath sent us to destroy it.

14 Then Lot went out and spake unto his sons-in-law, which he married his daughters, and said, Arise, get you out of this place: for the Lord will destroy the city: but he seemed to his sons-in-law as though he had mocked.

15 ¶ And when the morning arose, the angels halted Lot, saying, Arise, take thy wife and thy two daughters which are here, lest thou be destroyed in the punishment of the city.

16 And as he prolonged the time, the men caught both him and his wife, and his two daughters by the hands (the Lord being merciful unto him) and they brought him forth, and set him without the city.

17 ¶ And when they had brought them out, the angel said, Escape for thy life: look not behind thee, neither tarry thou in all the plain: escape into the mountain, lest thou be destroyed.

18 And Lot said unto them, Not so, I pray thee, my Lord.

19 Behold now, thy servant hath found grace in thy sight, and thou hast magnified thy mercy, which thou hast shewed unto me in saving my life: and I cannot escape in the mountain, lest some evil take me, and I die.

20 See now this city here by to flee unto, which is a little one: Oh let me escape thither: is it not a little one? and my soul shall live.

21 Then he said unto him, Behold, I have received thy request also concerning this thing, that I will not overthrow this city, for the which thou hast spoken.

22 Hast thee, save thee there: for I can do nothing till thou be come thither. Therefore the name of the city was called Zoar.

23 ¶ The sun did rise upon the earth, when Lot entered into Zoar.

24 Then the Lord rained upon Sodom and upon Gomorrah brimstone, and fire from the Lord out of heaven, 25 And overthrew those cities, and all the plain, and all the inhabitants of the cities, and that that grew upon the earth.

26 ¶ Now his wife behind him looked back, and she became a pillar of salt.

27 ¶ And Abraham rising up early in the morning, went to the place, where he had stood before the Lord, 28 And looking toward Sodom and Gomorrah, and toward all the land of the plain, behold, he saw the smoke of the land mounting up as the smoke of a furnace.

NOW the Lord visited Sarah, as he had said, and did unto her according as he had promised.

2 For Sarah conceived, and bare Abraham a son in his old age, at the same season that God told him.

11 And this thing was very grievous in Abraham's sight, because of his son.

14 So Abraham arose up early in the morning, and took bread, and a bottle of water, and gave it unto Hagar, putting it on her shoulder, and the child also, and sent her away: who departing, wandered in the wilderness of Beer-sheba.

15 And when the water of the bottle was spent, she cast the child under a certain tree.

24 Then Abraham said, I will swear.

25 And Abraham rebuked Abimelech for a well of water, which Abimelech's servants had violently taken away.

CHAP. XXII.

1, 2 The faith of Abraham is proved in offering his son Isaac. 8 Isaac is a figure of Christ. 20 The generation of Nahor, Abraham's brother, of whom cometh Rebekah.

• Heb. 11. 17. † Heb. 16, 1.

AND after these things God did * prove Abraham, and said unto him, Abraham. Who answered, † Here am I.

2 And he said, Take now thine only son Isaac, whom thou lovest, and get thee unto the land of † Moriah, and † offer him there for a burnt-offering upon one of the mountains which I will shew thee.

3 Then Abraham rose up early in the morning, and saddled his ass, and took two of his servants with him, and Isaac his son, and clave wood for the burnt-offering, and rose up and went to the place which God had told him.

4 ¶ Then the third day Abraham lift up his eyes, and saw the place afar off,

5 And said unto his servants, Abide you here with the ass: for I and the child will go yonder and worship, and † come again unto you.

6 Then Abraham took the wood of the burnt-offering, and laid it upon Isaac his son, and he took the fire in his hand, and the knife: and they went both together.

7 Then spake Isaac unto Abraham his father, and said, My father. And he answered, Here am I, my son. And he said, Behold the fire and the wood, but where is the lamb for the burnt-offering?

8 Then Abraham answered, My son, God will † provide him a lamb for a burnt-offering: so they went both together.

9 And when they came to the place which God had shewed him, Abraham builded an altar there, and couched the wood, and † bound Isaac his son, * and laid him on the altar upon the wood.

2 Abraham lamenteth the death of Sarah. 4 He buyeth a field to bury her, of the Hittites. 13 The equity of Abraham. 19 Sarah is buried in Machpelah.

WHEN Sarah was an hundred twenty and seven years old, († so long lived she) † Heb. the years of the life of Sarah.

2 Then Sarah died in Kirjath-arba: the same is Hebron in the land of Canaan. And Abraham came to mourn for Sarah and to weep for her.

3 ¶ Then Abraham † rose up from the sight of his corpse, and talked with the † Hittites, saying, † Heb. sons of Hitt.

4 I am a stranger, and a foreigner among you: give me a possession of burial with you, that I may bury my dead out of my sight.

5 Then the Hittites answered Abraham, saying unto him,

6 Hear us, my lord: thou art a prince † of God among us: in the chiefest of our sepulchres bury thy dead: none of us shall forbid thee his sepulchre, but thou mayest bury thy dead therein.

• That is, godly or excellent: for the Hebrews so speak of all things that are notable, because all excellency cometh of God.

8 And he communed with them, saying, if it be your mind, that I shall bury my dead out of my sight, hear me, and intreat for me to Ephron the son of Zohar, 9 That he would give me the cave of Machpelah, which he hath in the end of his field, that he would give it me for as much money as it is worth, for possession to bury in among you.

10 For Ephron dwelt among the Hittites) Then Ephron the Hittite answered Abraham in the audience of all the Hittites that went in at the gates of his city, saying, 11 No, my lord, hear me: the field give I thee, and the cave that therein is, I give it thee: even in the presence of the sons of my people give I it thee, to bury thy dead.

12 Then Abraham bowed himself before the people of the land,

13 And spake unto Ephron in the audience of the people of the country, saying, Seeing thou wilt give it, I pray thee, hear me, I will give thee the price of the field: receive it of me, and I will bury my dead there.

14 Ephron then answered Abraham, saying unto him,

15 My lord, hearken unto me: the land is worth four hundred shekels of silver: what is that between me and thee? bury therefore thy dead.

16 So Abraham hearkened unto Ephron, and Abraham weighed to Ephron the silver which he had named, in the audience of the Hittites, even four hundred silver shekels of current money among merchants.

17 So the field of Ephron which was in Machpelah, and over-against Mamre, even the field and the cave that was therein, and all the trees that were in the field, which were in all the borders round about, was made sure 18 Unto Abraham for a possession, in the sight of the Hittites, even of all that went in at the gates of his city.

19 And after this, Abraham buried Sarah his wife in the cave of the field of Machpelah over-against Mamre: the same is Hebron in the land of Canaan.

20 Thus the field and the cave that is therein, was made sure unto Abraham for a possession of burial by the Hittites.

C H A P. XXIV.

2 Abraham causeth his servant to swear to take a wife for Isaac in his own kindred. 12 The servant prayeth to God. 33 His fidelity toward his master. 50 The friends of Rebekah commit the matter to God. 58 They ask her consent, and she agreeth. 67 And is married to Isaac.

NOW Abraham was old, and stricken in years. And the Lord had blessed Abraham in all things.

2 To shew that he had them in good estimation and reverence.
3 The common shekel is about twenty-pence, so then four hundred shekels amount to thirty-three pounds six shillings and eight-pence, after five shillings sterling the ounce.
4 That is, all the people confirmed the sale.
5 Which ceremony declared the servant's obedience towards his master, and the master's power over the servant.
6 This sheweth, that an oath may be required in a lawful cause.

2 Therefore Abraham said unto his eldest servant of his house, which had the rule over all that he had, Put now thine hand under my thigh,

3 And I will make thee swear by the Lord God of the heaven, and God of the earth, that thou shalt not take a wife unto my son of the daughters of the Canaanites among whom I dwell.

4 But thou shalt go unto my country, and to my kindred, and take a wife unto my son Isaac.

5 And the servant said to him, What if the woman will not come with me to this land? shall I bring thy son again unto the land from whence thou camest?

6 To whom Abraham answered, Beware that thou bring not my son thither again.

7 ¶ The Lord God of heaven, who took me from my father's house, and from the land where I was born, and that spake unto me, and that sware unto me, saying, Unto thy seed will I give this land, he shall send his angels before thee, and thou shalt take a wife unto my son from thence.

8 Nevertheless, if the woman will not follow thee, then shalt thou be discharged of this mine oath: only bring not my son thither again.

9 Then the servant put his hand under the thigh of Abraham his master, and sware to him for this matter.

10 ¶ So the servant took ten camels of the camels of his master, and departed: (for he had all his master's goods in his hand:) and so he arose, and went to Aram Naharaim, unto the city of Nahor.

11 And he made his camels to lie down without the city by a well of water, at even-tide, about the time that the women come out to draw water.

12 And he said, O Lord God of my master Abraham, I beseech thee, send me good speed this day, and shew mercy unto my master Abraham.

13 Lo, I stand by the well of water whilst the mens daughters of this city come out to draw water.

14 Grant therefore, that the maid, to whom I say, Bow down thy pitcher, I pray thee, that I may drink: if she say, Drink, and I will give thy camels drink also: may be she that thou hast ordained for thy servant Isaac: and thereby shall I know that thou hast shewed mercy on my master.

15 ¶ And now, ere he had left speaking, behold, Rebekah came out, the daughter of Bethuel, son of Milcah the wife of Nahor Abraham's brother, and her pitcher upon her shoulder.

16 (And the maid was very fair to look upon,

31 And they blessed Rebekah, and said unto her, Thou art our sister, grow into thousand thousands, and thy seed possess the [†] gate of his enemies.

32 ¶ Then Rebekah arose, and her maids, and rode upon the camels, and followed the man: And the servant took Rebekah, and departed.

33 And Isaac went out to [†] pray in the field toward the evening: who lift up his eyes and looked, and behold, the camels came.

34 Also Rebekah lift up her eyes, and when she saw Isaac, she lighted down from the camel.

35 (For she had said to the servant, Who is yonder man, that cometh in the field to meet us? and the servant had said, It is my master) So she took a [†] veil, and covered her.

36 And the servant told Isaac all things that he had done.

37 Afterward Isaac brought her into the tent of Sarah his mother, and he took Rebekah, and she was his wife, and he loved her. So Isaac was [†] comforted after his mother's death.

C H A P. XXV.

1 Abraham taketh Keturah to wife, and getteth many children. 5 Abraham giveth all his goods to Isaac. 8 He dieth. 12 The genealogy of Ishmael. 25 The birth of Jacob and Esau. 30 Esau selleth his birthright for a mess of pottage.

NOW Abraham had taken him another ^o wife called Keturah,

2 Which bare him Zimran, and Jokshan, and Medan, and Midian, and Ishbak, and Shuah.

3 And Jokshan begat Sheba, and Dedan: ^o And the sons of Dedan were Ashurim, and Letushim, and Leummini. ^{1 Chron. 1. 32.}

4 Also the sons of Midian were Ephah, and Epher, and Hanoch, and Abidah, and Eldaah: and these were the sons of Keturah.

5 ¶ And Abraham gave [†] all his goods to Isaac. ^{† Heb. all that he had.}

6 But unto the ^o sons of the ^o concubines, which Abraham had, Abraham ^o gave gifts, and sent them away from Isaac his son (while he yet lived) eastward to the east country.

7 And this is the age of Abraham's life, which he lived, an hundred seventy and five years.

8 Then Abraham yielded the spirit, and died in a good age, an old man, and of great years, and was ^o gathered to his people.

9 And his sons, Isaac and Ishmael, buried him in the cave of Machpelah, in the field of Ephron son of Zohar the Hittite, before Mamre.

10 Which ^o field Abraham bought of the Hittites, where Abraham was buried with Sarah his wife. ^{Ch. 23. 16.}

11 ¶ And after the death of Abraham God blessed Isaac his son, ^o and Isaac dwelt by Beerlahai-roi. ^{Ch. 26. 14. and 24. 62.}

12 ¶ Now these are the generations of Ishmael Abraham's son, whom Hagar the Egyptian, Sarah's handmaid, bare unto Abraham.

13 ^o And these are the names of the sons of Ishmael, name by name, according to their kindreds: the [†] eldest son of Ishmael was Nebajoth, then Kedar, and Adbeel, and Mibsam, ^{1 Chron. 1. 29. † Heb. si. b. bera.}

14 And Mishma, and Dumah, and Massa,

15 Hadar, and Tema, Jetur, Naphish, and Kedemah.

16 These are the sons of Ishmael, and these are their names by their towns, and by their castles: to wit, twelve princes of their nations.

17 (And these are the years of the life of Ishmael, ^o hundred thirty and seven years, and he yielded the spirit, and died, and was gathered unto his ^o people.)

^o If you will freely and faithfully give your daughter to my master's son.

[†] That is, that I may provide elsewhere.

^o So soon as they perceive that it is God's ordinance, they yield.

This sheweth that parents have not authority to marry their children without consent of the parties.

[†] That is, let it be victorious over his enemies: which blessing is fully accomplished in Jesus Christ.

^o This was the exercise of the godly fathers, to meditate God's promises, and to pray for the accomplishment thereof.

^o The custom was, that the spouse was brought to her husband, band, her head being covered in token of shame facedness and chastity.

^o When Sarah was dead.

^o For by the virtue of God's word he had not only Isaac, but begat many more.

^o To avoid the dissension that else might have come because of the heritage.

^o Hereby the ancients signified, that ^o by death perished not wholly: but as the souls of the godly lived after in perpetual joy, so the souls of the wicked in perpetual pain.

^o Which dwelt among the Arabians, and were separate from the blessed seed.

18 And they dwelt from Havilah unto Shur, that is towards Egypt as thou goest to Ashur. † Or, his lot fell. † Or, his lot fell.

19 ¶ Likewise these are the generations of Isaac, Abraham's son. Abraham begat Isaac.

20 And Isaac was forty years old, when he took Rebekah to wife, the daughter of Bethuel the † Aramite of Padan-aram, and sister to Laban the Aramite.

21 And Isaac prayed unto the Lord for his wife, because she was barren: and the Lord was intreated of him, and Rebekah his wife conceived.

22 But the children † strove together within her: therefore she said, Seeing it is so, why am I thus? wherefore she went to ask the Lord.

23 And the Lord said to her, Two nations are in thy womb, and two manner of people shall be divided out of thy bowels, and the one people shall be mightier than the other, and the † elder shall serve the younger.

24 ¶ Therefore when her time of deliverance was fulfilled, behold twins were in her womb.

25 So he that came out first was red, and he was all over ■ a rough garment, and they called his name Esau.

26 And afterward came his brother out, and his hand held Esau by the heel: therefore his name was called Jacob. Now Isaac was threescore years old when Rebekah bare them.

27 And the boys grew, and Esau was a cunning hunter, and † lived in the fields: but Jacob was a † plain man and dwelt in tents.

28 And Isaac loved Esau, for † venison was his meat, but Rebekah loved Jacob.

29 Now Jacob sod pottage, and Esau came from the field and was weary.

30 Then Esau said to Jacob, † Let ■ eat, I pray thee, of that pottage so red, for I am weary. Therefore was his name called Edom.

31 And Jacob said, Sell ■ even now thy birthright.

32 And Esau said, Lo, I ■ almost dead, what is then this ■ birthright to me?

33 Jacob then said, Swear to ■ even now. And he sware to him, ■ and ■ sold his birthright unto Jacob.

34 Then Jacob gave Esau bread and pottage of lentiles: and he did eat and drink, and rose up, and went his way. So Esau contemned his birthright.

C H A P. XXVI.

1 God provideth for Isaac in the famine. 3 He reneweth his promise. 9 The king blameth him for denying his wife. 14 The Philistines hate him for his riches. 15 Stop his wells, 16 And drive him away. 24 God comforteth him. 31 He maketh alliance with Abimelech. † Or, his lot fell.

AND there was a famine in the † land besides the first famine that was in the days of Abraham. Wherefore Isaac went to Abimelech king of the Philistines unto Gerar:

2 For the Lord appeared unto him, and said, Go not down into Egypt, but abide in the land which I shall shew unto thee.

3 Dwell in this land, and I will be with thee, and will bless thee: for to thee, and to thy seed I will give all these ■ countries: and I will perform the oath which I sware unto Abraham thy father.

4 Also I will cause thy seed to multiply ■ the stars of heaven, and will give unto thy seed all these countries: and in thy seed shall all the nations of the earth be ■ blessed.

5 Because that Abraham ■ obeyed my voice and kept mine † ordinance, my commandments, my statutes, and my laws.

6 ¶ So Isaac dwelt in Gerar.

7 And the men of the place asked him of his wife, and he said, She is my sister: for he † feared to say, She is my wife, lest, said he, the men of the place should kill me, because of Rebekah: for she was beautiful to the eye.

8 So after he had been there a long time, Abimelech king of the Philistines looked out of ■ window, and lo, he saw Isaac ■ sporting with Rebekah his wife.

9 Then Abimelech called Isaac, and said, Lo, she is of a surety thy wife, and why saidst thou, She is my sister? To whom Isaac answered, Because I thought † this, It may be that I shall die for her.

10 Then Abimelech said, Why hast thou done this unto us? one of the people had almost lien by thy wife, so shouldest thou have brought † sin upon us.

11 Then Abimelech charged all his people, saying, He that toucheth this man, or his wife, shall die the death.

12 Afterward Isaac sowed in that land, and found in the same year an † hundred-fold by estimation: and so the Lord blessed him.

13 And the man waxed mighty, and still † increased, till he was exceeding great.

14 For he had flocks of sheep, and herds of cattle, and a mighty household: therefore the Philistines had ■ envy at him, 15 Inasmuch that the Philistines stopped and filled up with earth all the wells, which his father's servants digged in his father Abraham's time.

16 Then Abimelech said unto Isaac, Get thee from us, for thou art mightier than we ■ great deal.

17 ¶ Therefore Isaac departed thence, and pitched 1804 pitched his tent in the valley of Gerar, and dwelt there.

18 And Isaac returning, digged the wells of water, which they had digged in the days of Abraham his Father: for the Philistines had stopped them after the death of Abraham, and he gave them the same names, which his father gave them.

19 Isaac's servants then digged in the valley, and found there a well of living water.

20 But the herdmen of Gerar did strive with Isaac's herdmen, saying, The water is ours: therefore called he the name of the well \ddagger Esek, because they were at strife with him.

21 Afterward they digged another well, and strove for that also, and he called the name of it \ddagger Sitah.

22 Then he removed thence, and digged another well, for the which they strove not: therefore called he the name of it \ddagger Rehoboth, and said, Because the Lord hath now made us room, we shall increase upon the earth.

23 So he went up thence to Beer-sheba.

25 Then he built an altar there, and there called upon the name of the Lord, and there spread his tent: where also Isaac's servants digged a well.

26 ¶ Then came Abimelech to him from Gerar, and Ahuzzath one of his friends, and Phichol the captain of his army.

27 To whom Isaac said, Wherefore come ye to me, seeing ye hate me and have put me away from you?

28 Who answered, We saw certainly that the Lord was with thee, and we thought thus, Let there be now an oath between us, even between us and thee, and let us make a covenant with thee.

29 If thou shalt do us no hurt, as we have not touched thee, and as we have done unto thee nothing but good, and sent thee away in peace: thou now, the blessed of the Lord, do this.

30 Then he made them a feast, and they did eat and drink.

31 And they rose up betimes in the morning, and swore one to another: then Isaac let them go, and they departed from him in peace.

32 And that same day Isaac's servants came and told him of a well which they had digged, and said unto him, We have found water.

8 Jacob getteth the blessing from Esau by his mother's counsel. 38 Esau by weeping moveth his father to pity him. 41 Esau hateth Jacob and threateneth his death. 43 Rebekah sendeth Jacob away.

AND when Isaac was old, and his eyes were dim (so that he could not see) he called Esau his eldest son, and said unto him, My son. And he answered him, \ddagger I am here.

2 Then he said, Behold, I am now old, and know not the day of my death:

3 Wherefore now, I pray thee, take thine instruments, thy quiver and thy bow, and get thee to the field, that thou mayest take me some venison.

4 Then make me savoury meat, such as I love, and bring it me that I may eat, and that my soul may bless thee, before I die.

5 (Now Rebekah heard, when Isaac spake to Esau his son) and Esau went into the field to hunt for venison, and to bring it.

6 ¶ Then Rebekah spake unto Jacob her son, saying, Behold, I have heard thy father talking with Esau thy brother, saying,

7 Bring me venison, and make me savoury meat, that I may eat and bless thee before the Lord, before my death.

8 Now therefore, my son, hear my voice in that which I command thee.

9 Get thee now to the flock, and bring me thence two good kids of the goats, that I may make pleasant meat of them for thy father, such as he loveth.

10 Then thou shalt bring it to thy father, and he shall eat, to the intent that he may bless thee before his death.

11 But Jacob said to Rebekah his mother, Behold, Esau my brother is rough, and I am smooth.

12 My father may possibly feel me, and I shall seem to him to be \blacksquare \ddagger mocker: so shall I bring a curse upon me, and not a blessing.

13 But his mother said unto him, \ddagger Upon me be thy curse, my son: only hear my voice, and go and bring me them.

14 So he went and fetched them, and brought them to his mother: and his mother made pleasant meat, such as his father loved.

15 And Rebekah took fair clothes of her elder son Esau, which were in her house, and clothed Jacob her younger son:

16 And she covered his hands and the smooth of his neck with the skins of the kids of the goats.

17 Afterward she put the pleasant meat and bread, which she had prepared, in the hand of her son Jacob.

The carnal affection which he bare to his son, made him forget that which God spake to his wife, chap. 25. 23.

This subtlety is blame-worthy, because she should have tarried till God had performed his promise.

The assurance of God's decree made her bold.

21 Again said Isaac unto Jacob, Come near now, that I may feel thee, my son, whether thou be that my son Esau or not.

22 Then Jacob came near to Isaac his father, and he felt him, and said, The voice is Jacob's voice, but the hands are the hands of Esau.

24 Again he said, Art thou that my son Esau? Who answered, Yea.

25 Then said he, Bring it me hither, and I will eat of my son's venison, that my soul may bless thee. And he brought it to him, and he ate; also he brought him wine, and he drank.

26 Afterward his father Isaac said unto him, Come near now, and kiss me, my son.

32 But his father Isaac said unto him, Who art thou? And he answered, I am thy son, thy first-born Esau.

33 Then Isaac was stricken with a marvelous great fear, and said, Who and where is he that hunted venison, and brought it me, and I have eaten of all before thou camest? and I have blessed him, therefore he shall be blessed.

34 When Esau heard the words of his father, he cried out with a great cry and bitter out of measure, and said unto his father, Bless me, me also, my father.

35 Who answered, Thy brother came with subtlety, and hath taken away thy blessing.

36 Then he said, Was not he justly called Jacob? for he hath deceived me these two times: he took my birthright, and lo, now hath he taken my blessing. Also he said, Hast thou not reserved a blessing for me?

37 Then Isaac answered, and said unto Esau, Behold, I have made him thy lord, and all his brethren have I made his servants: also with wheat and wine have I furnished him, and unto thee now what shall I do, my son?

38 Then Esau said unto his father, Hast thou but one blessing, my father? bless me, me also, my father: and Esau lifted up his voice, and wept.

39 Then Isaac his father answered, and said unto him, Behold, the fatness of the earth shall be thy dwelling place, and thou shalt have of the dew of heaven from above.

40 And by thy sword shalt thou live, and shalt be thy brother's servant. But it shall come to pass, when thou shalt get the mastery, that thou shalt break his yoke from thy neck.

41 ¶ Therefore Esau hated Jacob, because of the blessing, wherewith his father blessed him. And Esau thought in his mind, The days of mourning for my father will come shortly, then I will slay my brother Jacob.

42 And it was told to Rebekah of the words of Esau her elder son, and she sent and called Jacob her younger son, and said unto him, Behold, thy brother Esau is comforted against thee, meaning to kill thee:

43 Now therefore my son, hear my voice: arise, and flee thou to Haran to my brother Laban.

44 And tarry with him a while until thy brother's fierceness be assuaged, 45 And till thy brother's wrath turn away from thee, and he forget the things which thou hast done to him: then will I send and take thee from thence: why should I be deprived of you both in one day?

41 And in every ramming time of the ^{ae} stronger sheep, Jacob laid the rods before the eyes of the sheep in the gutters, that they might conceive before the rods.

42 But when the sheep were feeble, he put them not in: and so the feebler were Laban's, and the stronger Jacob's.

43 So the man increased exceedingly, and had many flocks, and maid-servants, and men-servants, and camels, and asses.

NOW he heard the ¹ words of Laban's sons, saying, Jacob hath taken away all that was our father's, and of our father's goods hath he gotten all his honour.

2 Also Jacob beheld the countenance of Laban, ² that it was not towards him ³ in times past.

3 And the Lord had said unto Jacob, Turn again into the land of thy fathers, and to thy kindred, and I will be with thee. † Heb. and he, not be with him, as yesterday, and yesterday.

■ As they which took the ram about September, and brought forth about March: ■ the feeble took the ram in March, and lamb'd in September.

■ The children uttered in words that which the father dissembled in heart, for the covetous think, that whatsoever they cannot snatch, is plucked from them.

1739. ^{Bef. Chr.} 4 Therefore Jacob sent and called Rachel and Leah to the field unto his flock.

^{† Heb. es} 5 Then said he unto them, I see your father's countenance, that it is not towards me † as it was wont, and the * God of my father hath been with me.

6 And ye know that I have served your Father with all my might.

^{† Or, many} 7 But your father hath deceived me, and changed my wages ten † times: but God suffered him not to hurt me.

¶ If he thus said, The spotted shall be thy wages, then all the sheep bare spotted: and if he said thus, The party-coloured shall be thy reward, then bare all the sheep party-coloured.

^{† Or, cattle.} 9 Thus hath † God taken away your father's † substance, and given it me.

10 ¶ For in ramming time I lifted up mine eyes and saw in a dream, and behold, the he-goats leaped upon the she-goats that were party-coloured with little and great spots spotted.

11 And the angel of God said to me in a dream, Jacob. And I answered, Lo I am here.

12 And he said, Lift up now thine eyes, and see all the he-goats leaping upon the she-goats that are party-coloured, spotted with little and great spots: for I have seen all that Laban doth unto thee.

^{• Ch. 28. 18.} 13 ^m I am the God of Beth-el where thou * anointedst the pillar, where thou vowedst a vow unto me. Now arise, get thee out of this country, and return unto the land where thou wast born.

14 Then answered Rachel and Leah, and said unto him, Have we any more portion and inheritance in our father's house?

15 Doth not he count us as strangers? for he hath ⁿ sold us, and hath eaten up and consumed our money.

16 Therefore all the riches which God hath taken from our father, is ours; and our childrens: now then whatsoever God hath said unto thee, do it.

17 ¶ Then Jacob rose up, and set his sons and his wives upon camels.

18 And he carried away all his flocks, and all his substance which he had gotten, ^{to wit,} his riches which he had gotten in Padan-aram, to go to Haac his father unto the land of Canaan.

19 When Laban was gone to shear his sheep, then Rachel stole her father's ^o idols.

26 Then Laban said to Jacob; What hast thou done? † thou hast even stolen away mine ^{† Or, conveyed thyself away privately.} heart, and carried away my daughters, as though they had been taken captives with the sword.

27 Wherefore didst thou flee so secretly and steal away from me, and didst not tell me, that I might have sent thee forth with mirth and with songs, with timbrel and with harp?

28 But thou hast not suffered me to kiss my sons and my daughters: now thou hast done foolishly in doing ^{so.}

29 I am † able to do you evil: but the ^{† Heb. power is in mine hand.} ^p God of your father spake unto me yesternight, saying, Take heed that thou speak not me Jacob aught save good.

30 Now though thou wentest thy way because thou greatly longest after thy father's house, yet wherefore hast thou stolen my gods?

31 Then Jacob answered; and said to Laban; Because I was afraid; and thought that thou wouldest have taken thy daughters from me.

32 ^{But} with whom thou findest thy gods, † let him not live. Search thou before our brethren what I have ^{of thine} and take it to thee; (but Jacob wist not that Rachel had stolen them).

33 Then came Laban into Jacob's tent, and into Leah's tent, and into the two maids tents, but found ^{them} not. So he went out of Leah's tent, and entered into Rachel's tent.

34 (Now Rachel had taken the idols, and put them in the camels † litter, and sat down ^{† Or, straw; or saddle.} upon them) and Laban searched all the tent, but found ^{them} not.

35 Then said she to her father, † My lord, ^{† Heb. let not anger be in the eyes of my lord.} be not angry that I cannot rise up before thee: for the custom of women is upon me: so he searched, but found not the idols.

36 ¶ Then Jacob was wroth, and chode with Laban: Jacob also answered and said to Laban, What have I trespassed? what have I offended, that thou hast pursued after me?

37 Seeing thou hast searched all my stuff, what hast thou found of all thine household-stuff? put it here before my brethren, and thy brethren, that they may judge between us both.

42 Except the God of my father, the God of Abraham, and the ¹ fear of Isaac had been with me, surely thou hadst sent me away now empty: but God beheld my tribulation, and the labour of mine hands, and rebuked thee yesternight.

43 Then Laban answered, and said unto Jacob, These daughters are my daughters, and these sons are my sons, and these sheep are my sheep, and all that thou seest is mine, and what can I do this day unto these my daughters, or to their sons which they have borne?

44 Now therefore ² come and let us make a covenant, I and thou, which may be ³ witness between me and thee.

45 Then took Jacob a stone, and set it up as a pillar:

46 And Jacob said unto his brethren, Gather stones: who brought stones and made an heap, and they did eat there upon the heap.

47 And Laban called it ⁴ Jegar-sahadutha, and Jacob called it ⁵ Galeed.

48 For Laban said, This heap is witness between me and thee this day: therefore he called the name of it Galeed.

49 Also he called it ⁶ Mizpah, because he said, The Lord ⁷ look between me and thee, when we shall be ⁸ departed one from another.

50 If thou shalt vex my daughters, or ⁹ shalt take ¹⁰ wives besides my daughters: there is no man with us, behold, God is witness between ¹¹ and thee.

51 Moreover Laban said to Jacob, Behold this heap, and behold the pillar which I have set up between me and thee, 52 This heap shall be witness, and the pillar shall be witness, that I will not come over this heap to thee, and that thou shalt not pass over this heap and this pillar unto me for evil.

53 The God of Abraham, and the God of ¹² Nahor, and the God of their father be judge between us: But Jacob sware by the ¹³ fear of his father Isaac.

54 Then Jacob did offer a sacrifice upon the mount, and called his brethren to eat ¹⁴ bread, and they did eat bread, and tarried all night in the mount.

55 And early in the morning Laban rose up and kissed his sons and his ¹⁵ daughters, and blessed them, and Laban departing, went unto his place again.

¹ God comforteth Jacob by his angels. 9, 10 He prayeth unto God, confessing his unworthiness. 13 He sendeth presents unto Esau. 24, 28 He wrestleth with the angel, who nameth him Israel.

NOW Jacob went forth on his journey, and the ² angels of God met him.

2 And when Jacob saw them, he said, ³ This is God's host, and called the name of the same place ⁴ Mahanaim.

3 Then Jacob sent messengers before him to Esau his brother, unto the land of Seir into the country of Edom:

4 To whom he gave commandment, saying, Thus shall ye speak to my ⁵ lord Esau: Thy servant Jacob saith thus, I have been ⁶ stranger with Laban, and tarried unto this time.

5 I have beeves also and asses, sheep, and men servants, and women servants, and have sent to shew my lord, that I may find grace in thy sight.

6 ¶ So the messengers came again to Jacob, saying, We came unto thy brother Esau, and he also cometh against thee and four hundred men with him.

7 Then Jacob ⁷ was greatly ⁸ afraid, and was fore troubled, and divided the people that was with him, and the sheep and the beeves, and the camels into two companies.

8 For he said, If Esau come to the one company and smite it, the other company shall escape.

9 ¶ Moreover Jacob said, O God of my father Abraham, and God of my father Isaac: Lord, which ⁹ saidst unto me, Return unto thy ¹⁰ country, and to thy kindred, and I will do thee good,

10 I ¹¹ am not ¹² worthy of the least of all the mercies, and all the truth, which thou hast shewed unto thy servant: for with my ¹³ staff came I over this Jordan, and now have I gotten two bands.

11 I pray thee, deliver me from the hand of my brother, from the hand of Esau, for I fear him, lest he will ¹⁴ smite me, and the ¹⁵ mother upon the children.

12 For thou saidst, I will surely do thee good, and make thy seed as the sand upon the sea, which cannot be numbered for multitude.

13 ¶ And he tarried there the same night, and took of that which came to hand, a ¹⁶ present for Esau his brother:

14 Two hundred she-goats, and twenty he-goats, two hundred ewes and twenty rams:

15 Thirty milch camels with their colts, forty kine, and ten bullocks, twenty she-asses, and ten foles.

16 So he delivered them into the hand of his servants: every drove by themselves, and said unto his servants, Pass before me, and put a space between drove and drove.

17 And he commanded the foremost, saying, If Esau my brother meet thee, and ask thee, saying, Whose servant art thou? And whither goest thou? And whose ¹⁸ are these before thee?

18 Then thou shalt say, They be thy servant Jacob's: it is ¹⁹ present sent unto my lord Esau: and behold, he himself also is behind us.

2 Dinah is ravished. Hamor asketh her in marriage for his son. 22 The Shechemites are circumcised at the request of Jacob's sons, and the persuasion of Hamor. 25 The reboredom is re-versed. 28 Jacob reproveth his sons.

THEN Dinah the daughter of Leah, which she bare unto Jacob, went out to see the daughters of that country.

2 Whom when Shechem the son of Hamor the Hivite lord of that country saw, he took her, and lay with her, and † defiled her.

3 So his heart clave unto Dinah the daughter of Jacob: and he loved the maid, and † spake kindly unto the maid.

4 Then said Shechem to his father Hamor, saying, Get me this maid to wife.

5 (Now Jacob heard that he had defiled Dinah his daughter, and his sons were with his cattle in the field: therefore Jacob held his peace until they were come.)

6 ¶ Then Hamor the father of Shechem went out unto Jacob to commune with him.

7 And when the sons of Jacob were come out of the field, and heard it, it grieved the men, and they were very angry, because he had wrought † villainy in Israel, in that he had lien with Jacob's daughter: † which thing ought not to be done.

8 And Hamor communed with them, saying, The soul of my son Shechem longeth for your daughter: give her him to wife, I pray you.

9 So make † affinity with us: give your daughters unto us, and take our daughters unto you.

10 And ye shall dwell with us, and the land shall be before you: dwell, and do your business in it, and have your possessions therein.

12 † Ask of me abundantly both dowry and gifts, and I will give ■ ye appoint me, so that ye give me the maid to wife.

13 Then the sons of Jacob answered Shechem and Hamor his father, talking deceitfully, because he had defiled Dinah their sister,

14 And they said unto them, We cannot do this thing, to give our sister to an uncircumcised man: for that were a ° reproof unto us:

15 But in this we will consent unto you, if ye will be as we are, that every man child among you be ° circumcised:

16 Then will we give our daughters to you, and we will take your daughters to us, and we will dwell with you, and be one people.

17 But if ye will not hearken unto us to be circumcised, then will we take our daughter and depart. Bef. Chr. 1732.

18 Now their words pleased Hamor, and Shechem, Hamor's son.

19 And the young man deferred not to do the thing, because he loved Jacob's daughter: he was also the † most set by of all his father's house. † Or, most honourable;

20 ¶ Then Hamor and Shechem his son went unto the ° gate of their city, and communed with the men of their city, saying,

24 And unto Hamor, and Shechem his son, hearkened all that went out of the gate of his city: and all the men children were circumcised, even all that went out of the gate of his city.

25 And on the third day (when they were fore) two of the sons of Jacob, ° Simeon and Levi, Dinah's brethren, took either of them his sword, and went into the city boldly, and ° slew ° every male.

29 Also they carried away captive and spoiled all their goods, and all their children, and their wives, and all that was in the houses.

30 Then Jacob said to Simeon and Levi, Ye have troubled me, and made me † stink among the inhabitants of the land, as well the Canaanites, as the Perizzites, and I being few in number, they shall gather themselves together against me, and slay me, and so shall I and my house be destroyed. † Or, to the abhorred.

Bef. Chr. 1732. 5 God maketh the enemies of Jacob afraid. 8 Deborah dietb. 12 The land of Canaan is promised him. 18 Rachel dietb in labour. 22 Reuben lieth with his father's concubine. 23 The sons of Jacob. 29 The death of Isaac.

THEN God said to Jacob; Arise, go up to Beth-el, and dwell there, and make there an altar unto God, that appeared unto thee; when thou fleddest from Esau thy brother.

2 Then said Jacob unto his household, and to all that were with him, Put away the strange gods that are among you, and cleanse yourselves, and change your garments:

3 For we will rise and go up to Beth-el, and I will make an altar there unto God, which heard me in the day of my tribulation, and was with me in the way which I went.

4 And they gave unto Jacob all the strange gods, which were in their hands, and all their ear-rings which were in their ears, and Jacob hid them under an oak, which was by Shechem:

5 Then they went on their journey, and the fear of God was upon the cities that were round about them; so that they did not follow after the sons of Jacob:

6 ¶ So came Jacob to Luz, which is in the land of Canaan: (the same is Beth-el) he and all the people that was with him:

7 And he built there an altar, and called the place, The God of Beth-el, because that God appeared unto him there, when he fled from his brother.

¶ Then Deborah Rebekah's nurse died, and was buried beneath Beth-el under an oak: and he called the name of it † Allon Bachuth.

9 ¶ Again God appeared unto Jacob after he came out of Padan-aram, and blessed him.

10 Moreover God said unto him, Thy name is Jacob: thy name shall be no more called Jacob, but Israel shall be thy name: and he called his name Israel.

11 Again God said unto him, I am God † all-sufficient: grow, and multiply, a nation and multitude of nations shall spring out of thee, and kings shall come out of thy loins.

12 Also I will give the land, which I gave to Abraham and Isaac, unto thee: and unto thy seed after thee will I give that land.

13 So God ascended from him in the place where he had talked with him.

14 And Jacob set up a pillar in the place where he talked with him, a pillar of stone, and poured drink-offering thereon: also he poured oil thereon.

15 And Jacob called the name of the place where God spake with him, Beth-el.

16 ¶ Then they departed from Beth-el, and when there was about half a day's journey of ground to come to Ephrath, Rachel travailed; and in travailing she was in peril.

17 And when she was in pains of her labour; the midwife said unto her; Fear not: for thou shalt have this son also.

18 Then she was about to yield up the ghost (for she died) she called his name Benoni, but his father called him Benjamin.

19 Thus died Rachel, and was buried in the way to Ephrath, which is Bethlehem: * Ch. 47. 7.

20 And Jacob set a pillar upon her grave: This is the pillar of Rachel's grave unto this day.

21 ¶ Then Israel went forward, and pitched his tent beyond Migdal-eder:

25 And the sons of Bilhah Rachel's maid: Dan and Naphtali.

26 And the sons of Zilpah Leah's maid: Gad and Asher. These are the sons of Jacob; which were born him in Padan-aram.

27 ¶ Then Jacob came unto Isaac his father to Mamre a city of Arbah: This is Hebron; where Abraham and Isaac were strangers.

28 And the days of Isaac were an hundred and fourscore years.

29 And Isaac gave up the ghost and died, and was gathered unto his people, being old and full of days: and his sons Esau and Jacob buried him: * Ch. 25. 8.

and also stood upright, and behold, your sheaves compassed round about, and did reverence to 8 Then his brethren said to him, What, shalt thou reign over us, and rule us? or shalt thou have altogether dominion over us? And they hated him so much the more, for his dreams, and for his words.

9 ¶ Again he dreamed another dream, and a kid of the goats, and dipped the coat in the 2 The marriage of Judah. 7, 9 The trespass of Er and Onan, and the vengeance of God that came thereupon. 18 Judah lieth with his daughter-in-law Tamar. 24 Tamar is judged to be burnt for whoredom. 29, 30 The birth of Pharez and Zarah.

AND at that time Judah went down from his brethren, and turned in to a man called Hirah an Adullamite.

2 And Judah saw there the daughter of a man called Shuah a Canaanite: and he took her to wife, and went in unto her.

3 So she conceived and bare a son, and he called his name Er.

4 And she conceived again, and bare a son, and she called his name Onan.

5 Moreover she bare yet a son, whom she called Shelah: and Judah was at Chezib when she bare him.

6 Then Judah took a wife to Er his first-born son, whose name was Tamar.

7 Now Er the first-born of Judah was wicked in the sight of the Lord: therefore the Lord slew him.

8 Then Judah said to Onan, Go in unto thy brother's wife, and do the office of a kinman unto her, and raise up seed unto thy brother.

9 And Onan knew that the seed should not be his: therefore when he went in unto his brother's wife, he spilled it on the ground, lest he should give seed unto his brother.

10 And it was wicked in the eyes of the Lord, which he did: wherefore he slew him also.

11 Then said Judah to Tamar his daughter-in-law, Remain a widow in thy father's house, till Shelah my son grow up (for he thought thus, Lest he die as well as his brethren.) So Tamar went and dwelt in her father's house.

12 And in process of time also, the daughter of Shuah Judah's wife died. Then Judah, when he had left mourning, went up to his sheep-shearers to Timnath, he and his neighbour Hirah the Adullamite.

13 And it was told Tamar, saying, Behold, thy father-in-law goeth up to Timnath, to shear his sheep.

14 Then she put her widow's garments off from her, and covered her with a vail, and wrapped herself, and sat down in Pethah-enaim, which is by the way to Timnath, because she saw that Shelah was grown, and she was not given unto him to wife.

15 When Judah saw her, he judged her a whore: for she had covered her face.

16 And he turned the way towards her, and said, Come, I pray thee, let me lie with thee: (for he knew not that she was his daughter-in-law.) And she answered, What wilt thou give me for to lie with me? Ref. Chr. 1727.

17 Then said he, I will send thee a kid of the goats from the flock: and she said, Well, if thou wilt give me a pledge, till thou send it.

18 Then he said, What is the pledge that I shall give thee? And she answered, Thy signet, and thy staff, and thy cloak, and thy staff that is in thine hand. So he gave it her, and lay by her, and she was with child by him.

19 Then she rose, and went and put her veil from her, and put on her widow's raiment.

20 Afterward Judah sent a kid of the goats by the hand of his neighbour the Adullamite, for to receive his pledge from the woman's hand: but he found her not.

21 Then asked he the men of that place, saying, Where is the whore that sat in Enaim, by the way-side? And they answered, There was no whore here.

22 He came therefore to Judah again, and said, I cannot find her: and also the men of the place said, There was no whore there.

23 Then Judah said, Let her take it to her, lest we be ashamed: behold, I sent this kid, and thou hast not found her.

24 Now after three months, one told Judah, saying, Tamar thy daughter-in-law hath played the whore, and lo, with playing the whore, she is great with child. Then Judah said, Bring ye her forth, and let her be burnt.

25 When she was brought forth, she sent to her father-in-law, saying, By the man unto whom these things pertain, am I with child: and said also, Look, I pray thee, whose these are, the seal, and the cloak, and the staff.

26 Then Judah knew them, and said, She is more righteous than I: for she hath done it because I gave her not to Shelah my son. So he lay with her no more.

27 Now when the time was come that she should be delivered, behold, there were twins in her womb.

28 And when she was in travail, she put out his hand: and the midwife took and bound a red thread about his hand, saying, This is come out first.

29 But when he plucked his hand back again, lo, his brother came out, and the midwife said, How hast thou broken the breach upon thee? and his name was called Pharez.

30 And afterward came out his brother that had the red thread about his hand, and his name was called Zarah.

1 Joseph is sold to Potiphar. 2 God prospereth him. 7 Potiphar's wife tempteth him. 13, 20 He is accused and cast into prison. 21 God sheweth him favour.

NOW Joseph was brought down into Egypt: and Potiphar ^a eunuch of Pharaoh's (and his chief steward, an Egyptian) bought him at the hand of the Ishmaelites, which had brought him thither.

2 And the ^b Lord was with Joseph; and he was ^c man that prospered, and was in the house of his master the Egyptian.

3 And his master saw that the Lord was with him, and that the Lord made all that he did to prosper in his hand.

4 So Joseph found favour in his sight, and served him: and he made him ^d ruler of his house, and put all that he had in his hand.

5 And from that time that he had made him ruler over his house, and over all that he had, the Lord ^e blessed the Egyptian's house for Joseph's sake: and the blessing of the Lord was upon all that he had in the house, and in the field.

6 Therefore he left all that he had in Joseph's hand, and took account of nothing that was with him, save only of the bread which he did eat. And Joseph was ^f fair person, and well favoured.

7 ¶ Now therefore after these things, his master's wife cast her eyes upon Joseph, and said, ^g Lie with me.

8 But he refused, and said to his master's wife, Behold, my master knoweth not what he hath in the house with me, but hath committed all that he hath to mine hand.

9 There is no man greater in this house than I: neither hath he kept any thing from me; but only thee, because thou art his wife: how then can I do this great wickedness, and so sin against ^h God?

10 And albeit she spake to Joseph day by day, yet he hearkened not unto her to lie with her, or to be in her company.

11 Then on a certain day Joseph entered into the house to do his business: and there was no man of the household in the house.

12 Therefore she caught him by his garment, saying, Sleep with me: but he left his garment in her hand, and fled, and gat him out.

13 Now when she saw that he had left his garment in her hand and ⁱ fled out.

14 She called unto the men of her house, and told them, saying, Behold, he hath brought in an Hebrew unto us ^j to mock us: who came in to me for to have slept with me: but I ^k cried with ^l loud voice.

15 And when he heard that I lift up my voice and cried, he left his garment with me, and fled away, and gat him out.

¶ The interpretation of dreams is of God. 12, 19 Joseph expoundeth the dreams of the two prisoners: 23 The ingratitude of the butler.

AND after these things, the butler of the king of Egypt and his baker offended their lord the king of Egypt.

2 And Pharaoh was angry against his two [†] officers, against the chief butler, and against the chief baker. ^{† Or, eunuchs, the word signifieth them that were in high estate, or them that were gelded.}

3 Therefore he put them in ward in his chief steward's house, in the prison and place where Joseph was bound.

4 And the chief steward gave Joseph charge over them, and he served them: and they continued a season in ward.

5 ¶ And they both dreamed a dream, either of them his dream in one night, [†] each one according to the interpretation of his dream, both the butler and the baker of the king of Egypt, which were bound in the prison.

6 And when Joseph came in unto them in the morning, and looked upon them, behold, they were sad.

7 And he asked Pharaoh's officers, that were with him in his master's ward, saying, Wherefore [†] look ye so sadly to-day?

8 Who answered him, We have dreamed each one a dream, and there is none to interpret the same. ^{† Heb. why are your faces evil?} Then Joseph said unto [¶] them, Are not interpretations of God? tell them ^{¶¶} now.

9 So the chief butler told his dream to Joseph, and said unto him, In my dream, behold, a vine was before me.

11 And I had Pharaoh's cup in mine hand, and I took the grapes, and wrung them into Pharaoh's cup, and I gave the cup into Pharaoh's hand.

12 Then Joseph said unto him, This ^b is the interpretation of it: The three branches are three days.

13 Within three days shall Pharaoh lift up thine head, and restore thee unto thine [†] office, and thou shalt give Pharaoh's cup into his hand after the old manner, when thou wast his butler.

14 But have me in remembrance with thee, when thou art in good case, and shew mercy, I pray thee, unto me, and [†] make mention of me to Pharaoh, that thou mayest bring me out of this house.

15 For I was stolen away by theft out of the land of the Hebrews, and here also have I done nothing, wherefore they should put me [†] in the dungeon.

16 And when the chief baker saw that the interpretation was good, he said unto Joseph, Also methought in my dream, that I had three [†] white baskets on mine head.

17 And in the uppermost basket there ~~was~~ of all manner baken meats for Pharaoh: and the birds did eat them out of the basket upon mine head.

18 Then Joseph answered, and said, [†] This is the interpretation thereof: The three baskets are three days.

19 Within three days shall Pharaoh take thine head from thee, and shall hang thee on a tree, and the birds shall eat thy flesh from off thee.

20 [†] And so the third day, ~~which was~~ Pharaoh's [†] birth-day, he made a feast unto all his servants: and he lifted up the head of the chief butler, and the head of the chief baker among his servants.

21 And he restored the chief butler unto his butlership, who gave the cup into Pharaoh's hand, 22 But he hanged the chief baker, as Joseph had interpreted unto them.

23 Yet the chief butler did not remember Joseph, but forgot him.

24 Pharaoh's dreams are expounded by Joseph. 40 He is made ruler over all Egypt. 43 Joseph's name is changed. 50 He hath two sons, Manasseh and Ephraim. 54 The famine beginneth throughout the world.

1 AND [†] two years after, Pharaoh also dreamed, and behold, he stood by a river,

3 Joseph's brethren come into Egypt to buy corn.
7 He knoweth them and trieth them. 24 Simeon is put in prison. 26 The others return to their father to fetch Benjamin.

10. 1. THEN Jacob saw that there was † food in Egypt, and Jacob said unto his sons, Why gaze ye one upon another?

2 And he said, Behold, I have heard that there is food in Egypt, ■ Get you down thither, and buy us food thence, that we may live and not die.

3 ¶ So went Joseph's ten brethren down to buy corn of the Egyptians.

4 But Benjamin Joseph's brother, would not Jacob send with his brethren: for he said, Left death should befall † him.

5 And the sons of Israel came to buy food among them that came: for there was famine in the land of Canaan.

6 Now Joseph was governor of the land, who sold to all the people of the land: then Joseph's brethren came, and bowed their face to the ground before him.

7 And when Joseph saw his brethren, he knew them, and made † himself strange toward them, and spake to them roughly, and said unto them, Whence come ye? Who answered, Out of the land of Canaan, to buy victuals.

8 (Now Joseph knew his brethren, but they knew not him.

9 And Joseph remembered the * dreams which he dreamed of them) And he said unto them, Ye are spies, and are come to see the † weakness of the land.

10 But they said unto him, Nay, my lord, but to buy victuals thy servants are come.

11 We are all one man's sons: we mean truly, and thy servants are no spies.

12 But he said unto them, Nay, but ye are come to see the weakness of the land.

13 And they said, We thy servants are twelve brethren, the sons of one man in the land of Canaan: and behold, the youngest is this day with our father, and one † is not.

14 Again Joseph said unto them, This is it that I spake unto you, saying, Ye are spies.

15 Hereby ye shall be proved: ■ by the life of Pharaoh, ye shall not go hence, except your youngest brother come hither.

16 Send one of you which may fetch your brother, and ye shall be kept in prison, that your words may be proved, whether there be truth in you: or else by the life of Pharaoh ye are but spies.

17 So he put them in ward three days.

18 Then Joseph said unto them the third day, This do, and live: for I † fear God.

19 If ye be true men, let one of your brethren be bound in your prison-house, and go ye carry food for the famine of your houses:

20 * But bring your younger brother unto me, that your words may be tried, and that ye die not: and they did so.

21 ¶ And they said one to another, † We have verily sinned against our brother, in that we saw the anguish of his soul when he besought us, and we would not hear him: therefore is this trouble come upon us.

22 And Reuben answered them, saying, Warned I not you, saying, ■ Sin not against the child, and ye would not hear? and lo, † his blood is now required. * Ch. 37. 22.

24 Then he turned from them, and † wept, and turned to them again, and communed with them, and took Simeon from among them, and bound him before their eyes.

25 ¶ So Joseph commanded that they should fill their sacks with wheat, and put every man's money again in his sack, and give them victuals for the journey: and thus did he unto them.

26 And they laid their victuals upon their asses, and departed thence.

27 And ■ one of them opened his sack for to give his ass provender in the inn, he espied his money: for lo, it was in the sack's mouth.

28 Then he said unto his brethren, My money is restored: for lo, it is even in my sack. And their heart failed † them, and they were † astonished, and said one to another, What is this † that God hath done unto us? † Heb. were 32 We be twelve brethren, sons of our father: one † is not, and the youngest is this day with our father in the land of Canaan. † Or, cannot be found.

33 Then the lord of the country said unto us, Hereby shall I know if ye be true men: Leave one of your brethren with me, and take food for the famine of your houses, and depart, 34 And bring your youngest brother unto me, that I may know that ye are no spies, but true men: so will I deliver you your brother, and ye shall occupy in the land.

35 ¶ And as they emptied their sacks, behold, every man's bundle of money was in his sack: and when they and their father saw the bundles of their money, they were afraid.

CHAP. XLIII.

13 Jacob suffereth Benjamin to depart with his children. 23 Simeon is delivered out of prison. 30 Joseph goeth aside and weepeth. 32 They feast together.

NOW great ^o famine was in the land.

2 And when they had eaten up the victuals, which they had brought from Egypt, their father said unto them, Turn again, and buy us ^o little food:

^o Ch. 42. 20. 3 And Judah answered him, saying, The man charged us by an oath, saying, ^o Never see my face, except your brother be with you.

4 If thou wilt send our brother with us, we will go down, and buy thee food.

^o Ch. 42. 20. 5 But if thou wilt not send him, we will not go down: for the man said unto us, ^o Look me not in the face, except your brother be with you.

6 And Israel said, Wherefore dealt ye so evil with me, as to tell the man whether ye had yet ^o brother or no?

[†] Or, of our estate and condition. [†] Heb. to the mouth of these words: that is, that thing which he asked us. 7 And they answered, The man asked straitly [†] of ourselves, and of our kindred, saying, Is your father yet alive? have ye any brother? And we told him [†] according to these words: could we know certainly that he would say, Bring your brother down?

8 Then said Judah to Israel his father, Send the boy with me, that we may rise and go, and that we may live and not die, both we, and thou and our children.

^o Ch. 44. 32. 9 I will be surety for him: of mine hand shalt thou require him. ^o If I bring him not to thee, and set him before thee, [†] then let me bear the blame for ever.

10 For except we had made this tarrying, doubtless by this we had returned the second time.

11 Then their father Israel said unto them, If it must needs be so now, do thus: take of the best fruits of the land in your vessels, and bring the man a present, a little rosin, and a little honey, [†] spices and myrrh, nuts and almonds:

^o Or sweet smells. 12 And take ^o double money in your hand, and the money that was brought again in your sacks mouths: carry it again in your hand, lest it were some oversight.

13 Take also your brother, and arise, and go again to the man.

14 And ^o God Almighty give you mercy in the sight of the man, that he may deliver you your other brother, and Benjamin: but I shall be ^o robbed of my child, as I have been.

15 Thus the men took this present, and took ^{Bef. Chr.} twice so much money in their hand with Benjamin, and rose up, and went down to Egypt, and stood before Joseph. 1707.

16 And when Joseph saw Benjamin with them, he said [†] to his steward, Bring these ^o home and kill meat, and make ready: for the men shall eat with me at noon. [†] Or, to the ruler of his house.

17 And the man did ^o Joseph bade, and brought the men unto Joseph's house.

18 Now when the men were brought into Joseph's house, they were ^o afraid, and said, Because of the money that came in our sacks mouths at the first time, are we brought, that he may [†] pick ^o quarrel against us, and [†] lay something to our charge, and bring us in bondage and our asses. [†] Heb. roll himself upon us. [†] Heb. cast himself upon us.

19 Therefore came they to Joseph's steward, and communed with him at the door of the house, 20 And said, Oh Sir, ^o we came indeed down ^o Ch. 42. 3. hither, at the first time, to buy food.

21 And ^o we came to an inn, and opened our sacks, behold, every man's money was in his sack's mouth, even our money in full weight, but we have brought it again in our hands.

22 Also other money have we brought in our hands to buy food, but we cannot tell who put our money in our sacks.

23 And he said, [†] Peace be unto you, fear [†] Or, you are well: not: ^o your God, and the God of your father, hath given you that treasure in your sacks, I had your money: and he brought forth Simeon to them.

24 So the man led them into Joseph's house, and gave them water to wash their feet, and gave their asses provender.

25 And they made ready their present against Joseph came at noon (for they heard say, that they should eat bread there.)

26 When Joseph came home, they brought the present into the house to him, which was in their hands, and bowed down to the ground before him.

27 And he asked them of their [†] prosperity, and said, Is your father, the old man, of whom ye told me, in good health? is he yet alive? [†] Heb. peace's

28 Who answered, Thy servant our father is in good health, he is yet alive: and they bowed down, and made obeisance.

29 And he lifting up his eyes, beheld his brother Benjamin, his ^o mother's son, and said, Is this your younger brother, of whom ye told me? And he said, God be merciful unto thee, my son.

30 And Joseph made haste (for his [†] affection was inflamed toward his brother, and sought [†] Heb. bows else where to weep) and entered into his chamber, and wept there.

31 Afterward he washed his face, and came out, and refrained himself, and said, Set on [†] meat.

32 And they ^o prepared for him by himself, and for them by themselves, and for the Egyptians, [†] Heb. bread's

^o So the judgment of God pressed their conscience.

34 And they took messes from before him, and sent to them: but Benjamin's mess was five times so much as any of theirs: and they drank, ^b and had of the best drink with him.

C H A P. XLIV.

15 Joseph accuseth his brethren of theft. 33 Judah offereth himself to be servant for Benjamin.

Afterward he commanded his steward, saying, Fill the mens sacks with food, as much as they can carry, and put every man's money in his sack's mouth.

2 And put ^c my cup, I mean, the silver cup, in the sack's mouth of the youngest, and his corn money. And he did according to the commandment that Joseph gave him.

3 And in ^d the morning the men were sent away, they, and their asses.

4 And when they went out of the city not far off, Joseph said to his steward, Up, follow after the men: and when thou dost overtake them, say unto them, Wherefore have ye rewarded evil for good?

5 Is that not the cup, wherein my Lord drinketh? ^e and in the which he doth divine and prophecy? ye have done evil in so doing.

6 C And when he overtook them, he said those words unto them.

7 And they answered him, Wherefore saith my lord such words? God forbid that thy servants should do such a thing.

8 Behold, the money which we found in our sacks mouths, we brought again to thee out of the land of Canaan: how then should we steal out of thy lord's house silver or gold?

9 With whomsoever of thy servants it be found, let him die, and we also will be my lord's bondmen.

10 And he said, Now then let it be according unto your words: he with whom it is found shall be my servant, and ye shall be ^f blameless.

11 Then at once every man took down his sack to the ground, and every one opened his sack.

12 And he searched, and began at the eldest, and left at the youngest: and the cup was found in Benjamin's sack.

13 Then they ^g rent their clothes, and laded every man his ass, and went again into the city.

14 C So Judah and his brethren came to Joseph's house (for he was yet there): and they fell before him on the ground.

15 Then Joseph said unto them, What act is this which ye have done? know ye not that such a man as I can divine and prophecy?

16 Then said Judah, What shall we say unto my lord? what shall we speak? and how can we justify ourselves? ^h God hath found out the wickedness of thy servants: behold, we are servants to my lord both we, and he with whom the cup is found.

17 But he answered, God forbid that I should do so, but the man with whom the cup is found, he shall be my servant, and go ye in peace unto your father.

18 C Then Judah drew near unto him, and said, O my lord, let thy servant now speak a word in my lord's ears, and let not thy wrath be kindled against thy servant: for thou art even ⁱ as Pharaoh.

19 My lord asked his servants, saying, ^k Have ye a father, or a brother? ^l Ch. 42. 13, 16.

20 And we answered my lord, We have a father that is old, and a young ^m child, which he begat in his age: and his brother is dead, and he alone is left of his mother, and his father loveth him. ⁿ Heb. still of his mother.

21 Now thou saidst unto thy servants, Bring him unto me, that I may ^o set mine eye upon him. ^p Or, that may see him.

22 And we answered my lord, The child cannot depart from his father: for if he leave his father, his father would die.

23 Then saidst thou unto thy servants, ^q Except your younger brother come down with you, look in my face no more. ^r Ch. 45. 1.

24 So when we came unto thy servant our father, and shewed him what my lord had said,

25 And our father said unto us, Go again, buy us a little food,

26 Then we answered, We cannot go down: but if our youngest brother ^s go with us, then will we go down: for we may not see the man's face, except our youngest brother be with us. ^t Heb. he with us.

27 Then thy servant my father said unto us, Ye know that my ^u wife bare me two sons, 28 And the one went out from me, and I said, Of a surety he is torn in ^v pieces, and I saw him not since. ^w Ch. 37. 35.

29 Now ye take this also away from me: if death take him, then ^x ye shall bring my grey head in sorrow to the grave.

30 Now therefore, when I come to thy servant my father, and the child be not with us (seeing that his ^y life dependeth on the child's life) ^z Heb. his soul is tied to his life.

31 Then when he shall see that the child is not come, he will die: so shall thy servants bring the grey head of thy servant our father with sorrow to the grave.

26 All the souls, that came with Jacob into Egypt, which came out of his loins (besides Jacob's sons wives) were, in the whole, three score and six souls. * Deut. 10. † Heb. thigla.

27 Also the sons of Joseph, which were borne him in Egypt, were two souls: so that all the souls of the house of Jacob, which came into Egypt, are seventy.

28 ¶ Then he sent Judah before him unto Joseph to direct his way unto Goshen, and they came into the land of Goshen. † Or, to prepare him a place. † Heb. barad his ebarut.

29 Then Joseph made ready his chariot, and went up to Goshen to meet Israel his father, and presented himself unto him, and fell on his neck, and wept upon his neck a good while. † Heb. or still.

30 And Israel said unto Joseph, Now let me die, since I have seen thy face, and that thou art yet alive.

31 Then Joseph said to his brethren, and his father's house, I will go up and shew Pharaoh, and tell him, My brethren and my father's house, which were in the land of Canaan, are come unto me.

32 And the men were shepherds, and because they were shepherds, they have brought their sheep and their cattle, and all that they have.

33 And if Pharaoh call you, and ask you, What is your trade?

34 Then ye shall say, Thy servants are men occupied about cattle, from our childhood even unto this time, both we and our fathers: that ye may dwell in the land of Goshen: for every sheep-keeper is an abomination unto the Egyptians.

C H A P. XLVII.

7 Jacob cometh before Pharaoh, and telleth him his age. 11 The land of Goshen is given him. 22 The idolatrous priests have living of the king. 28 Jacob's age when he dieth. 30 Joseph sweareth to bury him with his fathers.

THEN came Joseph and told Pharaoh, and said, My father, and my brethren, and their sheep, and their cattle, and all that they have, are come out of the land of Canaan, and behold, they are in the land of Goshen.

2 And Joseph took part of his brethren, even five men, and presented them unto Pharaoh.

3 Then Pharaoh said unto his brethren, What is your trade? And they answered Pharaoh, Thy servants are shepherds, both we and our fathers.

4 They said moreover unto Pharaoh, For sojourn in the land are we come: for thy servants have no pasture for their sheep, so fore is the famine in the land of Canaan. Now therefore, we pray thee, let thy servants dwell in the land of Goshen.

5 Then

4 He was not ashamed of his father and kindred, though they were of base condition.

5 God suffereth the world to hate his, that they may forsake the filth of the world, and cleave to him.

6 That the king might be assured they were come, and see what manner of people they were.

5 Then spake Pharaoh to Joseph, saying, Thy father and thy brethren are come unto thee.

6 The land of Egypt is before thee: in the best place of the land make thy father and thy brethren dwell: let them dwell in the land of Goshen: and if thou knowest that there be men of activity among them, make them rulers over my cattle.

7 Joseph also brought Jacob his father, and set him before Pharaoh. And Jacob [†] saluted Pharaoh.

Then Pharaoh said unto Jacob, [†] How old art thou?

9 And Jacob said unto Pharaoh, The whole time of my ^{*} pilgrimage is an hundred and thirty years: few and evil have the days of my life been, and I have not attained unto the years of the life of my fathers, in the days of their pilgrimages.

10 And Jacob [†] took leave of Pharaoh, and departed from the presence of Pharaoh.

11 ¶ And Joseph placed his father, and his brethren, and gave them possession in the land of Egypt, in the best of the land, even in the land of [†] Rameses, as Pharaoh had commanded.

12 And Joseph nourished his father, and his brethren, and all his father's household with [†] bread, even to the young children.

13 ¶ Now there was no bread in all the land: for the famine was exceeding sore: so that the land of Egypt, and the land of Canaan, were [†] famished by reason of the famine.

14 And Joseph gathered all the money that was found in the land of Egypt, and in the land of Canaan, for the corn which they bought, and [†] Joseph laid up the money in Pharaoh's house.

15 So when money failed in the land of Egypt, and in the land of Canaan, then all the Egyptians came unto Joseph, and said, Give us bread: for why should we die before thee? for our money is spent.

16 Then said Joseph, Bring your cattle, and I will give you for your cattle, if your money be spent.

17 So they brought their cattle unto Joseph, and Joseph gave them bread for the horses, and for the flocks of sheep, and for the herds of cattle, and for the asses: so he fed them with bread for all their cattle that year.

18 But when the year was ended, they came unto him the next year, and said unto him, We will not hide from my lord, that since our money is spent, and my lord hath the herds of the cattle, there is nothing left in the sight of my lord, but our bodies and our ground.

19 Why shall we perish in thy sight, both we and our [†] land? buy us and our land for bread, and we and our land will be bound [†] Pharaoh: therefore give us seed, that we may live and our die, and that the land go not to waste.

20 So Joseph bought all the land of Egypt [†] for Pharaoh: for the Egyptians sold every man his ground, because the famine was sore upon them: so the land became Pharaoh's.

21 And he removed [†] the people unto the cities, from one [†] side of Egypt even to the [†] other.

22 Only the land of the priests bought he not: for the priests had an ordinary of Pharaoh, and they did eat their ordinary, which Pharaoh gave them: wherefore they sold not their ground.

23 Then Joseph said unto the people, Behold, I have bought you this day, and your land for Pharaoh: lo, here is seed for you: sow therefore the ground.

24 And of the increase ye shall give the fifth part unto Pharaoh, and four parts shall be yours for the seed of the field, and for your meat, and for them of your households, and for your children [†] eat.

25 Then they answered, Thou hast saved our lives: let [†] us find grace in the sight of my lord, and we will be Pharaoh's servants.

26 Then Joseph made it a law over the land of Egypt unto this day, that Pharaoh should have the fifth part, [†] except the land of the priests only, which was not Pharaoh's.

27 ¶ And Israel dwelt in the land of Egypt, in the country of Goshen: and they had their possessions therein, and grew and multiplied exceedingly.

28 Moreover, Jacob lived in the land of Egypt seventeen years, so that the whole age of Jacob was an hundred forty and seven years.

29 Now when the time drew near that Israel must die, he called his son Joseph, and said unto him, If [†] I have now found grace in thy sight, [†] put thine hand now under my thigh, [†] and deal mercifully and truly with me: bury me not, I pray thee, in Egypt. [†] Ch. 24. 2.

30 But when I [†] shall sleep with my fathers, thou shalt carry me out of Egypt, and bury me in their burial. And he answered, I will do as thou hast said.

31 Then he said, Swear unto me. And he sware unto him [†]. And Israel worshipped towards the bed's head.

The Second Book of MOSES, called EXODUS.

THE ARGUMENT.

After that Jacob, by God's commandment, Gen. 46. 3. had brought his family into Egypt, where they remained for the space of four hundred years, and of seventy persons grew to an infinite number, so that the king and the country grudged and endeavoured both by tyranny and cruel slavery to suppress them: the Lord, according to his promise, Gen. 15. 14. had compassion of his church, and delivered them; but plagued their enemies in most strange and sundry sorts. And the more that the tyranny of the wicked enraged against his church, the more did his heavy judgments increase against them, till Pharaoh and his army were drowned in the red Sea, which gave entry and passage to the children of God: But as the ingratitude of man is great, so did they immediately forget God's wonderful benefits: and albeit he had given them the passover to be a sign and memorial of the same, yet they fell to distrust, and tempted God with frowdy murmurings and grudgings against him and his ministers: sometimes moved with ambition, sometimes for lack of drink or meat to content their lusts, sometimes by idolatry, or such like. Wherefore God visited them with sharp rods and plagues, that by his corrections they might seek to him for remedy against his scourges, and earnestly repent them for their rebellions and wickedness. And because God loveth them to the end, whom he hath once begun to love, he punished them not according to their deserts, but dealt with them in great mercies, and ever with new benefits laboured to overcome their malice: for he still governed them, and gave them his word and law, both concerning the manner of serving him, and also the form of judgments and civil policy: to the intent that they should not serve God after their own inventions, but according to that order which his heavenly wisdom had appointed.

CHAP. I.

2 The children of Jacob that came into Egypt. 8 The new Pharaoh oppresseth them. 12 The providence of God toward them. 15 The king's commandment to the midwives. 22 The sons of the Hebrews are commanded to be cast into the river.

Gen. 46. 11. NOW these are the names of the children of Israel, which came into Egypt (every man and his household came thither with Jacob): 2 Reuben, Simeon, Levi, and Judah, 3 Issachar, Zebulun, and Benjamin, 4 Dan, and Naphtali, Gad, and Asher. 5 So all the souls that came out of the loins of Jacob, were seventy souls: Joseph was in Egypt already.

6 Now Joseph died, and all his brethren, and that whole generation. 7 And the children of Israel brought forth fruit, and increased in abundance, and were multiplied, and were exceeding mighty, so that the land was full of them.

8 Then there rose up a new king in Egypt, who knew not Joseph. 9 And he said unto his people, Behold, the people of the children of Israel are greater and mightier than we.

10 Come, let us work wisely with them, lest they multiply, and it come to pass, that if there be war, they join themselves also unto our enemies, and fight against us, and get them out of the land.

11 Therefore did they set taskmasters over them, to keep them under with burdens: and they built the cities Pithom and Raamses, for the treasures of Pharaoh.

12 But the more they vexed them, the more they multiplied and grew: therefore they were more grieved against the children of Israel. 13 Wherefore the Egyptians by cruelty caused the children of Israel to serve.

14 Thus they made them weary of their lives by sore labour in clay and in brick, and in all work in the field, with all manner of bondage, which they laid upon them most cruelly.

15 Moreover the king of Egypt commanded the midwives of the Hebrew women (of which the one's name was Shiphrah, and the name of the other Puah)

16 And said, When ye do the office of a midwife to the women of the Hebrews, and see them on their stools, if it be a son, then ye shall kill him: but if it be a daughter, then let her live.

17 Notwithstanding the midwives feared God, and did not as the king of Egypt commanded them, but preserved alive the men children.

18 Then the king of Egypt called for the midwives, and said unto them, Why have ye done thus, and have preserved alive the men children?

19 And the midwives answered Pharaoh, Because the Hebrew women are not as the women of Egypt: for they are lively, and are delivered ere the midwife come at them.

20 God therefore prospered the midwives, and the people multiplied, and were very mighty.

21 And because the midwives feared God, therefore he made them houses.

22 Then Pharaoh charged all his people, saying, Every man-child that is born, cast ye into the river, but reserve every maid-child alive.

CHAP. II.

2 Moses is born, and cast into the flags. 5 He is taken up of Pharaoh's daughter, and kept. 12 He killeth the Egyptian. 15 He fleeth and marieth a wife. 23 The Israelites cry unto the Lord.

THEN there went a man of the house of Levi, and took to wife a daughter of Levi.

2 And the woman conceived and bare a son: and when she saw that he was fair, she hid him three months.

3 But when she could no longer hide him, she took for him an ark made of reed, and daubed it with slime and with pitch, and laid the child therein, and put it among the bulrushes by the river's brink.

4 Now his sister stood afar off, to wit what would come of him.

5 Then the daughter of Pharaoh came down to wash her in the river, and her maidens walked by the river's side: and when she saw the ark among the bulrushes, she sent her maid to fetch it.

6 Then she opened it, and saw it was a child: and behold, the babe wept: so she had compassion on it, and said, This is one of the Hebrews children.

7 Then said his sister unto Pharaoh's daughter, Shall I go and call unto thee a nurse of the Hebrew women to nurse the child?

8 And Pharaoh's daughter said to her, Go. So the maid went and called the child's mother.

9 To whom Pharaoh's daughter said, Take this child away, and nurse it for me, and I will reward thee. Then the woman took the child and nursed him.

10 Now the child grew, and she brought him unto Pharaoh's daughter, and he was as her son, and she called his name Moses, because, said she, I drew him out of the water.

11 And in those days, when Moses was grown, he went forth unto his brethren, and looked on their burdens: also he saw an Egyptian smiting an Hebrew, one of his brethren.

1 Moses's rod is turned into a serpent. 6 His hand is leprous. 9 The water of the river is turned into blood. 14 Aaron is given to help Moses. 21 God bardeneth Pharaoh. 25 Moses's wife circumciseth her son. 27 Aaron meeteth with Moses, and they come to the Israelites, and are believed.

THEN Moses answered, and said, ^k But lo, they will not believe me, nor hearken unto my voice: for they will say, The Lord hath not appeared unto thee.

¶ And the Lord said unto him, What is that in thine hand? And he answered, A rod.

3 Then said he, Cast it on the ground. So he cast it on the ground, and it was turned into a serpent: and Moses fled from it.

4 Again the Lord said unto Moses, Put forth thine hand, and take it by the tail. Then he put forth his hand, and caught it, and it was turned into a rod in his hand.

5 Do this, ^l that they may believe that the Lord God of their fathers, the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob, hath appeared unto thee.

29 So went Moses and Aaron, and gathered all the elders of the children of Israel.

30 And Aaron told all the words, which the Lord had spoken unto Moses, and he did the miracles in the sight of the people.

CHAP. V.

1 Moses and Aaron do their message to Pharaoh, who letteth not the people of Israel depart, but oppresseth them more and more. 20 They cry out upon Moses and Aaron therefore, and Moses complaineth to God.

THEN afterward Moses and Aaron went and said to Pharaoh, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Let my people go, that they may celebrate a feast unto me in the wilderness.

2 And Pharaoh said, Who is the Lord, that I should hear his voice, and let Israel go? I know not the Lord, neither will I let Israel go.

3 And they said, We worship the God of the Hebrews: we pray thee, let us go three days journey in the desert, and sacrifice unto the Lord our God, lest he bring upon us the pestilence or sword.

4 Then said the king of Egypt unto them, Moses and Aaron, why cause ye the people to cease from their works? get you to your burthens.

5 Pharaoh said furthermore, Behold, much people is now in the land, and ye make them leave their burthens.

6 Therefore Pharaoh gave commandment the same day unto the task-masters of the people, and to their officers, saying,

7 Ye shall give the people no more straw, to make brick (in time past) but let them go and gather them straw themselves:

8 Notwithstanding lay upon them the number of brick which they made in time past, diminish nothing thereof: for they be idle, therefore they cry, saying, Let us go to offer sacrifice unto our God.

9 Lay more work upon the men, and cause them to do it, and let them not regard vain words.

10 Then went the task-masters of the people and their officers out, and told the people, saying, Thus saith Pharaoh, I will give you no more straw.

11 Go yourselves, get you straw where ye can find it, yet shall nothing of your labour be diminished.

12 Then were the people scattered abroad throughout all the land of Egypt, for to gather stubble instead of straw.

13 And the task-masters hasted them, saying, Finish your day's work every day's task, as ye did when ye had straw.

14 And the officers of the children of Israel, which Pharaoh's task-masters had set over them, were beaten, and demanded, Wherefore have ye not fulfilled your task in making brick yesterday and to-day, as in times past?

15 Then the officers of the children of Israel came, and cried unto Pharaoh, saying, Wherefore dealest thou thus with thy servants?

16 There is no straw given to thy servants, and they say unto us, Make brick: and lo, thy servants are beaten, and thy people is blamed.

17 But he said, Ye are too much idle: therefore ye say, Let us go to offer sacrifice to the Lord.

18 Go therefore now and work: for there shall no straw be given you, yet shall ye deliver the whole tale of brick.

19 Then the officers of the children of Israel saw themselves in an evil case, because it was said, Ye shall diminish nothing of your brick, nor of every day's task.

20 And they met Moses and Aaron, which stood in their way as they came out from Pharaoh, 21 To whom they said, The Lord look upon you and judge: for ye have made our savour to stink before Pharaoh, and before his servants, in that ye have put sword in their hand to slay us.

22 Wherefore Moses returned to the Lord, and said, Lord, why hast thou afflicted this people? wherefore hast thou thus sent me?

5 Then the Egyptians shall know that I am the Lord, when I stretch forth mine hand upon Egypt, and bring out the children of Israel from among them.

6 So Moses and Aaron did as the Lord commanded them, even so did they.

7 Now Moses was fourscore years old, and Aaron fourscore and three, when they spake unto Pharaoh.

8 ¶ And the Lord had spoken unto Moses and Aaron, saying,

9 If Pharaoh speak unto you, saying, Shew a miracle for you, then thou shalt say unto Aaron, Take thy rod, and cast it before Pharaoh, and it shall be turned into a ¶ serpent.

13 So Pharaoh's heart was hardened, and he hearkened not to them, as the Lord had said.

17 Thus saith the Lord, In this thou shalt know that I am the Lord: behold, I will smite with the rod that is in mine hand upon the water that is in the river, and it shall be turned to blood.

39 And they baked the dough which they brought out of Egypt, and made unleavened cakes: for it was not leavened, because they were thrust out of Egypt; neither could they tarry, nor yet prepare them victuals. Ref. Chr. 1491.

43 Also the Lord said unto Moses and Aaron; This is the law of the passover: no stranger shall eat thereof.

44 But every servant that is bought for money, when thou hast circumcised him, then shall he eat thereof.

45 A stranger or an hired servant shall not eat thereof.

46 * In one house shall it be eaten: thou shalt carry none of the flesh out of the house, * neither shall ye break a bone thereof. * Num. 9. 12. * John 19. 36.

47 All the congregation of Israel shall observe it.

48 But if a stranger dwell with thee, and will observe the passover of the Lord, let him circumcise all the males that belong unto him, and then let him come and observe it; and he shall be as one that is born in the land: for none uncircumcised person shall eat thereof.

49 One law shall be to him that is born in the land, and to the stranger that dwelleth among you.

50 Then all the children of Israel did the Lord commanded Moses and Aaron: so did they.

6 Seven days shalt thou eat unleavened bread, and the seventh day shall be the feast of the Lord.

7 Unleavened bread shall be eaten seven days, and there shall no leavened bread be seen with thee, nor yet leaven be seen with thee in all thy quarters.

9 And it shall be a sign unto thee upon thine hand, and for a remembrance between thine eyes, that the law of the Lord may be in thy mouth: for by a strong hand the Lord brought thee out of Egypt.

10 Keep therefore this ordinance in his season appointed from year to year.

11 ¶ And when the Lord shall bring thee into the land of the Canaanites, as he swore unto thee and to thy fathers, and shall give it thee;

12 Then thou shalt set apart unto the Lord all that first openeth the womb: also every thing that first doth open the womb, and cometh forth of thy beast: the males shall be the Lord's.

13 But every first foal of an ass, thou shalt redeem with a lamb: and if thou redeem him not, then thou shalt break his neck: likewise all the first-born of man among thy sons shalt thou buy out.

14 ¶ And when thy son shall ask thee tomorrow, saying, What is this? thou shalt then say unto him, With a mighty hand the Lord brought us out of Egypt, out of the house of bondage.

15 For when Pharaoh was hard-hearted against our departing, the Lord then slew all the first-born in the land of Egypt: from the first-born of man, even to the first-born of beast: therefore I sacrifice unto the Lord all the males that first open the womb, but all the first-born of my sons I redeem.

16 And it shall be as a token upon thine hand, and as frontlets between thine eyes, that the Lord brought us out of Egypt by a mighty hand.

17 ¶ Now when Pharaoh had let the people go, God carried them not by the way of the Philistines' country, though it were nearer: (for God said, Lest the people repent when they see war, and turn again to Egypt.)

18 But God made the people to go about by the way of the wildernesses of the Red sea: and the children of Israel went up armed out of the land of Egypt.

19 And Moses took the bones of Joseph with him: for he had made the children of Israel swear, saying, * God will surely visit you, and ye shall take my bones away hence with you.)

20 ¶ So they took their journey from Succoth, and camped in Etham in the edge of the wilderness.

21 ¶ And the Lord went before them by day in a pillar of a cloud to lead them the way, and by night in a pillar of fire to give them light, that they might go both by day and by night.

22 ¶ He took not away the pillar of the cloud by day, nor the pillar of fire by night from before the people.

8 Pharaoh's heart is hardened, and pursueth the Israelites. 11 The Israelites stricken with fear, murmur against Moses. 13 Moses doth encourage them. 21 He divideth the sea. 23, 27 The Egyptians follow and are drowned.

THEN the Lord spake unto Moses, saying,

2 Speak to the children of Israel, that they return and camp before Pi-hahiroth, between Migdol and the sea, over-against Baalzephon: about it shall ye camp by the sea.

3 For Pharaoh will say of the children of Israel, They are tangled in the land: the wilderness hath shut them in.

4 And I will harden Pharaoh's heart that he shall follow after you: so I will get me honour upon Pharaoh, and upon all his hosts: the Egyptians also shall know that I am the Lord: and they did so.

5 ¶ Then it was told the king of Egypt, that the people fled: and the heart of Pharaoh and of his servants was turned against the people, and they said, Why have we this done, and have let Israel go out of our service?

6 And he made ready his chariots, and took his people with him,

7 And took six hundred chosen chariots, and all the chariots of Egypt, and captains over every one of them.

8 (For the Lord had hardened the heart of Pharaoh king of Egypt, and he followed after the children of Israel: but the children of Israel went out with an high hand)

9 ¶ And the Egyptians pursued after them, and all the horses and chariots of Pharaoh, and his horsemen and his host overtook them camping by the sea, beside Pi-hahiroth, before Baalzephon.

10 And when Pharaoh drew nigh, the children of Israel lift up their eyes, and behold, the Egyptians marched after them, and they were fore afraid: wherefore the children of Israel cried unto the Lord.

13 Then Moses said to the people, Fear ye not, stand still, and behold † the salvation of the Lord which he will shew to you this day. For the Egyptians, whom ye have seen this day, ye shall never see them again.

14 The Lord shall fight for you: therefore hold you your peace.

15 ¶ And the Lord said unto Moses, Wherefore criest thou unto me? speak unto the children of Israel that they go forward:

16 And lift thou up thy rod, and stretch out thine hand upon the sea and divide it, and let the children of Israel go on dry ground through the midst of the sea.

17 And I, behold, I will harden the heart of the Egyptians, that they may follow them, and I will get me honour upon Pharaoh, and upon all his host, upon his chariots, and upon his horsemen.

18 Then the Egyptians shall know that I am the Lord, when I have gotten me honour upon Pharaoh, upon his chariots, and upon his horsemen.

19 (And the angel of God which went before the host of Israel, removed, and went behind them: also the pillar of the cloud went from before them, and stood behind them, 20 And came between the camp of the Egyptians and the camp of Israel: it was both cloud and darkness, yet gave it light by night, so that all the night long the one came not at the other)

21 And Moses stretched forth his hand upon the sea, and the Lord caused the sea to run back by a strong east wind all the night, and made the sea dry land, for the waters were divided.

22 Then the children of Israel went through the midst of the sea upon the dry ground, and the waters were wall unto them on their right hand and on their left hand.

23 And the Egyptians pursued and went after them to the midst of the sea, even all Pharaoh's horses, his chariots, and his horsemen.

24 Now in the morning watch, when the Lord looked unto the host of the Egyptians, out of the fiery and cloudy pillar, he struck the host of the Egyptians with fear.

25 For he took off their chariot wheels, and they drove them with much ado: so that the Egyptians every one said, I will flee from the face of Israel: for the Lord fighteth for them against the Egyptians.

26 ¶ Then the Lord said to Moses, Stretch thine hand upon the sea, that the waters may return upon the Egyptians, upon their chariots, and upon their horsemen.

27 Then Moses stretched forth his hand upon the sea, and the sea returned to his force early in the morning, and the Egyptians fled against it: but the Lord overthrew the Egyptians in the midst of the sea.

28 So the water returned and covered the chariots and the horsemen, even all the host of Pharaoh that came unto the sea after them: there remained not one of them.

29 But the children of Israel walked upon dry land through the midst of the sea, and the waters were a wall unto them on their right hand and on their left.

30 Thus the Lord saved Israel the same day out of the hand of the Egyptians, and Israel saw the Egyptians dead upon the sea-bank.

31 And Israel saw the mighty power which the Lord shewed upon the Egyptians: so the people feared the Lord, and believed the Lord, and his servant Moses.

The Israelites come to the desert of Sin, and murmur against Moses and Aaron. 13 The Lord sendeth quails and manna. 23 The sabbath is sanctified unto the Lord, 27 The seventh day manna could not be found. 32 It is kept for a remembrance to the posterity.

Afterward all the congregation of the children of Israel departed from Elim, and came to the wilderness of Sin, (which is between Elim and Sinai) the fifteenth day of the second month after their departing out of the land of Egypt.

2 And the whole congregation of the children of Israel murmured against Moses and against Aaron in the wilderness.

3 For the children of Israel said to them, Oh that we had died by the hand of the Lord in the land of Egypt, when we sat by the flesh-pots, when we ate bread our bellies full: for ye have brought us out into this wilderness, to kill this whole company with famine.

4 Then said the Lord unto Moses, Behold, I will cause bread to rain from heaven to you, and the people shall go out, and gather that which is sufficient for every day, that I may prove them, whether they will walk in my law or no.

5 But the sixth day they shall prepare that which they shall bring home, and it shall be twice as much as they gather daily.

9 And Moses said unto Aaron, Say unto all the congregation of the children of Israel, Draw near before the Lord: for he hath heard your murmurings.

4 And Moses wrote all the words of the Lord, and rose up early, and set up an altar under the mountain, and twelve pillars according to the twelve tribes of Israel.

5 And he sent young men of the children of Israel, which offered burnt-offerings of beeves, and sacrificed peace-offerings unto the Lord.

6 Then Moses took half of the blood and put it in basons, and half of the blood he sprinkled on the altar.

7 After he took the book of the covenant, and read it in the audience of the people: who said, All that the Lord hath said, we will do, and be obedient.

8 Then Moses took the blood, and sprinkled it on the people, and said, Behold, the blood of the covenant, which the Lord hath made with you concerning all these things.

9 Then went up Moses and Aaron, Nadab and Abihu, and seventy of the elders of Israel.

10 And they saw the God of Israel, and under his feet was as it were a work of a saphir stone, and as the very heaven when it is clear.

11 And upon the nobles of the children of Israel he laid not his hand: also they saw God, and did eat and drink.

12 And the Lord said unto Moses, Come up to me into the mountain, and be there, and I will give thee tables of stone, and the law and the commandment which I have written for to teach them.

13 Then Moses rose up, and his minister Joshua, and Moses went up into the mountain of God, 14 And he said unto the elders, Tarry us here, until we come again unto you: and behold, Aaron and Hur are with you: whosoever hath any matters, let him come to them.

15 Then Moses went up to the mount, and the cloud covered the mountain, 16 And the glory of the Lord abode upon mount Sinai, and the cloud covered it six days: and the seventh day he called unto Moses out of the midst of the cloud.

17 And the sight of the glory of the Lord was like consuming fire on the top of the mountain, in the eyes of the children of Israel.

18 And Moses entered into the midst of the cloud, and went up the mountain, and Moses was in the mount forty days and forty nights.

2 The voluntary gifts for the making of the tabernacle.

10 The form of the ark. 17 The mercy-seat.

23 The table. 31 The candlestick. 40 All must be done according to the pattern.

THEN the Lord spake unto Moses, saying,

2 Speak unto the children of Israel, that they may receive an offering for me: of every man, whose heart giveth it freely, ye shall take the offering for me.

3 And this is the offering which ye shall take of them, gold, and silver, and brass;

4 And blue silk, and purple, and scarlet, and fine linen, and goats hair,

5 And rams skins coloured red, and the skins of badgers, and the wood Shittim,

6 Oil for light, spices for anointing oil, and for the perfume of sweet savour,

7 Onix stones, and stones to be set in the Ephod, and in the breast-plate.

8 Also they shall make me a sanctuary: that I may dwell among them.

9 According to all that I shew thee, even so shall ye make the form of the tabernacle, and the fashion of the instruments thereof.

10 They shall make also the ark of Shittim wood, two cubits and an half long, and a cubit and an half broad, and a cubit and an half high.

11 And thou shalt overlay it with pure gold: within and without shalt thou overlay it, and shalt make upon it a crown of gold round about.

12 And thou shalt cast four rings of gold for it, and put them in the four corners thereof: that is, two rings shall be on the one side of it, and two rings on the other side thereof.

13 And thou shalt make bars of Shittim wood, and cover them with gold.

14 Then thou shalt put the bars in the rings by the sides of the ark, to bear the ark with them.

15 The bars shall be in the rings of the ark: they shall not be taken away from it.

16 So thou shalt put in the ark the testimony which I shall give thee.

17 Also thou shalt make a mercy-seat of pure gold, two cubits and an half long, and a cubit and an half broad.

18 And thou shalt make two cherubims of gold: of work beaten out with the hammer shalt thou make them at the two ends of the mercy-seat.

19 And the one cherub shalt thou make at the one end, and the other cherub at the other end: of the matter of the mercy-seat shall ye make the cherubims on the two ends thereof.

20 And the cherubims shall stretch their wings on high, covering the mercy-seat with their wings; and their faces one to another to the mercy-seat ward shall the faces of the cherubims be.

21 And thou shalt put the mercy-seat above upon the ark; and in the ark thou shalt put the testimony which I will give thee.

AND cause thou thy brother Aaron to come unto thee and his sons with him, from among the children of Israel, that he may serve me in the priest's office: I mean, Aaron, Nadab, and Abihu, Eleazar, and Ithamar, Aaron's sons.

2 Also thou shalt make holy garments for Aaron thy brother, ^a glorious and beautiful.

5 Therefore they shall take gold and blue silk, and purple, and scarlet, and fine linen.

6 ¶ And they shall make the ephod of gold, blue silk, and purple, scarlet, and fine twined linen of broidered work.

7 The two shoulders thereof shall be joined together by their two edges: so shall it be closed.

8 And the ^g embroidered gard of the same

9 And thou shalt take two onix stones, and grave upon them the names of the children of Israel.

10 Six names of them upon the one stone, and the six names that remain upon the second stone, accordingⁱ to their generations.

11 Thou shalt cause to grave the two stones according to the names of the children of Israel, by ^j graver of signets that worketh and graveth in stone, and shalt make them to be set and embossed in gold.

12 And thou shalt put the two stones upon the shoulders of the ephod, as stones of ^k remembrance of the children of Israel: for Aaron shall bear their names before the Lord upon his two shoulders for ^l remembrance.

13 So thou shalt make bosses of gold,

16 ^o Foursquare it shall be and double, an hand breadth long, and an hand breadth broad.

17 Then thou shalt set it full of places for stones, ^p even four rows of stones: the order shall be this, ^q † ruby, a topaz, and a † carbuncle, in the first row.

21 And the stones shall be according to the names of the children of Israel, twelve, according to their names, graven in signets, every one after his name, and they shall be for the twelve tribes.

22 ¶ Then thou shalt make upon the breast-plate two chains ^w the ends, of wreathen work of pure gold.

23 Thou shalt make also upon the breast-plate two rings of gold, and put the two rings ^x the two ends of the breast-plate.

24 And thou shalt put the two wreathen chains of gold in the two rings in the ends of the breast-plate.

25 And the ^y other two ends of the two wreathen chains, thou shalt fasten in the two embossments, and shalt put them upon the shoulders of the ephod upon the fore-side of it.

27 And two other rings of gold thou shalt make, and put them on the two sides of the ephod, beneath in the fore part of it over-against the coupling of it upon the broidered gird of the ephod.

28 Thus shall they bind the breast-plate by his rings upon the rings of the ephod, with a lace of blue silk, that it may be fast upon the broidered gird of the ephod, and that the breast-plate be not loosed from the ephod.

29 So Aaron shall ² bear the names of the children of Israel in the breast-plate of judgment upon his heart, when he goeth into the holy place for a remembrance continually before the Lord.

30 ¶ Also thou shalt put in the breast-plate of judgment, the Urim and the thummim, which shall be upon Aaron's heart, when he goeth in before the Lord. And Aaron shall bear the judgment of the children of Israel upon his heart before the Lord continually.

38 So shall it be upon Aaron's forehead, that Aaron may ¹ bear the iniquity of the offerings, which the children of Israel shall offer in all their holy offerings: and it shall be always upon his forehead, to make them acceptable before the Lord.

39 Likewise thou shalt embroider the fine linen coat, and thou shalt make a mitre of fine linen, but thou shalt make ¹ girdle of needle-work.

40 Also thou shalt make for Aaron's sons coats, and thou shalt make them girdles, and bonnets shalt thou make them for glory and comeliness.

41 And thou shalt put them upon Aaron thy brother, and on his sons with him, and shalt anoint them, and ¹ fill their hands, and sanctify them, that they may minister unto me in the priest's office. Bef. Chr. 1491.

42 Thou shalt also make them linen breeches to cover their privities: from the loins unto the thighs shall they reach.

43 And they shall be for Aaron and his sons when they come into the tabernacle [†] of the congregation, or when they come unto the altar to minister in the holy place, that they ^{*} commit not iniquity, and so die. This shall be a law for ever unto him, and to his seed after him. † Or, of witness.

6 Then thou shalt put the mitre upon his head, and shalt put the holy ^{*} crown upon the mitre. * Ch. 28. 36.

7 And thou shalt take the anointing ^{*} oil, and shalt pour upon his head and anoint him, * Ch. 30. 25.

8 And thou shalt bring his sons, and put coats upon them.

9 And shalt gird them with girdles, both Aaron and his sons: and shalt put the bonnets on them, and the priest's office shall be theirs for a perpetual law: thou ^{*} shalt also [†] fill the hands of Aaron, and the hands of his sons. * Ch. 28. 35. † Or, consecrate them.

10 After, thou shalt present the calf before the tabernacle of the congregation, ^{*} and Aaron and his sons shall ² put their hands upon the head of the calf. * Levit. 1.

12 Then thou shalt take of the blood of the calf, and put it upon the horns of the altar with thy finger, and shalt pour all the rest of the blood at the foot of the altar.

13. ^{*} Also thou shalt take all the fat that covereth the inwards, and the caul that is on the liver, and the two kidneys, and the fat that is upon them, and shalt burn them upon the altar. * Levit. 9.

21 And thou shalt take of the blood that is ⁴ upon the altar, and of the anointing oil, and shalt sprinkle it upon Aaron, and upon his garments, and upon his sons, and upon the garments of his sons with him: so he shall be hallowed, and his cloaths, and his sons, and the garments of his sons with him.

22 Also thou shalt take of the rams the fat and the rump, even the fat that covereth the inwards, and the caul of the liver, and the two kidneys, and the fat that is upon them, and the right shoulder (for it is the ⁵ ram of consecration.)

23 And one loaf of bread, and one cake of bread tempered with oil, and one wafer, out of the basket of the unleavened bread that is before the Lord:

24 And thou shalt put all this in the hands of Aaron, and in the hands of his sons, and shalt shake them to and fro before the Lord.

25 Again, thou shalt receive them of their hands, and burn them upon the altar besides the burnt-offering for a sweet savour before the Lord: for this is an offering made by fire unto the Lord.

26 Likewise thou shalt take the breast of the ram of the consecration, which is for Aaron, and shalt shake it to ⁶ and fro before the Lord, and it shall be thy part.

27 And thou shalt sanctify the breast of the shaken offering, and the shoulder of the ⁷ heave-offering, which was shaken to and fro, and which was heaved up of the ram of the consecration, which was for Aaron, and which was for his sons.

28 And Aaron and his sons shall have it by a statute for ever, of the children of Israel: for 31 ¶ So thou shalt take the ram of the consecration, and seethe his flesh in the holy place.

33 So they shall eat these things, ⁹ whereby their atonement was made, to consecrate them, and to sanctify them: but a stranger shall not eat thereof, because they are holy things.

34 Now if ought of the flesh of the consecration, or of the bread, remain unto the morning, then thou shalt burn the rest with fire: it shall not be eaten, because it is an holy thing.

3 And thou shalt overlay it with fine gold, ^e and the top thereof and the sides thereof round about, and his horns: also thou shalt make unto ^f it a crown of gold round about.

4 Besides this, thou shalt make under this crown two golden rings on either side: ^g even on every side shalt thou make ^h them, that they may be as places for the bars to bear it withal.

5 The which bars thou shalt make of Shittim wood, and shalt cover them with gold.

7 And Aaron shall burn thereon sweet incense every morning: when he ^j dresseth the lamps thereof, shall he burn it.

8 Likewise at even, when Aaron setteth up the lamps thereof, he shall burn incense: ^k this perfume shall be perpetually before the Lord, throughout your generations.

9 Ye shall offer no ^l strange incense thereon, nor burnt-sacrifice, nor offering, neither pour any drink-offering ^m thereon.

10 And Aaron shall make reconciliation upon the horns of it once in a year with the blood of the sin-offering ⁿ in the day of reconciliation: once in the year shall he make reconciliation upon it throughout your generations: this is most holy unto the Lord.

11 ¶ Afterward the Lord spake unto Moses, saying,

17 ¶ Also the Lord spake unto Moses, saying,

18 Thou shalt also make a laver of brass, and his foot of brass to wash, and shalt put it between the tabernacle of the congregation and the altar, and shalt put water therein.

19 For Aaron and his sons shall ^y wash their hands and their feet thereat.

20 When they go into the tabernacle of the congregation, or when they go unto the altar to minister, ^z and to make the perfume of the burnt-offering to the Lord, they shall wash themselves with water, lest they die.

2 God maketh Bezaleel and Aholiab meet for his work. 13 The sabbath-day is the sign of our sanctification. 18 The tables written by the finger of God.

AND the Lord spake unto Moses, saying,

2 Behold, I have called by name Bezaleel the son of Uri, the son of Hur, of the tribe of Judah,

3 Whom I have filled with the Spirit of God, in wisdom, and in understanding, and in knowledge, and in all workmanship:

4 To find out curious works to work in gold, and in silver, and in bras.

5 Also in the art to set stones, and to carve in timber, and to work in all manner of workmanship.

6 And behold, I have joined him with Aholiab the son of Ahisamach of the tribe of Dan, and in the hearts of all that are wise hearted have I put wisdom to make all that I have commanded thee:

7 That is, the tabernacle of the congregation, and the ark of the testimony, and the mercy-seat that shall be thereupon, with all the instruments of the tabernacle:

8 Also the table and the instruments thereof, and the pure candlestick with all his instruments, and the altar of perfume:

9 Likewise the altar of burnt-offering with all his instruments, and the laver with his foot:

10 Also the garments of the ministration, and the holy garments for Aaron the priest, and the garments of his sons, to minister in the priest's office, 11 And the anointing oil, and sweet perfume for the sanctuary: according to all that I have commanded thee, shall they do.

12 ¶ Afterward the Lord spake unto Moses, saying,

13 Speak thou also unto the children of Israel, and say, Notwithstanding keep ye my sabbaths: for it is a sign between me and you in your generations, that ye may know that I the Lord do sanctify you.

14 * Ye shall therefore keep the sabbath: for it is holy unto you: he that defileth it, shall die the death: therefore whosoever worketh therein, the same person shall be even cut off from among his people.

15 Six days shall men work, but in the seventh day is the sabbath of the holy rest to the Lord: whosoever doth any work in the sabbath day, shall die the death.

16 Wherefore the children of Israel shall keep the sabbath, that they may observe the rest throughout their generations for an everlasting covenant.

17 It is a sign between me and the children of Israel for ever: for in six days the Lord made the heaven and the earth, and in the seventh day he ceased, and rested.

18 Thus (when the Lord had made an end of communing with Moses upon mount Sinai) he gave him two tables of the testimony, even tables of stone, written with the finger of God.

C H A P. XXXII.

4 The Israelites impute their deliverance to the calf.

14 God is appeased by Moses's prayer. 19 Moses breaketh the tables. 27 He slayeth the idolaters. 32 Moses's zeal for the people.

BUT when the people saw that Moses tarried long ere he came down from the mountain, the people gathered themselves together against Aaron, and said unto him, Up, make us gods to go before us: for of this Moses (the man that brought us out of the land of Egypt) we know not what is become of him.

2 And Aaron said unto them, Pluck off the golden ear-rings which are in the ears of your wives, of your sons, and of your daughters, and bring them unto me.

3 Then all the people plucked from themselves the golden ear-rings which were in their ears, and they brought them unto Aaron,

4 Who received them at their hands, and fashioned it with the graving tool, and made of it a molten calf: then they said, These be thy gods, O Israel, which brought thee out of the land of Egypt.

5 When Aaron saw that, he made an altar before row shall be the holy day of the Lord.

6 So they rose up the next day in the morning, and offered burnt-offerings, and brought peace-offerings: also the people fat them down to eat and to drink, and rose up to play.

7 ¶ Then the Lord said unto Moses, * Go, get thee down: for thy people which thou hast brought out of the land of Egypt hath corrupted their way.

8 They are soon turned out of the way which I commanded them: for they have made them a molten calf, and have worshipped it, and have offered thereto, saying, * These be thy gods, O Israel, which have brought thee out of the land of Egypt.

9 Again, the Lord said unto Moses, * I have seen this people, and behold, it is a stiff-necked people.

10 Now therefore let me alone, that my wrath may wax hot against them, for I will consume them: but I will make of thee a mighty people.

11 * But Moses prayed unto the Lord his God, and said, O Lord, why doth thy wrath wax hot against thy people, which thou hast brought out of the land of Egypt with great power, and with a mighty hand?

12 ¶ Wherefore shall the Egyptians † speak, and say, He hath brought them out maliciously for to slay them in the mountains, and to consume them from the earth? turn from thy fierce wrath, and † change thy mind from this evil toward thy people.

13 Remember * Abraham, Isaac, and Israel thy servants, to whom thou swarest by thine own self, and saidst unto them, * I will multiply your seed as the stars of heaven, and all this land that I have spoken of, will I give unto your seed, and they shall inherit it for ever.

14 Then the Lord changed his mind from the evil which he threatened to do unto his people.

15 So Moses returned and went down from the mountain with the two tables of the testimony in his hand: the tables were written on both their sides, even on the one side and on the other were they written.

16 And these tables were the work of God, and this * writing was the writing of God graven in the tables.

17 And when Joshua heard the noise of the people as they shouted, he said unto Moses,
There is a noise of war in the host.

18 Who answered, It is not the noise of them that have the victory, nor the noise of them that are overcome: but I do hear the noise of singing.

19 Now, as soon as he came near unto the host, he saw the calf and the dancing: so Moses's wrath waxed hot, and he cast the tables out of his hands, and brake them in pieces beneath the mountain. Bef. Chr. 1491.

20 * After, he took the calf which they had made, and burned it in the fire, and ground it unto powder, and strewed it upon the water, and made the children of Israel drink of it. * Deut. 9:21.

21 Also Moses said unto Aaron, What did this people unto thee, that thou hast brought so great a sin upon them?

22 Then Aaron answered, Let not the wrath of my lord wax fierce: Thou knowest this people, that they are even set on mischief.

23 And they said unto me, Make us gods to go before us: for we know not what is become of this Moses (the man that brought us out of the land of Egypt.)

24 Then I said to them, Ye that have gold pluck it off: and they brought it me, and I did cast it into the fire, and thereof came this calf.

25 Moses therefore saw that the people were naked (for Aaron had made them naked unto their shame among their enemies)

26 And Moses stood in the gate of the camp, and said, Who pertaineth to the Lord? let him come to me. And all the sons of Levi gathered themselves unto him.

27 Then he said unto them, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel: Put every man his sword by his side, go to and fro, from gate to gate, through the host, and slay every man his brother, and every man his companion, and every man his neighbour.

28 So the children of Levi did as Moses had commanded: and there fell of the people the same day about three thousand men.

29 (For Moses had said, Consecrate your hands unto the Lord this day, even every man upon his son, and upon his brother, that there may be given you a blessing this day)

30 And when the morning came, Moses said unto the people, Ye have committed a grievous crime: but now I will go up to the Lord, if I may pacify him for your sin.

31 Moses therefore went again unto the Lord, and said, O this people have sinned a great sin, and have made them gods of gold.

32 Therefore now if thou pardon their sin, thy mercy shall appear: but if thou wilt not, I pray thee rase me out of thy book which thou hast written.

33 Then the Lord said to Moses, Whosoever hath sinned against me, I will put him out of my book.

34 Go now therefore, bring the people unto the place which I commanded thee: behold, mine angel shall go before thee, but yet in the day of my visitation I will visit their sin upon them.

35 So the Lord plagued the people, because they caused Aaron to make the calf which he made.

2 The Lord promiseth to send an angel before his people. 4 They are sad because the Lord denieth to go up with them. 9 Moses talketh familiarly with God. 13 He prayeth for the people, 18 And desireth to see the glory of the Lord.

Afterward the Lord said unto Moses, Depart, and go up from hence, thou and the people (which thou hast brought up out of the land of Egypt) unto the land which I swore unto Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob, saying,

* Gen. 12. 7. * Unto thy seed will I give it.

2 And * I will send an angel before thee, and will cast out the Canaanites, the Amorites, and the Hittites, and the Perizzites, the Hivites, and the Jebusites:

3 To a land, I say, that floweth with milk and honey: for I will not go up with thee, because thou art a stiff-necked people, lest I consume thee in the way.

4 And when the people heard this evil tidings; they sorrowed, and no man put on his best raiment.

5 (For the Lord had said to Moses, Say unto the children of Israel, Ye are stiff-necked people, I will come suddenly upon thee, and consume thee: therefore now put thy costly raiment from thee, that I may know what to do unto thee)

6 So the children of Israel laid their good raiment from them, after Moses came down from the mount Horeb.

7 Then Moses took his tabernacle, and pitched it without the host far off from the host, and called it ¹ Ohel-moed. And when any did seek to the Lord, he went out unto the tabernacle of the congregation, which was without the host.

And when Moses went out unto the tabernacle, all the people rose up, and stood every man at his tent door, and looked after Moses, until he was gone into the tabernacle.

9 And as soon as Moses was entered into the tabernacle, the cloudy pillar descended and stood at the door of the tabernacle, and the Lord talked with Moses.

10 Now when all the people saw the cloudy pillar stand at the tabernacle door, all the people rose up, and worshipped every man in his tent door.

11 And the Lord spake unto Moses, ² face to face, as a man speaketh unto his friend. After he turned again into the host, but his servant Joshua the son of Nun, a young man, departed not out of the tabernacle.

13 Now therefore, I pray thee, if I have found favour in thy sight, shew me now thy way, that I may know thee, and that I may find grace in thy sight: consider also that this nation is thy people.

14 And he answered, My ³ presence shall go with thee, and I will give thee rest.

15 Then he said unto him, If thy presence go not with us, carry us not hence.

16 And wherein now shall it be known, that I and thy people have found favour in thy sight? shall it not be when thou goest with us? for I, and thy people shall have pre-eminence before all the people that are upon the earth.

17 And the Lord said unto Moses, I will do this also that thou hast said: for thou hast found grace in my sight, and I know thee by name.

18 Again he said, I beseech thee, shew me thy ⁴ glory.

19 And he answered, I will make all my ⁵ good go before thee, and I will ⁶ proclaim the name of the Lord before thee: for I will ⁷ shew ⁸ mercy to whom I will shew mercy, and will have compassion on whom I will have compassion. Rom. 9. 15.

20 Furthermore he said, Thou canst not see my face, for there shall no man see me, and ⁹ live.

21 Also the Lord said, Behold, There is ¹⁰ place by ¹¹ me, and thou shalt stand upon the rock:

22 And while my glory passeth by, I will put thee in a cleft of the rock, and will cover thee with mine hand while I pass by.

7 And he answered, Behold, ^{*} I will make a covenant before all thy people, and will do marvels, such as have not been done in all the world, neither in all nations: and all the people among whom thou art, shall see the work of the Lord: for it is a terrible thing that I will do with thee.

8 Keep diligently that which I command thee this day: Behold, I will cast out before thee the Amorites, and the Canaanites, and the Hittites, and the Perizzites, and the Hivites, and the Jebusites.

9 Take heed to thyself, that thou make no compact with the inhabitants of the land whither thou goest, lest they be the cause of ^{*} ruin among you:

10 But ye shall overthrow their altars, and break their images in pieces, and cut down their groves.

11 (For thou shalt bow down to none other god, because the Lord, whose name is ^{*} Jealous, is a jealous God)

12 Lest thou make [‡] compact with the inhabitants of the land, and when they go a whoring after their gods, and do sacrifice unto their gods, some man call thee, and thou [‡] eat of his sacrifice:

13 And lest thou take of their ^{*} daughters unto thy sons, and their daughters go [‡] whoring after their gods, and make thy sons go a whoring after their gods.

14 Thou shalt make thee no gods of [‡] metal.

15 The feast of [‡] unleavened bread shalt thou keep: seven days shalt thou eat unleavened bread, as I commanded thee, in the time of the month of ^{*} Abib: for in the month of Abib thou comest out of Egypt.

16 Every male, that first openeth the womb, shall be mine: also all the first-born of thy flock shall be reckoned mine, both of beeves and sheep.

17 But the first of the aſs thou shalt buy out with a lamb: and if thou redeem him not, then thou shalt break his neck: all the first-born of thy sons shalt thou redeem, and none shall appear before me ^{*} empty.

18 Six days shalt thou work, and in the seventh day thou shalt rest: both in earning time, and in the harvest thou shalt rest.

19 Thou shalt also observe the feast of weeks in the time of the first-fruits of wheat-harvest, and the feast of gathering fruits in ^b the end of the year.

20 Thrice in a year shall all your men children appear before the Lord Jehovah God of Israel.

21 For I will cast out the nations before thee, and enlarge thy coasts, so that no man shall ^c desire thy land, when thou shalt come up to appear before the Lord thy God thrice in the year.

22 Thou shalt not offer the blood of my sacrifice with leaven, neither shall ought of the sacrifice of the feast of passover be left unto the morning.

23 The first ripe fruits of thy land thou shalt bring unto the house of the Lord thy God: yet shalt thou not ^d see the kid in his mother's milk.

24 And the Lord said unto Moses, Write thou these words: for after the tenor of ^{*} these words I have made [‡] covenant with thee and with Israel.

25 So he was there with the Lord [‡] forty days and forty nights, and did neither eat bread nor drink water: and he wrote in the tables ^{*} the words of the covenant, even the ten [†] commandments.

26 So when Moses came down from mount Sinai, the two tables of the testimony were in Moses's hand, as he descended from the mount: (now Moses wist not that the skin of his face shone bright, after that God had talked with him.)

27 And Aaron and all the children of Israel looked upon Moses, and behold, the skin of his face shone bright, and they were ^f afraid to come near him.

28 But Moses called them: And Aaron and all the chief of the congregation returned unto him: and Moses talked with them.

29 And afterward all the children of Israel came near, and he charged them with all that the Lord had said unto him in mount Sinai.

30 So Moses made an end of communing with them, [‡] and had put [‡] covering upon his face.

31 But, when Moses came ^{*} before the Lord to speak with him, he took off the covering until he came out: then he came out, and spake unto the children of Israel that which he was commanded.

Let Car. THREE wrought Bezaleel, and Aholiab, and all the cunning men to whom the Lord gave wisdom and understanding, to know how to work all manner of work for the service of the sanctuary, according to all that the Lord had commanded.

2 For Moses had called Bezaleel, and Aholiab, and all the wise-hearted men in whose hearts the Lord had given wisdom, and as many as their hearts encouraged to come unto that work to work it.

3 And they received of Moses all the offering which the children of Israel had brought for the work of the service of the sanctuary, to make it: also they brought still unto him free gifts every morning.

4 So all the wise men that wrought all the holy work, came every man from his work which they wrought,

5 And spake to Moses, saying, The people bring too much, and more than enough for the work of the work, which the Lord hath commanded to be made.

6 Then Moses gave a commandment, and they caused it to be proclaimed throughout the host, saying, Let neither man nor woman prepare any more work for the oblation of the sanctuary. So the people were stayed from offering.

7 For the stuff they had was sufficient for all the work to make it, and too much.

8 ^{• Ch. 26.} All the cunning men therefore among the workmen, made for the tabernacle ten curtains of fine twined linen, and of blue silk, and purple, and scarlet: ^{• Ch. 26.} cherubims of brodered work made they upon them.

9 The length of one curtain was twenty and eight cubits: and the breadth of one curtain four cubits, and the curtains were all of one size.

10 And he coupled five curtains together, and other five coupled he together.

11 And he made strings of blue silk by the edge of one curtain, in the selvedge of the coupling: likewise he made on the side of the other curtain in the selvedge in the second coupling.

12 ^{• Ch. 26.} Fifty strings made he in the one curtain, and fifty strings made he in the edge of the other curtain, which was in the second coupling: the strings were set one against another.

13 After, he made fifty † taches of gold, and coupled the curtains one to another with the taches: so was it one tabernacle.

14 ¶ Also he made curtains of goats hair for the † covering upon the tabernacle: he made them to the number of eleven curtains.

15 The length of one curtain had thirty cubits, and the breadth of one curtain four cubits: the eleven curtains were of one size.

16 And he coupled five curtains by themselves, and six curtains by themselves:

17 Also he made fifty strings upon the edge of one curtain in the selvedge in the coupling, and fifty strings made he upon the edge of the other curtain in the second coupling.

18 He made also fifty taches of brats to couple the covering that it might be one. ^{Bef. Ch. 26. 1497.}

19 And he made a covering upon the pavilion of rams skins died red, and a covering of badgers skins above.

20 ¶ Likewise he made the boards for the tabernacle of Shittim wood to stand up.

21 The length of a board was ten cubits, and the breadth of one board was a cubit and an half.

22 One board had two tenons, set in order as the feet of a ladder, one against another: thus made he for all the boards of the tabernacle.

23 So he made twenty boards for the south side of the tabernacle, even full south.

24 And forty sockets of silver made he under the twenty boards, two sockets under one board for his two tenons, and two sockets under another board for his two tenons.

25 Also for the other side of the tabernacle toward the north, he made twenty boards.

26 And their forty sockets of silver, two sockets under one board, and two sockets under another board.

27 Likewise toward the west side of the tabernacle he made six boards.

28 And two boards made he in the corners of the tabernacle, for either side,

29 And they were joined beneath, and likewise were made sure above with a ring: thus he did to both in both corners. ^{• Ch. 26. 24.}

30 So there were eight boards and their sixteen sockets of silver, under every board two sockets.

31 ¶ After, he made bars of Shittim wood, five for the boards in the one side of the tabernacle, ^{• Ch. 26. 28. and 30. 45.}

32 And five bars for the boards in the other side of the tabernacle, and five bars for the boards of the tabernacle on the side toward the west.

33 And he made the middle bar to shoot through the boards, from the one end to the other.

34 He overlaid also the boards with gold, and made their rings of gold for places for the bars, and covered the bars with gold.

35 ¶ Moreover he made a vail of blue silk, and purple, and of scarlet, and of fine twined linen: with cherubims of brodered work made he it:

36 And made thereunto four pillars of Shittim, and overlaid them with gold: whose † hooks were also of gold, and he cast for them four sockets of silver. ^{† Or, brass.}

37 And he made an hanging for the tabernacle door, of blue silk, and purple, and scarlet, and fine twined linen, and needle-work.

1 The ark. 6 The mercy-seat. 10 The table.
17 The candlestick. 25 The altar of incense.

* Ch. 25. 10.

AFTER this, Bezaleel made the ark of Shittim wood, two cubits and an half long, and a cubit and a half broad, and a cubit and an half high:

2 And overlaid it with fine gold within and without, and made a crown of gold to it round about,

3 And cast for it four rings of gold for the four corners of it: that is, two rings for the one side of it, and two rings for the other side thereof.

4 Also he made bars of Shittim wood, and covered them with gold,

5 And put the bars in the rings by the sides of the ark, to bear the ark.

* Ch. 25. 17.

6 ¶ And he made the mercy-seat of pure gold: two cubits and an half was the length thereof, and one cubit and an half the breadth thereof.

7 And he made two cherubims of gold, upon the two ends of the mercy-seat: even of work beaten with the hammer made he them.

¶ One cherub on the one end, and another cherub on the other end: of the mercy-seat made he the cherubims, at the two ends thereof.

9 And the cherubims spread out their wings on high, and covered the mercy-seat with their wings, and their faces were one towards another: toward the mercy-seat were the faces of the cherubims.

10 ¶ Also he made the table of Shittim wood: two cubits was the length thereof, and a cubit the breadth thereof, and a cubit and an half the height of it.

11 And he overlaid it with fine gold, and made thereto a crown of gold round about.

† Or, four fingers.

12 Also he made thereto a border of an hand breadth round about, and made upon the border a crown of gold round about.

13 And he cast for it four rings of gold, and put the rings in the four corners that were in the four feet thereof.

14 Against the border were the rings, as places for the bars to bear the table.

15 And he made the bars of Shittim wood, and covered them with gold to bear the table.

* Ch. 25. 29.

16 * Also he made the instruments for the table of pure gold: dishes for it, and incense cups for it, and goblets for it, and coverings for it, wherewith it should be covered.

17 ¶ Likewise he made the candlestick of pure gold: of work beaten out with the hammer made he the candlestick, and his shaft, and his branch, his bowls, his knops, and his flowers were of one piece.

18 And six branches came out of the sides thereof: three branches of the candlestick out of the one side of it, and three branches of the candlestick out of the other side of it.

19 In one branch three bowls made like almonds, a knop and a flower: and in another branch three bowls made like almonds, a knop and a flower: and so throughout the six branches that proceeded out of the candlestick.

20 And upon the candlestick were four bowls after the fashion of almonds, the knops thereof, and the flowers thereof:

21 That is, under every two branches a knop made thereof, and a knop under the second branch thereof, and a knop under the third branch thereof, according to the six branches coming out of it.

22 Their knops and their branches were of the same: it was all one * beaten work of pure gold. * Ch. 25. 31.

23 And he made for it seven lamps with the snuffers and snuff-dishes thereof of pure gold.

24 Of a talent of pure gold made he it with all the instruments thereof.

25 ¶ Furthermore he made the perfume altar of Shittim wood: the length of it was a cubit, and the breadth of it a cubit (it was square) and two cubits high, and the horns thereof were of the same. * Ch. 30. 1, 2, 3, 4.

26 And he covered it with pure gold, both the top and the sides thereof round about, and the horns of it, and made unto it a crown of gold round about.

27 And he made two rings of gold for it, under the crown thereof, in the two corners of the two sides thereof, to put bars in for to bear it therewith.

28 Also he made the bars of Shittim wood, and overlaid them with gold.

29 And he made the holy anointing oil, and the sweet pure incense after the apothecary's art. * Ch. 30. 23, 35.

1 The altar of burnt-offering. 8 The brasen laver.
9 The court. 24 The sum of that the people offered.

ALSO he made the altar of burnt-offering of Shittim wood: five cubits was the length thereof, and five cubits the breadth thereof: it was square and three cubits high. * Ch. 27. 1.

2 And he made unto it horns in the four corners thereof: the horns thereof were of the same, and he overlaid it with brass.

3 Also he made all the instruments of the altar: the ash-pans, and the besoms, and the basins, the flesh-hooks, and the censers: all the instruments thereof made he of brass. * Ch. 27. 3. † Or, fire-pans.

4 Moreover, he made a brasen grate, wrought like a net to the altar, under the compass of it beneath in the midst of it,

5 And cast four rings of brass for the four ends of the grate to put bars in.

6 And he made the bars of Shittim wood, and covered them with brass:

7 The which bars he put into the rings on the sides of the altar to bear it withal, and made it hollow within the boards. * Ch. 27. 2.

¶ Also he made the laver of brass, and the foot of it of brass of the glasses of the women that did assemble and come together at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation.

C H A P. XXXIX.

1 The apparel of Aaron and his sons. 32 All that the Lord commanded, was made and finished. 43 Moses blesteth the people.

Moreover, they made garments of ministration to minister in the sanctuary, of blue silk, and purple, and scarlet: they made also the holy garments for Aaron, as the Lord had commanded Moses.

2 So he made the ephod of gold, blue silk, and purple, and scarlet, and fine twined linen.

3 And they did beat the gold into thin plates, and cut it into wires, to work it in the blue silk, and in the purple, and in the scarlet, and in the fine linen, with broidered work.

4 For the which they made shoulders to couple together: for it was closed by the two edges thereof.

5 And the broidered gard of his ephod that was upon him, was of the same stuff, and of like work: even of gold, of blue silk, and purple, and scarlet, and fine twined linen, as the Lord had commanded Moses.

6 ¶ And they wrought two onyx stones closed in ouches of gold, and graven, as signets are graven, with the names of the children of Israel,

7 And put them on the shoulders of the ephod, as stones for a remembrance of the children of Israel, as the Lord had commanded Moses.

8 ¶ Also he made the breast-plate of broidered work like the work of the ephod: to wit, of gold, blue silk, and purple, and scarlet, and fine twined linen.

9 They made the breast-plate double, and it was square, an handbreadth long, and an handbreadth broad: it was also double.

10 And they filled it with four rows of stones. The order was thus, a ruby, a topaz, and carbuncle in the first row:

11 And in the second row, an emerald, a sapphire, and a diamond:

12 Also in the third row, a turkeis, an agate, and an amethyst:

- 7 And thou shalt set the laver between the tabernacle of the congregation and the altar, and put water therein.
- 8 Then thou shalt appoint the court round about, and hang up the hanging at the court-gate.

THE ARGUMENT.

As God daily by most singular benefits declareth himself to be mindful of his church: so he would not that they should have any occasion to trust either in themselves, or to depend upon others, either for lack of temporal things, or ought that belonged to his divine service and religion. Therefore he ordained divers kinds of oblations and sacrifices, to assure them of forgiveness of their offences (if they offered them in true faith and obedience). Also he appointed their priests and levites, their apparel, offices, conversation and portion: he shewed what feasts they should observe, and in what times. Moreover, he declared by these sacrifices and ceremonies that the reward of sin is death, and that without the blood of Christ, the innocent Lamb, there can be no forgiveness of sins. And because they should give no place to their own inventions (which thing God most detesteth, as appeareth by the terrible example of Nadab and Abihu) he prescribed even to the least things, what they should do, as what beasts they should offer and eat: what diseases were contagious and to be avoided: what order they should take for all manner of filthiness and pollution to purge it: whose company they should flee: what marriages were lawful: and what politic laws were profitable. Which things declared, he promised favour and blessing to them that kept his laws, and threatened his curse to them that transgressed them.

NOW ^a the Lord called Moses, and spake unto him out of the tabernacle of the congregation, saying,

2 Speak unto the children of Israel, and thou shalt say unto them, If any of you offer a sacrifice unto the Lord, ye shall offer your sacrifice of ^b cattle, as of beeves and of the sheep.

* Exod. 29. 10.

3 * If his sacrifice be a burnt-offering of the herd, he shall offer a male without blemish, presenting him of his own voluntary will at the door of the ^c tabernacle of the congregation before the Lord.

4 And he shall put his hand upon the head of the burnt-offering, and it shall be accepted [†] to the Lord, to be his atonement.

† Heb. 10. 11.

5 And ^a he shall kill the bullock before the Lord, and the priests Aaron's sons shall offer the blood, and shall sprinkle it round about upon the ^b altar that is by the door of the tabernacle of the congregation.

6 Then shall he slay the burnt-offering, and cut it in pieces.

7 So the sons of Aaron the priest shall put fire upon the altar, and lay the wood in order upon the fire.

10 ¶ And if his sacrifice for the burnt-offering be of the flocks (as of the sheep, or of the goats) he shall offer a male without blemish,

12 And he shall cut it in [†] pieces, separating his head and his [‡] caul, and the priest shall lay them in order upon the wood that lieth in the fire which is on the altar:

† Heb. intd his pieces. ‡ Or, fat.

13 But he shall wash the inwards and the legs with water, and the priest shall offer the whole and burn it upon the altar: for it is a burnt-offering, an oblation made by fire for a sweet savour unto the Lord.

14 ¶ And if his sacrifice be [■] burnt-offering to the Lord of the fowls, then shall he offer his sacrifice of his turtle doves, or of the young pigeons.

15 And the priest shall bring it unto the altar, and [■] wring the neck of it asunder, and burn it on the altar: and the blood thereof shall be [‡] shed upon the side of the altar.

CHAP. II.

1 The meat-offering is of three sorts: of fine flour unleavened. 4 Of bread baken, 14 And of corn in the ear.

AND when any will offer a meat-offering unto the Lord, his offering shall be of fine flour, and he shall pour oil upon it, and put incense thereon,

2 And shall bring it unto Aaron's sons the priests, and he shall take thence his handful of the flour, and of the oil with all the incense, and the priest shall burn it for a memorial upon the altar: for it is an offering made by fire for a sweet savour unto the Lord.

3 * But the remnant of the meat-offering shall be Aaron's and his sons: for it is most holy of the Lord's offering made by fire.

4 ¶ If thou bring also a meat-offering baken in the oven, it shall be an unleavened cake of fine flour mingled with oil, or an unleavened wafer anointed with oil.

5 ¶ But if thy meat-offering be an oblation of the frying-pan, it shall be of fine flour unleavened, mingled with oil.

6 And thou shalt part it in pieces, and pour oil thereon: for it is a meat-offering.

7 ¶ And if thy meat-offering be an oblation made in the caldron, it shall be made of fine flour with oil.

8 After, thou shalt bring the meat-offering (that is made of these things) unto the Lord, and shalt present it unto the priest, and he shall bring it to the altar,

9 And the priest shall take from the meat-offering a memorial of it, and shall burn it upon the altar: for it is an oblation made by fire for a sweet savour unto the Lord.

10 But that which is left of the meat-offering shall be Aaron's and his sons: for it is most holy of the offerings of the Lord made by fire.

11 All the meat-offerings which ye shall offer unto the Lord, shall be made without leaven: for ye shall neither burn leaven nor honey in any offering of the Lord made by fire.

12 ¶ In the oblation of the first-fruits ye shall offer them unto the Lord, but they shall not be burnt upon the altar for a sweet savour.

13 (All the meat-offerings also shalt thou season with salt, neither shalt thou suffer the salt of the covenant of thy God to be lacking from thy meat-offering, but upon all thine oblations thou shalt offer salt.)

14 If then thou offer a meat-offering for thy first-fruits unto the Lord, thou shalt offer for thy meat-offering of thy first-fruits ears of corn dried by the fire, and wheat beaten out of the green ears.

ALSO if his oblation be a peace-offering, if he will offer of the drove (whether it be male or female) he shall offer such as is without blemish, before the Lord,

2 And shall put his hand upon the head of his offering, and kill it at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation: and Aaron's sons the priests shall sprinkle the blood upon the altar round about.

3 So he shall offer part of the peace-offerings as a sacrifice made by fire unto the Lord, even the fat that covereth the inwards, and all the fat that is upon the inwards.

* Exod. 29. 22.

4 He shall also take away the two kidnies, and the fat that is on them, and upon the flanks, and the caul on the liver with the kidnies.

6 ¶ Also if his oblation be a peace-offering unto the Lord out of the flock (whether it be male or female) he shall offer it without blemish.

7 If he offer a lamb for his oblation, then he shall bring it before the Lord,

8 And lay his hand upon the head of his offering, and shall kill it before the tabernacle of the congregation, and Aaron's sons shall sprinkle the blood thereof round about upon the altar.

9 After, of the peace-offerings he shall offer an offering made by fire unto the Lord: he shall take away the fat thereof, and the rump altogether, hard by the back-bone, and the fat that covereth the inwards, and all the fat that is upon the inwards.

10 Also he shall take away the two kidnies, with the fat that is upon them and upon the flanks, and the caul upon the liver with the kidnies.

14 One part was burnt, another was to the priests, and the third him that offered.

15 In the peace-offering it was indifferent to offer either male or female, but in the burnt-offering only the male: so here can be offered no birds, but in the burnt-offering they might: all there was consumed with fire, and in the peace-offering but a part.

16 The burnt-offering was wholly consumed, and of the offering made by fire only the inwards, &c. were burnt: the shoulder and breast, with the two chaws and the were the priest's, and the rest his that offered.

CHAPTER V.

1 Of him that testifieth not the truth, if he bear another swear falsely. 4 Of him that voweth rashly. 15 Of him that by ignorance withdraweth any thing dedicate to the Lord.

1 ALSO if any have sinned, that is, if he has heard the voice of another, and he can be a witness, whether he hath seen or known of it, if he do not utter it, he shall bear his iniquity:

2 Either if one touch any unclean thing, whether it be a carrion of an unclean beast, or a carrion of unclean cattle, or a carrion of unclean creeping things, and is not aware of it, yet he is unclean, and hath offended:

3 Either if he touch any uncleanness of man (whatsoever uncleanness it be that he is defiled with and is not aware of it, and after cometh to the knowledge of it, he hath sinned.

4 Either if any swear and pronounce with his lips to do evil, or to do good (whatsoever it be that a man shall pronounce with an oath) and it be hid from him, and after knoweth that he hath offended in one of these points,

5 When he hath sinned in any of these things, then he shall confess that he hath sinned therein.

6 Therefore shall he bring his trespass-offering unto the Lord for his sin which he hath committed, even a female from the flock, be it a lamb or a she-goat for a sin-offering, and the priest shall make an atonement for him concerning his sin.

7 But if he be not able to bring a sheep, he shall bring for his trespass which he hath committed, two turtle doves, or two young pigeons unto the Lord, one for a sin-offering, and the other for a burnt-offering.

8 So he shall bring them unto the priest, who shall offer the sin-offering first, and wring the neck of it asunder, but not pluck it clean off.

9 After he shall sprinkle of the blood of the sin-offering upon the side of the altar, and the rest of the blood shall be shed at the foot of the altar: for it is a sin-offering.

10 Also he shall offer the second for a burnt-offering as the manner is: so shall the priest make an atonement for him (for his sin which he hath committed) and it shall be forgiven him.

11 But if he be not able to bring two turtle doves, or two young pigeons, then he that hath sinned shall bring for his offering, the tenth part of an ephah of fine flower for a sin-offering, he shall put none oil thereto, neither put any incense thereon: for it is a sin-offering.

12 Then he shall bring it to the priest, and the priest shall take his handful of it for the remembrance thereof, and burn it upon the altar with the offerings of the Lord made by fire: for it is a sin-offering.

13 So the priest shall make an atonement for him, as touching his sin that he hath committed in one of these points, and it shall be forgiven him: and the remnant shall be the priest's, as the meat-offering.

14 And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying,

15 If any person transgress and sin through ignorance, by taking away things consecrated unto the Lord, he shall then bring for his trespass-offering unto the Lord a ram without blemish out of the flock, worth two shekels of silver by the estimation after the shekel of the sanctuary, for a trespass offering.

18 For if any of the flesh of his peace-offerings be eaten in the third day, he shall not be accepted that offereth it, neither shall it be reckoned unto him, but shall be an abomination: therefore the person that eateth of it shall ^m bear his iniquity.

12 The anointing of Aaron and his sons, with the sacrifice concerning the same.

Afterward the Lord spake unto Moses, saying,

2 Take Aaron and his sons with him, and the garments, and the anointing oil, and a bullock for the sin-offering, and two rams, and a basket of unleavened bread,

3 And assemble all the company at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation.

4 So Moses did the Lord had commanded him, and the company was assembled at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation.

5 Then Moses said unto the company, This is the thing which the Lord hath commanded to do.

6 And Moses brought Aaron, and his sons, and washed them with water, 7 And put upon him the coat, and girded him with a girdle, and clothed him with the robe, and put the ephod on him, which he girded with the brodered gird of the ephod, and bound it unto him therewith.

After he put the breast-plate thereon, and put in the breast-plate the urim and thummim.

9 Also he put the mitre upon his head, and put upon the mitre on the fore-front the golden plate, and the holy crown, the Lord had commanded Moses.

10 (Now Moses had taken the anointing oil, and anointed the tabernacle and all that was therein, and sanctified them, 11 And sprinkled thereof upon the altar seven times, and anointed the altar and all his instruments, and the laver, and his foot, to sanctify them)

12 And he poured of the anointing oil upon Aaron's head, and anointed him, to sanctify him.

13 After, Moses brought Aaron's sons, and put coats upon them; and girded them with girdles, and put bonnets upon their heads, the Lord had commanded Moses.

14 Then he brought the bullock for the sin-offering, and Aaron and his sons put their hands upon the head of the bullock for the sin-offering:

15 And Moses slew him, and took the blood, which he put upon the horns of the altar round about with his finger, and purified the altar, and poured the rest of the blood at the foot of the altar: so he sanctified it, to make reconciliation upon it.

16 Then he took all the fat that was upon the inwards: and the caul of the liver, and the two kidneys, with their fat, which Moses burned upon the altar.

17 But the bullock and his hide, and his flesh, and his dung, he burnt with fire without the host, as the Lord had commanded Moses.

18 Also he brought the ram for the burnt-offering, and Aaron and his sons put their hands upon the head of the ram.

19 So Moses killed it, and sprinkled the blood upon the altar round about,

20 And Moses cut the ram in pieces, and burnt the head with the pieces, and the fat,

21 And washed the inwards and the legs in water: so Moses burnt the ram every whit upon the altar: for it was burnt-offering for a sweet savour, which was made by fire unto the Lord, as the Lord had commanded Moses.

22 After, he brought the other ram, the ram of consecrations, and Aaron and his sons laid their hands upon the head of the ram, 23 Which Moses slew, and took of the blood of it, and put it upon the lap of Aaron's right ear, and upon the thumb of his right hand, and upon the great toe of his right foot.

24 Then Moses brought Aaron's sons, and put of the blood on the lap of their right ears, and upon the thumbs of their right hands, and upon the great toes of their right feet, and Moses sprinkled the rest of the blood upon the altar round about.

25 And he took the fat and the rump, and all the fat that was upon the inwards, and the caul of the liver, and the two kidneys with their fat, and the right shoulder.

26 Also he took of the basket of the unleavened bread that was before the Lord, one unleavened cake, and a cake of oiled bread, and one wafer, and put them on the fat, and upon the right shoulder.

27 So he put all in Aaron's hands, and in his sons hands, and shook it to and fro before the Lord.

28 After, Moses took them out of their hands, and burnt them upon the altar for a burnt-offering: for these were consecrations for a sweet savour which were made by fire unto the Lord.

1 The firſt offerings of Aaron. 22 Aaron bleſſeth the people. 23 The glory of the Lord is ſhewed. 24 The fire cometh from the Lord.

AND in the ⁸ eighth day Moſes called Aaron and his ſons, and the elders of Iſrael:

2 Then he ſaid unto Aaron, Take thee a young calf for a ⁹ ſin-offering, and a ram for a burnt-offering, both without blemiſh, and bring them before the Lord.

3 And unto the children of Iſrael thou ſhalt ſpeak, ſaying, Take ye an he-goat for a ſin-offering, and a calf, and a lamb, both of a year old, without blemiſh, for a burnt-offering:

4 Alſo a bullock and a ram for peace-offerings, to offer before the Lord, and a meat-offering mingled with oil: for to-day the Lord will appear unto you.

5 ¶ Then they brought that which Moſes commanded before the tabernacle of the congregation, and all the aſſembly drew near and ſtood before the ¹⁰ Lord.

6 For Moſes had ſaid, This is the thing which the Lord commanded that ye ſhould do, and the glory of the Lord ſhall appear unto you)

7 Then Moſes ſaid unto Aaron, Draw near to the altar, and offer thy ſin-offering, and thy burnt-offering, and make an atonement for thee and for the people: offer alſo the offering of the people, and make an atonement for them, as the Lord hath commanded.

8 ¶ Aaron therefore went unto the altar, and killed the calf of the ſin-offering, which was for himſelf.

9 And the ſons of Aaron brought the blood unto him, and he dipt his finger in the blood, and put it upon the horns of the altar, and poured the ¹¹ reſt of the blood at the foot of the altar.

10 But the fat and the kidnies, and the caul of the liver of the ſin-offering, he ¹² burnt upon the altar, as the Lord had commanded Moſes.

11 The ſeaſh alſo and the hide he burnt with fire without the hoſt.

12 After, he ſlew the burnt-offering, and Aaron's ſons brought unto him the blood, which he ſprinkled round about upon the altar.

13 Alſo they brought the burnt-offering unto him with the pieces thereof, and the head, and he burnt them upon the altar.

14 Likewise he did waſh the inwards and the legs, and ¹⁴ burnt them upon the burnt-offering on the altar.

15 ¶ Then he offered the people's offering, and took a goat, which was the ſin-offering for the people, and ſlew it: and offered it for ſin, as the firſt:

16 So he offered the burnt-offering, and prepared it, according to the manner.

17 He preſented alſo the meat-offering, and filled his hand thereof, and ¹⁵ beſide the burnt-offering of the morning, he burnt this upon the altar.

18 He ſlew alſo the bullock, and the ram for the peace-offerings, that was for the people, and Aaron's ſons brought unto him the blood, which he ſprinkled upon the altar round about,

19 With the fat of the bullock, and of the ram, the rump, and that which covereth the inwards, and the kidnies, and the caul of the liver.

20 So they laid the fat upon the breasts, and he burnt the fat upon the altar.

21 But the ¹⁶ breasts and the right ſhoulder Aaron ſhook to and fro before the Lord, as the Lord had commanded Moſes.

22 So Aaron lift up his hand toward the people, and bleſſed them, and ¹⁷ came down from offering of the ſin-offering, and the burnt-offering, and the peace-offerings.

23 After, Moſes and Aaron went into the tabernacle of the congregation, and came out, and ¹⁸ bleſſed the people, and the glory of the Lord appeared to all the people.

24 ¶ And there came a fire out from the Lord, and conſumed upon the altar the burnt-offering and the fat: which when all the people ſaw, they ¹⁹ gave thanks, and fell on their faces.

■ A law how women should be purged after their deliverance.

AND the Lord spake unto Moses, saying,

2 Speak unto the children of Israel, and say, When a woman hath brought forth seed, and borne a man-child, she shall be unclean ⁿ seven days, like as she is unclean when she is put apart from her [†] * disease.

3 (* And in the eighth day the foreskin of the child's flesh shall be circumcised)

4 And she shall continue in the blood of her purifying three ^o and thirty days: she shall touch no ^p hallowed thing, nor come into the ^q sanctuary, until the time of her purifying be out.

5 But if she bear a maid-child, then she shall be unclean two ^r weeks, as when she hath her disease: and she shall continue in the blood of her purifying threescore and six days.

6 Now when the days of her purifying are out (whether it be for a son or for a daughter) she shall bring to the priest a lamb of one year old for a burnt-offering, and a young pigeon or a turtle dove for a sin-offering, unto the door of the ^r tabernacle of the congregation,

7 Who shall offer it before the Lord, and make an atonement for her: so she shall be purged of the issue of her blood: this is the law for her that hath borne ⁿ male or female.

8 But [†] if she be not able to bring a lamb, she shall bring two * turtles, or two young pigeons: the one for a burnt-offering, and the other for a sin-offering: and the priest shall make an atonement for her: so she shall be clean.

CHAP. XIII.

2 What considerations the priest ought to observe in judging the leprosy. 28 The black spot, or scab. 47 And the leprosy of the garment.

Moreover the Lord spake unto Moses and to Aaron, saying,

2 The man that shall have in the skin of his flesh a swelling or a scab, or a white spot, so that in the skin of his flesh ^r it be like the plague of leprosy, then he shall be brought unto Aaron the priest, or unto one of his sons the priests,

3 And the priest shall look on the sore in the skin of his flesh: if the hair in the sore be turned into white, and the sore seem to be ⁿ lower than the skin of his flesh, it is a plague of leprosy: therefore the priest shall look on him, and [†] pronounce him unclean.

4 But if the white spot be in the skin of his flesh, and seem not to be lower than the skin, nor the hair thereof be turned unto white, then the priest shall shut up him that bath the plague, seven days.

5 After, the priest shall look upon him the seventh day: and if the plague seem [†] to him [†] to abide still, and the plague grow not in the skin, the priest shall shut him up yet seven days more.

6 Then the priest shall look on him again the seventh day; and if the plague be ^v dark, and the sore grow not in the skin, then the priest shall [†] pronounce him clean, for it is a scab: therefore he shall wash his clothes and be clean.

7 But if the scab grow more in the skin, after that he is seen of the priest for to be purged, he shall be seen of the priest yet again.

8 Then the priest shall consider, and if the scab [†] grow in the skin, then the priest shall pronounce him ⁿ unclean: for it is leprosy.

9 ¶ When the plague of leprosy is in a man, he shall be brought unto the priest,

10 And the priest shall see him: and if the swelling be white in the skin, and have made the hair white, and there be raw flesh in the swelling,

11 It is an old leprosy in the skin of his flesh: and the priest shall pronounce him unclean, and shall not shut him up, for he is unclean.

12 Also if the leprosy [†] break out in the skin, and the leprosy cover all the skin of the plague, from his head even to his feet, where-soever the priest looketh, 13 Then the priest shall consider: and if the leprosy cover all his flesh, he shall pronounce the plague to be ^v clean, because it is all turned into whiteness: so he shall be clean.

14 But if there be raw flesh on him when he is seen, he shall be unclean.

15 For the priest shall see the raw flesh, and declare him to be unclean: for the raw flesh is ⁿ unclean, therefore it is the leprosy.

16 Or if the raw flesh change and be turned into white, then he shall come to the priest, 17 And the priest shall behold him: and if the sore be changed into white, then the priest shall pronounce the plague clean, for it is clean.

18 ¶ The flesh also in whose skin there is [†] a bile, and is healed, 19 And in the place of the bile there be a white swelling, or ⁿ white spot somewhat reddish, it shall be seen of the priest.

20 And when the priest seeth it, if it appear lower than the skin, and the hair thereof be changed into white, the priest then shall pronounce him ⁿ unclean: for it is a plague of leprosy, broken out in the bile.

21 But if the priest look on it, and there be ⁿ white hairs therein, and if it be not lower than the skin, but be darker, then the priest shall shut him up seven days.

22 And if it spread abroad in the flesh, the priest shall pronounce him unclean, for it is a sore.

24 ¶ If there be any flesh, in whose skin there is an hot burning, and the quick flesh of the burning have a ^o white spot somewhat reddish or pale,

25 Then the priest shall look upon it: and if the hair in that spot be changed into white, and it appear lower than the skin, it is a leprosy broken out in the burning: therefore the priest shall pronounce him unclean: for it is the plague of leprosy.

26 But if the priest look on it, and there be no white hair in the spot, and it be no lower than the other skin, but be darker, then the priest shall shut him up seven days.

27 After, the priest shall look on him the seventh day: if it be grown abroad in the skin, then the priest shall pronounce him unclean: for it is the plague of leprosy.

28 And if the spot abide in his place, not growing in the skin, but is dark, it is a [†] rising of the burning: the priest shall therefore declare him clean, for it is the drying up of the burning.

29 ¶ If also a man or woman hath a sore on the head or in the beard, 30 Then the priest shall see the sore: and if it appear lower than the skin, and there be in it a small yellow ^e hair, then the priest shall pronounce him unclean: for it is a black spot, and leprosy of the head or of the beard.

31 And if the priest look on the fore of the black spot, and if it seem not lower than the skin, nor have any black hair in it, then the priest shall shut up him that bath the fore of the black spot, seven days.

32 After, in the seventh day the priest shall look on the fore: and if the black spot grow not, and there be in it no yellow hair, and the black spot seem not lower than the skin,

33 Then he shall be shaven, but the place of the black spot shall he not shave: but the priest shall shut up him that bath the black spot, seven days more.

34 And the seventh day the priest shall look on the black spot, and if the black spot grow not in the skin, nor seem lower than the other skin, then the priest shall cleanse him, and he shall wash his cloaths, and be clean.

35 But if the black spot grow abroad in the flesh after his cleansing, 36 Then the priest shall look on it: and if the black spot grow in the skin, the priest shall not ^e seek for the yellow hair: for he is unclean.

37 But if the black spot seem to him to abide, and that black hair grow therein, the black spot is healed, he is clean, and the priest shall declare him to be clean.

38 ¶ Furthermore if there be many white spots in the skin of the flesh of man or woman,

39 Then the priest shall consider: and if ^{Bef. Chr.} 1490. the spots in the skin of their flesh be somewhat dark and white withal, it is but [■] white spot broken out in the skin: therefore he is clean.

40 And the man whose hair is fallen off his head, and is bald, is clean.

41 And if his head lose the ^o hair on the fore part, and be bald before, he is clean.

42 But if there be in the bald head, or in the bald forehead a white reddish sore, it is a leprosy springing in his bald head, or in his bald forehead.

43 Therefore the priest shall look upon it, and if the rising of the sore be white reddish in his bald head, or in his bald forehead, appearing like leprosy in the skin of the flesh, 44 He is a leper and unclean: therefore the priest shall pronounce him altogether unclean: for the sore is in his head.

45 The leper also in whom the plague is, shall have his clothes ^f rent, and his head bare, and shall put [■] covering upon his ^e-lip, and shall cry, I am unclean, I am unclean.

51 And shall look on the plague the seventh day: if the plague grow in the garment, or in the warp, or in the woof, or in the skin, or in any thing that is made of skin, that plague is a fretting leprosy and unclean.

25 Therefore ye shall put difference between clean beasts and unclean, and between unclean fowls and clean: neither shall ye defile yourselves with beasts and fowls, nor with any creeping thing that the ground bringeth forth, which I have separated from you as unclean.

26 Therefore shall ye be holy unto me: for I the Lord am holy, and I have separated you from other people, that ye should be mine.

For whom the priests may lament. 6 How pure the priests ought to be, both in themselves, and in their family.

AND the Lord said unto Moses, Speak unto the priests the sons of Aaron, and say unto them, Let none be defiled by the dead among his people.

2 But by his kinsman that is near unto him: to wit, by his mother, or by his father, or by his son, or by his daughter, or by his brother,

3 Or by his sister a maid, that is near unto him, which hath not had husband: for her he may lament.

4 He shall not lament for the prince among his people, to pollute himself.

5 They shall not make bald parts upon their head, nor shave off the locks of their beard, nor make any cuttings in their flesh.

6 They shall be holy unto their God, and not pollute the name of their God: for the sacrifices of the Lord made by fire, and the bread of their God they do offer: therefore they shall be holy.

7 They shall not take to wife an whore, or one polluted, neither shall they marry a woman divorced from her husband: for such one is holy unto his God.

8 Thou shalt sanctify him therefore, for he offereth the bread of thy God: he shall be holy unto thee: for I the Lord, which sanctify you, am holy.

9 If a priest's daughter fall to play the whore, she polluteth her father: therefore shall she be burnt with fire.

10 Also the high priest among his brethren (upon whose head the anointing oil was poured, and hath consecrated his hand to put on the garments) shall not uncover his head, nor rend his cloaths,

11 Neither shall he go to any dead body, nor make himself unclean by his father or by his mother, 12 Neither shall he go out of the sanctuary, nor pollute the holy place of his God: for the crown of the anointing oil of his God is upon him: I am the Lord.

13 Also he shall take a maid unto his wife:

14 But a widow, or a divorced woman, or a polluted, or an harlot, these shall he not marry, but shall take a maid of his own people to wife:

15 Neither shall he defile his seed among his people: for I am the Lord which sanctify him.

3 ¶ Six days \ddagger shall work be done, but in the seventh day shall be the sabbath of rest, an holy convocation: ye shall do no work therein, it is the sabbath of the Lord, in all your dwellings.

4 ¶ These are the feasts of the Lord, and holy convocations, which ye shall proclaim in their seasons.

5 In the first month, and in the fourteenth day of the month at evening shall be the passover of the Lord.

6 And on the fifteenth day of this month shall be the feast of unleavened bread unto the Lord: seven days shall ye eat unleavened bread.

7 In the first day ye shall have an holy convocation: ye shall do no servile work therein.

8 Also ye shall offer sacrifice made by fire unto the Lord seven days, and in the seventh day shall be an holy convocation: ye shall do no servile work therein.

12 And that day when ye shake the sheaf, shall ye prepare a lamb without blemish of a year old, for a burnt-offering unto the Lord.

13 And the meat-offering thereof shall be two tenth deals of fine flour mingled with oil, for a sacrifice made by fire unto the Lord of sweet savour: and the drink-offering thereof the fourth part of an hin of wine.

14 And ye shall eat neither bread nor parched corn, nor green ears, until the self-same day that ye have brought an offering unto your God: this shall be a law for ever in your generations, and in all your dwellings.

15 ¶ Ye shall count also to you from the morrow after the sabbath, even from the day that ye shall bring the sheaf of the shake-offering, seven sabbaths, they shall be complete.

16 Unto the morrow after the seventh sabbath shall ye number fifty days, then ye shall bring a new meat-offering unto the Lord.

17 Ye shall bring out of your habitations bread for the shake-offering: they shall be two loaves of two tenth deals of fine flour, which shall be baked with leaven for first-fruits unto the Lord.

18 Also ye shall offer with the bread seven lambs without blemish of one year old, and a young bullock and two rams: they shall be for a burnt-offering unto the Lord, with their meat-offerings, and their drink-offerings, for a sacrifice made by fire of sweet savour unto the Lord.

19 Then ye shall prepare an he-goat for a sin-offering, and two lambs of one year old for peace-offerings.

20 And the priest shall shake them to and fro with the bread of the first-fruits before the Lord, and with the two lambs: they shall be holy to the Lord, for the priest.

21 So ye shall proclaim the same day, that it may be an holy convocation unto you ye shall do no servile work therein: it shall be an ordinance for ever in all your dwellings, throughout your generations.

22 ¶ And when you reap the harvest of your land, thou shalt not rid clean the corners of thy field when thou reapest, neither shalt thou make any after-gathering of thy harvest, but shalt leave them unto the poor and to the stranger: I am the Lord your God.

40 And ye shall take you in the first day the fruit of goodly trees, branches of palm-trees, and the boughs of ^g thick trees, and willows of the brook, and shall rejoice before the Lord your God seven days.

41 So ye shall keep this feast unto the Lord seven days in the year, by a perpetual ordinance

42 Ye shall dwell in booths seven days: all that are Israelites born shall dwell in booths,

THE ARGUMENT.

Forasmuch as God hath appointed that his church in this world shall be under the cross, both because they should learn not to put their trust in worldly things, and also feel his comfort, when all other help faileth: he did not straightway bring his people, after their departure out of Egypt, into the land which he promised them, but led them to and fro for the space of forty years, and kept them in continual exercises before they enjoyed it, to try their faith, and to teach them to forget the world and to depend on him. Which trial did greatly profit to discern the wicked and the hypocrites from the faithful and true servants of God, who served him with pure heart, whereas the other preferring their carnal affections to God's glory, and making religion to serve their purpose, murmured when they lacked to content their lusts, and despised them whom God had appointed rulers over them. By reason whereof they provoked God's terrible judgments against them, and are set forth as a most notable example for all ages to beware how they abuse God's word, prefer their own lusts to his will, or despise his ministers. Notwithstanding God is ever true in his promise, and governeth his by his Holy Spirit, that either they fall not to such inconveniences, or else return to him quickly by true repentance: and therefore he continueth his graces toward them, he giveth them ordinances and instructions, as well for religion as outward policy: he preserveth them against all craft and conspiracy, and giveth them manifold victories against their enemies. And to avoid all controversies that might arise, he taketh away the occasion, by dividing among all the tribes, both the land which they had won, and that also which he had promised, as seemed best to his godly wisdom.

11 And his host, and the number thereof, six and forty thousand and five hundred.

12 And by him shall the tribe of Simeon pitch, and the captain over the sons of Simeon shall be Shelumiel the son of Zurishaddai:

13 And his host, and the number of them, nine and fifty thousand and three hundred.

14 And the tribe of Gad, and the captain over the sons of Gad, shall be Eliasaph the son of Deuel.

15 And his host, and the number of them, were five and forty thousand six hundred and fifty. † Or, Reuben.

16 All the number of the camp of Reuben were an hundred and one and fifty thousand, and four hundred and fifty according to their armies, and they shall set forth in the second place.

17 ¶ Then the tabernacle of the congregation shall go with the host of the Levites, in the midst of the camp as they have pitched, so shall they go forward, every man in his order according to their standards.

18 ¶ The standard of the camp of Ephraim shall be toward the west according to their armies: and the captain over the sons of Ephraim shall be Elishama the son of Ammihud:

19 And his host, and the number of them, were forty thousand and five hundred.

20 And by him shall be the tribe of Manasseh and the captain over the sons of Manasseh shall be Gamliel the son of Pedahzur:

21 And his host, and the number of them, were two and thirty thousand and two hundred.

22 And the tribe of Benjamin, and the captain over the sons of Benjamin shall be Abidan the son of Gideon:

23 And his host, and the number of them, were five and thirty thousand and four hundred.

24 All the number of the camp of Ephraim were an hundred and eight thousand and one hundred according to their armies, and they shall go in the third place.

25 ¶ The standard of the host of Dan shall be toward the north according to their armies: and the captain over the children of Dan shall be Ahiezer the son of Ammishaddai:

26 And his host and the number of them, were threescore and two thousand and seven hundred.

27 And by him shall the tribe of Asher pitch, and the captain over the sons of Asher shall be Pagiel the son of Ocran.

28 And his host, and the number of them, were one and forty thousand and five hundred.

⁷ Reuben and Simeon, the sons of Leah, and Gad the son of Zilpah her maid, were of the second standard.

⁸ Because it might be in equal distance from each one, and all indifferently have recourse thereunto.

¹⁰ Dan and Naphtali the sons of Bilha, Rachel's maid, with Asher the son of Zilpah, make the fourth standard.

Bef. Chr. 30 And his host, and the number of them, were 1490. three and fifty thousand and four hundred.

31 All the number of the host of Dan was an hundred and seven and fifty thousand and six hundred: they shall go hindmost with their standards.

32 ¶ These are the ⁹ sums of the children of Israel by the houses of their fathers, all the number of the host, according to their armies, six hundred and three thousand five hundred and fifty.

33 But the Levites were not numbered among the children of Israel, as the Lord had commanded Moses.

34 And the children of Israel did according to all that the Lord had commanded Moses: so they pitched according to their ^r standards, and so they journeyed every one with their families, according to the houses of their fathers.

C H A P. III.

6 The charge and office of the Levites. 12, 13 Why the Lord separated the Levites for himself. 16 Their number, families and captains. 40 The first-born of Israel is redeemed by the Levites. 47 The overplus is redeemed by money.

THESE also were the ^r generations of Aaron and Moses, in the day that the Lord spake with Moses in mount Sinai.

2 So these are the names of the sons of Aaron, * Nadab the first-born, and Abihu, Eleazar, and Ithamar.

3 These are the names of the sons of Aaron the anointed priests, whom Moses did * consecrate to minister in the priests office.

4 ¶ And Nadab and Abihu died ¹ before the Lord, when they offered * strange fire before the Lord in the wilderness of Sinai, and had no children: but Eleazar and Ithamar served in the priests office in the sight ^o of Aaron their father.

5 Then the Lord spake unto Moses, saying,

6 Bring the tribe of Levi, and ^v set them before Aaron the priest that they may serve him.

7 And take the charge with him, even the charge of the whole congregation ^a before the tabernacle of the congregation, to do the service of the tabernacle.

8 They shall also keep all the instruments of the tabernacle of the congregation, and have the charge of the children of Israel to do the service of the tabernacle.

9 And thou shalt give the Levites unto Aaron and to his ^r sons: for they are given him freely from among the children of Israel.

10 And thou shalt appoint Aaron and his sons to execute their priests office: and the ^z stranger that cometh near shall be slain.

11 ¶ Also the Lord spake unto Moses, saying,

12 Behold, I have even taken the Levites from among the children of Israel, for all the first-born that openeth the matrix among the children of Israel, and the Levites, shall be mine: Bef. Chr. 1490.

13 Because all the first-born are mine: for the same day that I smote all the first-born in the land of Egypt, * I sanctified unto me all the first-born in Israel, both man and beast: mine they shall be: I am the Lord.

14 ¶ Moreover the Lord spake unto Moses in the wilderness of Sinai, saying, 15 Number the children of Levi after the houses of their fathers, in their families: every male from [■] month old and above shalt thou number.

16 Then Moses numbered them according to the word of the Lord, as he was commanded.

17 And these are the sons of Levi by their names, * Gershon, and Kohath, and Merari.

18 Also these are the names of the sons of Gershon by their families: Libni and Shimei.

19 The sons also of Kohath by their families: Amram, and Izechar, Hebron, and Uzziel.

20 And the sons of Merari by their families: Mahli and Mushi. These are the families of Levi, according to the houses of their fathers.

21 Of Gershon came the family of the Libnites, and the family of the Shimeites: these are the families of the Gershonites.

22 The sum whereof (^a after the number of all the males from a month old and above) was counted seven thousand and five hundred.

23 ¶ The families of the Gershonites shall pitch behind the tabernacle westward.

24 The captain and † ancient of the house of the Gershonites shall be Eliafaph the son of Lael. † Or, father.

25 And the charge of the sons of Gershon in the tabernacle of the congregation shall be the ^b tabernacle, and the pavilion, the covering thereof, and the vail of the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, 26 And the hanging of the court, and the vail of the door of the court which is near the tabernacle, and near the altar round about, and the cords of it for all the service thereof.

27 ¶ And of Kohath came the family of the Amramites, and the family of the Izecharites, and the family of the Hebronites, and the family of the Uzzielites: these are the families of the Kohathites.

28 The number of all the males, from a month old and above, was eight thousand and six hundred, having the ^a charge of the sanctuary.

29 The families of the sons of Kohath shall pitch on the south-side of the tabernacle.

30 The captain and ancient of the house and families of the Kohathites shall be Elizaphan the son of Uzziel:

31 And their charge shall be the ^d ark, and the table, and the candlestick, and the altars, and the instruments of the sanctuary that they minister with, and the vail, and all that serveth thereto.

32 And Eleazar the son of Aaron the priest shall be † chief captain of the Levites, having the oversight [†] Or, prince of princes.

33 ¶ Of Merari came the family of the Mahlites, and the family of the Mushites: these are the families of Merari.

34 And the sum of them, according to the number of all the males, from a month old and above, was six thousand and two hundred.

35 The captain and the ancient of the house of the families of Merari shall be Zuriel the son of Abihail: they shall pitch on the north side of the tabernacle.

36 And in the charge and custody of the sons of Merari, shall be the boards of the tabernacle, and the bars thereof, and his pillars, and his sockets, and all the instruments thereof, and all that serveth thereto, 37 With the pillars of the court round about, with their sockets, and their pins, and their cords.

38 ¶ Also on the forefront of the tabernacle toward the east, before the tabernacle, I say, of the congregation eastward, shall Moses and Aaron and his sons pitch, having the charge of the sanctuary, and the charge of the children of Israel: but the stranger that cometh near, shall be slain.

39 The whole sum of the Levites, which Moses and Aaron numbered at the commandment of the Lord throughout their families, even all the males from a month old and above, was two and twenty thousand.

40 ¶ And the Lord said unto Moses, Number all the first-born that are males among the children of Israel, from a month old and above, and take the number of their names.

41 And thou shalt take the Levites to me for all the first-born of the children of Israel, (I am the Lord) and the cattle of the Levites for all the first-born of the cattle of the children of Israel.

42 And Moses numbered, as the Lord commanded him, all the first-born of the children of Israel.

43 And all the first-born male's rehearsed by name (from a month old and above) according to their number, were two and twenty thousand two hundred seventy and three.

44 ¶ And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying,

45 Take the Levites for all the first-born of the children of Israel, and the cattle of the Levites for their cattle, and the Levites shall be mine (I am the Lord.)

46 And for the redeeming of the two hundred seventy and three (which are more than the Levites) of the first-born of the children of Israel, 47 Thou shalt also take five shekels for every person: after the weight of the sanctuary shalt thou take it: the shekel containeth twenty gerahs.

¶ So that now the Levites should satisfy unto the Lord for the first-born of Israel, save for the two hundred and seventy-three, which were more than the Levites, for whom they paid money.

¶ Of the two hundred seventy and three, which were more than the Levites.

1490. 48 And thou shalt give the money, wherewith the odd number of them is redeemed, unto Aaron and to his sons.

49 Thus Moses took the redemption of them that were redeemed, being more than the Levites.

50 Of the first-born of the children of Israel took he the money: even a thousand three hundred threescore and five shekels, after the shekel of the sanctuary.

51 And Moses gave the money of them that were redeemed unto Aaron, and to his sons according to the word of the Lord, as the Lord had commanded Moses.

5 The offices of the Levites, when the host removed.

46 The number of the three families of Kohath, Gershon and Merari.

AND the Lord spake unto Moses, and to Aaron, saying,

2 Take the sum of the sons of Kohath from among the sons of Levi, after their families, and houses of their fathers,

3 From thirty years old, and above, even until fifty years old, all that enter into the assembly to do the work in the tabernacle of the congregation.

4 This shall be the office of the sons of Kohath, in the tabernacle of the congregation, about the holiest of all.

5 ¶ When the host removeth, then Aaron and his sons shall come and take down the covering vail, and shall cover the ark of the testimony therewith.

6 And they shall put thereon covering of badgers skins, and shall spread upon it a cloth altogether of blue silk, and put to the bars thereof:

7 And upon the table of shew bread they shall spread a cloath of blue silk, and put thereon the dishes, and the incense cups, and goblets, and coverings to cover it with, and the bread shall be thereon continually: * Exod. 25.

8 And they shall spread upon them covering of scarlet, and cover the same with a covering of badgers skins, and put to the bars thereof.

10 So they shall put it, and all the instruments thereof, in covering of badgers skins, and put it upon the bars.

11 Also upon the golden altar they shall spread cloth of blue silk, and cover it with a covering of badgers skins, and put to the bars thereof.

12 And

¶ The Levites were numbered after three sorts, first at a month old, when they were consecrate to the Lord: next at twenty-five years old, when they were appointed to serve in the tabernacle, and at thirty years old to bear the burdens of the tabernacle.

¶ Which divided the sanctuary from the holiest of all.

- Bef. Chr. 12 And they shall take all the instruments of the ministry, wherewith they minister in the sanctuary, and put them in a cloth of blue silk, and cover them with ■ covering of badgers skins, and put them on the bars: Bef Chr. 1490.
- 13 Also they shall take away the ashes from the ^a altar, and spread a purple cloth upon it, 1490.
- 14 And shall put upon it all the instruments thereof, which they occupy about it: the censers, the flesh-hooks, and the besoms, and the basons, even all the instruments of the altar: and they shall spread upon it ■ covering of badgers skins, and put ■ the bars of it.
- 15 And when Aaron and his sons have made an end of covering the ^a sanctuary, and all the instruments of the sanctuary, at the removing of the host, afterward the sons of Kohath shall come to bear it, but they shall not ^a touch any holy thing, lest they die. This is the charge of the sons of Kohath in the tabernacle of the congregation.
- 16 ¶ And to the office of Eleazar the son of Aaron the priest pertaineth the oil for the light, and the ^{} sweet incense and the daily ¹ meat-offering, and the ^{} anointing oil, with the oversight of all the tabernacle, and of all that therein is, both in the sanctuary and in all the instruments thereof.
- 17 ¶ And the Lord spake unto Moses, and to Aaron, saying,
- 18 Ye shall not ^a cut off the tribe of the families of the Kohathites from among the Levites:
- 19 But thus do unto them, that they may live and not die, when they come near to the most holy things: let Aaron and his sons come and appoint ^{*} them, every one to his office, and to his charge.
- 20 But let them not go in, to see when the sanctuary is folden up, lest they die.
- 21 ¶ And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying,
- 22 Take also the sum of the sons of Gershon, every one by the houses of their fathers throughout their families:
- 23 From thirty years old and above, until fifty years old shalt thou number them, all that ^a enter into the assembly for to do service in the tabernacle of the congregation.
- 24 This shall be the service of the families of the Gershonites, to serve and to bear.
- 25 They shall bear the curtains of the tabernacle, and the tabernacle of the congregation, his covering, and the covering of badgers skins, that is on high upon it, and the vail of the ^v door of the tabernacle of the congregation.
- 26 The curtains also of the court, and the vail of the entering in of the gate of the court, [■] which is near the tabernacle, and near the altar round about, with their cords, and all the instruments for their service, and all that is made for them: so shall they serve.
- 27 At the commandment of Aaron and his sons shall all the service of the sons of the Gershonites be done, in all their charges and in all their service, and ye shall appoint them to keep all their charges.
- 28 This is the service of the families of the sons of the Gershonites in the tabernacle of the congregation, and their watch shall be under the ^a hand of Ithamar the son of Aaron the priest.
- 29 ¶ Thou shalt number the sons of Merari by their families, and by the houses of their fathers:
- 30 From thirty years old and above, even unto fifty years old shalt thou number them, all that enter into the assembly, to do the service of the tabernacle of the congregation.
- 31 And this is their office and charge, according to all their service in the tabernacle of the congregation: the ■ boards of the tabernacle with the bars thereof, and his pillars, and his sockets, Exod. 26. 15.
- 32 And the pillars round about the court, with their sockets and their pins, and their cords, with all their instruments, even for all their service: and by ^b name ye shall reckon the instruments of their office and charge.
- 33 This is the service of the families of the sons of Merari, according to all their service in the tabernacle of the congregation under the hand of Ithamar the son of Aaron the priest.
- 34 ¶ Then Moses and Aaron, and the princes of the congregation, numbered the sons of the Kohathites, by their families and by the houses of their fathers,
- 35 From thirty years old and above, even unto fifty years old, all that enter into the assembly for the service of the tabernacle of the congregation.
- 36 So the [†] numbers of them throughout their families were two thousand seven hundred and fifty. † Heb. the numbered of them.
- 37 These are the numbers of the families of the Kohathites, all that serve in the tabernacle of the congregation, which Moses and Aaron did number according to the commandment of the Lord by the ^a hand of Moses.
- 38 Also the numbers of the sons of Gershon throughout their families and houses of their fathers,
- 39 From thirty years and upward, even unto fifty years old: all that enter into the assembly for the service of the tabernacle of the congregation.
- 40 So the numbers of them by their families, and by the houses of their fathers, were two thousand six hundred and thirty.

44 So the numbers of them by their families were three thousand and two hundred.

45 These are the sums of the families of the sons of Merari, whom Moses and Aaron numbered according to the commandment of the Lord, by the hand of Moses.

CHAP. VI.

■ The law of the consecration of the Nazarites. 24
The manner to bless the people.

AND the Lord spake unto Moses, saying,

2 Speak unto the children of Israel, and say unto them, When a man or woman doth separate themselves to vow a vow of a Nazarite to separate himself unto the Lord,

3 He shall abstain from wine and strong drink, and shall drink no sour wine nor sour drink, nor shall drink any liquor of grapes, neither shall eat fresh grapes, nor dried.

4 As long as his abstinence endureth, shall he eat nothing that is made of the wine of the vine, neither the kernels, nor the husk.

5 While he is separated by his vow, the razor shall not come upon his head, until the days be out in the which he separateth himself unto the Lord, he shall be holy, and shall let the locks of the hair of his head grow.

6 During the time that he separateth himself unto the Lord, he shall come at no dead body:

7 He shall not make himself unclean at the death of his father, or mother, brother, or sister: for the consecration of his God is upon his head.

8 All the days of his separation he shall be holy to the Lord.

^y Shall wash the curses, which are written, into the water in the vessel.

^z Where the incense was offered.

^a The man might accuse his wife upon suspicion, and not be reproved.

9 And if any die suddenly by him, or he beware, then the head of his consecration shall be defiled, and he shall shave his head in the day of his cleansing: in the seventh day he shall shave it.

10 And in the eighth day he shall bring two turtles, or two young pigeons to the priest, at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation.

11 Then the priest shall prepare the one for a sin-offering, and the other for a burnt-offering, and shall make an atonement for him, because he sinned by the dead: so shall he hallow his head the same day.

12 And he shall consecrate unto the Lord the days of his separation, and shall bring a lamb of a year old for trespass-offering, and the first days shall be void: for his consecration was defiled.

13 ¶ This then is the law of the Nazarite: When the time of his consecration is out, he shall come to the door of the tabernacle of the congregation,

14 And he shall bring his offering unto the Lord, an he-lamb of a year old without blemish, for a burnt-offering, and a she-lamb of a year old without blemish, for a sin-offering, and a ram without blemish, for peace-offerings,

15 And a basket of unleavened bread, of cakes of fine flour, mingled with oil, and wafers of unleavened bread anointed with oil, with their meat-offering, and their drink-offerings:

16 The which the priest shall bring before the Lord, and make his sin-offering, and his burnt-offering.

17 He shall prepare also the ram for peace-offering unto the Lord, with the basket of unleavened bread, and the priest shall make his meat-offering, and his drink-offering.

18 And the Nazarite shall shave the head of his consecration at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, and shall take the hair of the head of his consecration, and put it in the fire which is under the peace-offering.

19 Then the priest shall take the sodden shoulder of the ram, and unleavened cake out of the basket, and a wafer unleavened, and put them upon the hands of the Nazarite, after he hath shaven his consecration.

20 And the priest shall shake them to and fro before the Lord: this is a holy thing for the priest besides the shaken-bread, and besides the heave-shoulder: so afterward the Nazarite may drink wine.

21 This is the law of the Nazarite, which he hath vowed, and of his offering unto the Lord for his consecration, besides that that he is able to bring: according to the vow which he vowed; so shall he do after the law of his consecration.

22 ¶ And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying,
23 Speak

 24 The Lord bless thee, and keep thee,
 25 The Lord make his face shine upon thee, and be merciful unto thee,
 26 The Lord lift up his countenance upon thee, and give thee peace, 27 So they shall put my name upon the children of Israel, and I will bless them.

C H A P. VII.

2 The heads or princes of Israel offer at the setting up of the tabernacle, 10 And at the dedication of the altar. 89 God speaketh to Moses from the mercy-seat.

NOW when Moses had finished the setting up of the tabernacle, and anointed it, and sanctified it, and all the instruments thereof, and the altar with all the instruments thereof, and had anointed them, and sanctified them,

2 Then the princes of Israel, heads over the houses of their fathers (they were the princes of the tribes, who were over them that were numbered) offered,

3 And brought their offering before the Lord, six covered chariots, and twelve oxen: one chariot for two princes, and for every one an ox, and they offered them before the tabernacle.

4 And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying,

5 Take these of them, that they may be to do the service of the tabernacle of the congregation, and thou shalt give them unto the Levites, to every man according unto his office.

6 So Moses took the chariots and the oxen, and gave them unto the Levites:

7 Two chariots and four oxen he gave to the sons of Gershon, according unto their office.

8 And four chariots and eight oxen he gave to the sons of Merari, according unto their office, under the hand of Ithamar, the son of Aaron the priest.

9 But to the sons of Kohath he gave none, because the charge of the sanctuary belonged to them, which they did bear upon their shoulders.

10 ¶ The princes also offered in the dedication for the altar in the day that it was anointed: then the princes offered their offering before the altar.

11 And the Lord said unto Moses, One prince one day, and another prince another day, shall offer their offering, for the dedication of the altar.

12 ¶ So then on the first day did Nahshon, the son of Amminadab, of the tribe of Judah, offer his offering.

C H A P. VIII.

2 The order of the lamps. 6 The purifying and offering of the Levites. 24 The age of the Levites when they are received to service, and when they are dismissed.

AND the Lord spake unto Moses, saying,

2 Speak unto Aaron, and say unto him, When thou lightest the lamps, the seven lamps shall give light toward the fore-front of the candlestick.

3 And Aaron did so, lighting the lamps thereof toward the fore-front of the candlestick, as the Lord had commanded Moses.

4 And this was the work of the candlestick, even of gold beaten out with the hammer, both the shaft, and the flowers thereof were beaten out with the hammer: according to the pattern which the Lord had shewed Moses, so made he the candlestick.

5 ¶ And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying,

6 Take the Levites from among the children of Israel, and purify them.

7 And thus shalt thou do unto them, when thou purifiest them, Sprinkle water of purification upon them, and let them shave all their flesh, and wash their cloaths: so they shall be clean.

8 Then they shall take a young bullock, with his meat-offering of fine flour mingled with oil, and another young bullock shalt thou take for a sin-offering.

9 Then thou shalt bring the Levites before the tabernacle of the congregation, and assemble all the congregation of the children of Israel.

10 Thou shalt bring the Levites also before the Lord, and the children of Israel shall put their hands upon the Levites.

11 And Aaron shall offer the Levites before the Lord, as a shake-offering of the children of Israel, that they may execute the service of the Lord.

12 And the Levites shall put their hands upon the heads of the bullocks, and make thou the one a sin-offering, and the other burnt-offering unto the Lord, that thou mayest make an atonement for the Levites.

13 And thou shalt set the Levites before Aaron, and before his sons, and offer them as a shake-offering to the Lord.

14 Thus shalt thou separate the Levites from among the children of Israel, and the Levites shall be mine.

15 And afterward shall the Levites go in to serve in the tabernacle of the congregation, and thou shalt purify them, and offer them a shake-offering.

16 For they are freely given unto me from among the children of Israel; for such as open any womb: for all the first-born of the children of Israel have I taken them unto me.

17 ¶ For all the first-born of the children of Israel are mine, both of man and of beast: since the day that I smote every first-born in the land of Egypt, I sanctified them for myself.

18 And I have taken the Levites for all the first-born of the children of Israel, 19 And have given the Levites as a gift unto Aaron, and to his sons, from among the children of Israel, to do the service of the children of Israel, in the tabernacle of the congregation, and to make an atonement for the children of Israel, that there be no plague among the children of Israel, when the children of Israel come near unto the sanctuary.

20 ¶ Then Moses and Aaron, and all the congregation of the children of Israel, did with the Levites according unto all that the Lord had commanded Moses concerning the Levites: so did the children of Israel unto them.

21 So the Levites were purified, and washed their cloaths, and Aaron offered them as a shake-offering before the Lord, and Aaron made atonement for them, to purify them.

22 And after that, went the Levites in to do their service in the tabernacle of the congregation, before Aaron and before his sons: as the Lord had commanded Moses concerning the Levites, so they did unto them.

23 ¶ And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying,

24 This also belongeth to the Levites: from five and twenty years old and upward, they shall go in to execute their office in this service of the tabernacle of the congregation.

25 And after the age of fifty years, they shall cease from executing the office, and shall serve no more:

26 But they shall minister with their brethren in the tabernacle of the congregation, to keep things committed to their charge, but they shall do no service: thus shalt thou do unto the Levites touching their charges.

AND the Lord spake unto Moses in the wilderness of Sinai, in the first month of the second year, after they were come out of the land of Egypt, saying,

2 The children of Israel shall also celebrate the * passover at the time appointed thereunto.

3 In the fourteenth day of this month at even, ye shall keep it in his due season: according to ^h all the ordinances of it, and according to all the ceremonies thereof shall ye keep it.

4 Then Moses spake unto the children of Israel, to celebrate the passover.

5 And they kept the passover in the fourteenth day of the first month at even, in the wilderness of Sinai: according to all that the Lord had commanded Moses, so did the children of Israel.

6 And certain men were defiled ¹ by a dead man, that they might not keep the passover the same day: and they came before Moses and before Aaron the same day.

7 And those men said unto him, We are defiled by a dead man: wherefore are we kept back that we may not offer ² offering unto the Lord in the time thereunto appointed among the children of Israel?

8 Then Moses said unto them, Stand still, and I will hear what the Lord will command concerning you.

9 ¶ And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying,

10 Speak unto the children of Israel, and say, If any among you, or of your posterity, shall be unclean by the reason of a corpse, or be in a long journey, ³ he shall keep the passover unto the Lord.

11 In the fourteenth day of the ⁴ second month at even they shall keep it: with unleavened bread and four herbs shall they eat it.

12 They shall leave none of it unto the morning, ⁵ nor break any bone of it: according to all the ordinance of the passover shall they keep it.

13 But the man that is clean and is not in ⁶ a journey, and is negligent to keep the passover, the same person shall be cut off from his people: because he brought not the offering of the Lord in his due season, that man shall bear his ⁷ sin.

14 And if a stranger dwell among you, and will keep the passover unto the Lord, ⁸ the ordinance of the passover, and ⁹ the manner thereof ¹⁰ is, so shall he do: ¹¹ ye shall have one law both for the stranger, and for him that was born in the same land.

15 ¶ And when the tabernacle was reared up, ¹² the cloud covered the tabernacle, ¹³ namely the tabernacle of the testimony: and at even there was upon the tabernacle as the ¹⁴ appearance of fire until morning.

16 So it was alway: the cloud covered it by day, and the appearance of fire by night.

17 And when the cloud ¹⁵ was taken up from the tabernacle, then afterward the children of Israel journeyed: and in the place where the cloud abode, there the children of Israel pitched their tents.

18 At the ¹⁶ commandment of the ¹⁷ Lord the children of Israel journeyed, and at the commandment of the Lord they pitched: ¹⁸ long the cloud abode upon the tabernacle; ¹⁹ they ²⁰ lay still.

19 And when the cloud tarried still upon the tabernacle ²¹ long time, the children of Israel kept the ²² watch of the Lord, and journeyed not.

20 So when the cloud abode ²³ a few days upon the tabernacle, they abode in their tents, according to the commandment of the Lord: for they journeyed at the commandment of the Lord.

21 And though the cloud abode upon the tabernacle from even unto the morning, yet if the cloud was taken up in the morning, then they journeyed: whether by day or by night the cloud was taken up, then they journeyed.

22 Or if the cloud tarried two days, or a month, or a year upon the tabernacle, abiding thereon, the children of Israel ²⁴ abode still, and journeyed not: but when it was taken up, they journeyed.

23 At the commandment of the Lord they pitched, and at the commandment of the Lord they journeyed, keeping the watch of the Lord at the commandment of the Lord by the ²⁵ hand of Moses.

CHAPTER XI.

The people murmureth, and is punished with fire. The people lusteth after flesh. They loath mamma. The weak faith of Moses. The Lord divideth the burden of Moses to seventy of the ancients. The Lord sendeth quails. Their lust is punished.

WHEN the people became murmurers, it displeated the Lord: and the Lord heard it: therefore his wrath was kindled, and the fire of the Lord burnt among them, and consumed the utmost part of the host.

Hob. 10. 1. unjust complaints. 11. 1. was as the ear of the Lord. Pl. 78. 21.

2 Then the people cried unto Moses: and when Moses prayed unto the Lord, the fire was quenched.

3 And he called the name of that place Taberah, because the fire of the Lord burnt among them.

Or, burning.

4 And a number of people that was among them,

This was the order of their host when they removed. Some think that Reuel, Jethro, Hobab, and Keni were all one: Kimhi saith that Reuel was Jethro's father: so Hobab was Moses's father-in-law. See Exod. 2. 13. and 3. 1. and 4. 18. and 18. 1. and Judges 4. 11. Mount Sinai, or Horeb. Declare thy might and power. Which were of those strangers that came out of Egypt with them. Exod. 12. 38.

1490. Bef. Chr. them, fell ¹ lusting, and ¹ turned away, and the children of Israel also wept, and said, Who shall give ² flesh to eat?

5 We remember the fish which we did eat in Egypt for ³ nought, the cucumbers, and the pepons, and the leeks, and the onions, and the garlic.

But now our soul is ¹ dried away, we see nothing but this MAN.

7 (The MAN also was as ⁴ coriander-seed, and his colour like the colour of ⁵ bdellium.)

The people went about and gathered it, and ground it in mills, or beat it in mortars, and baked it in ⁶ caldron, and made cakes of it, and the taste of it was like unto the taste of fresh oil.

9 And when the dew fell down upon the host in the night, the MAN fell with it.)

10 ¶ Then Moses heard the people weep throughout their families, every man in the door of his tent, and the wrath of the Lord ⁷ grievously kindled: also Moses ⁸ grieved.

11 And Moses said unto the Lord, Wherefore hast thou ⁹ vexed thy servant? And why have I not found ¹⁰ favour in thy sight, seeing thou hast put the charge of all this people upon me?

12 Have I ¹¹ conceived all this people? or have I begotten them, that thou shouldst say unto me, Carry them in thy bosom (as ¹² nurse beareth the sucking child) unto the ¹³ land, for the which thou swarest unto their fathers?

13 Where should I have flesh to give unto all this people? for they weep unto me, saying, Give us flesh that we may eat.

14 I am not able to bear all this people alone, for it is too heavy for me.

15 Therefore if thou deal thus with me, I pray thee, if I have found favour in thy ¹⁴ sight, kill me, that I behold not my misery.

16 ¶ Then the Lord said unto Moses, Gather unto me seventy ¹⁵ of the elders of Israel, whom thou knowest, that they are the elders of the people, and governors over them, and bring them unto the tabernacle of the congregation, and let them stand there with thee, 17 And I will ¹⁶ come down, and talk with thee there, ¹⁷ and take of the Spirit which is upon thee, and put upon them, and they shall bear the burden of the people with thee: so thou shalt not bear it alone.

18 Furthermore thou shalt say unto the people, ¹⁸ Be sanctified against to-morrow, and ye shall ¹⁹ flesh: for you have wept in the ²⁰ of the Lord, saying, Who shall give us flesh to eat? for we were better in Egypt: therefore the Lord will give you flesh, and ye shall ²¹.

19 Ye shall not eat one day nor ²² days, nor five days, neither ten days, nor twenty days, 20 But a whole month, until it come out ²³ your nostrils, and be loathsome unto you, because ye have ²⁴ contemned the Lord, which is ²⁵ among you, and have wept before him, saying, Why came ²⁶ hither ²⁷ of Egypt?

21 And Moses said, Six hundred thousand footmen ²⁸ of the people, ²⁹ among whom I am: and thou sayest, I will give them flesh, that they may eat ³⁰ month long:

22 Shall the sheep and the beeves be slain for them, to find them? either shall all the fish of the sea be gathered together for them to suffice them?

23 And the Lord said unto Moses, Is ³¹ the Lord's hand shortened? thou shalt see ³² whether my word shall come ³³ pass unto thee, or no: * Isa. 50. 2. and 59. 1.

24 ¶ So Moses went out, and told the people the words of the Lord, and gathered seventy men of the elders of the people, and set them round about the tabernacle.

25 Then the Lord came down in ³⁴ cloud, and spake unto him, and ³⁵ took of the Spirit that ³⁶ upon him, and put it upon the seventy ancient men: and when the Spirit rested upon them, then they prophesied, and did not ³⁷ cease. † Or, separated, as ver. 27.

26 But there remained two of the men in the host: the ³⁸ of the ³⁹ was Eldad, and the name of the other Medad, and the Spirit rested upon them, (for they ⁴⁰ of them that were written, and went not out unto the tabernacle) and they prophesied in the host.

27 Then there ran a young man, and told Moses, and said, Eldad and Medad do prophesy in the host.

28 And Joshua the son of Nun, the servant of Moses, one of his ⁴¹ youngmen, answered and said, My lord Moses, ⁴² forbid them.

29 But Moses said ⁴³ him, Enviest thou for my sake? Yea, would God that all the Lord's people ⁴⁴ prophets, and that the Lord would put his Spirit upon them.

30 And Moses returned into the host, he and the elders of Israel.

31 Then there went forth ⁴⁵ wind from the Lord, and ⁴⁶ brought quails from the sea, and let them fall upon the camp, ⁴⁷ day's journey on this side, and ⁴⁸ day's journey on the other side, round about the host, and ⁴⁹ were about two cubits above the earth. * Exod. 16. 13. Psalm 78. 26, 27.

32 Then the people arose all that day, and all the night, and all the next day, and gathered the quails: he that gathered the least, gathered ten homers ⁵⁰ full, and they spread them abroad for their use round about the host.

33 While the flesh was yet between their teeth, before it was chewed, even the wrath of the Lord ⁵¹ kindled against the people, and the Lord ⁵² smote the people with ⁵³ exceeding great ⁵⁴ plague. * Psalm 78. 51.

34 So the name of the place was called,

■ Aaron and Miriam grudge against Moses. 10 Miriam is stricken with leprosy, and healed at the prayer of Moses.

† Or, mir-iam.
Afterward Miriam and Aaron † spake against Moses, because of the woman of Ethiopia whom he had married (for he had married * a woman of Ethiopia)

2 And they said, What? hath the Lord spoken but only by Moses? hath he not spoken also by us? And the Lord heard this.

3 (But Moses was ■ very ^b meek man, above all the men that were upon the earth)

4 And by and by the Lord said unto Moses, and unto Aaron, and unto Miriam, come out ye three unto the tabernacle of the congregation:
 and they three came forth.

5 Then the Lord came down in the pillar of the cloud, and stood in the door of the tabernacle, and called Aaron and Miriam, and they both came forth.

6 And he said, Hear now my words, If there be a prophet of the Lord among you, I will be known to him by a ^c vision, and will speak unto him by dream.

7 My servant Moses is not so, who is faithful in ^e all mine house.

8 Unto him will I speak ■ mouth to mouth, and by vision, and not in dark words, but he ^e shall see the similitude of the Lord. Wherefore then were ye not afraid to speak against my servant, even against Moses?

9 Thus the Lord was very angry with them, and departed.

10 Also the cloud departed from the ^f tabernacle: and behold, Miriam was leprous like snow: and Aaron looked upon Miriam, and behold, she was leprous.

11 Then Aaron said unto Moses, Alas, my lord, I beseech thee, lay not the sin upon us, which we have foolishly committed, and wherein we have sinned.

12 Let her not, I pray thee, be ■ one ■ dead,

14 ¶ And the Lord said unto Moses, If her father had ^b spit in her face, should she not have been ashamed seven days? let her be shut ■ out of the host seven days, and after she shall be received.

15 So Miriam was shut out of the host seven days, and the people removed not, till Miriam was brought in again.

25 That place was called the ⁱ river Eshcol, because of the cluster of grapes which the children of Israel cut down thence.

26 Then after forty days they turned again from searching of the land.

27 And they went and came to Moses, and to Aaron, and to all the congregation of the children of Israel, in the wilderness of ^j Paran, to Kadesh, and brought to them, and to all the congregation tidings, and shewed them the fruit of the land.

28 And they told ^k him, and said, We came unto the land whither thou hast sent us, and surely it floweth with ^l milk and honey: and here is of the fruit of it.

31 Then Caleb stilled the people ^o before Moses, and said, Let us go up at once, and possess it: for undoubtedly we shall overcome it.

32 But the men that went up with him, said, We be not able to go up against the people: for they are stronger than we.

33 So they brought up an evil report of the land which they had searched for the children of Israel, saying, The land which we have gone through to search it out, is a land that eateth up the inhabitants thereof: for all the people that we saw in it, are men of great stature.

ing the wickedness of the fathers upon the children in the third and fourth generation.

19 Be merciful, I beseech thee, unto the iniquity of this people, according to thy great mercy, and as thou hast forgiven this people from Egypt, even until now.

20 And the Lord said, I have forgiven it, according to thy request.

21 Notwithstanding, I live, all the earth shall be filled with the glory of the Lord.

22 For all those men which have seen my glory, and my miracles which I did in Egypt, and in the wilderness, and have tempted me this ten times, and have not obeyed my voice, 23 Certainly they shall not see the land, whereof I swore unto their fathers: neither shall any that provoke me, see it.

24 But my servant Caleb, because he had another spirit, and hath followed me still, even him will I bring into the land whither he went, and his seed shall inherit it.

25 Now the Amalekites and the Canaanites remain in the valley: wherefore turn back tomorrow, and get you into the wilderness by the way of the Red Sea.

26 ¶ After, the Lord spake unto Moses and to Aaron, saying,

27 How long shall I suffer this wicked multitude to murmur against me? I have heard the murmuring of the children of Israel, which they murmur against me:

28 Tell them, As I live (saith the Lord) I will surely do unto you, even as ye have spoken in mine ears:

29 Your carcases shall fall in this wilderness, and all you that were counted through all your numbers, from twenty years old and above, which have murmured against me,

30 Ye shall not doubtless come into the land, for the which I lifted up mine hand, to make you dwell therein, save Caleb the son of Jephunneh, and Joshua the son of Nun.

31 But your children, (which ye said should be a prey) them will I bring in, and they shall know the land which ye have refused:

32 But even your carcases shall fall in this wilderness.

33 And your children shall wander in the wilderness forty years, and shall bear your whoredoms, until your carcases be wasted in the wilderness.

34 After the number of the days, in the which ye searched out the land, even forty days, every day for a year, shall ye bear your iniquity, for forty years, and ye shall feel my breach of promise.

35 I the Lord have said, Certainly I will do so to all this wicked company, that are gathered together against me: for in this wilderness they shall be consumed, and there they shall die.

36 And the men which Moses had sent to search the land (which, when they came again, made all the people to murmur against him, and brought up a slander upon the land)

37 Even those men that did bring up that vile slander upon the land, shall die by plague before the Lord.

38 But Joshua the son of Nun, and Caleb the son of Jephunneh, of those men that went to search the land, shall live.

39 ¶ Then Moses told these sayings unto all the children of Israel, and the people sorrowed greatly.

40 And they rose up early in the morning, and gat them up into the top of the mountain, saying, Lo, we be ready to go up to the place which the Lord hath promised: for we have sinned.

41 But Moses said, Wherefore transgress ye thus the commandment of the Lord? it will not so come well to pass.

42 Go not up (for the Lord is not among you) lest ye be overthrown before your enemies.

43 For the Amalekites and the Canaanites are there before you, and ye shall fall by the sword: for inasmuch as ye are turned away from the Lord, the Lord also will not be with you.

44 Yet they presumed obstinately to go up to the top of the mountain: but the ark of the covenant of the Lord, and Moses, departed not out of the camp.

45 Then the Amalekites and the Canaanites, which dwelt in that mountain, came down, and smote them, and consumed them unto Horamah.

3 Who gathered themselves together against Moses, and against Aaron, and said unto them, ^aYe take too much upon you, seeing all the congregation is holy, ^bevery one of them, and the Lord is among them: wherefore then lift ye yourselves above the congregation of the Lord?

4 But when Moses heard it, he fell upon his face,

8 Again Moses said unto Korah, Hear, I pray you, ye sons of Levi.

9 Seemeth it a small thing unto you, that the God of Israel hath separated you from the multitude of Israel, to take you near to himself, to do the service of the tabernacle of the Lord, and to stand before the congregation, and to minister unto them?

10 He hath also taken thee to ^ehim, and all thy brethren the sons of Levi with thee, and seek ye the office of the priest also?

11 For which cause, thou and all thy company are gathered together against the Lord: and what is Aaron, that ye murmur against him?

12 ¶ And Moses sent to call Dathan and Abiram the sons of Eliab: who answered, We will not come up.

13 Is it a small thing that thou hast brought us ^fout of a land that floweth with milk and honey, to kill us in the wilderness, except thou make thyself lord and ruler over us also?

14 Also thou hast not brought us unto a land that floweth with milk and honey, neither given us inheritance of fields and vineyards: wilt thou ^gput out the eyes of these men? we will not come up.

15 Then Moses waxed very angry, and said unto the Lord, ^hLook not unto their offering: I have not taken so much ⁱan ass from them, neither have I hurt any of them.

16 And Moses said unto Korah, Be thou and all thy company ^jbefore the Lord: both thou, they, and Aaron to-morrow:

17 And take every man his censer, and put incense in them, and bring ye every man his censer before the Lord, two hundred and fifty censers: thou also and Aaron, every one his censer. 1471. 1471.

18 So they took every man his censer, and put fire in them, and laid incense thereon, and stood in the door of the tabernacle of the congregation with Moses and Aaron.

19 And Korah gathered all the ^kmultitude against them unto the door of the tabernacle of the congregation: then the glory of the Lord appeared unto all the congregation.

20 And the Lord spake unto Moses, and to Aaron, saying,

21 ^lSeparate yourselves from among this congregation, that I may consume them at once. * Gen. 4. 5.

22 And they fell upon their faces, and said, O God, the God of the spirits † of all flesh, ^mhath not one man only sinned, and wilt thou be wrath with all the congregation? † Or, of every creature.

23 And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying,

24 Speak unto the congregation, and say, Get you away from about the tabernacle of Korah, Dathan, and Abiram.

25 Then Moses rose up, and went unto Dathan and Abiram, and the elders of Israel followed him.

26 And he spake unto the congregation, saying, Depart, I pray you, from the tents of these wicked men, and touch nothing of theirs, lest ye perish ⁿin all their sins.

27 So they gat them away from the tabernacle of Korah, Dathan, and Abiram on every side: and Dathan and Abiram came out and stood in the door of their tents, with their wives, and their sons, and their little children.

28 And Moses said, Hereby ye shall know that the Lord hath sent ^ome to do all these works: for I have not done them of my own ^pmind.

29 If these men die the common death of all men, or if they be visited after the visitation of all men, the Lord hath not sept me.

39 Then Eleazar the priest took the brasen censers, which they that were burnt had offered, and made broad plates of them for a covering of the altar.

43 Then Moses and Aaron were come before the tabernacle of the congregation.

44 ¶ And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying,

46 And Moses said unto Aaron, Take the censer and put fire therein of the altar, and put therein incense, and go quickly unto the congregation, and make an atonement for them: for there is wrath gone out from the Lord: the plague is begun.

47 Then Aaron took as Moses commanded him, and ran into the midst of the congregation, and behold the plague was begun among the people, and he put in incense, and made an atonement for the people.

48 And when he stood between the dead, and them that were alive, the plague was stayed.

AND the Lord spake to Moses, and to Aaron, saying,

2 This is the ordinance of the law, which the Lord hath commanded, saying, Speak unto the children of Israel that they bring thee a red cow without blemish, wherein is no spot, upon the which never came yoke.

3 And ye shall give her unto Eleazar the priest, that he may bring her without the host, and cause her to be slain before his face.

4 Then shall Eleazar the priest take of her blood with his finger, and sprinkle it before the tabernacle of the congregation seven times,

5 And cause the cow to be burnt in his sight: with her skin, and her flesh, and her blood, and her dung shall he burn her.

6 Then shall the priest take cedar wood, and hyssop, and scarlet lace, and cast them in the midst of the fire where the cow burneth.

7 Then shall the priest wash his cloaths, and he shall wash his flesh in water, and then come into the host, and the priest shall be unclean unto the even.

8 Also he that burneth her, shall wash his cloaths in water, and wash his flesh in water, and be unclean until even.

9 And a man that is clean shall take up the ashes of the cow, and put them without the host in a clean place: and it shall be kept for the congregation of the children of Israel for a sprinkling water: it is a sin-offering.

10 Therefore he that gathereth the ashes of the cow, shall wash his cloaths, and remain unclean until even: and it shall be unto the children of Israel, and unto the stranger that dwelleth among them, a statute for ever.

11 He that toucheth the dead body of any man, shall be unclean even seven days.

12 He shall purify himself therewith the third day, and the seventh day he shall be clean:

but if he purify not himself the third day, then the seventh day he shall not be clean.

13 Whosoever toucheth the corpse of any man that is dead, and purgeth not himself, defileth the tabernacle of the Lord; and that person shall be cut off from Israel; because the sprinkling water was not sprinkled upon him: he shall be unclean, and his uncleanness shall remain still upon him.

14 This is the law, when a man dieth in a tent, All that come into the tent, and all that is in the tent, shall be unclean seven days:

15 And all the vessels that be open, which have no covering fastened upon them, shall be unclean.

16 Also whosoever toucheth one that is slain with a sword in the field, or a dead person, or a bone of a dead man, or a grave, shall be unclean seven days.

17 Therefore for an unclean person they shall take of the burnt-ashes of the sin-offering, and pure water shall be put thereto in a vessel.

18 And a clean person shall take hyssop and dip it in the water, and sprinkle it upon the tent, and upon all the vessels, and the persons that were therein, and upon him that touched the bone, or the skin, or the dead, or the grave.

19 And the clean person shall sprinkle upon the unclean the third day, and the seventh day, and he shall purify himself the seventh day, and wash his cloaths, and wash himself in water, and shall be clean even.

20 But the man that is unclean and purifieth not himself, that person shall be cut off from among the congregation; because he hath defiled the sanctuary of the Lord: and the sprinkling water hath not been sprinkled upon him: therefore shall he be unclean.

21 And it shall be a perpetual law unto them, that he that sprinkleth the sprinkling water shall wash his cloaths: also he that toucheth the sprinkling-water shall be unclean until even.

- 4 Why have ye thus brought the congregation of the Lord unto this wilderness, that both we and our cattle should die there?
- 5 Wherefore now have ye made us to come up from Egypt, to bring us into this miserable place, which is no place of seed, nor figs, nor vines, nor pomegranates? neither is there any water to drink.
- 6 Then Moses and Aaron went from the assembly unto the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, and fell upon their faces: and the glory of the Lord appeared unto them.
- 7 ¶ And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying,
- 8 Take the rod, and gather thou and thy brother Aaron the congregation together, and speak ye unto the rock before their eyes, and it shall give forth his water, and thou shalt bring them water out of the rock: so thou shalt give the congregation and their beasts drink.
- 9 Then Moses took the rod from before the Lord, as he had commanded him.
- 10 And Moses and Aaron gathered the congregation together before the rock, and Moses said unto them, Hear now, ye rebels: shall we bring you water out of this rock?
- 11 Then Moses lift up his hand, and with his rod he smote the rock twice, and the water came out abundantly: so the congregation and their beasts drank.

- 13 This is the water of Meribah, because the children of Israel strove with the Lord, and he was sanctified in them.
- 14 ¶ Then Moses sent messengers from Kadesh unto the king of Edom, saying, Thus saith thy brother Israel, Thou knowest all the travail that we have had,
- 15 How our fathers went down into Egypt, and we dwelt in Egypt a long time, where the Egyptians handled us evil and our fathers.
- 16 But when we cried unto the Lord, he heard our voice, and sent an angel, and hath brought us out of Egypt, and behold, we are in the city Kadesh, in thine utmost border.
- 17 I pray thee that we may pass through thy country: we will not go through the fields nor the vineyards, neither will we drink of the water of the wells: we will go by the king's way, and neither turn unto the right hand nor to the left, until we be past thy borders.
- 18 And Edom answered him, ¶ Thou shalt not pass by me, lest I come out against thee with the sword.
- 19 Then the children of Israel said unto him,

We will go up by the high-way: and if I and my cattle drink of thy water, I will then pay for it: I will only (without any harm) go through on my feet.

20 He answered again, Thou shalt not go through. Then ¶ Edom came out against him with much people, and with mighty power.

21 Thus Edom denied to give Israel passage through his country: wherefore Israel turned away from him.

22 ¶ And when the children of Israel with all the congregation departed from Kadesh, they came unto the mount Hor.

23 And the Lord spake unto Moses and to Aaron in the mount Hor, near the coast of the land of Edom; saying, 24 Aaron shall be gathered unto his people: for he shall not enter into the land, which I have given unto the children of Israel, because ye disobeyed my commandment at the water of Meribah.

25 Take Aaron and Eleazar his son, and bring them up into the mount Hor.

26 And cause Aaron to put off his garments, and put them upon Eleazar his son: for Aaron shall be gathered to his fathers, and shall die there.

27 And Moses did as the Lord had commanded: and they went up into the mount Hor, in the sight of all the congregation.

28 And Moses put off Aaron's cloaths, and put them upon Eleazar his son: so Aaron died there in the top of the mount: and Moses and Eleazar came down from off the mount.

29 When all the congregation saw that Aaron was dead, all the house of Israel wept for Aaron thirty days.

WHEN king Arad the Canaanite, which dwelt toward the south, heard tell that Israel came by the way of the spies, then fought he against Israel, and took of them prisoners.

2 So Israel vowed a vow unto the Lord, and said, If thou wilt deliver and give this people into mine hand, then I will utterly destroy their cities.

3 And the Lord heard the voice of Israel, and delivered them the Canaanites: and they utterly destroyed them and their cities, and called the name of the place Hormah.

4 ¶ After, they departed from the mount Hor by the way of the red Sea, to compass the land of Edom: and the people were fore grieved because of the way.

5 And the people spake against God and against Moses, saying, Wherefore have ye brought us out of Egypt, to die in the wilderness? for 6 Wherefore the Lord sent fiery serpents among the people, which stung the people: so that many of the people of Israel died.

7 Therefore the people came to Moses, and said, We have sinned: for we have spoken against the Lord, and against thee: pray to the Lord, that he take away the serpents from us: and Moses prayed for the people.

8 And the Lord said unto Moses, Make thee a fiery serpent, and set it up for a sign, that as many as are bitten, may look upon it, and live.

9 So Moses made a serpent of brass, and set it up for a sign: and when a serpent had bitten a man, then he looked to the serpent of brass, and lived.

10 And the children of Israel departed thence, and pitched in Oboth.

11 And they departed from Oboth, and pitched in Ije-abarim in the wilderness, which is before Moab on the east side, 12 They removed thence, and pitched upon the river of Zared.

13 Thence they departed, and pitched on the other side of Arnon, which is in the wilderness, and cometh out of the coasts of the Amorites: (for Arnon is the border of Moab, between the Moabites and the Amorites).

14 Wherefore it shall be spoken in the book of the battles of the Lord, what thing he did in the red sea, and in the rivers of Arnon, 15 And at the stream of the rivers that goeth down to the dwelling of Ar, and lieth upon the border of Moab.

16 And from thence they turned to Beer: the same is the well where the Lord said unto Moses, Assemble the people, and I will give them water.

17 Then Israel sang this song, Rise up well, sing unto it.

18 The princes digged this well, the captains of the people digged it, even the law-giver, with their staves. And from the wilderness they came to Mattanah, 19 And from Mattanah to Nahaliel, and from Nahaliel to Bamoth.

20 And from Bamoth in the valley, that is in the plain of Moab, to the top of Pilgah that looketh toward Jeshimon.

21 Then Israel sent messengers unto Sihon king of the Amorites, saying, 22 Let me go through thy land: we will not turn aside unto the fields, nor into the vineyards, neither drink of the waters of the wells: we will go by the king's way, until we be past thy country.

23 But Sihon gave Israel no licence to pass through his country, but Sihon assembled all his people, and went out against Israel into the wilderness: and he came Jahoz, and fought against Israel.

24 But Israel smote him with the edge of the sword, and conquered his land; from Arnon unto Jabok, even unto the children of Ammon: for the border of the children of Ammon was strong.

25 And Israel took all these cities, and dwelt in all the cities of the Amorites in Heshbon, and in all the villages thereof.

26 For Heshbon was the city of Sihon the king of the Amorites, which had fought before time against the king of the Moabites, and had taken all his land out of his hand, even unto Arnon.

27 Wherefore they that speak in proverbs, say, Come to Heshbon, let the city of Sihon be built and repaired.

28 For a fire is gone out of Heshbon, and a flame from the city of Sihon, and hath consumed Ar of the Moabites, and the lords of Bamoth in Arnon.

29 Wo be to thee, Moab: O people of Chemosh, thou art undone: he hath suffered his sons to be pursued, and his daughters to be in captivity in Sihon the king of the Amorites.

30 Their empire also is lost from Heshbon unto Dibon, and we have destroyed them unto Nophah, which reacheth unto Medeba.

31 Thus Israel dwelt in the land of the Amorites.

32 And Moses sent to search out Jaazer, and they took the towns belonging thereto, and rooted out the Amorites that were there.

33 And they turned and went up toward Bashan: and Og the king of Bashan came out against them, he, and all his people, to fight at Edri.

34 Then the Lord said unto Moses, Fear him not: for I have delivered him into thine hand, and all his people, and his land: and thou shalt do to him as thou didst unto Sihon the king of the Amorites, which dwelt at Heshbon.

35 They smote him therefore, and his sons, and all his people, until there was none left him: so they conquered his land.

4 Therefore Moab laid unto the ¹ elders of Midian, Now shall this multitude lick up all that are round about us, as an ox licketh up the grafs of the field: and Balak the son of Zippor was king of the Moabites at that time.

5 ² He sent messengers therefore unto Balaam the son of Beor to Pethor (which is by the ³ river of the land of the children of his folk) to call him, saying, Behold, there is a people come out of Egypt, which cover the face of the earth: and lie over-against me:

6 Come now therefore, I pray thee, and curse me this people (for they are stronger than I) so it may be that I shall be able to smite them, and to drive them out of the land: for I know that he whom thou bleffest, is blessed, and he whom thou curfest, shall be cursed.

7 And the elders of Moab, and the elders of Midian departed, having ⁴ the reward of the soothsaying in their hand, and they came unto Balaam, and told him the words of Balak:

8 Who answered them, Tarry here this night, and I will give you an answer, as the Lord shall say unto me: so ⁵ the princes of Moab abode with Balaam.

9 Then God came unto Balaam, and said, What men are these with thee?

10 And Balaam said unto God, Balak the son of Zippor, king of Moab, hath sent unto me, saying, 11 Behold, there is a people come out of Egypt, and covereth the face of the earth: come now, curse them for my sake: so it may be that I shall be able to overcome them in battle, and to drive them out.

12 And God ⁶ said unto Balaam, Go not thou with them, neither curse the people, for they are bleffed.

13 And Balaam rose up in the morning, and said unto the princes of Balak, Return unto your land: for the Lord hath refused to give ⁷ me leave to go with you.

14 So the princes of Moab rose up, and went unto Balak, and said, Balaam hath refused to come with us.

20 And God came unto Balaam by night, and said unto him, If the men come to call thee, rise up, and go with them: but only what thing I say unto thee, that thou shalt do.

21 So Balaam rose up early, and saddled his asfs, and went with the princes of Moab.

22 And the wrath of God was kindled, because he ¹² went: and the angel of the Lord stood in the way to be against him, as he rode upon his asfs, and his two servants were with him.

23 And ¹³ when the asfs saw the angel of the Lord stand in the way, and his sword drawn in his hand, the asfs turned out of the way, and went into the field, but Balaam smote the asfs to turn her into the way. * 2 Pet. 2. 16. Jude 11.

24 ¹⁴ Again the angel of the Lord stood in ¹⁵ path of the vineyards, having a wall on the one side, and ¹⁶ wall on the other.

25 And when the asfs saw the angel of the Lord, she thrust herself unto the wall, and dashed Balaam's foot against the wall: wherefore he smote her again.

26 Then the angel of the Lord went further, and stood in a narrow place, where was no way to turn, either to the right hand or to the left.

27 And when the asfs saw the angel of the Lord, she ¹⁷ lay down under Balaam: therefore ¹⁸ Balaam was very wroth, and smote the asfs with a staff. † Or, fall.

28 Then the Lord ¹⁹ opened the mouth of the asfs, and she said unto Balaam, What have I done unto thee, that thou hast smitten me now three times?

29 And Balaam said unto the asfs, Because thou hast mocked me: I would therē were a sword in mine hand, for now would I kill thee.

30 And the asfs said unto Balaam, Am not I thine asf, which thou hast ridden upon ²⁰ since thy first time unto this day? have I used at any time to do thus unto thee? Who said, Nay.

31 And the Lord ²¹ opened the eyes of Balaam, and he saw the angel of the Lord standing in the way with his sword drawn in his hand: then he bowed himself, and fell flat on his face.

32 And the angel of the Lord said unto him, Wherefore hast thou now smitten thine asfs three times? behold, I came out to withstand thee, because thy ²² way is not straight before me.

33 But the asfs saw me, and turned from me now three times: for else, if she had not turned from me, surely I had even now slain thee, and saved her alive.

C H A P. XXIV.

5 Balaam prophesieth of the great prosperity that should come unto Israel: 17 Also of the coming of Christ. 20 The destruction of the Amalekites and of the Kenites.

WHEN Balaam saw that it pleased the Lord to bless Israel, then he went not, as at certain times before, to seek divinations, but set his face toward the wilderness.

2. And Balaam lift up his eyes, and looked upon Israel, which dwelt according to their tribes, and the Spirit of God came upon him.

3. And he uttered his parable and said, Balaam the son of Beor hath said, and the man, whose eyes were shut up, hath said,

4. He hath said, which heard the words of God, and saw the vision of the Almighty, and falling in a trance had his eyes opened:

5. How goodly are thy tents, O Jacob, and thine habitations, O Israel!

6. As the vallies are they stretched forth, as gardens by the rivers side, as the aloes-trees which the Lord hath planted, as the cedars beside the waters.

7. The water droppeth out of his bucket, and his seed shall be in many waters, and his king shall be higher than Agag, and his kingdom shall be exalted.

8. God brought him out of Egypt: his strength shall be as an unicorn: he shall eat the nations his enemies, and bruise their bones, and shoot them through with his arrows.

9. He coucheth and lieth down as a young lion, and as a lion: who shall stir him up? blessed is he that blesteth thee, and cursed is he that curseth thee.

10. Then Balak was very angry with Balaam, and smote his hands together: so Balak said unto Balaam, I sent for thee to curse mine enemies, and behold, thou hast blessed them now three times.

11. Therefore now flee unto thy place: I thought surely to promote thee unto honour, but lo, the Lord hath kept thee back from honour.

18. And Edom shall be possessed, and Seir shall be a possession to their enemies: but Israel shall do valiantly.

19. He also that shall have dominion shall be of Jacob, and shall destroy the remnant of the city.

20. And when he looked on Amalek, he uttered his parable, and said, Amalek was the first of the nations: but his latter end shall come to destruction.

21. And he looked on the Kenites, and uttered his parable, and said, Strong is thy dwelling-place, and put thy nest in the rock.

1 The law of the heritage of the daughters of Zelophehad. 12 The land of promise is shewed unto Moses. 16 Moses prayeth for a governor to the people. 18 Joshua is appointed in his stead.

28, 29. 1 Cor. 10. 5, 9. THEN came the daughters of * Zelophehad, the son of Hopher, the son of Gilead, the son of Machir, the son of Manasseh, of the family of Manasseh, the son of Joseph (and the names of his daughters were these, Mahlah, Noah, and Hoglah, and Milcah, and Tirzah)

2 And stood before Moses, and before Eleazar the priest, and before the princes, and all the assembly, at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, saying,

3 Our father * died in the wilderness, and he was not among the assembly of them that were assembled against the Lord in the company of Korah, but died in his ¹ sin, and had no sons.

4 Wherefore should the name of our father be taken away from among his family, because he hath no son? give us a possession among the brethren of our father.

5 Then Moses brought their ¹ cause before the Lord.

6 And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying,

7 The daughters of Zelophehad speak right: thou shalt give them a possession to inherit among their father's brethren, and shalt turn the inheritance of their father unto them.

8 Also thou shalt speak unto the children of Israel, saying, If a man die and have no son, then ye shall turn his inheritance unto his daughter.

9 And if he have no daughter, ye shall give his inheritance unto his brethren.

10 And if he have no brethren, ye shall give his inheritance unto his father's brethren.

11 And if his father have no brethren, ye shall give his inheritance unto his next kinsman of his family, and he shall possess it: and this shall be unto the children of Israel ¹ law of ¹ judgment, as the Lord hath commanded Moses.

12 ¶ Again the Lord said unto Moses, * Go up into this mount of Abarim, and behold the land which I have given unto the children of Israel.

13 And when thou hast seen it, thou shalt be gathered unto thy people also, ¹ as Aaron thy brother was gathered.

14 For ye were * disobedient unto my word in the desert of Zin, in the strife of the assembly, to sanctify me in the waters before their eyes.

* That is the water of † Meribah in Kadesh in the wilderness of Zin.

15 ¶ Then Moses spake unto the Lord, saying,

16 Let the Lord God of the ^x spirits of all flesh appoint a man over the congregation;

17 Who may ^y go out and in before them; and lead them out and in, that the congregation of the Lord be not as sheep which have not a shepherd.

18 And the Lord said unto Moses, Take thee Joshua the son of Nun, in whom is the Spirit, and ^z put thine hands upon him, 19 And set him before Eleazar the priest, and before all the congregation, and give him ¹ charge in their sight.

20 And ^a give him of thy glory; that all the congregation of the children of Israel may obey.

21 And he shall stand before Eleazar the priest, who shall ask counsel for him * by the ¹ judgment of Urim before the Lord: at his word they shall go out, and at his word they shall come in, both he, and all the children of Israel with him, and all the congregation.

22 So Moses did as the Lord had commanded him, and he took Joshua, and set him before Eleazar the priest, and before all the congregation.

23 Then he put his hands upon him, and gave him a ^c charge, as the Lord had spoken by the hand of Moses.

9 But if her husband disallow her the same day that he heareth it, then shall he make her vow which she hath made, and that that she hath pronounced with her lips, wherewith she bound herself, of none effect: and the Lord will forgive her.

10 But every vow of a widow, and of her that is divorced (wherewith she hath bound herself) shall stand in effect with her.

11 And if she vowed in her husband's house, or bound herself straitly with an oath, 12 And her husband hath heard it, and held his peace concerning her, not disallowing her, then all her vows shall stand, and every bond, wherewith she bound herself, shall stand in effect.

13 But if her husband disannulled them the same day that he heard them, nothing that proceeded out of her lips concerning her vows, or concerning her bonds, shall stand in effect: for her husband hath disannulled them: and the Lord will forgive her.

14 So every vow, and every oath or bond made to humble the soul, her husband may establish it, or her husband may break it.

15 But if her husband hold his peace concerning her from day to day, then he establisheth all her vows and all her bonds which she hath made: he hath confirmed them, because he held his peace concerning her the same day that he heard them.

16 But if he break them after that he hath heard them, then shall he bear her iniquity.

8 Five kings of Midian and Balaam are slain. 18 Only the maids are reserved alive. 27 The prey is equally divided. 50 A present given of Israel.

AND the Lord spake unto Moses, saying,

2 *Revenge the children of Israel of the Midianites, and afterward thou shalt be gathered unto thy people.

3 And Moses spake to the people, saying, Harness some of you unto war, and let them go against Midian, to execute the vengeance of the Lord against Midian.

4 A thousand of every tribe throughout all the tribes of Israel, shall ye send to the war.

5 So there were taken out of the thousands of Israel, twelve thousand prepared unto war, of every tribe a thousand.

6 And Moses sent them to the war, even a thousand of every tribe, and sent them with Phinehas, the son of Eleazar the priest, to the war: and the holy instruments, that is, the trumpets to blow, were in his hand.

8 They slew also the kings of Midian among them that were slain: *Evi, and Rekem, and Zur, and Hur, and Reba, five kings of Midian, and they slew Balaam the son of Beor with the sword:

9 But the children of Israel took the women of Midian prisoners, and their children, and spoiled all their cattle, and all their flocks, and all their goods.

10 And they burnt all their cities wherein they dwelt, and all their villages with fire.

11 And they took all the spoil and all the prey, both of men and beasts.

12 And they brought the captives, and that which they had taken, and the spoil, unto Moses and to Eleazar the priest, and unto the congregation of the children of Israel, into the camp in the plain of Moab, which was by Jordan, toward Jericho.

13 ¶ Then Moses and Eleazar the priest, and all the princes of the congregation, went out of the camp to meet them.

14 And Moses was angry with the captains of the host, with the captains over thousands, and the captains over hundreds, which came from the war and battle.

15 And Moses said unto them, What! have ye saved all the women?

16 Behold, *these caused the children of Israel, through the counsel of Balaam, to commit a trespass against the Lord, as concerning Peor, and there came a plague among the congregation of the Lord.

17 Now therefore, *slay all the males among the children, and kill all the women that have known man by carnal copulation.

18 But all the women children that have not known carnal copulation, keep alive for yourselves.

19 And ye shall remain without the host seven days, all that have killed any person, *and all that have touched any dead, and purify both yourselves and your prisoners, the third day and the seventh.

20 Also ye shall purify every garment, and all that is made of skins, and all work of goats hair, and all things made of wood.

21 ¶ And Eleazar the priest said unto the of war which went to the battle, This is the ordinance of the law which the Lord commanded Moses.

22 As for gold, and silver, brass, iron, tin, and lead:

23 Even all that may abide the fire, ye shall make it go through the fire, and it shall be clean: yet, it shall be purified with *the water of purification: and all that suffereth not the fire, ye shall cause to pass by the water.

 It shall be washed.

24 Ye shall wash also your cloaths the seventh day, and ye shall be clean: and afterward ye shall come into the host.

25 ¶ And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying,

26 Take the sum of the prey that was taken, both of persons and of cattle, thou and Eleazar the priest, and the chief fathers of the congregation.

27 And divide the prey † between the soldiers that went to war, and all the congregation.

28 And thou shalt take ■ tribute unto the Lord of the ■ men of war, which went out to battle: one person of five hundred, both of the persons, and of the beeves, and of the asses, and of the sheep.

29 Ye shall take it of their half, and give it unto Eleazar the priest, as an heave-offering of the Lord.

30 But of the half of the children of Israel thou shalt take ^p one, taken out of fifty, both of the persons, of the beeves, of the asses, and of the sheep, even of all the cattle: and thou shalt give them unto the Levites, which have the charge of the tabernacle of the Lord.

31 And Moses and Eleazar the priest did as the Lord had commanded Moses.

32 And the booty, to wit, the rest of the prey which the men of war had spoiled, was six hundred seventy and five thousand sheep,

33 And seventy and two thousand beeves,

34 And threescore and one thousand asses,

35 And two and thirty thousand persons in all, of women that had † lien by no man.

36 And the half, to wit, the part of them that went out to war touching the number of sheep, was three hundred seven and thirty thousand and five hundred.

37 And the ^q Lord's tribute of the sheep was six hundred and seventy and five:

38 And the beeves were six and thirty thousand, whereof the Lord's tribute was seventy and two.

39 And the asses were thirty thousand and five hundred, whereof the Lord's tribute was threescore and one:

40 And ^r of persons sixteen thousand, whereof the Lord's tribute was two and thirty persons.

41 And Moses gave the tribute of the Lord's offering unto Eleazar the priest, as the Lord had commanded Moses.

42 And of the ^s half of the children of Israel, which Moses divided from the men of war, 43 (For the half that pertained unto the congregation, was three hundred thirty and seven thousand sheep and five hundred,

44 And six and thirty thousand beeves,

45 And thirty thousand asses and five hundred,

46 And sixteen thousand persons.)

47 Moses, I say, took of the half that pertained unto the ^t children of Israel, one taken out of fifty; both of the persons; and of the cattle; and gave them unto the Levites, which have the charge of the tabernacle of the Lord, as the Lord had commanded Moses.

48 ¶ Then the captains which were over thousands of the host; the captains over the thousands, and the captains over the hundreds came unto Moses:

49 And said to Moses, Thy servants have taken the sum of the men of war which are under our † authority, and there lacketh not one man of us.

50 ^u We have therefore brought ■ present unto the Lord, what every man found of jewels of gold, bracelets, and chains, rings, ear-rings, and ornaments of the legs, to make an atonement for our souls before the Lord.

51 And Moses and Eleazar the priest took the gold of them, and all wrought jewels.

52 And all the gold of the offering that they offered up to the Lord (of the captains over thousands and hundreds) was sixteen thousand seven hundred and fifty shekels,

53 (For the men of war had spoiled every man for ^w himself)

54 And Moses and Eleazar the priest took the gold of the captains over the thousands, and over the hundreds, and brought it into the tabernacle of the congregation, for ■ memorial of the children of Israel before the Lord.

NOW the children of ^v Reuben and the children of Gad had an exceeding great multitude of cattle: and they saw the land of Jazer, and the land of ^x Gilcad, that it was an apt place for cattle.

2 Then the children of Gad, and the children of Reuben came, and spake unto Moses and to Eleazar the priest, and unto the princes of the congregation, saying,

3 The land of Ataroth, and Dibon, and Jazer, and Nimrah, and Heshbon, and Elealeh, and Shebam, and Nebo, and Beon,

4 Which country the Lord smote before the congregation of Israel, is a land meet for cattle, and thy servants have cattle:

5 Wherefore, said they, if we have found grace in thy sight, let this land be given unto thy servants for a possession, and bring us not over Jordan.

6 And Moses said unto the children of Gad, and to the children of Reuben, Shall your brethren go to war, and ye tarry here?

1452. Bet. Chr. 8 Thus did your fathers when I sent them from Kadesh-barnea to see the land.

9 For when they went up even unto the river of Eshcol, and saw the land, they discouraged the heart of the children of Israel, that they would not go into the land which the Lord had given them.

10 And the Lord's wrath was kindled the same day, and he did swear, saying,

11 None of the men that came out of Egypt from twenty years old and above, shall see the land for the which I swore unto Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob, because they have not wholly followed me:

12 Except Caleb the son of Jephunneh the Kenesite, and Joshua the son of Nun: for they have constantly followed the Lord.

13 And the Lord was very angry with Israel, and made them wander in the wilderness forty years, until all the generation that had done evil in the sight of the Lord were consumed.

14 And behold, ye are risen up in your fathers stead, as an increase of sinful men, still to augment the fierce wrath of the Lord toward Israel.

15 For if ye turn away from following him, he will yet again leave the people in the wilderness, and ye shall destroy all this folk.

16 And they went near to him, and said, We will build sheep-folds here for our sheep, and for our cattle, and cities for our children.

17 But we ourselves will be ready armed to go before the children of Israel, until we have brought them unto their place: but our children shall dwell in the fenced cities, because of the inhabitants of the land.

18 We will not return unto our houses, until the children of Israel have inherited every man his inheritance.

19 Neither will we inherit with them beyond Jordan and on that side, because our inheritance is fallen to us on this side Jordan eastward.

20 ¶ And Moses said unto them, If ye will do this thing, and go armed before the Lord to war:

21 And will go every one of you in harness over Jordan before the Lord, until he hath cast out his enemies from his sight:

22 And until the land be subdued before the Lord, then ye shall return and be innocent toward the Lord, and toward Israel: and this land shall be your possession before the Lord.

23 But if ye will not do so, behold, ye have sinned against the Lord, and be sure that your sin will find you out.

24 Build you then cities for your children, and folds for your sheep, and do that ye have spoken.

25 Then the children of Gad and the children of Reuben spake unto Moses, saying, Thy servants will do as my lord commandeth:

26 Our children, our wives, our sheep, and all our cattle shall remain there in the cities of Gilead, 27 But thy servants will go every one armed to war before the Lord for to fight, as my lord saith.

28 So concerning them, Moses commanded Eleazar the priest, and Joshua the son of Nun, and the chief fathers of the tribes of the children of Israel:

29 And Moses said unto them, If the children of Gad, and the children of Reuben, will go with you over Jordan, all armed to fight before the Lord, then when the land is subdued before you, ye shall give them the land of Gilead for a possession:

30 But if they will not go over with you armed, then they shall have their possessions among you in the land of Canaan.

31 And the children of Gad, and the children of Reuben answered, saying, As the Lord hath said unto thy servants, so will we do.

32 We will go armed before the Lord into the land of Canaan: that the possession of our inheritance may be to us on this side Jordan.

33 So Moses gave unto them, even to the children of Gad, and to the children of Reuben, and to half the tribe of Manasseh the son of Joseph, the kingdom of Sihon king of the Amorites, and the kingdom of Og king of Bashan, the land with the cities thereof and coasts, even the cities of the country round about.

34 ¶ Then the children of Gad built Dibon, and Ataroth, and Aroer, 35 And Atroth, Shophan, and Jazer, and Jogbeliah, 36 And Beth-nimrah, and Beth-haran, fenced cities: also sheep-folds.

37 And the children of Reuben built Heshbon, and Elealeh, and Kiriathaim.

38 And Nebo, and Baal-meon, and turned their names, and Shihmah: and gave other names unto the cities which they built.

39 And the children of Machir the son of Manasseh went to Gilead, and took it, and put out the Amorites that dwelt therein.

40 Then Moses gave Gilead unto Machir the son of Manasseh, and he dwelt therein.

41 And Jair the son of Manasseh went and took the small towns thereof, and called them Havoth-Jair.

42 And Nobah went and took Kenath, with the villages thereof, and called it Nobah, after his own name.

3 The coasts and borders of the land of Canaan. 17 Certain men are assigned to divide the land.

AND the Lord spake unto Moses, saying,

2 Command the children of Israel, and say unto them, When ye come into the land of Canaan, this is the land that shall fall unto your inheritance: that is, the land of Canaan, with the coasts thereof.

3 And your south quarters shall be from the wilderness in Zin to the borders of Edom: so that your south quarters shall be from the Salt-Sea coast eastward.

4 And the border shall compass you from the south to † Maalek-akrabbim, and reach to Zin, and go out from the south to Kadesh-barnea: thence it shall stretch to Hazar-addar, and go along to Azmon.

5 And the border shall compass from Azmon unto the river of Egypt, and shall go out to the sea.

6 And your west quarter shall be the Great Sea: even that border shall be your west coast.

7 And this shall be your north quarter: ye shall mark out your border from the Great Sea unto mount [■] Hor.

8 From mount Hor ye shall point out till it come unto Hamath, and the end of the coast shall be at Zedad, 9 And the coast shall reach out to Ziphron, and go out at Hazar-enan, this shall be your north quarter.

10 And ye shall mark out your east quarter from Hazar-enan to Shepham.

11 And the coast shall go down from Shepham to Riblah, and from the east side of Ain: and the same border shall descend and go out at the side of the sea of [■] Chinnereth eastward.

12 Also that border shall go down to Jordan, and leave at the Salt Sea: this shall be your land with the coasts thereof round about.

13 ¶ Then Moses commanded the children of Israel, saying, This is the land which ye shall inherit by lot, which the Lord commanded to give unto nine tribes, and half the tribe.

14 [■] For the tribe of the children of Reuben, according to the households of their fathers, and the tribe of the children of Gad, according to their fathers households, and half the tribe of Manasseh, have received their inheritance.

18 And ye shall take also [■] * prince of every tribe to divide the land.

21 Of the tribe of Benjamin, Elidad the son of Chilion.

22 Also of the tribes of the sons of Dan, the prince Bukki the son of Jogli.

23 Of the sons of Joseph: of the tribe of the sons of Manasseh, the prince Hannel, the son of Ephod.

24 And of the tribe of the sons of Ephraim, the prince Kemuel, the son of Shiphtan.

25 Of the tribe also of the sons of Zebulun, the prince Elizaphan, the son of Parnach.

26 So of the tribe of the sons of Issachar, the prince Paltiel, the son of Azzan.

27 Of the tribe also of the sons of Asher, the prince Ahiud, the son of Shelomi.

28 And of the tribes of the sons of Naphtali, the prince Pedahel, the son of Ammihud.

29 These are they whom the Lord commanded to divide the inheritance unto the children of Israel in the land of Canaan.

C H A P. XXXV.

2 Unto the Levites are given cities and suburbs. 11 The cities of refuge. 16 The law of murder. 30 For one man's witness shall no one be condemned.

AND the Lord spake unto Moses in the plain of Moab by Jordan, toward Jericho, saying,

2 * Command the children of Israel, that they give unto the [■] Levites of the inheritance of their possession, [■] cities to dwell in: ye shall give also unto the Levites the suburbs of the cities round about them. * Joh. 21. 21

3 So they shall have the cities to dwell in, and their suburbs shall be for their cattle, and for their substance, and for all their beasts.

4 And the suburbs [■] of the cities, which ye shall give unto the Levites, from the wall of the city outward, shall be a thousand cubits round about.

5 And ye shall measure without the city of the east side, [■] two thousand cubits: and of the south side, two thousand cubits: and of the west side, two thousand cubits: and of the north side, two thousand cubits: and the city shall be in the midst: this shall be the measure of the suburbs of their cities.

6 And fall to any by lot, to the intent that all things might be done orderly and without contention.

[■] Because they had [■] inheritance assigned them in the land of Canaan.

[■] God would have them scattered through all the land, because the people might be preserved by them in the obedience of God, and his law.

[■] So that in all were three thousand: and in the compass of these two thousand they might plant and sow.

6 And of the cities which ye shall give unto the Levites, [■] there shall be six cities for refuge, which ye shall appoint, that he which killeth may flee thither: and to them ye shall add two and forty cities more.

7 All the cities which ye shall give to the Levites shall be eight and forty cities: them shall ye give with their suburbs.

8 And concerning the cities which ye shall give, of the possession of the children of Israel: of many ye shall take more, and of few ye shall take less: every one shall give of his cities unto the Levites, according to his inheritance which he inheriteth.

9 ¶ And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying,

10 Speak unto the children of Israel, and say unto them, [■] When ye be come over Jordan into the land of Canaan, 11 Ye shall appoint you cities, to be cities of refuge for you, that the slayer, which slayeth any person unawares, may flee thither.

12 And these cities shall be for you a refuge from the [■] avenger, that he which killeth die not, until he stand before the congregation in judgment.

13 And of the cities which ye shall give, six cities shall ye have for refuge.

14 Ye shall appoint three [■] on this side Jordan, and ye shall appoint three cities in the land of ^{*} Canaan, which shall be cities of refuge.

15 These six cities shall be a refuge for the children of Israel, and for the stranger, and for him that dwelleth [†] among you, that every one which killeth any person unawares, may flee thither.

16 [■] And if one ^{*} smite another with an instrument of iron that he die, he is a murderer, and the murderer shall die the death.

17 Also if he smite him by casting a [†] stone, wherewith he may be slain, and he die, he is a murderer, and the murderer shall die the death.

18 Or if he smite him with an hand-weapon of wood, wherewith he may be slain, if he die, he is a murderer, and the murderer shall die the death.

19 The revenger of the blood himself shall slay the murderer: when he meeteth him, he shall slay him.

20 But if he thrust him [■] of hate, or hurl at him by laying of wait, that he die, 21 Or smite him through enmity with his hand, that he die, he that smote him shall die the death: for he is a murderer: the revenger of the blood shall slay the murderer when he meeteth him.

22 But if he pushed him [†] unadvisedly, and ^{*} not of hatred, or cast upon him any [†] thing, without laying of wait,

23 Or any stone (whereby he might be slain) and saw him not, nor caused it [■] fall upon him, and he die, and was not his enemy, neither sought him any harm,

24 Then the congregation shall judge between the slayer and the [†] avenger of blood according to these laws.

25 And the congregation shall deliver the slayer out of the hand of the avenger of blood, and the congregation shall restore him unto the city of his refuge, whither he was fled: and he shall abide there unto the death of the ^h high-priest, which is anointed with the holy oil.

26 But if the slayer come without the borders of the city of his refuge, whither he was fled,

27 And the revenger of blood find him without the borders of the city of his refuge, and the revenger of blood slay the [†] murderer, he shall be guiltless,

28 Because he should have remained in the city of his refuge, until the death of the high-priest: and after the death of the high-priest, the slayer shall return unto the land of his possession.

29 So these things shall be [■] ^{*} law of judgment unto you, throughout your generations in all your dwellings.

30 Whosoever killeth any person, the judge shall slay the murderer, through [■] witnesses: but ^{*} one witness shall not testify against a person to cause him to die.

31 Moreover ye shall take no recompense for the life of the murderer, which is [†] worthy to die: but he shall be put to death.

32 Also ye shall take no recompense for him that is fled to the city of his refuge, that he should come again and dwell in the land, before the death of the high-priest.

33 So ye shall not pollute the land wherein ye shall dwell: for [†] blood defileth the land: and the land cannot be ^m cleansed of the blood that is shed therein, but by the blood of him that shed it.

34 Defile not therefore the land which ye shall inhabit, for I dwell in the midst thereof: for I the Lord dwell among the children of Israel.

The Fifth Book of MOSES, called DEUTERONOMY *

THE ARGUMENT.

The wonderful love of God toward his church is lively set forth in this book. For albeit through their ingratitude and sundry rebellions against God, for the space of forty years, Deut. 9. 7. they had deserved to have been cut off from the number of his people, and for ever to have been deprived of the use of his holy word and sacraments: yet he did ever preserve his church even for his own mercies sake, and would still have his name called upon among them. Wherefore he bringeth them into the land of Canaan, destroyeth their enemies, giveth them their country, towns and goods, and exhorted them by the example of their fathers (whose infidelity, idolatry, adulteries, murmurings, and rebellion, he had most sharply punished) to fear and obey the Lord, to embrace and keep his law without adding therunto, or diminishing therefrom. For by his word he would be known to be their God, and they his people: by his word he would govern his church, and by the same they should learn to obey him: by his word he would discern the false prophet from the true, light from darkness, ignorance from knowledge, and his own people from all the other nations and infidels: teaching them thereby to refuse and detest, destroy and abolish whatsoever is not agreeable to his holy will, seem it otherwise never so good or precious in the eyes of man. And for this cause God promised to raise up kings and governors, for the setting forth of his word, and preservation of his church: giving unto them an especial charge for the executing thereof: whom therefore he willet to exercise themselves diligently in the continual study and meditation of the same: that they might learn to fear the Lord, love their subjects, abhor covetousness and vice, and whatsoever offendeth the majesty of God. And as he had heretofore instructed their fathers in all things appertaining both to his spiritual service, and also for the maintenance of that society which is between men: so he prescribeth here anew, all such laws and ordinances, which either concern his divine service, or else are necessary for a commonweal: appointing unto every estate and degree their charge and duty: as well how to rule and live in the fear of God, as to nourish friendship toward their neighbours, and to preserve that order which God hath established among men: threatening withal most horrible plagues to them that transgress his commandments, and promising all blessings and felicity to such as observe and obey them.

* That is, a second law, so called because thereof which God gave in mount Sinai is here repeated, as though it were a new law: and this book is a commentary or exposition of the ten commandments.

CHAP. I.

2 A brief rehearsal of things done before, from Horeb unto Kadesh-barnea. 3 Moses reproveth the people for their incredulity. 44 The Israelites are overcome by the Amorites, because they fought against the commandment of the Lord.

THESE be the words which Moses spake unto all Israel, on ^a this side Jordan in the wilderness, in the plain, ^b over-against the Red Sea, between Paran and Tophel, and Laban, and Hazeroth, and Di-zahab.

2 There are eleven days journey from ^c Horeb unto Kadesh-barnea, by the way of mount Seir.

3 And it came to pass in the first day of the eleventh month, in the fortieth year, that Moses spake unto the children of Israel, according unto all that the Lord had given him in commandment unto them,

4 After that he had slain ^d Sihon the king of the Amorites, which dwelt in Heshbon, and Og king of Bashan, which dwelt at Ashtaroth in Edrei.

5 On this side Jordan in the land of Moab ^e began Moses to declare this law, saying,

6 The Lord our God spake unto us in ^f Horeb, saying, Ye have dwelt long enough in this mount,

7 Turn you and depart, and go unto the mountain of the Amorites, and unto all places near thereunto ^g in the plain, in the mountain, or in the valley: both southward and to the sea side, to the land of the Canaanites, and unto Lebanon: even unto the great River, the river ^h Perath.

† Or, Euphrates.

Gen. 15. 28. and 27. 7. 8.

Behold, I have set the land before you: go in and ⁱ possess that land which the Lord swore unto your fathers, Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, to give unto them, and to their seed after them.

9 ¶ And I spake ^j unto you the same time, saying, I am not able to bear you myself alone:

10 The Lord your God hath ^k multiplied you: and behold, ye are this day as the stars of heaven in number:

11 (The Lord God of your fathers make you a thousand times so many more as ye are, and bless you, as he hath promised you)

12 How can I alone ^l bear your cumbrance, and your charge, and your strife?

13 Bring you men of wisdom and of understanding, and ^m known among your tribes, and I will make them rulers over you:

14 Then ye answered me and said, The thing is good that thou hast commanded us to do.

15 So I took the chief of your tribes, ⁿ wise and known men, and made them rulers over you, captains over thousands, and captains over hundreds, and captains over fifties, and captains over tens, and officers among your tribes. Bef. Chr. 1451.

18 Also I commanded you the same time all the things which ye should do.

19 ¶ Then we departed from Horeb, and went through all that great and terrible wilderness (as ye have seen) by the way of the mountain of the Amorites, as the Lord our God commanded us: and we came to Kadesh-barnea.

20 And ^r I said unto you, Ye are come unto the mountain of the Amorites, which the Lord our God doth give unto us.

21 Behold, the Lord thy God hath laid the land before thee: go up and possess it, as the Lord the God of thy fathers hath said unto thee: fear not, neither be discouraged.

22 ¶ Then ye came unto me every one, and said, We will send men before us to search us out the land, and to bring us word again, what way we must go up by, and unto what cities we shall come.

23 So the saying pleased me well, and I took twelve men of you, of every tribe one:

26 Notwithstanding, ye would not go up, but were disobedient unto the commandment of the Lord your God, 27 And murmured in your tents, and said, Because the Lord ^v hated us, therefore hath he brought us out of the land of Egypt, to deliver us into the hand of the Amorites, and to destroy us.

28 Whither shall we go up? our ^w brethren have discouraged our hearts, saying, The people is greater and taller than we: the cities are great, and walled up to heaven: and moreover, we have seen the sons of the ^x Anakims there.

32 Yet for all this ye did not believe the Lord your God,

34 Then the Lord heard the voice of your words, and was wroth, and sware, saying,

35 * Surely, there shall not one of these men of this froward generation see that good land which I sware to give unto your fathers, 36 Save Caleb the son of Jephunah: he shall see it, and to him will I give the land that he hath trodden upon, and to his children, because he hath constantly followed the Lord.

37 * Also the Lord was angry with me for your sakes, saying, * Thou also shalt not go in thither, 38 But Joshua the son of Nun, which standeth before thee, he shall go in thither: encourage him, for he shall cause Israel to inherit it.

39 Moreover, your children, which ye said should be a prey, and your sons, which in that day had no knowledge between good and evil, they shall go in thither, and unto them will I give it, and they shall possess it.

40 But as for you, turn back, and take your journey into the wilderness by the way of the Red Sea.

41 Then ye answered, and said unto me, We have sinned against the Lord, * we will go up, and fight, according to all that the Lord our God hath commanded us: and ye armed you every man to the war, and were ready to go up into the mountain.

42 But the Lord said unto me, Say unto them, Go not up, neither fight (for I am * among you) lest ye fall before your enemies.

43 And when I told you, ye would not hear, but rebelled against the commandment of the Lord, and were presumptuous, and went up into the mountain.

THEN we turned, and took our journey into the wilderness, by the way of the Red Sea, as the Lord spake unto me: and we compassed mount Seir a long time.

2 And the Lord spake unto me, saying,

3 Ye have compassed this mountain long enough: turn you northward.

4 And warn thou the people, saying, Ye shall go through the coast of your brethren the children of Esau, which dwell in Seir, and they shall be afraid of you: take ye good heed therefore.

5 Ye shall not provoke them: for I will not give you of their land so much as a foot's breadth, * because I have given mount Seir unto Esau for a possession.

6 Ye shall buy meat of them for money to eat, and ye shall also procure water of them for money to drink.

7 For the Lord thy God hath blessed thee in all the works of thine hand: he knoweth thy walking through this great wilderness, and the Lord thy God hath been with thee this forty years, and thou hast lacked nothing.

8 And when we were departed from our brethren the children of Esau, which dwelt in Seir, through the way of the plain: from Elath, and from Ezion-gaber, we turned and went by the way of the wilderness of Moab.

9 Then the Lord said unto me, Thou shalt not vex Moab, neither provoke them to battle: for I will not give thee of their land for a possession, because I have given Ar unto the children of Lot for a possession.

10 The Emims dwelt therein in times past, a people great and many, and tall the Anakims.

11 They also were taken for giants as the Anakims: whom the Moabites call Emims.

12 The Horims also dwelt in Seir beforetime, whom the children of Esau chased out and destroyed them before them, and dwelt in their stead: Israel shall do unto the land of his possession, which the Lord hath given them.

13 Now rise up, said I, and get you over the river Zered: and we went over the river Zered.

14 The space also wherein we came from Kadesh-barnea, until we were come over the river Zered, was eight and thirty years, until all the generation of the men of war were wasted out from among the host, as the Lord sware unto them.

16 ¶ So when all the men of war were consumed and dead from among the people,

17 Then the Lord spake unto me, saying,

18 Thou shalt go through Ar, the coast of Moab, this day :

19 And thou shalt come near over-against the children of Ammon : but shalt not lay liege upon them, nor move war against them : for I will not give thee of the land of the children of Ammon any possession : for I have given it unto the children of Lot for a possession.

20 That also was taken for a land of ^b giants : for giants dwelt therein aforetime, whom the Ammonites call Zamzummims,

21 A people that was great, and many, and tall as the Anakims : but the Lord destroyed them before them, and they succeeded them in their inheritance, and dwelt in their stead unto this day :

22 As he did to the children of Esau, which dwelt in Seir, when he destroyed the Horims before them, and they possessed them, and dwelt in their stead unto this day.

23 And the Avims which dwelt in Hazarim, ^{1 Or, Gaza.} even unto † Azzah, the Caphtorims which came out of Caphtor destroyed them, and dwelt in their stead.

13 Then he declared unto you his covenant which he commanded you to do, even the ten † commandments, and wrote them upon two tables of stone.

14 ¶ And the Lord commanded me that same time, that I should teach you ordinances and laws, which ye should observe in the land, whither ye go to possess it.

† Heb. souls. 15 Take therefore good heed unto † yourselves: for ye saw no image in the day that the Lord spake unto you in Horeb out of the midst of the fire:

16 That ye corrupt not yourselves, and make you a graven image or representation of any figure: whether it be the likeness of male or female,

17 The likeness of any beast that is on earth, or the likeness of any feathered fowl that flieth in the air,

18 Or the likeness of any thing that creepeth on the earth, or the likeness of any fish that is in the waters beneath the earth, 19 And lest thou lift up thine eyes unto heaven, and when thou seest the sun and the moon and the stars, with all the host of heaven, shouldest be driven to worship them and serve them, which the Lord thy God hath distributed to all people under the whole heaven.

20 But the Lord hath taken you and brought you out of the iron furnace: out of Egypt, to be unto him a people and inheritance, as appeareth this day.

21 And the Lord was angry with me for your words, and sware that I should not go over Jordan, and that I should not go in unto that good land which the Lord thy God giveth thee for inheritance.

22 For I must die in this land, and shall not go over Jordan: but ye shall go over, and possess that good land.

23 Take heed unto yourselves lest ye forget the covenant of the Lord your God which he made with you, and lest ye make you any graven image, or likeness of any thing, as the Lord thy God hath charged thee. Bef. Chr. 1451.

24 For the Lord thy God is a consuming fire, and jealous God.

25 ¶ When thou shalt beget children, and childrens children, and shalt have remained long in the land, if ye corrupt yourselves, and make any graven image, or likeness of any thing, and work evil in the sight of the Lord thy God to provoke him to anger,

26 I will call heaven and earth to record against you this day, that ye shall shortly perish from the land, whereunto ye go over Jordan to possess it: ye shall not prolong your days therein, but shall utterly be destroyed.

27 And the Lord shall scatter you among the people, and ye shall be left few in number among the nations, whither the Lord shall bring you:

28 And there ye shall serve gods, even the work of man's hand, wood and stone, which neither see, nor hear, nor eat, nor smell.

29 But if from thence thou shalt seek the Lord thy God, thou shalt find him, if thou seek him with all thine heart, and with all thy soul.

32 For inquire now of the days that past, which were before thee, since the day that God created man upon the earth, and ask from the end of heaven unto the other, if there came to pass such great thing this, or whether any such like thing hath been heard.

33 Did ever people hear the voice of God speaking out of the midst of fire, as thou hast heard, and lived?

34 Or hath God assayed to go and take him a nation from among nations, by temptations, by signs, and by wonders, and by war, and by a mighty hand, and by a stretched-out arm, and by great fear, according unto all that the Lord your God did unto you in Egypt before your eyes?

35 Unto thee it was shewed, that thou mightest know, that the Lord he is God, and that there is none but he alone.

36 Out of heaven he made thee hear his voice to instruct thee, and upon earth he shewed thee his great fire, and thou heardest his voice out of the midst of the fire.

38 Then Moses separated three cities on this side of Jordan toward the sun rising:

39 That the slayer should flee thither, which had killed his neighbour at unawares, and hated him not in time past, might flee, I say, unto one of those cities, and live:

40 That is, Bezer in the wilderness, in the plain country of the Reubenites: and Ramoth in Gilead among the Gadites: and Golan in Bashan among them of Manasseh.

41 So this is the law which Moses set before the children of Israel.

42 These are the witnesses and the ordinances, and the laws which Moses declared to the children of Israel after they came out of Egypt,

43 On this side Jordan, in the valley over against Beth-peor, in the land of Sihon king of the Amorites, which dwelt at Heshbon, whom Moses and the children of Israel smote, after they were come out of Egypt:

44 And they possessed his land, and the land of Og king of Bashan, two kings of the Amorites, which were on this side Jordan toward the sun rising:

45 From Aroer, which is by the bank of the river Arnon, even unto Mount Sion, which is Hermon, 46 And all the plain by Jordan east-ward, even unto the sea of the plain, under the springs of Pisgah.

CHAPTER V.

Moses is the mean between God and the people. 6 The law is repeated. 23 The people are afraid at God's voice. 29 The Lord wiseth that the people would fear him. 32 They must neither decline to the right hand nor left.

THEN Moses called all Israel, and said unto them, Hear, O Israel, the ordinances and the laws which I propose to you this day, that ye may learn them, and take heed to observe them.

2 * The Lord our God made a covenant with us in Horeb.

3 The Lord made not this covenant with our fathers only, but with us, even with us all here alive this day. Bef. Chr. 1451.

4 The Lord talked with you face to face in the mount, out of the midst of the fire.

5 (At that time I stood between the Lord and you, to declare unto you the word of the Lord: for ye were afraid at the sight of the fire, and went not up into the mount) and he said, Exod. 20. 2. Lev. 26. 1. Pl. 97. 7. 9. Or, servants.

6 ¶ * I am the Lord thy God, which have brought thee out of the land of Egypt, from the house of bondage.

7 Thou shalt have none other gods before my face.

8 Thou shalt make thee no graven image, or any likeness of that that is in heaven above, or which is in the earth beneath, or that is in the waters under the earth. Exod. 34. 7. Jer. 32. 18.

9 Thou shalt neither bow thyself unto them, nor serve them: for I the Lord thy God am a jealous God, visiting the iniquity of the fathers upon the children, even unto the third and fourth generation of them that hate me,

10 And shewing mercy unto thousands of them that love me, and keep my commandments.

11 Thou shalt not take the name of the Lord thy God in vain: for the Lord will not hold him guiltless that taketh his name in vain.

12 Keep the sabbath-day to sanctify it, as the Lord thy God hath commanded thee.

13 Six days thou shalt labour, and shalt do all thy work:

14 But the seventh day is the sabbath of the Lord thy God: thou shalt not do any work therein, thou, nor thy son, nor thy daughter, nor thy man-servant, nor thy maid, nor thine ox, nor thine ass, neither any of thy cattle, nor the stranger that is within thy gates: that thy man-servant and thy maid may rest as well as thou.

15 For remember that thou wast servant in the land of Egypt, and that the Lord thy God brought thee out thence by a mighty hand and a stretched-out arm: therefore the Lord thy God commanded thee to observe the sabbath-day.

16 ¶ * Honour thy father and thy mother, as the Lord thy God hath commanded thee, that thy days may be prolonged, and that it may go well with thee upon the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee. Matt. 5. 21. Luke 18. 20. Rom. 13. 9.

17 * Thou shalt not kill.

18 Neither shalt thou commit adultery.

19 * Neither shalt thou steal.

20 Neither shalt thou bear false witness against thy neighbour. Rom. 7. 7.

21 * Neither shalt thou covet thy neighbour's wife, neither shalt thou desire thy neighbour's house, his field, nor his man-servant, nor his maid, nor his ox, nor his ass, nor aught that thy neighbour hath.

22 ¶ These words the Lord spake unto all your multitude in the mount out of the midst of the fire, the cloud and the darkness, with a great

C H A P. VII.

1 The Israelites may make no covenant with the Gentiles. 5 They must destroy the idols. 8 The election depends on the free love of God. 19 The experience of the power of God ought to confirm us. 25 To avoid all occasion of idolatry.

WHEN the Lord thy God shall bring thee into the land whither thou goest to possess it, and shall root out many nations before thee: the Hittites, and the Girgashites, and the Amorites, and the Canaanites, and the Perizzites, and the Hivites, and the Jebusites, seven nations greater and mightier than thou,

2 And the Lord thy God shall give them before thee, then thou shalt smite them: thou shalt utterly destroy them: thou shalt make no covenant with them, nor have compassion on them,

3 Neither shalt thou make marriages with them, neither give thy daughter unto his son, nor take his daughter unto thy son.

4 For they will cause thy son to turn away from me, and to serve other gods: then will the wrath of the Lord wax hot against you, and destroy thee suddenly.

5 But thus ye shall deal with them, Ye shall overthrow their altars, and break down their pillars, and ye shall cut down their groves, and burn their graven images with fire,

6 For thou art an holy people unto the Lord thy God, the Lord thy God hath chosen thee to be a precious people unto himself, above all people that are upon the earth.

7 The Lord did not set his love upon you, nor chose you, because ye were more in number than any people: for ye were the fewest of all people:

8 But because the Lord loved you, and because he would keep the oath which he had sworn unto your fathers, the Lord hath brought you out by a mighty hand, and delivered you out of the house of bondage from the hand of Pharaoh king of Egypt, Bef. Chr. 1451.

9 That thou mayest know, that the Lord thy God he is God, the faithful God which keepeth the covenant and mercy unto them that love him and keep his commandments, even to a thousand generations,

10 And rewardeth them to their face that hate him, to bring them to destruction: he will not defer to reward him that hateth him to his face.

11 Keep thou therefore the commandments, and the ordinances, and the laws, which I command thee this day to do them.

12 ¶ For if ye hearken unto these laws, and observe and do them, then the Lord thy God shall keep with thee the covenant, and the mercy which he swore unto thy fathers.

13 And he will love thee, and bless thee, and multiply thee: he will also bless the fruit of thy womb, and the fruit of thy land, thy corn and thy wine, and thine oil, and the increase of thy kine, and the flocks of thy sheep, in the land which he swore unto thy fathers to give thee.

14 Thou shalt be blessed above all people: there shall be neither male nor female barren among you, nor among your cattle. * Exod. 23. 26.

15 Moreover, the Lord will take away from thee all infirmities, and will put none of the evil diseases of Egypt (which thou knowest) upon thee, but will send them upon all that hate thee. * Exod. 9. 14. and 15. 26.

17 If thou say in thine heart, These nations are more than I, how can I cast them out?

18 Thou shalt not fear them, but remember what the Lord thy God did unto Pharaoh, and unto all Egypt:

19 The great temptations which thine eyes saw, and the signs, and wonders, and the mighty hand and stretched-out arm, whereby the Lord thy God brought thee out: so shall the Lord thy God do unto all the people whose face thou fearest. † Or, plagues or trials, 28. 21 Thou shalt not fear them: for the Lord thy God is among you, God mighty and dreadful.

22 And the Lord thy God will root out these nations before thee by little and little: thou mayst not consume them at once, lest the beasts of the field increase upon thee.

23 But the Lord thy God shall give them before thee, and shall destroy them with a mighty destruction, until they be brought to nought.

18 But remember the Lord thy God: for it is he which^w giveth thee power to get substance to establish his covenant which he sware unto thy fathers, as appeareth this day.

¶ The year of releasing of debts. 5 God bleisseth them that keep his commandments. 7 To help the poor. 12 The freedom of servants. 19 The first-born of the cattle must be offered to the Lord.

AT the term of seven years thou shalt make freedom.

2 And this is the manner of the freedom: every creditor shall quit the loan of his hand which he hath lent to his neighbour: he shall not ask it again of his neighbour, nor of his brother: for the year of the Lord's freedom is proclaimed.

3 Of stranger thou mayest require it: but that which thou hast with thy brother, thine hand shall remit:

4 Save when there shall be no poor with thee: for the Lord shall bless thee in the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee for an inheritance to possess it:

5 So that thou hearken unto the voice of the Lord thy God to observe and do all these commandments which I command thee this day.

6 For the Lord thy God hath blessed thee, he hath promised thee: and thou shalt lend unto many nations, but thou thyself shalt not borrow, and thou shalt reign over many nations, and they shall not reign over thee.

7 ¶ If one of thy brethren with thee be poor within any of thy gates in thy land which the Lord thy God giveth thee, thou shalt not harden thine heart, nor shut thine hand from thy poor brother:

8 But thou shalt open thine hand unto him, and shalt lend him sufficient for his need which he hath.

9 Beware that there be not wicked thought in thine heart, to say, the seventh year, the year of freedom is at hand: therefore it grieveth thee to look on thy poor brother, and thou givest him nought, and he cry unto the Lord against thee, so that sin be in thee:

10 Thou shalt give him, and let it not grieve thine heart to give unto him: for because of this the Lord thy God shall bless thee in all thy works, and in all that thou puttest thine hand to.

11 Because there shall be ever some poor in the land, therefore I command thee, saying, Thou shalt open thine hand unto thy brother, to thy needy, and to thy poor in thy land.

12 ¶ If thy brother Hebrew sell himself to thee, or Hebrewess, and serve thee six years, even in the seventh year thou shalt let him go free from thee:

13 And when thou sendest him out free from thee, thou shalt not let him go away empty, 14 But shalt give him a liberal reward of thy sheep, and of thy corn, and of thy wine: thou shalt give him of that wherewith the Lord thy God hath blessed thee.

15 And remember that thou wast a servant in the land of Egypt, and the Lord thy God delivered thee: therefore I command thee this thing to-day.

16 And if he say unto thee, I will not go away from thee, because he loveth thee and thine house, and because he is well with thee, 17 Then shalt thou take an awl, and pierce his ear through against the door, and he shall be thy servant for ever: and unto thy maid servant thou shalt do likewise.

18 Let it not grieve thee when thou lettest him go out free from thee: for he hath served thee six years, which is the double worth of an hired servant: and the Lord thy God shall bless thee in all that thou doest.

19 All the first-born males that come of thy cattle, and of thy sheep, thou shalt sanctify unto the Lord thy God. Thou shalt do no work with thy first-born bullock, nor shear thy first-born sheep.

20 Thou shalt eat it before the Lord thy God year by year, in the place which the Lord shall chuse, both thou and thine household.

21 But if there be any blemish therein, as if it be lame, or blind, or have any evil fault, thou shalt not offer it unto the Lord thy God, 22 But shalt eat it within thy gates: the unclean and the clean shall eat it alike, as the roe-buck, and the hart.

2 ¶ Thou shalt separate three cities for thee in the midst of the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee to possess it.

3 Thou shalt⁵ prepare thee the way, and divide the coasts of the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee to inherit, into three parts, that every⁶ manslayer may flee thither.

¶ This also is the cause wherefore the manslayer shall flee thither and live: who so killeth his neighbour ignorantly, and hated him not in time passed:

5 As he that goeth unto the wood with his neighbour to hew wood, and his hand striketh with the⁷ to cut down the tree, if the head slip from the helve, and hit his neighbour that he dieth, the same⁸ shall flee unto one of the cities, and live,

6 Lest the⁹ avenger of the blood follow after the manslayer while his heart is chafed, and overtake him, because the way is long, and slay him, although he be not[†] worthy of death, because he hated him not in time passed.

7 Wherefore I command thee, saying, Thou shalt appoint out three cities for thee.

8 And when the Lord thy God¹⁰ enlargeth thy coasts (as he hath sworn unto thy fathers) and giveth thee all the land which he promised to give unto thy fathers,

9 (If thou keep all these commandments to do them, which I command thee this day: to wit, that thou love the Lord thy God, and walk in his ways for ever) ¶ then thou shalt add three¹¹ cities more for thee besides those three,

10 That innocent blood be not shed within thy land which the Lord thy God giveth thee to inherit, ¹² lest blood be upon thee.

12 Then the¹³ elders of his city shall send and fetch him thence, and deliver him into the hands of the avenger of the blood, that he may die.

13 Thine¹⁴ eye shall not spare him, but thou shalt put away the cry of innocent blood from Israel, that it may go well with thee.

14 Thou shalt not remove thy neighbour's mark, which they of old time have set in thine inheritance that thou shalt inherit in the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee to possess it.

15 ¶ * One witness shall not rise against¹⁵ man for any trespass, or for any sin, or for any fault that he offendeth in, ¹⁶ but at the mouth of two witnesses, or at the mouth of three witnesses shall the matter be stablished.

16 ¶ If a false witness rise up against a man to accuse him of trespass, 17 Then both the men which strive together shall stand before the¹⁷ Lord, even before the priests and the judges which shall be in those days.

18 And the judges shall make diligent inquiry: and if the witness be found false, and hath given false witness against his brother, 19 ¶ Then ye shall do unto him as he had thought to do unto his brother: so thou shalt take evil away forth of the midst of thee.

20 And the rest shall hear this and fear, and shall henceforth commit no more any such wickedness among you.

10 ¶ When thou shalt go to war against thine enemies, and the Lord thy God shall deliver them into thine hands, and thou shalt take them captives,

11 And shalt see among the captives a beautiful woman, and hast desire unto her, and wouldest take her to thy wife,

12 Then thou shalt bring her home to thine house, and she shall shave her head, and pare her nails,

13 And she shall put off the garment that she was taken in, and she shall remain in thine house, and bewail her father and her mother a month long: and after that shalt thou go in unto her, and marry her, and she shall be thy wife.

14 And if thou have no favour unto her, then thou mayest let her go whither she will, but thou shalt not sell her for money, or make merchandise of her, because thou hast humbled her.

15 ¶ If a man have two wives, one loved and another hated, and they have borne him children, both the loved and also the hated: if the first-born be the son of the hated,

16 Then when the time cometh, that he appointeth his sons to be heirs of that which he hath, he may not make the son of the beloved first-born before the son of the hated, which is the first-born:

18 ¶ If any man have a son that is stubborn and disobedient, which will not hearken unto the voice of his father, nor the voice of his mother, and they have chastened him, and he would not obey them,

19 Then shall his father and his mother take him, and bring him out unto the elders of his city, and unto the gate of the place where he dwelleth,

THOU shalt not see thy brother's ox nor his sheep go astray, and withdraw thyself from them, but shalt bring them again unto thy brother.

2 And if thy brother be not near unto thee, or if thou know him not, then thou shalt bring it into thine house, and it shall remain with thee until thy brother seek after it: then shalt thou deliver it to him again.

3 In like manner shalt thou do with his asses, and so shalt thou do with his raiment, and shalt so do with all lost things of thy brother which he hath lost: if thou hast found them, thou shalt not withdraw thyself from them.

4 ¶ Thou shalt not see thy brother's asses nor his ox fall down by the way, and withdraw thyself from them, but shalt lift them up with him.

5 The woman shall not wear that which pertaineth unto the man, neither shall a man put on woman's raiment: for all that do so are abomination unto the Lord thy God.

6 ¶ If thou find a bird's nest in the way, in any tree, or on the ground, whether they be young or eggs, and the dam sitting upon the young, or upon the eggs, thou shalt not take the dam with the young,

7 But shalt in any wise let the dam go, and take the young to thee, that thou mayest prosper and prolong thy days.

15 Then shall the father of the maid and her mother, take and bring the signs of the maid's virginity unto the elders of the city to the gate,

16 And the maid's father shall say unto the elders, I gave my daughter unto this man to wife, and he hateth her :

17 And lo, he layeth slanderous things unto her charge, saying, I found not thy daughter a maid : lo, these are the tokens of my daughter's virginity : and they shall spread the vesture before the elders of the city.

18 Then the elders of the city shall take that man and chastise him, 19 And shall condemn him in an hundred shekels of silver, and give them unto the father of the maid, because he hath brought up an evil name upon a maid of Israel : and she shall be his wife, and he may not put her away all his life.

20 ¶ But if this thing be true, that the maid be not found a virgin, 21 Then they shall bring forth the maid to the door of her father's house, and the men of her city shall stone her with stones to death : for she hath wrought folly in Israel by playing the whore in her father's house : so thou shalt put evil away from among you.

22 ¶ If a man be found lying with a woman married to a man, then they shall die even both twain : to wit, the man that lay with the wife, and the wife : so thou shalt put away evil from Israel.

23 ¶ If a maid be betrothed unto an husband, and a man find her in the town and lie with her,

24 Then shall ye bring them both out unto the gates of the same city, and shall stone them with stones to death : the maid because she cried not, being in the city : and the man, because he hath humbled his neighbour's wife : so thou shalt put away evil from among you.

25 ¶ But if a man find a betrothed maid in the field, and force her, and lie with her, then the man that lay with her shall die alone :

26 And unto the maid thou shalt do nothing, because there is in the maid no cause of death : for as when a man riseth against his neighbour and woundeth him to death, so is this matter.

27 For he found her in the fields : the betrothed maid cried, and there was no man to succour her.

28 ¶ * If a man find a maid that is not betrothed, and take her, and lie with her, and they be found, 1451. Lord thy God, A ^k Syrian was my father, who being ready to perish for hunger, went down into Egypt, and sojourned there with a small company, and grew there unto a nation great, mighty, and full of people.

6 And the Egyptians vexed us, and troubled us, and laded us with cruel bondage.

7 But when we = cried unto the Lord God of our fathers, the Lord heard our voice, and looked on our adversity, and on our labour, and on our oppression:

8 And the Lord brought us out of Egypt in a mighty hand, and a stretched-out arm, with great terribleness, both in signs and wonders.

9 And he hath brought us into this place, and hath given us this land, even a land that floweth with milk and honey.

10 And now, lo, I = have brought the first fruits of the land which thou, O Lord, hast given me: and thou shalt set it before the Lord thy God, and worship before the Lord thy God.

11 And thou shalt rejoice in all the good things which the Lord thy God hath given unto thee and to thine = household, thou, and the Levite, and the stranger that is among you.

12 ¶ When thou hast made an end of tithing all the tithes of thine increase the third year, which is the year of tithing, and hast given it unto the Levite, to the stranger, to the fatherless, and to the widow, that they may eat within thy gates, and be satisfied,

13 Then thou shalt = say before the Lord thy God, I have brought the hallowed thing out of mine house, and also have given it unto the Levites, and to the strangers, to the fatherless, and to the widow, according to all thy * commandments which thou hast commanded me: I have = transgressed none of thy commandments, nor forgotten them.

14 I have not eaten thereof = in my mourning, nor suffered aught to perish = through uncleanness, nor given aught thereof for the dead, but have hearkened unto the voice of the Lord my God: I have done = after all that thou hast commanded me.

15 Look down from thine holy habitation, even from heaven, and bless thy people Israel, and the land which thou hast given us (as thou swarest unto our fathers) the land that floweth with milk and honey.

16 ¶ This day the Lord thy God doth command thee to do these ordinances and laws: keep them therefore, and do them with = all thine heart, and with all thy soul.

17 Thou hast set up the Lord this day to be thy God, and to walk in his ways, and to keep his ordinances, and his commandments, and his laws, and to hearken unto his voice.

¶ The promiſes to them that obey the commandments.

15 The threatenings to the contrary.

^o Levit. 26. 3. IF * thou ſhalt obey diligently the voice of the Lord thy God, and obſerve and do all his commandments, which I command thee this day, then the Lord thy God will ^p ſet thee on high above all the nations of the earth.

2 And all theſe bleſſings ſhall come on thee, and ^q overtake thee, if thou ſhalt obey the voice of the Lord thy God.

3 Bleſſed ſhalt thou be in the ^r city, and of thy ſheep.

5 Bleſſed ſhall be thy basket and thy dough.

6 Bleſſed ſhalt thou be when thou ^t comeſt in, and bleſſed alſo when thou goeſt out. Bef. Chr. 1451.

7 The Lord ſhall cauſe thine enemies that riſe againſt thee, to fall before thy face: they ſhall come out againſt thee one way, and ſhall flee before thee ^u ſeven ways.

¶ The Lord ſhall command the bleſſing to be with thee in thy ſtore-houſes, and in all that thou ſetteſt thine ^v hand to, and will bleſs thee in the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee.

9 The Lord ſhall make thee an holy people unto himſelf, as he hath ſworn unto thee, if thou ſhalt keep the commandments of the Lord thy God, and walk in his ways.

10 Then all people of the earth ſhall ſee, that the name of the Lord is ^w called upon over thee, and they ſhall be afraid of thee.

11 And the Lord ſhall make thee plenteous in goods: in the fruit of thy body, and in the fruit of thy cattle, and in the fruit of thy ground, in the land which the Lord ſware unto thy fathers to give thee.

12 The Lord ſhall open unto thee his good treasure, even the ^x heaven to give rain unto thy land in due ſeaſon, and to bleſs all the work of thine hands: and ^y thou ſhalt lend unto many ^{Ch. 15. 6.} nations, but ſhalt not borrow thyſelf.

13 And the Lord ſhall make thee the head, and not the ^z tail, and thou ſhalt be above only, ^{† Or, the} and ſhalt not be beneath, if thou obey the ^{loweſt.} commandments of the Lord thy God which I command thee this day, to keep and to do them.

words which I command you this day, either to
gods to ſerve them.

15 ¶ * But if thou wilt not obey the voice ^{† Lev. 26. 14.} of the Lord thy God, to keep and to do all his ^{Lam. 2. 7.} commandments and his ordinances, which I ^{Mal. 2. 2.}
command thee this day, then all theſe curſes

16 Curſed ſhalt thou be in the town, and curſed alſo in the field.

17 Curſed ſhall thy basket be, and thy 18 Curſed ſhall be the fruit of thy body, and the fruit of thy land, the increaſe of thy kine, and the flocks of thy ſheep.

19 Curſed ſhalt thou be when thou comeſt

20 The Lord ſhall ſend upon thee curſing, trouble, and [†] ſhame, in all that which thou ^{† Or, rebukeſt} ſetteſt thine hand to do, until thou be deſtroyed, and periſh quickly, becauſe of the wickedneſs of thy works whereby thou haſt forſaken me.

58 ¶ If thou wilt not keep and do all the words of this law (that are written in this book) and fear this glorious and fearful name, THE LORD THY GOD, 59 Then the Lord will make thy plagues wonderful, and the plagues of thy seed, even great plagues and of long continuance, and sore diseases and of long durance.

60 Moreover, he will bring upon thee all the diseases of Egypt, whereof thou wast afraid, and they shall cleave unto thee.

61 And every sickness, and every plague, which is not written in the book of this law, will the Lord heap upon thee, until thou be destroyed.

62 And ye shall be left few in number, where ye were as the stars of heaven in multitude, because thou wouldest not obey the voice of the Lord thy God.

63 And the Lord hath rejoiced over you to do you good, and to multiply you, so he will rejoice over you to destroy you, and bring you to nought, and ye shall be rooted out of the land whither thou goest possess it.

64 And the Lord shall scatter thee among all people from the one end of the world unto the other, and there thou shalt serve other gods which thou hast not known, nor thy fathers, even wood and stone.

65 Also among these nations thou shalt find no rest, neither shall the sole of thy foot have rest: for the Lord shall give thee there trembling heart, and looking to return till thine eyes fall out, and sorrowful mind.

66 And thy life shall hang before thee, and thou shalt fear both night and day, and shalt have none assurance of thy life.

67 In the morning thou shalt say, Would God it were evening, and at evening thou shalt say, Would God it were morning, for the fear of thine heart which thou shalt fear, and for the sight of thine eyes which thou shalt see.

68 And the Lord shall bring thee into Egypt again with ships by the way, whereof I said un-thee, Thou shalt see it no more again: and there ye shall sell yourselves unto your enemies for bondmen and bondwomen, and there shall be no buyer.

C H A P. XXIX:

2 The people are exhorted to observe the commandments. 10 The whole people from the highest to the lowest are comprehended under God's covenant.

19 The punishment of him that flattereth himself in his wickedness. 24 The cause of God's wrath against his people.

THESSE are the words of the covenant, which the Lord commanded Moses to make with the children of Israel in the land of Moab, beside the covenant which he had made with them in Horeb.

2 ¶ And Moses called all Israel, and said unto them, Ye have seen all that the Lord did before your eyes in the land of Egypt unto Pharaoh and unto all his servants, and unto all his land.

3 The great temptations which thine eyes have seen, those great miracles and wonders:

4 Yet the Lord hath not given you an heart to perceive, and eyes to see, and ears hear, unto this day.

5 And I have led you forty years in the wilderness: your cloaths are not waxed old upon you, neither is thy shoe waxed old upon thy foot,

6 Ye have eaten no bread, neither drunk wine, nor strong drink, that ye might know how that I am the Lord your God.

7 After, ye came unto this place, and Sihon king of Heshbon, and Og king of Bashan came out against us unto battle, and we slew them,

8 And took their land, and gave it for inheritance unto the Reubenites, and to the Gadites, and to the half tribe of Manasseh.

9 * Keep therefore the words of this covenant and do them, that ye may prosper in all that ye shall do.

10 Ye stand this day every one of you before the Lord your God: your heads of your tribes, your elders and your officers, even all the men of Israel:

11 Your children, your wives, and thy stranger that is in thy camp, from the hewer of thy wood, unto the drawer of thy water,

12 That thou shouldest pass into the covenant of the Lord thy God, and into his oath which the Lord thy God maketh with thee this day, 13 For to establish thee this day people unto himself, and that he may be unto thee God, as he hath said unto thee, and as he hath sworn unto thy fathers, Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob.

14 Neither make I this covenant and this oath with you only,

15 But as well with him that standeth here

16 For ye know, how we have dwelt in the land of Egypt, and how we passed through the midst of the nations, which ye passed by.

17 And ye have seen their abominations and their idols (wood and stone, silver and gold) which were among them,

18 That there should not be among you man, nor woman, nor family, nor tribe, which should turn his heart away this day from the Lord our God, to go and serve the gods of these nations, and that there should not be among you ¹ any root that bringeth forth ² gall and wormwood,

• Acts 3. 23. 19 So that when he heareth the words of this curse, he [†] bleis himself in his heart, saying, I shall have peace, although I walk according to the stubbornness of mine own heart, thus adding ¹ drunkenness to thirst.

20 The Lord will not be merciful unto him, but then the wrath of the Lord and his jealousy shall smoke against that man, and every curse that is written in this book shall light upon him, and the Lord shall put out his name from under heaven:

21 And the Lord shall separate him unto evil out of all the tribes of Israel, according unto all the curses of the covenant that is written in the book of this law.

22 So that the ² generation to come, even your children, that shall rise up after you, and the stranger that shall come from a far land, shall say, when they shall see the plagues of this land, and the diseases thereof, wherewith the Lord shall smite it:

• Gen. 19. 24, 25. 23 (For all that land shall burn with brimstone and salt: it shall not be sown, nor bring forth, nor any grass shall grow therein, like as in the overthrowing of ² Sodom and Gomorah, Admah and Zeboim, which the Lord overthrew in his wrath and in his anger)

• 1 King. 6. 8. Jer. 22. 3. 24 Then shall all nations say, ² Wherefore hath the Lord done thus unto this land? how fierce is this great wrath!

25 And they shall answer, Because they have forsaken the covenant of the Lord God of their fathers, which he had made with them when he brought them out of the land of Egypt, 26 And went and served other gods, and worshipped them: even gods which they knew not, and [†] which had given them nothing.

1 Or, which hath given them a land to possess. 27 Therefore the wrath of the Lord waxed hot against this land, to bring upon it every curse that is written in this book.

28 And the Lord hath rooted them out of their land in anger, and in wrath, and in great indignation, and hath cast them into another land, as appeareth this day.

29 The ¹ secret things belong to the Lord our God, but the things revealed belong unto us, and to our children for ever: that we may do all the words of this law. Bel. Chr. 1451.

C H A P. XXX.

1 Mercy shewed when they repent. 6 The Lord doth circumcise the heart. 11 All excuse of ignorance is taken away. 15, 19 Life and death is set before them. 20 The Lord is their life which obey him.

NOW when all these things shall come upon thee, either the blessing or the curse which I have set before thee, and thou shalt ¹ turn into thine heart, among all the nations whither the Lord thy God hath driven thee,

2 And shalt return unto the Lord thy God, and obey his voice in all that I command thee this day: thou, and thy children, with all thine ² heart and with all thy soul,

3 Then the Lord thy God will cause thy captives to return, and have compassion upon thee, and will return to gather thee out of all the people where the Lord thy God hath scattered thee:

4 Though thou werest cast unto the utmost part of ² heaven, from thence will the Lord thy God gather thee, and from thence will he ² take thee:

5 And the Lord thy God will bring thee into the land which thy fathers possessed, and thou shalt possess it, and he will shew thee favour, and will multiply thee above thy fathers.

6 And the Lord thy God will ¹ circumcise thine heart, and the heart of thy seed, that thou mayest love the Lord thy God with all thine heart, and with all thy soul, that thou mayest live.

7 And the Lord thy God will lay all these curses upon thine enemies, and on them that hate thee, and that persecute thee.

8 ² Return thou therefore, and obey the voice of the Lord, and do all his commandments, which I command thee this day.

9 And the Lord thy God will make thee plenteous in every work of thine hand, in the fruit of thy body, and in the fruit of thy cattle, and in the fruit of the land for thy wealth: for the Lord will turn again, and ² rejoice over thee to do thee good, ² he rejoiced over thy fathers.

10 Because thou shalt obey the voice of the Lord thy God in keeping his commandments, and his ordinances, which are written in the book of this law, when thou shalt return unto the Lord thy God with all thine heart and with all thy soul.

11 ¶ For this commandment which I command thee this day, is ¹ not hid from thee, neither is it far off.

12 It is not in heaven, that thou shouldest say, ² Who shall go up for us to heaven, and bring

² Such sin, as the bitter fruit thereof might choke and destroy you.

³ For as he that is thirstily desireth to drink much, so he that followeth his appetite seeketh by all means, and yet cannot be satisfied.

⁴ God's plagues upon them that rebel against him, shall be so strange, that all ages shall be astonished.

⁶ If we will have God to work in ² with his holy Spirit, we must turn again to him by repentance.

⁸ The law is so evident that none can pretend ignorance.

13 Neither is it beyond the sea, that thou shouldest say, Who shall go over the sea for us, and bring it us, and cause us to hear it, that we may do it?

14 But the word is very near unto thee: even in thy mouth and in thine heart, for to do it.

15 Behold, I have set before thee this day life and good, death and evil:

16 In that I command thee this day to love the Lord thy God, to walk in his ways, and to keep his commandments, and his ordinances, and his laws, that thou mayest live and be multiplied, and that the Lord thy God may bless thee in the land whither thou goest to possess it.

17 But if thine heart turn away, so that thou wilt not obey, but shalt be seduced and worship other gods, and serve them,

18 I pronounce unto you this day, that ye shall surely perish, ye shall not prolong your days in the land; whither thou passest over Jordan to possess it.

Ch. 4. 26. 19 I call heaven and earth to record this day against you, that I have set before you life and death, blessing and cursing: therefore chuse life, that both thou and thy seed may live;

20 By loving the Lord thy God, by obeying his voice, and by cleaving unto him: for he is thy life, and the length of thy days: that thou mayest dwell in the land which the Lord sware unto thy fathers, Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, to give them.

CHAP. XXXI.

7, Moses preparing himself to die, appointeth Joshua to rule the people. 9 He giveth the law to the Levites, that they should read it to the people. 19 God giveth them a song as a witness between him and them. 23 God confirmeth Joshua. 29 Moses sheweth them that they will rebel after his death.

THEN Moses went and spake these words unto all Israel,

2 And said unto them, I am an hundred and twenty years old this day: I can no more go out and in: also the Lord hath said unto me,

Num. 20. * Thou shalt not go over this Jordan.

Ch. 3. 26. 3 The Lord thy God he will go over before thee: he will destroy these nations before thee, and thou shalt possess them. Joshua, he shall

Num. 27. go before thee, the Lord hath said.

4 And the Lord shall do unto them as he did to Sihon and to Og, kings of the Amorites, and unto their land, whom he destroyed.

5 And the Lord shall give them before you that you may do unto them according unto every commandment which I have commanded you.

Ch. 7. 2. Or, he of 9-11 cou- 12. 6 † Pluck up your hearts therefore, and be strong: dread not, nor be afraid of them: for the Lord thy God himself doth go with thee: he will not fail thee, nor forsake thee. Bef. Chr. 1451.

7 And Moses called Joshua, and said unto him in the sight of all Israel, Be of a good courage and strong: for thou shalt go with this people unto the land which the Lord hath sworn unto their fathers to give them, and thou shalt give it them to inherit.

8 And the Lord himself doth go before thee: he will be with thee: he will not fail thee, neither forsake thee: fear not therefore, nor be discomfited.

9 And Moses wrote this law, and delivered it unto the priests the sons of Levi (which bare the ark of the covenant of the Lord) and unto all the elders of Israel,

10 And Moses commanded them, saying, Every seventh year, when the year of freedom shall be in the feast of the tabernacles:

Num. 8. 1. Ch. 15. 1.

11 When all Israel shall come to appear before the Lord thy God; in the place which he shall chuse, thou shalt read this law before all Israel, that they may hear it.

12 Gather the people together: men, and women, and children, and thy stranger that is within thy gates; that they may hear, and that they may learn; and fear the Lord your God, and keep and observe all the words of this law,

13 And that their children which have not known it, may hear it; and learn to fear the Lord your God; as long as ye live in the land whither ye go over Jordan to possess it.

14 ¶ Then the Lord said unto Moses, Behold, thy days are come, that thou must die: call Joshua, and stand ye in the tabernacle of the congregation, that I may give him a charge. So Moses and Joshua went, and stood in the tabernacle of the congregation. † Or, commandment.

15 And the Lord appeared in the tabernacle, in the pillar of a cloud: and the pillar of the cloud stood over the door of the tabernacle.

16 ¶ And the Lord said unto Moses, Behold, thou shalt sleep with thy fathers, and this people will rise up, and go whoring after the gods of a strange land (whither they go to dwell therein) and will forsake me, and break my covenant which I have made with them.

17 Wherefore my wrath will wax hot against them at that day, and I will forsake them, and will hide my face from them: then they shall be consumed, and many adversities and tribulations shall come upon them: so then they will say, Are not these troubles come upon me, because God is not with me?

18 But I will surely hide my face in that day, because of all the evil which they shall commit, in that they are turned unto other gods.

19 Now therefore write ye this song for you, and teach it the children of Israel: put it in their mouths, that this song may be my witness against the children of Israel.

20 For

^s By heaven and the sea, he meaneth places most far distant.

^h Even the law and the gospel.

ⁱ By faith in Christ.

^k So that love and obey God is only life and felicity.

^l He addeth these promises to signify, that it is for profit that love him, and not for his.

^m That is, love and obey God: which thing is not in man's power, but God's Spirit only worketh it in his elect.

ⁿ I can no longer execute mine office:

^o Into your hands.

[¶] For he that must govern the people, hath need to be valiant to repress vice, and constant to maintain virtue.

[¶] Signifying, that man can never be of good courage, except he be persuaded of God's favour and assistance.

[¶] Before the ark of the covenant, which was the sign of God's presence, and the figure of Christ.

[¶] Which were not born when the law was given.

[¶] In a cloud that was fashioned like a pillar.

[¶] That is, I will take my favour from them; as to turn his face toward us, is to shew us his favour.

[¶] To preserve you and your children from idolatry, by remembering of God's benefits.

20 For I will bring them into the land (which I swore unto their fathers) that floweth with milk and honey, and they shall eat, and fill themselves, and wax fat: then shall they turn unto other gods, and serve them, and contemn me, and break my covenant.

21 And then when many adversities and tribulations shall come upon them, this song shall answer them to their faces as a witness: for it shall not be forgotten out of the mouths of their posterity: for I know their imagination, which they go about even now, before I have brought them into the land which I swore.

22 ¶ Moses therefore wrote this song the same day, and taught it the children of Israel.

23 And God gave Joshua the son of Nun charge, and said, Be strong, and of a good courage: for thou shalt bring the children of Israel into the land which I swore unto them, and I will be with thee.

24 ¶ And when Moses had made an end of writing the words of this law in a book until he had finished them,

25 Then Moses commanded the Levites, which bare the ark of the covenant of the Lord, saying, 26 Take the book of this law, and put ye it in the side of the ark of the covenant of the Lord your God, that it may be there for a witness against thee.

27 For I know thy rebellion and thy stiff neck: behold, I being yet alive with you this day, ye are rebellious against the Lord: how much more then after my death?

28 Gather unto me all the elders of your tribes, and your officers, that I may speak these words in their audience, and call heaven and earth to record against them:

29 For I am sure that after my death ye will utterly be corrupt and turn from the way which I have commanded you: therefore evil will come upon you at the length, because ye will commit evil in the sight of the Lord, by provoking him to anger through the work of your hands.

30 Thus Moses spake in the audience of all the congregation of Israel the words of this song, until he had ended them.

C H A P. XXXII.

1 The song of Moses, containing, 7 God's benefits toward the people, 15 and their ingratitude toward him. 20 God menaceth them, 21 and speaketh of the vocation of the Gentiles. 26 Moses commandeth to teach the law to the children. 49 God forewarneth Moses of his death.

HEarken, ye heavens, and I will speak: and let the earth hear the words of my mouth.

¶ For this is the nature of flesh, no longer to obey God, than it is under the rod.

¶ That these evils are come upon them, because they forsook me.

¶ Of thine infidelity, when thou shalt turn away from the doctrine contained therein.

¶ As governors, judges, and magistrates.

¶ By idolatry and worshipping images, which the work of your hands.

¶ As witnesses of this people's ingratitude.

¶ He desireth that he may speak to God's glory, and that the people, as the green grass, may receive the dew of his doctrine.

¶ The Hebrew word is rock, noting that God only is mighty, faithful, and constant in his promise.

2 My doctrine shall drop as the rain, and my speech shall still as the dew, as the shower upon the herbs, and as the great rain upon the grass.

3 For I will publish the name of the Lord: give ye glory unto our God.

4 Perfect is the work of the mighty God: for all his ways are judgment. God is true, and without wickedness: just and righteous is he.

5 They have corrupted themselves toward him by their vice, not being his children, but a froward and crooked generation.

6 Do ye so reward the Lord, O foolish people and unwise? is not he thy father that hath bought thee? he hath made thee, and proportioned thee.

7 ¶ Remember the days of old: consider the years of so many generations: ask thy father, and he will shew thee: thine elders, and they will tell thee.

8 When the most high God divided to the nations their inheritance, when he separated the sons of Adam, he appointed the borders of the people according to the number of the children of Israel.

9 For the Lord's portion is his people: Jacob is the lot of his inheritance.

10 He found him in the land of the wilderness, in waste and roaring wilderness: he led him about, he taught him, and kept him as the apple of his eye.

11 As an eagle stirreth up her nest, fluttereth over her birds, stretcheth out her wings, taketh them, and beareth them on her wings, 12 So the Lord alone led him, and there was no strange god with him.

13 He carried him up to the high places of the earth, that he might eat the fruits of the fields, and he caused him to suck honey out of the stone, and oil out of the hard rock:

14 Butter of kine, and milk of sheep, with fat of the lambs, and rams fed in Bashan, and goats, with the fat of the grains of wheat, and the red liquor of the grape hast thou drunk.

15 ¶ But he that should have been upright when he waxed fat, spurned with his heel: thou art fat, thou art gross, thou art laden with fatness: therefore he forsook God that made him, and regarded not the strong God of his salvation.

16 They provoked him with strange gods: they provoked him to anger with abominations.

17 They offered unto devils, not to God, but to gods whom they knew not: new gods that came newly up, whom their fathers feared not.

18 Thou

¶ Not according to the common creation, but he hath made thee a new creature by his Spirit.

¶ When God by his providence divided the world, he lent for a time that portion the Canaanites, which should after be an inheritance for all his people Israel.

¶ To teach them to fly.

¶ Meaning, of the land of Canaan, which was high in respect of Egypt.

¶ That is, abundance of all things, even in the very rocks.

¶ He sheweth what is the principal end of our vocation.

¶ By changing his service for their superstitions.

¶ Scripture calleth new whatsoever man inventeth, be the error never so old.

18 Thou hast forgotten the mighty God that Bef. Chr. 1451. begat thee, and hast forgotten God that formed thee.

19 The Lord then saw it, and was angry, for the provocation of his ^o sons and of his daughters.

20 And he said, I will hide my face from them: I will see what their end shall be: for they are a froward generation, children in whom is no faith.

21 They have moved me to jealousy with that which is not God: they have provoked me to anger with their vanities: ^o and I will move them to jealousy with those which are no ^p people: I will provoke them to anger with a foolish nation.

22 For fire is kindled in my wrath, and shall burn unto the bottom of hell, and shall consume the earth with her increase, and set on fire the foundations of the mountains.

23 I will spend plagues upon them: I will bestow mine arrows upon them, 24 They shall be burnt with hunger, and consumed with heat, and with bitter destruction: I will also send the teeth of beasts upon them, with the venom of serpents, creeping in the dust.

25 The sword shall ^q kill them without, and in the chambers fear: both the young man and the young woman, the suckling with the man of grey hair.

26 I have said, I would scatter them abroad: I would make their remembrance to cease from among men,

27 Save that I feared the fury of the enemy, lest their adversaries should wax ^r proud, and lest they should say, Our high hand, and not the Lord, hath done all this:

28 For they are a nation void of counsel, neither is there any understanding in them.

29 Oh that they were wise, then they would understand this: they would ^s consider their latter end.

30 How should ^{*} one chase a thousand, and two put ten thousand to flight, except their strong God had sold them, and the Lord had [†] shut them up!

31 For their God is not as our God, even our enemies being judges.

32 For their vine is of the vine of Sodom, and of the vines of Gomorrah: their grapes are grapes of gall, their clusters be bitter.

33 Their ^t wine is the poison of dragons, and the cruel gall of asps.

34 Is not this laid in store with me, and sealed up among my treasures?

35 ^u Vengeance and recompense are mine: their foot shall slide in due time: for the day of their destruction is at hand, and the things that shall come upon them make haste.

36 For the Lord shall judge his people, and [†] repent toward his servants, when he seeth that their power is gone, and none ^v shut up in bold nor left abroad.

37 When men shall say, Where are their gods, their mighty God in whom they trusted, Bef. Chr. 1451.

38 Which did eat the fat of their sacrifices, and did drink the wine of their drink-offering? let them arise up and help you: let him be your refuge.

39 Behold now, for I, I am he, and there is no god with me: ^{*} I kill, and give life: I wound, and I make whole: neither is there any that can deliver out of mine hand. 1 Sam. 2. 6.

40 For I [†] lift up mine hand to heaven, and say, I live for ever.

41 If I whet my glittering sword, and mine hand take hold on judgment, I will execute vengeance on mine enemies, and will reward them that hate me.

42 I will make mine arrows drunk with blood (and my sword shall eat flesh) for the blood of the slain, and of the captives, when I begin to take vengeance of the enemy.

43 ^{} Ye nations, praise his people: for he will avenge the ^{} blood of his servants, and will execute vengeance upon his adversaries, and will be merciful unto his land, and to his people. Rom. 15. 10.

The Book of JOSHUA.

THE ARGUMENT.

In this book the Holy Ghost setteth most lively before our eyes the accomplishment of God's promise, who as he promised by the mouth of Moses that a prophet should be raised up unto the people like unto him, whom he willeth to obey, Deut. 18. 15. so he sheweth himself here true in his promise, as at all other times; and after the death of Moses his faithful servant, he raiseth up Joshua to be ruler and governor over his people, that neither they should be discouraged for lack of a captain, nor have occasion to distrust God's promises hereafter. And because that Joshua might be confirmed in his vocation, and the people also might have none occasion to grudge, as though he were not approved of God; he is adorned with most excellent gifts and graces of God, both to govern the people with counsel, and to defend them with strength, that he lacked nothing which either belonged to a valiant captain, or a faithful minister. So he overcometh all difficulties and bringeth them into the land of Canaan: the which according to God's ordinance he divideth among the people, and appointeth their borders: he establisheth laws and ordinances, and putteth them in remembrance of God's manifold benefits, assuring them of his grace and favour, if they obey God, and contrariwise of his plagues and vengeance, if they disobey him. This history doth represent Jesus Christ the true Joshua, who leadeth us into eternal felicity, which is signified unto us by this land of Canaan. From the beginning of Genesis to the end of this book are contained 2576 years. For from Adam unto the flood are 1656: from the flood unto the departure of Abraham out of Chaldea, 423: and from thence to the death of Joseph, 290. So that Genesis containeth 2369. Exodus 140. The other three books of Moses, 40. Joshua 27. So the whole maketh 2576 years.

5 There shall not a man be able to withstand thee all the days of thy life: as I was with Moses, ¹⁴⁵¹ so will I be with thee: I will not leave thee, nor forsake thee.

6 Be strong and of good courage: for unto this people shalt thou divide the land for an inheritance, which I sware unto their fathers to give them.

7 Only be thou strong, and [†] of a most valiant courage, that thou mayest observe and do according to all the law which Moses my servant hath commanded thee: * thou shalt not turn away from it to the right hand nor to the left, that thou mayest prosper whithersoever thou goest.

8 Let not this book of the law depart out of thy mouth, but meditate therein day and night, that thou mayest observe and do according to all that is written therein: for then shalt thou make thy way prosperous, and then shalt thou [†] have good success.

9 Have not I commanded thee, saying, Be strong and of a good courage, fear not, nor be discouraged? for I the Lord thy God will be with thee, whithersoever thou goest.

10 Then Joshua commanded the officers of the people, saying,

11 Pass through the host, and command the people, saying, Prepare you victuals: for after three days ye shall pass over this Jordan, to go in to possess the land which the Lord your God giveth you to possess it.

12 And unto the Reubenites, and to the Gadites, and to half the tribe of Manassah spake Joshua, saying, 13 Remember the word which Moses the servant of the Lord commanded you, saying, The Lord your God hath given you rest, and hath given you this land.

14 Your wives, your children, and your cattle shall remain in the land which Moses gave you [†] on this side Jordan: but ye shall go over before your brethren armed, all that be men of war, and shall help them, 15 Until the Lord have given your brethren rest, as well as to you, and until they also shall possess the land which the Lord your God giveth them: then shall ye return unto the land of your possession, and shall possess it, which land Moses the Lord's servant gave you on this side Jordan toward the sun rising.

16 Then they answered Joshua, saying, All that thou hast commanded us, we will do, and whithersoever thou sendest us, we will go.

17 As we obeyed Moses in all things, so will we obey thee: only the Lord thy God be with thee, as he was with Moses.

C H A P. IV.

2 God commanded Joshua to set up twelve stones in Jordan. 18 The waters return to their old course. 20 Other twelve stones are set up in Gilgal. 21 This miracle must be declared to the posterity.

^{Deut. 10. 1.} AND when all the people were wholly gone over Jordan, (after the Lord had spoken unto Joshua, saying,

2 Take you twelve men out of the people, out of every tribe a man,

3 And command you them, saying, Take you hence out of the midst of Jordan, out of the place where the priests stood in a ¹ readiness, twelve stones, which ye shall take away with you, and leave them in the ² lodging where you shall lodge this night)

4 Then Joshua called the twelve men, whom he had prepared of the children of Israel, out of every tribe a man.

5 And Joshua said unto them, Go over before the ark of the Lord your God, even through the midst of Jordan, and take up every man of you a stone upon his shoulder, according unto the number of the tribes of the children of Israel,

6 That this may be a sign among you, that when your ³ children shall ask their fathers in time to come, saying, What mean you by these stones?

7 Then ye may answer them, That the waters of Jordan were cut off before the ark of the covenant of the Lord: for when it passed through Jordan, the waters of Jordan were cut off: therefore these stones are ⁴ memorial unto the children of Israel for ever.

8 Then the children of Israel did even so as Joshua had commanded, and took up twelve stones out of the midst of Jordan, as the Lord had said unto Joshua, according to the number of the tribes of the children of Israel, and carried them away with them unto the lodging, and laid them down there.

9 And Joshua set up ⁵ twelve stones in the midst of Jordan, in the place where the feet of the priests, which bare the ark of the covenant, stood, and there have they continued unto this day.

10 ¶ So the priests, which bare the ark, stood in the midst of Jordan, until every thing was finished that the Lord had commanded Joshua to say unto the people, according to all that Moses charged Joshua: then the people hastened and went over.

11 When all the people were clean passed over, the ark of the Lord went over also, and the priests ⁶ before the people.

12 ⁷ And the sons of Reuben, and the sons of Gad, and half the tribe of Manassah, went over before the children of Israel armed, as Moses ^{Bef. Chr.} had charged them. 1451.

13 Even forty thousand prepared for war, went before the ⁸ Lord unto battle, into the plain of Jericho.

14 That day the Lord magnified Joshua in the sight of all Israel, and they ⁹ feared him, as they feared Moses, all the days of his life. ¹⁰ Or, reverence him.

15 And the Lord spake unto Joshua, saying, 16 Command the priests, that bear the ¹¹ ark of the testimony, to come up out of Jordan.

17 Joshua therefore commanded the priests, saying, Come ye up out of Jordan.

18 And when the priests that bare the ark of the covenant of the Lord were come up out of the midst of Jordan, and as soon as the soles of the priests feet were set on the dry land, the waters of Jordan returned unto their place, and flowed over all the banks thereof, as they did before.

19 ¶ So the people came up out of Jordan the tenth ¹² day of the ¹³ first month, and pitched in Gilgal, in the east side of Jericho.

20 Also the twelve stones, which they took out of Jordan, did Joshua pitch in Gilgal.

21 And he spake unto the children of Israel, saying, When your children shall ask their fathers in time to come, and say, What mean these stones?

22 Then ye shall shew your children, and say, Israel came over this Jordan on dry land:

23 For the Lord your God dried up the waters of Jordan before you, until ye were gone over, as the Lord your God did the red Sea, ¹⁴ which he dried up before us, till we were gone over, ¹⁵ Exod. 14. 21, 22.

24 That all the people of the ¹⁶ world may know that the hand of the Lord is mighty, that ye might fear the Lord your God continually.

5 For all the people that came out were circumcised: but all the people that were born in the wilderness by the way, after they come out of Egypt, were not circumcised.

6 For the children of Israel walked forty years in the wilderness, till all the people of the men of war that came out of Egypt were consumed, because they obeyed not the voice of the Lord: unto whom the Lord sware, that he would not shew them the land which the Lord had sworn unto their fathers that he would give us, even land that floweth with milk and honey.

7 So their sons whom he raised up in their stead, Joshua circumcised: for they were uncircumcised, because they circumcised them not by the way.

8 And when they had made an end of circumcising all the people, they abode in the places in the camp till they were whole.

9 After, the Lord said unto Joshua, This day I have taken away the shame of Egypt from you: wherefore he called the name of that place Gilgal, unto this day.

10 ¶ So the children of Israel abode in Gilgal, and kept the feast of the passover the fourteenth day of the month at even, in the plain of Jericho.

11 And they did eat of the corn of the land, on the morrow after the passover, unleavened bread, and parched corn in the same day.

12 And the MAN ceased on the morrow after they had eaten of the corn of the land, neither had the children of Israel MAN any more, but did eat of the fruit of the land of Canaan that year.

13 ¶ And when Joshua was by Jericho, he lift up his eyes, and looked: and behold, there stood a man against him, having a sword drawn in his hand: and Joshua went unto him, and said unto him, Art thou on our side, or on our adversaries?

14 And he said, Nay, but as a captain of the host of the Lord am I now come: then Joshua fell on his face to the earth, and did worship, and said unto him, What faith my Lord unto his servant?

15 And the captain of the Lord's host said unto Joshua, Loose thy shoe off thy foot: for the place whereon thou standest, is holy: and Joshua did so.

NOW Jericho was shut up, and closed, because of the children of Israel: none might go out nor enter in.

2 And the Lord said unto Joshua, Behold, I have given into thine hand Jericho and the king thereof, and the strong men of war.

3 All ye therefore that be men of war, shall compass the city, in going round about the city once: thus shall you do six days:

4 And seven priests shall bear seven trumpets of ram's horns before the ark: and the seventh day ye shall compass the city seven times, and the priests shall blow with the trumpets.

5 And when they make long blast with the rams horns, and ye hear the sound of the trumpet, all the people shall shout with great shout: then shall the wall of the city fall down flat, and the people shall ascend up; every man straight before him.

6 ¶ Then Joshua the son of Nun called the priests, and said unto them, Take up the ark of the covenant, and let seven priests bear seven trumpets of rams horns before the ark of the Lord.

7 But he said unto the people, Go and compass the city: and let him that is armed go forth before the ark of the Lord.

8 ¶ And when Joshua had spoken unto the people, the seven priests bare the seven trumpets of rams horns, and went forth before the ark of the Lord, and blew with the trumpets, and the ark of the covenant of the Lord followed them.

9 ¶ And the men of arms went before the priests, that blew the trumpets: then the gathering host came after the ark, they went and blew the trumpets.

10 (Now Joshua had commanded the people, saying, Ye shall not shout, neither make any noise with your voice, neither shall word proceed out of your mouth, until the day that I say unto you, Shout, then shall ye shout.)

11 So the ark of the Lord compassed the city, and went about it once: then they returned into the host, and lodged in the camp.

12 And Joshua rose early in the morning, and the priests bare the ark of the Lord:

13 Also seven priests bare seven trumpets of rams horns, and went before the ark of the Lord, and going, blew with the trumpets: and the men of arms went before them, but the gathering host came after the ark of the Lord, as they went, and blew the trumpets.

14 And the second day they compassed the city once, and returned into the host: thus they did six days.

15 And when the seventh day came, they rose early,

For they looked daily to remove at the Lord's commandment, which thing they that were circumcised could not do without great danger.

16 And when the priests had blown the trumpets the seventh time, Joshua said unto the people, Shout: for the Lord hath given you the city.

17 And the city shall be an execrable thing, and all that are therein, unto the Lord: only Rahab the harlot shall live, she and all that are with her in the house: for she hid the messengers that we sent.

18 Notwithstanding be ye ware of the execrable thing, lest ye make yourselves execrable, and in taking of the execrable thing make also the host of Israel execrable, and trouble it.

19 But all silver, and gold, and vessels of brass, and iron shall be consecrate unto the Lord, and shall come into the Lord's treasury.

20 So the people shouted, when they had blown trumpets: for when the people had heard the sound of the trumpet, they shouted with a great shout: and the wall fell down flat: so the people went up into the city, every man straight before him: and they took the city.

21 And they utterly destroyed all that was in the city, both man and woman, young and old, and ox, and sheep, and ass, with the edge of the sword.

22 But Joshua had said unto the two men that had spied out the country, Go into the harlot's house, and bring out thence the woman, and all that she hath, as ye sware to her.

23 So the young men that were spies, went in, and brought out Rahab, and her father, and her mother, and her brethren, and all that she had: also they brought out all her family, and put them without the host of Israel.

24 After they burnt the city with fire, and all that was therein: only the silver and the gold, and the vessels of brass and iron, they put into the treasury of the house of the Lord.

25 So Joshua saved Rahab the harlot, and her father's household, and all that she had, and she dwelt in Israel even unto this day, because she had hid the messengers which Joshua sent to spy out Jericho.

26 And Joshua sware at that time, saying, Cursed be the man before the Lord, that riseth up, and buildeth this city Jericho: he shall lay the foundation thereof in his eldest son, and in his youngest son shall he set up the gates of it.

27 So the Lord was with Joshua, and he was famous through all the world.

BUT the children of Israel committed a trespass in the excommunicate thing: for Achan the son of Carmi, the son of Zabdy, the son of Zerah, of the tribe of Judah, took of the excommunicate thing: wherefore the wrath of the Lord was kindled against the children of Israel.

2 And Joshua sent men from Jericho to Ai, which is beside Bethaven, on the east side of Bethel, and spake unto them, saying, Go up, and view the country. And the men went up and viewed Ai.

3 And returned to Joshua, and said unto him, Let not all the people go up, but let it were two or three thousand men go up, and smite Ai, and make not all the people to labour thither, for they are few.

4 So there went up thither of the people about three thousand men, and they fled before the men of Ai.

5 And the men of Ai smote of them upon a thirty and six men: for they chased them from before the gate unto Shebarim, and smote them in the going down: wherefore the hearts of the people melted away like water.

6 ¶ Then Joshua rent his clothes, and fell to the earth upon his face before the ark of the Lord, until the even-tide, he, and the elders of Israel, and put dust upon their heads.

7 And Joshua said, Alas, O Lord God, wherefore hast thou brought this people over Jordan, to deliver us into the hand of the Amorites, and to destroy us? would God we had been content to dwell on the other side Jordan.

8 O Lord, what shall I say, when Israel turn their backs before their enemies?

9 For the Canaanites, and all the inhabitants of the land shall hear of it, and shall compass us, and destroy our name out of the earth: and what wilt thou do unto thy mighty name?

10 ¶ And the Lord said unto Joshua, Get thee up: wherefore liest thou thus upon thy face?

11 Israel hath sinned, and they have transgressed my covenant, which I commanded them: for they have even taken of the excommunicate thing, and have also stolen, and dissembled also, and have put it even with their own stuff.

12 Therefore the children of Israel cannot stand before their enemies, but have turned their backs before their enemies, because they be execrable: neither will I be with you any more, except ye destroy the excommunicate from among you.

13 Up therefore, sanctify the people, and say, Sanctify yourselves against to-morrow: for thus saith the Lord God of Israel, There is an execrable thing among you, O Israel, therefore ye cannot stand against your enemies, until ye have put the execrable thing from among you.

14 In the morning therefore ye shall come according to your tribes, and the tribe which the 15 And he that is taken with the excommunicate thing, shall be burnt with fire, he, and all that he hath, because he hath transgressed the covenant of the Lord, and because he hath wrought folly in Israel.

16 ¶ So Joshua rose up early in the morning, and brought Israel by their tribes: and the tribe of Judah was taken.

17 And he brought the families of Judah, and took the family of the Zarhites, and he brought the family of the Zarhites man by man, and Zabdi was taken.

18 And he brought his household, man by man, and Achan the son of Carmi, the son of Zabdi, the son of Zerah, of the tribe of Judah, was taken.

19 Then Joshua said unto Achan, My son, I beseech thee, give glory to the Lord God of Israel, and make confession unto him, and shew me now what thou hast done: hide it not from me.

20 And Achan answered Joshua, and said, Indeed, I have sinned against the Lord God of Israel, and thus and thus have I done.

21 I saw among the spoil a goodly Babylonish garment, and two hundred shekels of silver, and a wedge of gold of fifty shekels weight, and I coveted them, and took them: and behold, they lie hid in the earth in the midst of my tent, and the silver under it.

22 ¶ Then Joshua sent messengers, which went unto the tent, and behold, it was hid in his tent, and the silver under it.

23 Therefore they took them out of the tent, and brought them unto Joshua, and unto all the children of Israel, and laid them before the Lord.

24 Then Joshua took Achan the son of Zerah, and the silver, and the garment, and the wedge of gold, and his sons, and his daughters, and his oxen, and his asses, and his sheep, and his tent, and all that he had: and all Israel with him brought them unto the valley of Achor.

25 And Joshua said, Inasmuch as thou hast troubled us, the Lord shall trouble thee this day: and all Israel threw stones at him, and burned them with fire, and stoned them with stones.

26 And they cast upon him a great heap of stones unto this day: and so the Lord turned from his fierce wrath: therefore he called the name of that place, The valley of Achor, unto this day.

3 The siege, 19 and winning of Ai. 29 The king thereof is hanged. 30 Joshua setteth up an altar. 32 He writeth the law upon stones, 35 and readeth it to all the people.

AFTER, the Lord said unto Joshua, * Fear not, neither be thou faint-hearted: take all the men of war with thee and arise, go up to Ai: behold; I have given into thine hand the king of Ai, and his people, and his city, and his land.

2 And thou shalt do to Ai, and to the king thereof, as thou didst unto Jericho and to the king thereof, nevertheless the spoil thereof and the cattle thereof shall ye take unto you for prey: thou shalt lie in wait against the city on the back-side thereof.

3 ¶ Then Joshua arose, and all the men of war to go up against Ai: and Joshua chose out thirty thousand strong men, and valiant; and sent them away by night.

4 And he commanded them, saying, Behold, ye shall lie in wait against the city on the back-side of the city: go not very far from the city; but be ye all in a readiness.

5 And I and all the people that are with me, will approach unto the city: and when they shall come out against us, as they did at the first time, then will we flee before them.

6 For they will come out after us, till we have brought them out of the city: for they will say, They flee before us as at the first time: so we will flee before them.

7 Then you shall rise up from lying in wait; and destroy the city: for the Lord your God will deliver it into your hand.

8 And when ye have taken the city, ye shall set it on fire: according to the commandment of the Lord shall ye do: behold; I have charged you.

9 ¶ Joshua then sent them forth; and they went to lie in wait, and abode between Beth-el and Ai, on the west side of Ai: but Joshua lodged that night among the people.

10 And Joshua rose up early in the morning; and numbered the people: and he and the elders of Israel went up before the people against Ai.

11 Also all the men of war that were with him, went up and drew near, and came against the city, and pitched on the north side of Ai: and there was a valley between them and Ai:

12 And he took about five thousand men; and set them to lie in wait between Beth-el and Ai, on the west side of the city.

13 And the people set all the host that was on the north side against the city, and the liers in wait on the west, against the city: and Joshua went the same night into the midst of the valley.

8 And they said unto Joshua, We are thy servants. Then Joshua said unto them, Who are ye? and whence come ye?

9 And they answered him, From a very far country thy servants are come for the name of the Lord thy God: for we have heard his fame, and all that he hath done in Egypt,

10 And all that he hath done to the two kings of the Amorites that were beyond Jordan, to Sihon king of Heshbon, and to Og king of Bashan, which were at Ashtaroth.

14 ¶ And the men accepted their tale concerning their victuals, and counselled not with the mouth of the Lord.

15 So Joshua made peace with them, and made a league with them, that he would suffer them to live: also the princes of the congregation sware unto them.

16 ¶ But at the end of three days, after they had made a league with them, they heard that they were their neighbours, and that they dwelt among them.

17 And the children of Israel took their journey, and came unto their cities the third day, and their cities were Gibeon, and Chephirah, and Beeroth, an Kiriath-jearim.

18 And the children of Israel slew them not, because the princes of the congregation had sworn unto them by the Lord God of Israel: wherefore all the congregation murmured against the princes.

19 Then all the princes said unto all the congregation, We have sworn unto them by the Lord God of Israel: now therefore we may not touch them.

20 But this we will do to them, and let them live, lest the wrath be upon us, because of the oath which we sware unto them.

21 And the princes said unto them again, Let them live, but they shall hew wood, and draw water unto all the congregation, the princes appoint them.

22 Joshua then called them, and talked with them, and said, Wherefore have ye beguiled us, saying, We are very far from you, when ye dwell among us?

Bef. Chr. 1451.

24 And they answered Joshua, and said, Because it was told thy servants, that the Lord thy God had commanded his servant Moses to give you all the land, and to destroy all the inhabitants of the land out of your sight, therefore we were exceeding sore afraid for our lives at the presence of you, and have done this thing: Deut. 7. 21

25 And behold now, we are in thine hand: do as it seemeth good and right in thine eyes to do unto us.

26 Even so did he unto them, and delivered them out of the hand of the children of Israel, that they slew them not.

27 And Joshua appointed them that same day to be hewers of wood, and drawers of water for the congregation, and for the altar of the Lord unto this day, in the place which he should chuse.

Five kings make war against Gibeon, whom Joshua discomfiteb. 11 The Lord rained hail-stones and slew many. 12 The sun standeth at Joshua's prayer. 26 The five kings are hanged. 29 Many more cities and kings are destroyed.

NOW when Adoni-zedek king of Jerusalem had heard how Joshua had taken Ai and had destroyed it, (* for as he had done to Jericho, and to the king thereof, so he had done to Ai, and to the king thereof) and how the inhabitants of Gibeon had made peace with Israel, and were among them, Ch. 6. 15, 21. Ch. 8. 31. 28. 29.

2 Then they feared exceedingly: for Gibeon was a great city, as one of the royal cities: for it was greater than Ai, and all the men thereof were mighty.

3 Wherefore Adoni-zedek king of Jerusalem sent unto Hoham king of Hebron, and unto Piram king of Jarmuth, and unto Japhia king of Lachish, and unto Debir king of Eglon, saying,

4 Come up unto me, and help me, that we may smite Gibeon: for they have made peace with Joshua and with the children of Israel.

5 Therefore the five kings of the Amorites, the king of Jerusalem, the king of Hebron, the king of Jarmuth, the king of Lachish, and the king of Eglon, gathered themselves together, and went up, they with all their hosts, and besieged Gibeon, and made war against it.

7 So Joshua ascended from Gilgal, he, and all the people of war with him, and all the men of might.

8 ¶ And the Lord said unto Joshua, Fear them not: for I have given them into thine hand: none of them shall stand against thee.

9 Joshua therefore came unto them suddenly: for he went up from Gilgal all the night.

10 And the Lord discomfited them before Israel, and slew them with a great slaughter at Gibeon, and chased them along the way that goeth up to Beth-horon, and smote them to Azekah and to Makkedah.

11 And as they fled from before Israel, and were in the going down to Beth-horon, the Lord cast down great stones from heaven upon them until Azekah, and they died: they were more that died with the hail-stones, than they whom the children of Israel slew with the sword.

12 ¶ Then spake Joshua to the Lord, in the day when the Lord gave the Amorites before the children of Israel, and he said in the sight of Israel, * Sun, stay thou in Gibeon, and thou moon in the valley of Ajalon.

13 And the sun abode, and the moon stood still, until the people avenged themselves upon their enemies: (is not this written in the book of Jasher?) so the sun abode in the midst of the heaven, and hastened not to go down for a whole day.

14 And there was no day like that before it, nor after it, that the Lord heard the voice of a man: for the Lord fought for Israel.

15 ¶ After, Joshua returned, and all Israel with him unto the camp to Gilgal:

16 But the five kings fled and were hid in a cave at Makkedah.

17 And it was told Joshua, saying, The five kings are found hid in a cave at Makkedah.

18 Then Joshua said, Roll great stones upon the mouth of the cave, and set men by it for to keep them.

19 But stand ye not still: follow after your enemies, and † smite all the hindmost, suffer them not to enter into their cities: for the Lord your God hath given them into your hand.

20 And when Joshua and the children of Israel had made an end of slaying them with an exceeding great slaughter till they were consumed, and the rest that remained of them were entered into walled cities, 21 Then all the people returned to the camp to Joshua at Makkedah in peace: no man moved his tongue against the children of Israel.

22 After, Joshua said, Open the mouth of the cave, and bring out these five kings unto me forth of the cave.

23 And they did so, and brought out those five kings unto him forth of the cave, even the king of Jerusalem, the king of Hebron, the king of Jarmuth, the king of Lachish, and the king of Eglon.

24 And when they had brought out those kings unto Joshua, Joshua called for all the men of Israel, and said unto the chief of the men of war, which went with him, Come near, set your feet upon the necks of these kings: and they came near and set their feet upon their necks.

25 And Joshua said unto them, Fear not, nor be faint-hearted, but be strong and of a good courage: for thus will the Lord do to all your enemies, against whom ye fight.

26 So then Joshua smote them, and slew them, and hanged them on five trees, and they hanged still upon the trees until the evening.

27 And at the going down of the sun, Joshua gave commandment, that they should take them down off the trees, and cast them into the cave (wherein they had been hid) and they laid great stones upon the cave's mouth, which remain until this day.

28 ¶ And that same day Joshua took † Makkedah, and smote it with the edge of the sword, and the king thereof destroyed he with them, and † all the souls that were therein, he let none remain: for he did to the king of Makkedah * as he had done to the king of Jericho.

30 And the Lord gave † it also and the king thereof into the hand of Israel: and he smote it with the edge of the sword, and all the † souls that were therein: he let none remain in it: for he did unto the king thereof, as he had done unto the king of Jericho.

31 ¶ And Joshua departed from Libnah, and all Israel with him unto Lachish, and besieged it, and assaulted it, 32 And the Lord gave † Lachish, into the hand of Israel, which took it the second day, and smote it with the edge of the sword, and all the souls that were therein, according to all as he had done to Libnah.

33 ¶ Then Hiram king of † Gezer came up to help Lachish: but Joshua smote him and his people until none of his remained.

34 ¶ And from Lachish Joshua departed unto † Eglon, and all Israel with him, and they besieged it, and assaulted it, 35 And they took it the same day, and smote it with the edge of the sword, and all the souls that were therein he utterly destroyed the same day, according to all that he had done to Lachish.

36 Then Joshua went up from Eglon, and all Israel with him unto Hebron, and they fought against it.

37 And when they had taken † it, they smote it with the edge of the sword, and the king thereof, and all the cities thereof, and all the souls that were therein: he left none remaining, according to all as he had done to Eglon: for he destroyed it utterly, and all the souls that were therein.

NOW when Joshua was old, and stricken in years, the Lord said unto him, Thou art old and grown in age, and there remaineth exceeding much land to be possessed:

23 And the border of the children of Reuben was Jordan with the coasts. This was the inheritance of the children of Reuben, according to their families, with the cities, and their villages.

24 ¶ Also Moses gave inheritance unto the tribe of Gad, ^{Num. 31.} even unto the children of Gad, according to their families.

25 And their coasts were Jazer, and all the cities of Gilead, and half the land of the children of Ammon unto Aroer, which is before Rabbah:

28 This is the inheritance of the children of Gad, after their families, with the cities, and their villages.

29 ¶ Also Moses gave inheritance unto the half tribe of Manasseh: and this belonged to the half tribe of the children of Manasseh according to their families.

CHAP. XIV.

2 The land of Canaan was divided among the nine tribes and the half. 6 Caleb requireth the heritage that was promised him. 13 Hebron is given him.

THESE also are the places which the children of Israel inherited in the land of Canaan, * which Eleazar the priest, and Joshua the son of Nun, and the chief fathers of the tribes of the children of Israel, distributed to them, ^{Num. 34. 17.}

2 By the lot of their inheritance, as the Lord had commanded by the hand of Moses, to give to the nine tribes, and the half tribe. ^{Num. 26. 55. and 33. 14.}

3 For Moses had given inheritance unto ^{17.} two tribes and an half tribe beyond Jordan: but unto the Levites he gave none inheritance among them.

4 For the children of Joseph were * two tribes, Manasseh and Ephraim: therefore they gave no part unto the Levites in the land, save cities to dwell in, with the suburbs of the same for their beasts and their substance.

5 * As the Lord had commanded Moses, so the children of Israel did when they divided the land. ^{Num. 35. 2. Ch. 21. 2, 3.}

6 ¶ Then the children of Judah came unto Joshua in Gilgal: and Caleb the son of Jephunneh the Kenezite said unto him, Thou knowest what the Lord said unto Moses the man of God, concerning * me and thee in Kadesh-barnea.

7 Forty years old was I, when Moses the servant of the Lord sent me from Kadesh-barnea to espy the land, and I brought him word again, as I thought in mine heart.

8 But ^{17.} my brethren that went up with me, discouraged the heart of the people: yet I followed still the Lord my God.

9 Wherefore Moses sware the same day, saying, Certainly the land whereon thy feet have trodden shall be thine inheritance, and thy childrens for ever, because thou hast followed constantly the Lord my God.

10 Therefore behold now, the Lord hath kept me alive, as he promised: this is the forty and fifth year since the Lord spake this thing unto Moses, while the children of Israel wandered in the wilderness: and now lo, I ^{17.} this day fourscore and five years old:

11 And yet am as strong at this time, ^{17.} I was when Moses sent me: as strong ^{17.} I was then, so strong am I now, ^{17.} either for war, or † for government. ^{17.} Now ^{17.}

12 Now therefore give me this mountain whereof the Lord spake in that day (for thou heardst in that day, how the † Anakims were there, and the cities great and walled) * if so be the Lord will be with me, that I may drive them out, as the Lord said.

13 Then Joshua blessed him, and gave unto Caleb, the son of Jephunneh, Hebron for ■ inheritance.

14 * Hebron therefore became the inheritance of Caleb, the son of Jephunneh the Kenezite, unto this day: because he followed constantly the Lord God of Israel.

15 And the name of * Hebron was before time, Kirjath-arba: which Arba was a * great man among the Anakims: thus the land ceased from war.

CHAP. XV.

1 The lot of the children of Judah, and the names of the cities and villages of the same. 13 Caleb's portion. 18 The request of Achsah.

THIS then was the lot of the tribe of the children of Judah by their families: even * to the border of Edom, and the wilderness of * Zin, southward on the south coast.

2 And their south border was the salt sea coast, from the * point that looketh southward.

3 And it went out on the south side toward Maalet-akrabbim, and went along to Zin, and ascended up on the south side unto Kadesh-barnea, and went along to Hezron, and went up to Adar, and fetched a compass to Karkaa.

4 From thence went it along to Azmon, and reached unto the river of Egypt, and the end of that coast was on the west side: this shall be your south coast.

5 Also the east border shall be the salt sea, unto the * end of Jordan: and the border ■ the north quarter from the point of the sea, and from the end of Jordan.

6 And this border goeth up to Beth-hogla, and goeth along by the north side of Beth-arabah: so the border from thence goeth up to the stone * of Bohan the son of Reuben.

7 Again this border goeth up to Debir from the valley of Achor, and northward, turning toward Gilgal, that lieth before the going up to Adummim, which is on the south side of the river: also this border goeth up to the waters of † En-themesh, and endeth at * En-rogel.

8 Then this border goeth up to the valley of the son of Hinnom, on the south side of the Jebusites: the same is Jerusalem: also this border goeth up to the top of the mountain that lieth before the valley of Hinnom westward, which is by the end of the valley of the † giants northward.

9 So this border compasseth from the top of the mountain unto the fountain of the water of Nephtoah, and goeth out to the cities of mount Ephron: and this border draweth to Baalah, which is † Kirjath-jearim.

10 Then this border compasseth from Baalah westward unto mount Seir, and goeth along unto the side of mount Jearim, which is Chesalon on the north-side: so it cometh down to Bethshemesh, and goeth to Timnah.

11 Also this border goeth out unto the side of Ekron northward: and this border draweth to Shicron, and goeth along to mount Baalah, and stretcheth unto Jabneel: and the ends of this coast ■ to the * sea.

12 And the west border is to the great Sea: so this border shall be the bounds of the children of Judah round about, according to their families.

13 ¶ And unto Caleb the son of Jephunneh did Joshua give ■ part among the children of Judah, ■ the Lord commanded him, even * Kirjath-arba of the father of Anak, which is in Hebron.

14 And Caleb * drove thence three sons of Anak, Seshai, and Ahiman, and Talmai, the sons of Anak.

15 And he went up thence to the inhabitants of Debir: and the name of Debir beforetime was Kirjath-sepher.

16 Then Caleb said, He that smiteth Kirjath-sepher, and taketh it, even to him will I give Achsah my daughter to wife.

17 And Othniel, the son of Kenaz, the † brother of Caleb, took it: and he gave him Achsah his daughter to wife.

18 And as she went in to him, she moved him to ask of her father a field: * and she lighted off her ass, and Caleb said unto her, What wilt thou?

19 Then she answered, † Give me a blessing: for thou hast given me the south country: * give ■ also springs of water. And he gave her the springs above and the springs beneath.

20 This shall be the inheritance of the tribe of the children of Judah according to their families.

21 And the utmost cities of the tribe of the children of Judah, toward the coasts of Edom southward, were Kabzeel, and Eder, and Jagur,

22 And Kinah, and Dibonah, and Adadah,

23 And Kedesh, and Hazor, and Ithnan,

24 Ziph, and Telem, and Bealoth,

25 And Hazor, Hadattah, and Kerioth, Hezron (which is Hazor)

26 Aman, and Shemah, and Moladah,

27 And Hazar-gaddah, and Heshmon, and Beth-palet,

28 And Hazar-shual, and Beerseba, and Bizjothjah,

29 Baalah, and Iim, and Azem,

30 And Eltolad, and Chesil, * and Hormah,

31 And Ziklag, and Madmanna, and Sanfannah,

32 And Lebaoth, and Shilhim, and Ain, and Rimmon: all these cities are twenty and nine with their villages.

33 ¶ In the low country were Eshtaol, and Zoreah, and Ashnah,

34 And

 38 And Dileam, and Mizpeh, and Joktheel,
 39 Lachish, and Bozkath, and Eglon,
 40 And Cabbon, and Lahmas, and Kithlish,
 41 And Gederoth, Beth-dagon, and Naamah, and Makkedah: sixteen cities with their villages.
 42 Lebnah, and Ether, and Ashan,

 46 From Ekron, even unto the sea, all that lieth about Ashdod, with their villages.
 47 Ashdod with her towns and her villages: Azzah with her towns and her villages, unto the ^c river of Egypt, and the great Sea, was their coast.
 48 ¶ And in the mountains were Shamir, and Jattir, and Socoh,
 49 And Dannah, and ^d Kirjath-fannah (which is Debir)
 50 And Anab, and Eshtemoth, and Anim,
 51 And Goshen, and Holon, and Giloh: eleven cities with their villages.
 52 Arab, and Dumah, and Eshean,
 53 And Janum, and Beth-tappuah, and Aphekah,
 54 And Humtah, and * Kirjath-arba (which is Hebron) and Zior: nine cities with their villages.
 55 Maon, Carmel, and Ziph, and Juttah,
 56 And Jezreel, and Jokdeam, and Zanoah,
 57 Kain, Gibeah, and Timnah: ten cities with their villages.
 58 Halhul, Beth-zur, and Gedor,
 59 And Maarah, and Beth-anoth, and Eltekon: six cities with their villages.
 60 Kirjath-baal, which is Kirjath-jearim, and Rabbah: two cities with their villages.
 61 ¶ In the wilderness were Beth-arabah, Middin, and Secacah, 62 And Nibshan, and the ^e city of salt, and En-gedi: six cities with their villages.
 63 Nevertheless, the Jebusites that were the inhabitants of Jerusalem, could not the children of Judah cast ^f out, but the Jebusites dwell with the children of Judah at Jerusalem unto this day.

C H A P. XVI.

¹ The lot or part of Ephraim. ¹⁰ The Canaanites dwelled among them.

AND the lot fell to the ^h children of Joseph from Jordan by Jericho unto the water of Jericho eastward, and to the wilderness that goeth up from Jericho by the mount Beth-el:

¶ And goeth out from Beth-el to * Luz, and runneth along unto the borders of Archiataroth,

3 And goeth down westward to the coast of Japhleti, unto the coast of Beth-horon the nether, and to Gezer: and the ends ^h thereof are at the sea.

4 So the children of Joseph, Manasseh and Ephraim ⁱ, took their inheritance.

5 ¶ Also the borders of the children of Ephraim according to their families, even the borders of their inheritance on the east side, were Atroth-addar, unto Beth-horon the upper.

6 And this border goeth out to the sea unto Michmethah on the north side, and this border returneth eastward unto Taanath-shiloh, and passeth it on the east side unto Janohah,

7 And goeth down from Janohah to Ataroth, and Naarath, and cometh to Jericho, ^k and goeth out at Jordan.

¶ And this border goeth from Tappuah westward unto the river Kanah, and the ends thereof are at the sea: this is the inheritance of the tribe of the children of Ephraim by their families.

9 And the ^l separate cities for the children of Ephraim were among the inheritance of the children of Manasseh: all the cities with their villages.

10 And they cast not out the Canaanite that dwelt in Gezer, but the Canaanite dwelt among the Ephraimites unto this day, and served under tribute.

C H A P. XVII.

¹ The portion of the half tribe of Manasseh. ³ The daughters of Zelophehad. ¹³ The Canaanites are become tributaries. ¹⁴ Manasseh and Ephraim require a greater portion of heritage.

THIS was also the lot of the tribe of Manasseh; for he was the * first born of Joseph, to wit, of Machir the first born of Manasseh, and the father of Gilead: now because he was a man of war, he had Gilead and Bashan.

2 And also ^m of the ⁿ rest of the sons of Manasseh by their families, even of the sons of Abiezer, and of the sons of Helek, and of the sons of Azriel, and of the sons of Shechem, and of the sons of Hopher, and of the sons of Shemida: these were the males of Manasseh, the son of Joseph, according to their families.

3 ¶ * But Zelophehad the son of Hopher, the son of Gilead, the son of Machir, the son of Manasseh, had no sons, but daughters: and these are the names of his daughters, Mahlah, and Noah, Hoglah, Milcah, and Tirzah:

4 Which came before Eleazar the priest, and before Joshua the son of Nun, and before the princes, saying, The Lord commanded Moses to give us ^o inheritance among our ^p brethren:

^e Of this city the salt sea hath his name.

^f That is, utterly, though they slew the most part, and burnt the city, Judg. 1. 8.

^g That is, to Ephraim and his children: for Manasseh's portion followeth.

^h Of their inheritance.

¹ Severally, first Ephraim, and then Manasseh.

² For ^o far the coasts reach.

³ Because Ephraim's tribe was far greater than Manasseh, therefore he had more cities.

⁴ For the other half tribe had their portion beyond Jordan.

⁵ Among them of our tribe.

1444 therefore according to the commandment of the Lord he gave them an inheritance among the brethren of their father.

5 And there fell ten portions to ° Manasseh, beside the land of Gilead and Bashan, which is on the other side of Jordan,

6 Because the daughters of Manasseh did inherit among his sons: and Manasseh's other sons had the land of Gilead.

7 ¶ So the borders of Manasseh were from Asher to Michmethah that lieth before Shechem, and this border goeth on the right hand, even unto the inhabitants of En-tappuah.

8 The land of Tappuah belonged to Manasseh, but ° Tappuah beside the border of Manasseh belongeth to the sons of Ephraim.

9 Also this border goeth down unto the † river Kanah southward to the river: these cities of Ephraim are among the cities of Manasseh: and the border of Manasseh is on the north-side of the river, and the ends of it are at the † sea.

10 The south pertaineth to Ephraim, and the north to Manasseh, and the sea is his border: and they met together in † Asher northward, and in Issachar eastward.

11 And Manasseh had in Issachar and in Asher, Beth-shean and her towns, and Ibleam and her towns, and the inhabitants of Dor with the towns thereof, and the inhabitants of En-dor with the towns thereof, and the inhabitants of Taanach with her towns, and the inhabitants of Megiddo with the towns of the same, even three countries:

12 Yet the children of Manasseh † could not destroy those cities, but the Canaanites dwelled still in that land.

13 Nevertheless, when the children of Israel were strong, they put the Canaanites under tribute, but cast them not out wholly.

14 Then the children of Joseph spake unto Joshua, saying, Why hast thou given me but one lot and one portion to inherit, seeing I am a great people, inasmuch as the Lord hath † blessed me hitherto?

15 Joshua then answered them, If thou be much people, get thee up to the wood, and cut trees for thyself there in the land of the Perizzites and of the giants, † if mount Ephraim be too narrow for thee.

16 Then the children of Joseph said, The mountain will not be enough for us: and all the Canaanites that dwell in the low country have chariots of iron, as well they in Beth-shean, and in the towns of the same, as they in the valley of Izreel.

17 And Joshua spake unto the house of Joseph, to Ephraim, and to Manasseh, saying, Thou art a great people, and hast great power, and shalt not have one lot.

° In the land of Canaan: five ■ the males, and other five to the daughters of Zelophehad.

† Meaning, the city itself.

§ In the tribe of Asher, and the tribe of Issachar.

‡ According ■ my father Jacob's prophecy, Gen. 48. 19.

§ If this mount be not large enough, why dost not thou get more by destroying God's enemies, as he hath commanded?

¶ So that thou shalt enlarge thy portion thereby.

18 Therefore the mountain shall be thine: for it is ■ wood, and thou shalt cut it down: and the ends of it shall be thine, † and thou shalt cast out the Canaanites, though they have iron chariots, and though they be strong.

C H A P. XVIII.

1 The tabernacle set in Shiloh. 4 Certain are sent to divide the land to the other seven tribes. 11 The lot of the children of Benjamin.

AND the whole congregation of the children of Israel came together at Shiloh: for they set up the † tabernacle of the congregation there, after the land was subject unto them.

2 Now there remained among the children of Israel seven tribes, to whom † they had not divided their inheritance.

3 Therefore Joshua said unto the children of Israel, How long are ye so slack to enter and possess the land which the Lord God of your fathers hath given you?

4 Give from among you for every tribe three men, that I may send them, and that they may rise, and walk through the land, and distribute it according to † their inheritance, and return to me.

5 And that they may divide it unto them into seven parts (Judah shall abide in his coast at the south, and the house of Joseph shall † stand in their coasts at the north.)

6 Ye shall describe the land therefore into seven parts, and shall bring them hither to me, and I will cast lots for you here before the † Lord our God.

7 But the Levites shall have no part among you: for the † priesthood of the Lord is their inheritance: also Gad and Reuben, and half the tribe of Manasseh, have received their inheritance beyond Jordan eastward, which Moses the servant of the Lord gave them.

8 ¶ Then the men arose and went their way: and Joshua charged them that went to describe the land, saying, Depart, and go through the land, and † describe it, and return to me, that I may here cast lots for you before the Lord in Shiloh.

9 So the men departed, and passed through the land, and described it by cities into seven parts in ■ book, and returned to Joshua into the camp at Shiloh.

10 ¶ Then Joshua † cast lots for them in Shiloh before the Lord, and there Joshua divided the land unto the children of Israel, according to their portions.

11 ¶ And the lot of the tribe of the children of Benjamin came forth according to their families, and the coast of their lot † lay between the children of Judah, and the children of Joseph.

12 And

† For they had now removed it from Gilgal, and set it up in Shiloh.

¶ By writing the names of every country and city.

‡ That every ■ should be content with God's appointment.

§ Their inheritance bordered upon Judah and Joseph.

12 And their coast on the north side was from Jordan, and the border went up to the side of Jericho on the north part, and went up through the mountains westward, and the ends thereof are in the wilderness of Beth-aven :

13 And this border goeth along from thence to Luz, even to the south side of Luz (the same is ⁵ Beth-el) and this border descendeth to Atroth-addar, near the mount, that lieth on the south side of Beth-horon the nether.

14 So the border turneth, and compasseth the corner of the sea southward, from the mount that lieth before Beth-horon southward : and the ends thereof are at Kirjath-baal (which is Kirjath-jearim) ■ city of the children of Judah : this is the west quarter.

15 And the south quarter is from the end of Kirjath-jearim, and this border goeth out † westward, and cometh to the fountain of waters of Nephtoah.

16 And this border descendeth at the end of the mountain, that lieth before the valley of Binnom, which is in the valley of the † giants northward, and descendeth into the valley of Hinnom by the side of † Jebusi southward, and goeth down to En-rogel,

17 And compasseth from the north, and goeth forth to ^h En-shemesh, and stretcheth to Geliloth, which is toward the going up unto Adummim, and goeth down to the ■ stone of Bohan the son Reuben.

18 So it goeth along to the side over-against the plain northward : and down into the plain.

19 After, this border goeth along to the side of Beth-hoglah northward : and the ends thereof, that is, of the border, reach to the point of the salt sea northward, and to the ¹ end of Jordan southward : this is the south coast.

20 Also Jordan is the border of it on the east side : this is the inheritance of the children of Benjamin by the coasts thereof round about, according to their families.

21 Now the cities of the tribe of the children of Benjamin, according to their families, are Jericho, and Beth-hoglah, and the valley of Keziz,

22 And Beth-arabah, and Zemaraim, and Beth-el,

23 And Avim, and Parah, and Ophrah,

24 And Chephar-haammonai, and Ophni, and Gaban : twelve cities with their villages.

25 Gibeon, and Ramah, and Beeroth,

26 And Mizpeh, and Chephirah, and Mozah,

27 And Rekem, and Irpeel, and Taralah,

28 And Zela, Eleth, and Jebusi, (which is ² Jerusalem) Gibeath, and Kirjath : fourteen cities with their villages : this is the inheritance of the children of Benjamin, according to their families.

10 ¶ Also the third lot arose for the children of Zebulun, according to their families : and the coasts of their inheritance came to Sarid :

20 And Rabbith, and Kishion, and Abez,

21 And Remeth, and [■] En-gannim, and En-haddah, and Beth-pazzez.

23 This is the inheritance of the tribe of the children of Issachar, according to their families: that is, the cities and their villages.

24 ¶ Also the fifth lot came out for the tribe of the children of Asher, according to their families:

25 And their coast was Helkath, and Hali, and Betan, and Achshaph, 26 And Alammelech, and Amad, and Mithal, and came to Carmel westward, and to Shihor-libnath,

27 And turneth toward the sun-rising to Beth-dagon, and cometh to ² Zebulun, and to the valley of Jiphthah-el, toward the north side of Beth-emek, and Neiel, and goeth out on the left side of Cabul,

28 And to Hebron, and Rehob, and Hammon, and Kanah, unto great Zidon:

29 Then the coast turneth to Ramah and to the strong city of Zor, and this border turneth to Hofah, and the ends thereof are at the sea from Hebel to Achzib, 30 Ummah also and Aphek, and Rehob: two and twenty cities with their villages.

31 This is the inheritance of the tribe of the children of Asher, according to their families: that is, these cities and their villages.

32 ¶ The sixth lot came out to the children of Naphtali, even to the children of Naphtali, according to their families:

33 And their coast was from ¹ Heleph, and from Allon in Zaananim, and Adami, Nekeb, and Jabneel, even to Lakum, and the ends thereof are at Jordan.

34 So this coast turneth westward to Aznoth-tabor, and goeth out from thence to Hukkok, and reacheth to Zebulun on the south-side, and goeth to Asher on the west-side, and to Judah [†] by Jordan toward the sun-rising.

† Or, even unto Jordan.

39 This is the inheritance of the tribe of the children of Naphtali, according to their families: that is, the cities and their villages.

40 ¶ The seventh lot came out for the tribe of the children of Dan, according to their families.

41 And the coast of their inheritance was Zorah, and Eshtaol, and Ir-shemesh, 42 And Shaalabbin, and Ajalon, and Jethlah,

43 And Elon, and Temnathah, and Ekron,

C H A P. XXII.

1 Reuben, Gad, and the half tribe of Manasseh, are sent again to their possession. 10 They build an altar for a memorial. 15 The Israelites reprove them. 22 Their answer for defence of the same.

THEN Joshua called the Reubenites, and the Gadites, and the half tribe of Manasseh,

2 And said unto them, Ye have kept all that Moses the servant of the Lord commanded you, and have obeyed my voice in all that I commanded you:

3 Ye have not forsaken your brethren this long season unto this day, but have diligently kept the commandment of the Lord your God.

4 And now the Lord hath given rest unto your brethren as he promised them: therefore now return ye and go to your tents, to the land of your possession, which Moses the servant of the Lord hath given you beyond Jordan.

5 But take diligent heed to do the commandment and law which Moses the servant of the Lord commanded you: that is, that ye love the Lord your God, and walk in all his ways, and keep his commandments, and cleave unto him, and serve him with all your heart, and with all your soul.

6 So Joshua blessed them, and sent them away, and they went unto their tents.

7 Now unto one half of the tribe of Manasseh Moses had given a possession in Bashan: and unto the other half thereof gave Joshua among their brethren on this side Jordan westward: therefore when Joshua sent them away unto their tents, and blessed them,

8 Thus he spake unto them, saying, Return with much riches unto your tents, and with a great multitude of cattle, with silver and with gold, with brass and with iron, and with great abundance of raiment: divide the spoil of your enemies with your brethren.

9 So the children of Reuben, and the children of Gad, and half the tribe of Manasseh returned, and departed from the children of Israel from Shiloh (which is in the land of Canaan) to go unto the country of Gilead to the land of their possession, which they had obtained, according to the word of the Lord by the hand of Moses.

10 And when they came unto the borders of Jordan (which are in the land of Canaan) then the children of Reuben, and the children of Gad, and the half tribe of Manasseh, built there an altar by Jordan, a great altar to see to.

11 When the children of Israel heard say, Behold, the children of Reuben, and the children of Gad, and the half tribe of Manasseh, have built an altar in the fore-front of the land of Canaan upon the borders of Jordan, at the passage of the children of Israel:

12 When the children of Israel heard it, then the whole congregation of the children of Israel gathered them together at Shiloh, to go up to war against them.

13 Then the children of Israel sent unto the children of Reuben, and to the children of Gad, and to the half tribe of Manasseh, into the land of Gilead, Phinehas the son of Eleazar the priest, 14 And with him ten princes, of every chief house a prince, according to all the tribes of Israel: for every one was chief of their fathers household among the thousands of Israel.

15 So they went unto the children of Reuben, and to the children of Gad, and to the half tribe of Manasseh, unto the land of Gilead, and spake with them, saying,

16 Thus saith the whole congregation of the Lord, What transgression is this that ye have transgressed against the God of Israel, to turn away this day from the Lord, in that ye have built you an altar for to rebel this day against the Lord?

17 Have we too little for the wickedness of Peor, whereof we are not cleansed unto this day, though a plague came upon the congregation of the Lord?

18 Ye also are turned away this day from the Lord: and seeing ye rebel to-day against the Lord, even to-morrow he will be wroth with all the congregation of Israel.

19 Notwithstanding if the land of your possession be unclean, come ye over unto the land of the possession of the Lord, wherein the Lord's tabernacle dwelleth, and take possession among us: but rebel not against the Lord, nor rebel not against us, in building you an altar, beside the altar of the Lord our God.

2 Joshua rehearseth God's benefits, 14 and exhorteth the people to fear God. 25 The league renewed between God and the people. 29 Joshua dieth. 32 The bones of Joseph are burned. 33 Eleazar dieth.

AND Joshua assembled again all the tribes of Israel to Shechem, and called the elders of Israel, and their heads, and their judges, and their officers, and they presented themselves before God.

2 Then Joshua said unto all the people, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Your fathers dwelt beyond the flood in old time, even Terah the father of Abraham, and the father of Nahor, and served other gods.

3 And I took your father Abraham from beyond the flood, and brought him through all the land of Canaan, and multiplied his seed, and gave him Isaac.

4 And I gave unto Isaac Jacob and Esau: and I gave unto Esau mount Seir, to possess it: but Jacob and his children went down into Egypt.

5 I sent Moses also and Aaron, and I plagued Egypt: and when I had so done among them, I brought you out.

6 So I brought your fathers out of Egypt, and ye came unto the sea, and the Egyptians pursued after your fathers with chariots and horsemen unto the Red sea.

7 Then they cried unto the Lord, and he put a darkness between you and the Egyptians, and brought the sea upon them, and covered them: so your eyes have seen what I have done in Egypt: also ye dwelt in the wilderness a long season.

8 After, I brought you into the land of the Amorites, which dwelt beyond Jordan, and they fought with you: but I gave them into your hand, and ye possessed their country, and I destroyed them out of your sight.

9 Also Balak the son of Zippor king of Moab arose and warred against Israel, and sent to call Balaam the son of Beor for to curse you.

10 But I would not hear Balaam: therefore he blessed you, and I delivered you out of his hand.

11 And ye went over Jordan, and came unto Jericho, and the men of Jericho fought against you, the Amorites, and the Perizzites, and the Canaanites, and the Hittites, and the Girgashites, the Hivites, and the Jebusites, and I delivered them into your hand.

12 And I sent hornets before you, which cast them out before you, even the two kings of the Amorites, and not with thy sword, nor with thy bow.

13 And I have given you land, wherein ye did not labour, and cities which ye built not, and ye dwell in them, and eat of the vineyards and olive-trees which ye planted not.

14 Now therefore fear the Lord, and serve him in uprightness and in truth, and put away the gods which your fathers served beyond the flood and in Egypt, and serve ye the Lord.

15 And if it seem evil unto you to serve the Lord, chuse you this day whom ye will serve, whether the gods which your fathers served (that were beyond the flood) or the gods of the Amorites, in whose land ye dwell: but I and mine house will serve the Lord.

16 Then the people answered and said, God forbid that we should forsake the Lord, to serve other gods.

17 For the Lord our God, he brought us and our fathers out of the land of Egypt, from the house of bondage, and he did those great miracles in our sight, and preserved us in all the way that we went, and among all the people through whom we came.

18 And the Lord did cast out before us all the people, even the Amorites which dwelt in the land: therefore will we also serve the Lord, for he is our God.

19 And Joshua said unto the people, Ye cannot serve the Lord: for he is an holy God: he is a jealous God: he will not pardon your iniquity nor your sins.

20 If ye forsake the Lord and serve strange gods, then he will return and bring evil upon you, and consume you, after that he hath done you good.

21 And the people said unto Joshua, Nay, but we will serve the Lord, 22 And Joshua said unto the people, Ye are witnesses against yourselves, that ye have chosen you the Lord, to serve him: and they said, We are witnesses.

 25 So Joshua made a covenant with the people the same day, and gave them an ordinance and law in Shechem.
 26 And Joshua wrote these words in the book of the law of God, and took a great stone, and pitched it there under an oak that was in the sanctuary of the Lord.
 27 And Joshua said unto all the people, Behold, this stone shall be a witness unto us: for it hath heard all the words of the Lord which he spake with us: it shall be therefore a witness against you, lest ye deny your God.
 28 Then Joshua let the people depart, every man unto his inheritance.
 29 And after these things Joshua the son of Nun, the servant of the Lord died, being an hundred and ten years old.

 30 And they buried him in the border of his inheritance in Timnath-erah, which is in mount Ephraim, on the north-side of mount Gaash.
 31 And Israel served the Lord all the days of Joshua, and all the days of the elders that over-lived Joshua, and which had known all the works of the Lord that he had done for Israel.
 32. And the bones of Joseph, which the children of Israel brought out of Egypt, buried they in Shechem in a parcel of ground which Jacob bought of the sons of Hamor the father of Shechem, for an hundred pieces of silver, and the children of Joseph had them in their inheritance.
 33 Also Eleazar the son of Aaron died, whom they buried in the hill of Phinehas his son, which was given him in mount Ephraim.

The Book of JUDGES.

THE ARGUMENT.

Albeit there is nothing that more provoketh God's wrath than man's ingratitude, yet is there nothing so displeasing and heinous that can turn back God's love from his church. For now when the Israelites were entered into the land of Canaan, and saw the truth of God's promise performed, instead of acknowledging his great benefits, and giving thanks for the same, they fell to most horrible oblivion of God's graces, contrary to their solemn promise made unto Joshua, and so provoked his vengeance (as much as in them stood) to their utter destruction. Whereof as they had most evident signs by the mutability of their state (for he suffered them to be most cruelly vexed and tormented by tyrants; he pulled them from liberty, and cast them into slavery, to the intent they might feel their miseries, and so call unto him and be delivered.) So to shew that his mercies endure for ever, he raised up from time to time such as should deliver them, and assure them of his favour and grace, if they would turn to him by true repentance. And these deliverers the scripture calleth judges, because they were executors of God's judgments, not chosen of the people, nor by succession, but raised up as it seemed best to God for the governance of his people. They were fourteen in number, beside Joshua, and governed from Joshua unto Saul the first king of Israel. Joshua and these unto the time of Saul ruled 377 years. In this book many notable points declared, but two especially: first, the battle that the church of God hath for the maintenance of true religion against idolatry and superstition: next, what great danger that commonwealth is in, when God giveth not a magistrate to retain his people to the pureness of religion and his true service.

CHAP. I.

After Joshua was dead, Judah was constituted captain. 6 Adoni-bezek is taken. 14 The request of Achsah. 16 The children of Keni. 28 The Canaanites are made tributaries, but not destroyed.

AFTER that Joshua was dead, the children of Israel asked the Lord, saying, Who shall go up for us against the Canaanites, to fight first against them?
 2 And the Lord said, Judah shall go up: behold, I have given the land into his hand.

3 And Judah said unto Simeon his brother, Come up with me into my lot, that we may fight against the Canaanites: and I likewise will go with thee into thy lot: so Simeon went with him.
 4 Then Judah went up, and the Lord delivered the Canaanites and the Perizzites into their hands, and they slew of them in Bezek ten thousand men.
 5 And they found Adoni-bezek in Bezek: and they fought against him, and slew the Canaanites, and the Perizzites.

6 But Adoni-bezek fled, and they pursued after him, and caught him, and cut off the thumbs of his hands and of his feet.

7 And Adoni-bezek said, Seventy kings having the thumbs of their hands, and of their feet cut off, gathered bread under my table: as I have done, so God hath rewarded me: so they brought him to Jerusalem, and there he died.

8 Now the children of Judah had fought against Jerusalem, and had taken it and smitten it with the edge of the sword, and had set the city on fire.

9 Afterward also the children of Judah went down to fight against the Canaanites that dwelt in the mountain, and toward the south, and in the low country.

10 And Judah went against the Canaanites that dwelt in Hebron, which Hebron beforetime was called Kirjath-arba: and they slew She-shai, and Ahiman and Talmi.

11 And from thence he went to the inhabitants of Debir, and the name of Debir in old time was Kirjath-sepher.

12 And Caleb said, He that smiteth Kirjath-sepher, and taketh it, even to him will I give Achsah my daughter to wife.

13 And Othniel the son of Kenaz Caleb's younger brother took it, to whom he gave Achsah his daughter to wife.

14 And when she came to him, she moved him to ask of her father a field, and she lighted off her ass, and Caleb said unto her, What wilt thou?

15 And she answered him, Give me a blessing: for thou hast given me a south country, give me also springs of water: and Caleb gave her the springs above and the springs beneath.

16 And the children of Keni, Moses's father-in-law, went up out of the city of the palm-trees with the children of Judah, into the wilderness of Judah, that lieth in the south of Arad, and went and dwelt among the people.

17 But Judah went with Simeon his brother, and they slew the Canaanites that inhabited Zephath, and utterly destroyed it, and called the name of the city Hormah.

18 Also Judah took Azzah with the coasts thereof, and Askelon with the coasts thereof, and Ekron with the coasts thereof.

19 And the Lord was with Judah, and he possessed the mountains: for he could not drive out the inhabitants of the vallies, because they had chariots of iron.

20 And they gave Hebron unto Caleb, as Moses had said, and he expelled thence the three sons of Anak.

21 But the children of Benjamin did not cast out the Jebusites, that inhabited Jerusalem: therefore the Jebusites dwell with the children of Benjamin in Jerusalem unto this day.

22 They also that were of the house of Joseph went up to Beth-el, and the Lord was with them,

23 And the house of Joseph caused to view Beth-el (and the name of the city beforetime was Luz.)

24 And the spies saw a man come out of the city, and they said unto him, Shew us, we pray thee, the way into the city, and we will shew thee mercy.

25 And when he had shewed them the way into the city, they smote the city with the edge of the sword, but they let the man and all his household depart.

26 Then the man went into the land of the Hittites, and built a city, and called the name thereof Luz, which is the name thereof unto this day.

27 Neither did Manasseh destroy Beth-shean with her towns, nor Taanach with her towns, nor the inhabitants of Dor with her towns, nor the inhabitants of Ibleam with her towns: but the Canaanites dwelled still in that land.

28 Nevertheless when Israel was strong, they put the Canaanites to tribute, and expelled them not wholly.

29 Likewise Ephraim expelled not the Canaanites that dwelt in Gezer, but the Canaanites dwelt in Gezer among them.

30 Neither did Zebulun expel the inhabitants of Kitron, nor the inhabitants of Nahalol, but the Canaanites dwelt among them, and became tributaries.

31 Neither did Asher cast out the inhabitants of Accho, nor the inhabitants of Zidon, nor of Ahlab, nor of Achzib, nor of Helbah, nor of Aphik, nor of Rehob, 32 But the Asherites dwelt among the Canaanites the inhabitants of the land: for they did not drive them out.

33 Neither did Naphtali drive out the inhabitants of Beth-sheMesh, nor the inhabitants of Beth-anath, but dwelt among the Canaanites the inhabitants of the land: nevertheless the inhabitants of Beth-sheMesh, and of Beth-anath, became tributaries unto them.

34 And the Amorites drove the children of Dan into the mountain: so that they suffered them not to come down to the valley.

35 And the Amorites dwelt still in mount Heres in Aijalon, and in Shaalbim, and when the hand of Joseph's family prevailed, they became tributaries:

36 And the coasts of the Amorites was from Maaleh-akrabbim, even from Selah and upward.

² * Ye also shall make no covenant with the inhabitants of this land, * but shall break down their altars: but ye have not obeyed my voice. Why have ye done this?

³ Wherefore, I said also, I will not cast them out before you, but they shall be * as thorns unto your sides, and their gods shall be your † destruction.

⁴ And when the angel of the Lord spake these words unto all the children of Israel, the people lift up their voice, and wept.

⁵ Therefore they called the name of that place, † Bochim, and offered sacrifices there unto the Lord.

⁶ ¶ Now when Joshua had ⁷ sent the people away, the children of Israel went every man into his inheritance, to possess the land.

⁸ But Joshua the son of Nun the servant of the Lord died, when he was an hundred and ten years old:

⁹ And they buried him in the coasts of his inheritance, in ¹⁰ Timnath-heres in mount Ephraim, on the north side of mount Gaash.

¹¹ ¶ Then the children of Israel did wickedly in the sight of the Lord and served ¹² Baalim, ¹² And forsook the Lord God of their fathers, which brought them out of the land of Egypt, and followed other gods, even the gods of the people that were round about them, and bowed unto them, and provoked the Lord to anger.

¹³ So they forsook the Lord, and served * Baal, and ¹⁴ Ashtaroth.

¹⁴ And the wrath of the Lord was hot against Israel, and he delivered them into the hands of spoilers, that spoiled them, and he ¹⁵ sold them into the hands of their enemies round about them, so that they could no longer stand before their enemies.

¹⁵ ¹⁶ Whithersoever they went out, the ¹⁷ hand of the Lord was fore against them, ¹⁸ the Lord had said, and as the Lord had sworn unto them: so he punished them sore.

¹⁶ ¶ Notwithstanding, the Lord raised up ¹⁷ judges, which † delivered them out of the hands of their oppressors.

¹⁸ And when the Lord had raised them up judges, the Lord was with the judge, and delivered them out of the hand of their enemies all the days of the judge (for the Lord † had compassion on their groanings, ¹⁹ because of them that oppressed them and tormented them)

¹⁹ Yet * when the judge was dead, they returned, and † did worse than their fathers, in following other gods to serve them and worship them: they ceased not from their own inventions, nor from their rebellious way.

²⁰ Wherefore the wrath of the Lord was kindled against Israel, and he said, Because this people hath transgressed my covenant which I commanded their fathers, and hath not obeyed my voice,

²¹ Therefore will I no more cast out before them any of the ²² nations which Joshua left when he died, ²² That through them I may ²³ prove Israel, whether they will keep the way of the Lord, to walk therein, as their fathers kept it, or not.

8 Therefore the wrath of the Lord was kindled against Israel, and he sold them into the hand of Chushan-rishathaim king of † Aram-naharaim, and the children of Israel served Chushan-rishathaim eight years.

9 ¶ And when the children of Israel cried unto the Lord, the Lord stirred up a saviour to the children of Israel, and he saved them, even Othniel the son of Kenaz, Caleb's younger brother.

10 And the ³ Spirit of the Lord came upon him, and he judged Israel, and went out to war: and the Lord delivered Chushan-rishathaim king of † Aram into his hand, and his hand prevailed against Chushan-rishathaim.

11 So the land had rest ⁴ forty years, and Othniel the son of Kenaz died.

12 ¶ Then the children of Israel again committed wickedness in the sight of the Lord: and the Lord ⁵ strengthened Eglon king of Moab against Israel, because they had committed wickedness before the Lord.

13 And he gathered unto him the children of Ammon, and Amalek, and went and smote Israel, and they possessed the city of palm-trees.

14 So the children of Israel served Eglon king of Moab eighteen years.

15 But when the children of Israel cried unto the Lord, the Lord stirred them up a saviour, Ehud the son of Gera the son of † Jemini, ⁶ a man † lame of his right hand: and the children of Israel sent a present by him unto Eglon king of Moab.

16 And Ehud † made him a dagger with two edges of a cubit length, and did gird it under his raiment upon his right thigh,

17 And he presented the gift unto Eglon king of Moab (and Eglon was a very fat man)

18 And when he had now presented the present, he sent away the people that bare the present,

19 But he turned again from the ⁷ quarries that were by Gilgal, and said, I have a secret errand unto thee, O king. Who said, Keep ⁸ silence: and all that stood about him went out from him.

20 Then Ehud came unto him (and he sat alone in a summer parlour, which he had) and Ehud said, I have a message unto thee from God. Then he arose out of his throne,

21 And Ehud put forth his left hand, and took the dagger from his right thigh, and thrust it into his belly, 22 So that the haft went in after the blade, and the fat closed about the blade, so that he could not draw the dagger out of his belly, but the dirt came out.

23 Then Ehud gat him out into the † porch, and shut the doors of the parlour upon him, and locked them.

24 And when he was gone out, his servants came: who seeing that the doors of the parlour were locked, they said, Surely † he doth his easement in his summer chamber.

25 And they tarried till they were ashamed: and seeing he opened not the doors of the parlour, they took the key, and opened them, and behold, their lord was fallen dead on the earth.

26 So Ehud escaped (while they tarried) and was passed the quarries, and escaped unto Sci-rath.

27 And when he came home, † he blew a trumpet in mount Ephraim, and the children of Israel went down with him from the mountain, and he went before them.

28 Then said he unto them, Follow me: for the Lord hath delivered your enemies, even Moab, into your hand. So they went down after him, and took the passages of Jordan toward Moab, and suffered not a man to pass over.

29 And they slew of the Moabites the same time about ten thousand men, all † fed men, and all were warriors, and there escaped not a man.

1 Israel is oppressed of the Midianites for their wickedness. 24 Gideon is sent to be their deliverer. 37 He asketh a sign.

Afterward the children of Israel committed wickedness in the sight of the Lord, and the Lord gave them into the hands of Midian seven years.

2 And the hand of Midian prevailed against Israel, ^a and because of the Midianites the children of Israel made them dens in the mountains, and caves, and strong holds.

3 When Israel had sown, then came up the Midianites, the Amalekites, and they of the ^b East, and came upon them,

4 And camped by them, and destroyed the fruit of the earth, even till thou come unto ^c Azzah, and left no food for Israel, neither sheep, nor ox, nor ass.

5 For they went up, and their cattle, and came with their tents as grasshoppers in multitude: so that they and their camels were without number: and they came into the land to destroy it.

6 So was Israel exceedingly impoverished by the Midianites: therefore the ^d children of Israel cried unto the Lord.

7 ¶ And when the children of Israel cried unto the Lord because of the Midianites,

8 The Lord sent unto the children of Israel a prophet, who said unto them, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, I have brought you up from Egypt, and have brought you out of the house of bondage,

9 And I have delivered you out of the hand of the Egyptians, and out of the hand of all that oppressed you, and have cast them out before you, and given you their land.

10 And I said unto you, I am the Lord your God: ^e fear not the gods of the Amorites, in whose land you dwell: but ye have not obeyed my voice.

11 ¶ And the angel of the Lord came, and sat under the oak which was in Ophrah, that pertained unto Joash the father of the Ezrites, and his son Gideon threshed wheat by the winepress, ^f to hide it from the Midianites.

12 Then the angel of the Lord appeared unto him, and said unto him, The Lord is with thee, thou valiant man.

13 To whom Gideon answered, ^g Ah my lord, if the Lord be with us, why then is all this come upon us? and where be all his miracles which our fathers told ^h of, and said, Did not the Lord bring us out of Egypt? but now the Lord hath forsaken us, and delivered us into the hand of the Midianites.

14 And the ⁱ Lord looked upon him, and said,

^a That is, she comforted herself.

^b Because he was chief of the army.

^d For fear of the Midianites, they fled into the dens of the mountains.

^e Even almost the whole country.

^f This is the end of God's punishments, ^h call his to repentance, that they may seek for help of him.

^g This came not of distrust, but of weakness of faith, which is in the most perfect: for ^h man in this life can have ^h perfect faith: yet the children of God have a true faith whereby they be justified.

15 And he answered him, Ah, my Lord, whereby shall I save Israel? behold, my [†] father is poor in Manasseh, and I am the least in my father's house.

16 Then the Lord said unto him, I will therefore be with thee, and thou shalt smite the Midianites, ■ one man.

17 And he answered him, I pray thee, if I have found favour in thy sight, then shew me ^a a sign, that thou talkest with me.

18 Depart not hence, I pray thee, until I come unto thee, and bring mine offering, and lay it before thee. And he said, I will tarry until thou come again.

19 ¶ Then Gideon went in, and made ready ■ kid, and unleavened bread of an ^f ephah of flour, and put the flesh in ■ basket, and put the broth in ■ pot, and brought it out unto him under the oak, and presented it.

20 And the angel of God said unto him, Take the flesh and the unleavened bread, and lay them upon this stone, and pour out the broth: and he did so.

21 ¶ Then the angel of the Lord put forth the end of the staff that he held in his hand, and touched the flesh and the unleavened bread: and there arose up fire ^b out of the stone, and consumed the flesh and the unleavened bread: so the angel of the Lord departed out of his sight.

22 And when Gideon perceived that it was an angel of the Lord, Gideon then said, Alas, my Lord God: ■ for because I have seen an angel of the Lord face to face, I shall die.

23 And the Lord said unto him, Peace be unto thee: fear not, thou shalt not die.

24 Then Gideon made an altar there unto the Lord, and called it, [†] Jehovah-shalom: unto this day it is in Ophrah, of the father of the Ezrites.

25 ¶ And the same night the Lord said unto him, Take thy father's young bullock, and another bullock ^b of seven years old, and destroy the altar of Baal that thy father hath, and cut down the grove that is by it,

26 And build an altar unto the Lord thy God upon the top of this rock, in a plain place: and take the second bullock, and offer ■ burnt-offering with the wood of the ^a grove which thou shalt cut down.

27 Then Gideon took ten men of his servants, and did as the Lord bade him: but because he feared to do it by day for his father's household, and the men of the city, he did it by night.

28 ¶ And when the men of the city arose early in the morning, behold, the altar of Baal was broken, and the grove cut down that was by it, and the ^a second bullock offered upon the altar that was made.

Bef. Chr. 1249. Gilead. And there returned of the people, which were at mount Gilead, two and twenty thousand: so ten thousand remained.

4 And the Lord said unto Gideon, The people are yet too many: bring them down unto the water, and I will try them for thee there: and of whom I say unto thee, This man shall go with thee, the same shall go with thee: and of whomsoever I say unto thee, This man shall not go with thee, the same shall not go.

5 So he brought down the people unto the water. And the Lord said unto Gideon, As many as lap the water with their tongues as a dog lappeth, them put by themselves, and every one that shall bow down his knees to drink, put apart.

6 And the number of them that lapped by putting their hands to their mouths, were three hundred men: but all the remnant of the people kneeled down upon their knees to drink water.

7 ¶ Then the Lord said unto Gideon, By these three hundred men that lapped, will I save you, and deliver the Midianites into thine hand: and let all the other people go every man unto his place.

8 ¶ So the people took victuals with them, and their trumpets: and he sent all the rest of Israel, every man unto his tent, and † received the three hundred men: and the host of Midian was beneath him in a valley.

10 But if thou fear to go down, then go thou and Phurah thy servant down to the host,

11 And thou shalt hearken what they say, and so shall thine hands be strong to go down unto the host. Then went he down and Phurah his servant unto the outside of the soldiers that were in the host.

12 ¶ And the Midianites, and the Amalekites, and all they of the East, lay in the valley like grasshoppers in multitude, and their camels were without number, in the sand which is by the sea side for multitude.

13 And when Gideon was come, behold man told a dream unto his neighbour, and said, Behold, I dreamed a dream, and lo, a cake of barley bread tumbled from above into the host of Midian, and came unto a tent, and smote it, that it fell, and overturned it, that the tent fell down.

14 And his fellow answered, and said, This is nothing else save the sword of Gideon the son of Joash a man of Israel: for into his hand hath God delivered Midian and all the host.

19 ¶ So Gideon and the hundred men that were with him, came unto the outside of the host, in the beginning of the middle watch, and they raised up the watchmen, and they blew with their trumpets, and brake the pitchers that were in their hands.

20 And the three companies blew with trumpets and brake the pitchers, and held the lamps in their left hands, and the trumpets in their right hands to blow withal: and they cried, The sword of the Lord and of Gideon.

21 And they stood every man in his place round about the host: and all the host ran, and cried, and fled.

22 And the three hundred blew with trumpets, and the Lord set every man's sword upon his neighbour, and upon all the host: so the host fled to Beth-hashittah in Zererah, and to the border of Abel-meholah, unto Tabbath.

23 Then the men of Israel being gathered together out of Naphtali, and out of Asher, and out of all Manasseh, pursued after the Midianites.

21 And Jotham ran away and fled, and went to Beer, and dwelt there for fear of Abimelech his brother.

22 So Abimelech reigned three years over Israel.

heard the words of Gaal the son of Ebed, his wrath was kindled.

31 Therefore he sent messengers unto Abimelech † privily, saying, Behold, Gaal the son of Ebed, and his brethren, be come to Shechem, and behold, they fortify the city against thee.

32 Now therefore arise by night, thou and the people that is with thee, and lie in wait in the field.

33 And rise early in the morning as soon as the sun is up, and assault the city: and when he and the people that is with him, shall come out against thee, do to him † what thou canst.

34 ¶ So Abimelech rose up, and all the people that were with him by night: and they lay in wait against Shechem in four bands.

35 Then Gaal the son of Ebed went out and stood in the entering of the gate of the city: and Abimelech rose up, and the folk that were with him, from lying in wait.

36 And when Gaal saw the people, he said to Zebul, Behold, there come people down from the tops of the mountains: and Zebul said unto him, The ^s shadow of the mountains seem men unto thee.

37 And Gaal spake again, and said, See, there come folk down † by the middle of the land, and another band cometh by the way of the plain of † Meonenim.

38 Then said Zebul unto him, Where is now thy mouth that said, Who is Abimelech, that we should serve him? Is not this the people that thou hast despised? Go out now, I pray thee, and fight with them.

39 And Gaal ^h went out before the men of Shechem, and fought with Abimelech.

40 But Abimelech pursued him, and he fled before him, and many were overthrown and wounded, even unto the entering of the gate.

41 And Abimelech dwelt at Arumah: and Zebul thrust out Gaal and his brethren that they should not dwell in Shechem.

42 ¶ And on the morrow the people went out into the field: which was told Abimelech.

43 And he took the ⁱ people, and divided them into three bands, and laid wait in the fields, and looked, and behold, the people were come out of the city, and he rose up against them and smote them.

44 And Abimelech, and the bands that were with him, rushed forward, and stood in the entering of the gate of the city: and the two other bands ran upon all the people that were in the field, and slew them.

45 And when Abimelech had fought against the city all that day, he took the city, and slew the people that was therein, and destroyed the city, and sowed ^k salt in it.

46 ¶ And when all the men of the tower of Shechem heard it, they entered into ^m hold of the house of the God ^l Berith.

47 And it was told Abimelech, that all the men of the tower of Shechem were gathered together.

48 And Abimelech gat him up to mount Zalmon, he and all the people that were with him:

and Abimelech took axes with him, and cut down boughs of trees,¹ and took them, and bare them ⁿ his shoulder, and said unto the folk that were with him, What ye have seen me do, make haste, and do like me.

49 Then all the people also cut down every man his bough, and followed Abimelech, and put them to the hold, and set the hold on fire with them: so all the men of the tower of Shechem ^m died also, about ⁿ thousand men and women.

50 ¶ Then went Abimelech to Tebez, and besieged Tebez, and took it.

51 But there was a strong tower within the city, and thither fled all the men and women, and all the chief of the city, and shut it to them, and went up to the top of the tower.

52 And Abimelech came unto the tower and fought against it, and went hard unto the door of the tower to set it on fire.

53 But a certain woman ⁿ cast a piece of ^o millstone upon Abimelech's head, and brake his brain-pan. ^{21.}

54 Then Abimelech called hastily his page that bare his harness, and said unto him, Draw thy sword and slay me, that men say not of me, A woman slew him. And his page ⁿ thrust him through, and he died.

55 And when the men of Israel saw that Abimelech was dead, they departed every man unto his own place.

56 Thus God rendered the wickedness of Abimelech, which he did unto his father, in slaying his seventy brethren.

57 Also all the wickedness of the men of Shechem did God bring upon their heads. So upon them came the ^o curse of Jotham the son of Jerubbaal.

8 Then the elders of Gilead said unto Jephthah, Therefore we turn again to thee now, that thou mayest go with us, and fight against the children of Ammon, and be our head over all the inhabitants of Gilead.

9 And Jephthah said unto the elders of Gilead, If ye bring me home again to fight against the children of Ammon, if the Lord give them before me, shall I be your head?

11 Then Jephthah went with the elders of Gilead, and the people made him head and captain over them: and Jephthah rehearsed all his words before the Lord in Mizpeh.

23 Now therefore the Lord God of Israel hath cast out the Amorites before his people Israel, and shouldest thou possess it?

28 Howbeit, the king of the children of Ammon hearkened not unto the words of Jephthah, which he had sent him.

29 ¶ Then the Spirit of the Lord came upon Jephthah, and he passed over to Gilead, and to Manasseh, and came to Mizpeh in Gilead, and from Mizpeh in Gilead he went unto the children of Ammon.

30 And Jephthah^h vowed a vow unto the Lord, and said, If thou shalt deliver the children of Ammon into mine hands, 31 Then that thing that cometh out of the doors of mine house to meet me, when I come home in peace from the children of Ammon, shall be the Lord's, and I will offer it for a burnt-offering.

33 And he smote them from Aroer even till thou come to Minnith, twenty cities, and so forth to † Abel of the vineyards, with an exceeding great slaughter. Thus the children of Ammon were humbled before the children of Israel.

35 And when he saw her, he^k rent his clothes, and said, Alas, my daughter, thou hast brought me low, and art of them that trouble me: for I have opened my mouth unto the Lord, and can not go back.

36 And she said unto him, My father, if thou hast opened thy mouth unto the Lord, do with me as thou hast promised, seeing that the Lord hath avenged thee of thine enemies the children of Ammon.

37 Also she said unto her father, Do thus much for me: suffer me two months, that I may go to the mountains, and bewail my virginity, I and my fellows.

38 And he said, Go: and he sent her away two months: so she went with her companions, and lamented her virginity upon the mountains.

39 And after the end of two months, she turned again unto her father, who did with her according to his vow which he had vowed, and she had known no man: and it was a custom in Israel:

40 The daughters of Israel went year by year to lament the daughter of Jephthah the Gileadite, four days in a year.

4 Then Jephthah gathered all the men of Gilead, and fought with Ephraim: and the men of Gilead smote Ephraim, because they said, Ye Gileadites are runnagates of Ephraim among the Ephraimites, and among the Manassites.

5 Also the Gileadites took the passages of Jordan before the Ephraimites, and when the Ephraimites that were escaped said, Let me pass, then the men of Gilead said unto him, Art thou an Ephraimite? If he said, Nay,

1 Israel for their wickedness is oppressed of the Philistines.

3 The angel appeareth to Manoah's wife.

16 The angel commandeth him to sacrifice unto the Lord.

24 The birth of Samson.

BUT the children of Israel continued to commit wickedness in the sight of the Lord, and the Lord delivered them into the hands of the Philistines forty years.

2 ¶ Then there was a man in Zorah of the family of the Danites, named Manoah, whose wife was barren, and bare not.

3 And the angel of the Lord appeared unto the woman, and said unto her, Behold now, thou art barren, and bearest not: but thou shalt conceive, and bear a son.

4 And now therefore beware that thou drink no wine, nor strong drink, neither eat any unclean thing.

5 For lo, thou shalt conceive and bear a son, and a razor shall come on his head: for the child shall be a Nazarite unto God from his birth: and he shall begin to save Israel out of the hands of the Philistines.

6 ¶ Then the wife came, and told her husband, saying, A man of God came unto me, and the fashion of him was like the fashion of the angel of God, exceeding fearful, but I asked him not whence he was, neither told he me his name,

7 But he said unto me, Behold, thou shalt conceive, and bear a son, and now thou shalt drink no wine, nor strong drink, neither eat any unclean thing: for the child shall be a Nazarite unto God from his birth, to the day of his death.

8 Then Manoah prayed to the Lord, and said, I pray thee, my Lord, let the man of God, whom thou sentest, come again now unto us, and teach us what we shall do unto the child when he is born.

9 And God heard the voice of Manoah, and the angel of God came again unto the wife, as she sat in the field, but Manoah her husband was not with her.

10 ¶ And the wife made haste and ran, and shewed her husband and said unto him, Behold, the man hath appeared unto me, that came unto me to-day.

11 And Manoah arose and went after his wife, and came to the man, and said unto him, Art thou the man that spakest unto the woman? and he said, Yea.

12 Then Manoah said, Now let thy saying come to pass: but how shall we order the child, and do unto him?

13 And the angel of the Lord said unto Manoah, The woman must beware of all that I said unto her.

14 She may eat of nothing that cometh of the vine tree: she shall not drink wine nor strong drink, nor eat any unclean thing: let her observe all that I have commanded her.

15 Manoah then said unto the angel of the Lord, I pray thee, let me retain thee, until we have made ready a kid for thee.

16 And the angel of the Lord said unto Manoah, Though thou make me abide, I will not eat of thy bread, and if thou wilt make a burnt-offering, offer it unto the Lord: for Manoah knew not that it was an angel of the Lord.

17 Again Manoah said unto the angel of the Lord, What is thy name, that when thy saying is come to pass, we may honour thee?

18 And the angel of the Lord said unto him, Why askest thou thus after my name, which is secret?

19 Then Manoah took a kid with a meat-offering, and offered it upon a stone unto the Lord: and the angel did wonderfully, whilst Manoah and his wife looked on.

20 For when the flame came up toward heaven from the altar, the angel of the Lord ascended up in the flame of the altar, and Manoah and his wife beheld it, and fell on their faces unto the ground.

21 (So the angel of the Lord did no more appear unto Manoah and his wife.) Then Manoah knew that it was an angel of the Lord.

22 And Manoah said unto his wife, We shall surely die, because we have seen God.

23 But his wife said unto him, If the Lord would kill us, he would not have received a burnt-offering, and a meat-offering of our hands, neither would he have shewed us all these things, nor would he have now told us any such things as these.

SAMSON'S Birth foretold.

G. Barber sculp.

Bef. Chr. 24 ¶ And the wife bare ■ son, and called his name Samson: and the child grew, and the Lord blessed him.

1451. 25 And the Spirit of the Lord began to † strengthen him in the host of Dan, between Zorah and Eshtaol.

C H A P. XIV.

■ Samson desireth to have a wife of the Philistines. 6 He killeth a lion. 12 He propoundeth a riddle. 19 He killeth thirty. 20 His wife forsaketh him and taketh another.

NOW Samson went down to Timnath, and saw ■ woman in Timnath of the daughters of the Philistines,

■ And he came up and told his father and his mother, and said, I have seen ■ woman in Timnath of the daughters of the Philistines: now therefore † give me her to wife.

3 Then his father and his mother said unto him, Is there ■ never ■ wife among the daughters of thy brethren, and among all my people, that thou must go to take ■ wife of the uncircumcised Philistines? And Samson said unto his father, Give me her, for she pleaseth ■ well.

4 But his father and his mother knew not that it came of the Lord, that he should seek an occasion against the ■ Philistines: for at that time the Philistines reigned over Israel.

5 ¶ Then went Samson and his father and his mother down to Timnath, and came to the vineyards at Timnath: and behold, ■ young lion roared upon him.

6 And the Spirit of the Lord [†] came upon him, and he tare him, as one should have rent ■ kid, and had nothing in his hand, neither told he his father nor his mother what he had done.

7 And he went down, and talked with the woman, which ■ beautiful in the eyes of Samson.

8 ¶ And within a few days, when he returned † to receive her, he went aside ■ see the carcase of the lion: and behold, there was ■ swarm of bees, and honey in the body of the lion.

9 And he took thereof in his hands, and went eating, and came to his father and to his mother, and gave unto them, and they did eat: but he told not them, that he had taken the honey out of the body of the lion.

10 So his father went down unto the woman, and Samson made there a ■ feast: for so used the young men to do.

11 And when [†] they saw him, they brought thirty companions to be with him.

12 Then Samson said unto them, I will ■ put forth ■ riddle unto you: and if you can declare it ■ within seven days of the feast, and find it out, I will give you thirty sheets, and thirty ¹ change of garments.

13 But if you cannot declare it me, then shall ye give ■ thirty sheets, and thirty change of garments: And they answered him, Put forth thy riddle, that we may hear it.

14 And he said unto them, Out of the eater ^{Bef. Chr.} came meat, and out of the strong ■ sweetness: ^{1249.} and they could not in three days expound the riddle.

15 And when the seventh day ■ come, they said unto Samson's wife, Entice thine husband, that he may declare ■ the riddle, lest we burn thee, and thy father's house with fire. Have ye called us, † to possess us? Is it not ^{† Or, to impoverish us.} so?

16 And Samson's wife wept before him, and said, Surely thou hatest me and lovest ■ not: for thou hast put forth a riddle unto the ¹ children of my people, and hast not told it me. And he said unto her, Behold, I have not told it my father, nor my mother, and shall I tell it thee?

17 Then Samson's wife wept before him ■ seven days, while their feast lasted: and when the seventh day came, he told her, because she ■ importunate upon him: so she told the riddle to the children of her people.

18 And the men of the city said unto him the seventh day before the sun went down, What is sweeter than honey? and what is stronger than ■ lion? Then said he unto them, ^a If ye had not plowed with my heifer, ye had not found out ■ my riddle.

19 And the Spirit of the Lord came upon him, and he went down ^o to Ashkelon, and slew thirty men of them, and spoiled them, and gave change of garments unto them which expounded the riddle: and his wrath ■ kindled, and he went up to his father's house.

20 Then Samson's wife was ^g given to his companion, whom he had used as his friend.

4 Samson tieth firebrands to the foxes tails. 6 The Philistines burn his father-in-law and his wife. 15 With the jaw-bone of an ass he killeth a thousand men. 19 Out of ■ great tooth in the jaw God gave him water.

BUT within a while after, in the time of wheat-harvest, Samson visited his wife with a kid, saying, I will ^p go in to my wife into the chamber: but her father would not suffer him to go in.

■ And her father said, I thought that thou hadst hated her: therefore gave I her to thy companion. Is not her younger sister fairer than she? take her, I pray thee, instead of the other.

7 And Samson said unto them, Though ye have done this, yet will I be avenged of you, and then I will cease.

10 And the men of Judah said, Why are ye come up unto us? And they answered, To ⁶bind Samson are we come up, and to do to him as he hath done to us.

11 Then three thousand men of Judah went to the top of the rock Etam, and said to Samson, Knowest thou not that the Philistines are rulers over us? ⁷Wherefore then hast thou done thus unto us? And he answered them, As they did unto me, so have I done unto them.

12 Again they said unto him, We are come to bind thee, and to deliver thee into the hand of the Philistines. And Samson said unto them, Swear unto me, that ye will not fall upon me yourselves.

13 And they answered him, saying, No, but we will bind thee and ⁸deliver thee unto their hand, but we will not kill thee. And they bound him with two new cords, and brought him from the rock.

14 When he came to Lehi, the Philistines shouted against him, and the Spirit of the Lord came upon him, and the cords that were upon his arms became as flax that was burnt with fire: for the bands loosed from his hands.

15 And he found a ⁹new jaw-bone of an ass, and put forth his hand and caught it, and slew a thousand men therewith.

3 Samson carrieth away the gates of Gaza. 18 He is deceived by Delilah. 30 He pulleth down the house upon the Philistines, and dieth with them.

THEN went Samson to ¹Gaza, and saw there an ²† harlot, and ³went in unto her. † Or, victualler.

2 And it was told to the Gazites, Samson is come hither. And they went about, and laid wait for him all night in the gate of the city, and were quiet all the night, saying, Abide ⁴† till the morning early, and we shall kill him. † Or, to the light of the morning.

3 And Samson slept till midnight, and arose at midnight, and took the doors of the gates of the city, and the two posts, and lift them away with the bars, and put them upon his shoulders, and carried them up to the top of the mountain that is before Hebron.

4 ¶ And after this he loved a woman by the ⁵† river of Sorek, whose name was Delilah: † Or, plain.

5 Unto whom came the princes of the Philistines, and said unto her, Entice him, and see wherein his great strength lieth, and by what means we may overcome him, that we may bind him, and punish him, and every one of us shall give thee eleven hundred ⁶shekels of silver.

6 ¶ And Delilah said to Samson, Tell me, I pray thee, wherein thy great strength lieth; and wherewith thou mightest be bound, to do thee hurt.

7 Samson then answered unto her, If they bind me with seven ⁷† green cords, that were never dried, then shall I be weak, and be as another man. † Or, new with.

8 And the princes of the Philistines brought her seven green cords that were not dry, and she bound him therewith.

9 (And she had ⁸men lying in wait with her in the chamber) then she said unto him, The Philistines be upon thee, Samson. And he brake the cords as ⁹thread of tow is broken, when ⁹it feeleth fire: so his strength was not known.

10 ¶ After Delilah said unto Samson, See, thou hast mocked me and told me lies. I pray thee now, ¹⁰† tell me, wherewith thou mightest be bound.

11 Then he answered her, If they bind me with new ropes that never were occupied, then shall I be weak and be as another man.

12 Delilah therefore took new ropes, and bound him therewith, and said unto him, The Philistines be upon thee, Samson: (and men lay in wait in the chamber) and he brake them from his arms, as a thread.

⁷ It is impossible, if we give place to ⁸ wicked affections, but at length we shall be destroyed.

14 And she fastened it with a pin, and said unto him, The Philistines be upon thee, Samson. And he awoke out of his sleep, and went away with the pin of the web, and the woof.

15 Again she said unto him, How canst thou say, I love thee, when thine heart is not with me? thou hast mocked me these three times, and hast not told me wherein thy great strength lieth.

16 And because she was importunate upon him with her words continually, and vexed him, his soul was pained unto the death.

17 Therefore he told her all his heart, and said unto her, There never came razor upon mine head: for I am a Nazarite unto God from my mother's womb: therefore if I be shaven, my strength will go from me, and I shall be weak, and be like all other men.

18 And when Delilah saw that he had told her all his heart, she sent, and called for the princes of the Philistines, saying, Come up once again: for he hath shewed me all his heart. Then the princes of the Philistines came up unto her, and brought the money in their hands.

19 And she made him sleep upon her knees, and she called a man, and made him to shave off the seven locks of his head, and she began to vex him, and his strength was gone from him.

20 Then she said, The Philistines be upon thee, Samson. And he awoke out of his sleep, and thought, I will go out now as at other times, and shake myself, but he knew not that the Lord was departed from him.

21 Therefore the Philistines took him, and put out his eyes, and brought him down to Azah, and bound him with fetters: and he did grind in the prison-house.

22 And the hair of his head began to grow again after that it was shaven.

23 Then the princes of the Philistines gathered them together for to offer a great sacrifice unto Dagon their god, and to rejoice: for they said, Our god hath delivered Samson our enemy into our hands.

24 Also when the people saw him, they praised their god: for they said, our god hath delivered into our hands our enemy and destroyer of our country, which hath slain many of us.

25 And when their hearts were merry, they said, Call Samson, that he may make a pastime. So they called Samson out of the prison-house, and he was laughing-stock unto them, and they set him between the pillars.

26 Then Samson said unto the servant that led him by the hand, Lead me, that I may touch the pillars that the house standeth upon, and that I may lean to them.

27 (Now the house was full of men and women, and there were all the princes of the Philistines: also upon the roof were about three thousand men and women, that beheld while Samson played).

28 Then Samson called unto the Lord, and said, O Lord God, I pray thee, think upon me: O God, I beseech thee, strengthen me at this time only, that I may be at once avenged of the Philistines for my two eyes.

29 And Samson laid hold on the two middle pillars whereupon the house stood, and on which it was borne up: on the one with his right hand, and on the other with his left.

30 Then said Samson, Let me lose my life with the Philistines: and he bowed him with all his might, and the house fell upon the princes, and upon all the people that were therein: so the dead which he slew at his death, were more than they which he had slain in his life.

31 Then his brethren, and all the house of his father came down and took him, and brought him up and buried him between Zorah and Eshtaol, in the sepulchre of Manoah his father: now he had judged Israel twenty years.

3 Micah's mother, according to her vow, made her son two idols. 5 He made his son a priest for his idols. 10 And after he hired a Levite.

THERE was a man of mount Ephraim whose name was Micah,

2 And he said unto his mother, The eleven hundred shekels of silver that were taken from thee, for the which thou cursedst; and spakest it, in mine hearing, behold, the silver is with me, I took it. Then his mother said, Blessed be my son of the Lord.

3 And when he had restored the eleven hundred shekels of silver to his mother, his mother said, I had dedicated the silver to the Lord of mine hand for my son, to make a graven and molten image. Now therefore I will give it thee again.

4 And when he had restored the money unto his mother, his mother took two hundred shekels of silver, and gave them to the founder, which made thereof a graven and molten image, and it was in the house of Micah.

5 And this man Micah had an house of gods, and made an Ephod, and Teraphim, and consecrated one of his sons, who was his priest.

6 In those days there was no king in Israel, but every man did that which was good in his own eyes.

7 There was also a young man out of Bethlehem Judah, of the family of Judah: who was a Levite, and sojourned there.

For this Samson used to say, I love thee.

1 Thus his immoderate affections toward a wicked woman caused him to lose God's excellent gifts, and become a slave unto them whom he should have ruled.

2 Not for the loss of his hair, but for the contempt of the ordinance of God, which was the cause that God departed from him.

3 Yet had he not his strength again, till he had called upon God, and reconciled himself.

4 Thus by God's judgments they made slaves to infidels, who neglect their vocation in defending the faithful.

2 The children of Dan send ^r to search the land.

11 Then come the six hundred and take the gods, and the priest of Micah away. 27 They destroy Laish. 28 They build it again, 30 And set up idolatry.

IN those days there ^r no ^r king in Israel, and at the same time the tribe of Dan sought them an inheritance to dwell in: for unto that time all their inheritance had not fallen unto them among the tribes of Israel.

2 Therefore the children of Dan sent of their family five men out of their coasts, even ^r expert in war, out of Zorah and Eshtaol, to view the land and search it out, and said unto them, " Go, and search out the land. Then they ^r to mount Ephraim to the house of Micah, and lodged there.

3 When they were in the house of Micah, they knew the ^r voice of the young man the Levite: and being turned in thither, they said unto him, Who brought thee hither? or what makest thou in this place? and what hast thou to do here?

4 And he answered them, Thus and thus dealeth Micah with me, and hath hired me, and I am his priest.

5 Again they said unto him, Ask counsel now of God, that we may know whether the way which we go, shall be prosperous.

6 And the priest said unto them, " Go in peace: for the Lord guideth your way, which ye go.

7 Then the five ^r departed, and ^r to Laish, and saw the people that were therein, which dwelt careless, after the manner of the Zidonians, quiet and sure, because ^r ^r

† made any trouble in the land, or usurped any dominion: also they were far from the Zidonians, and had no business with other men.

8 ¶ So they came again unto their brethren to Zorah and Eshtaol: and their brethren said unto them, What have ye done?

9 And they answered, Arise, that we may go up against them: for we have seen the land, and surely it is very good, and ^r do ye sit still? be not slothful to go and enter to possess the land:

10 (If ye will go, ye shall come unto a careless people, and the country is large) for God hath given it into your hand, it is ^r place which doth lack nothing that is in the world.

11 ¶ Then there departed thence of the family of the Danites, from Zorah and from Eshtaol, six hundred men appointed with instruments of war.

12 And they went up, and pitched in Kirjath-jearim in Judah: wherefore they called that place, † Mahaneh-Dan unto this day: and it is behind Kirjath-jearim.

13 And they went thence unto mount Ephraim, and came to the house of Micah.

14 Then answered the five men, that went to spy out the country of Laish, and said unto their brethren, " Know ye not, that there is in these houses ^r ephod, and teraphim, and ^r graven and a molten image? Now therefore consider what ye have to do.

15 And they turned thitherward and came to the house of the young man the Levite, even unto the house of Micah, and saluted him peaceably.

16 And the six hundred men appointed with their weapons of war, which were of the children of Dan, stood by the entering of the gate.

17 Then the five men that went to spy out the land went in thither, and took the ^r graven image and the ephod, and the teraphim, and the molten image: and the priest stood in the entering of the gate with the six hundred men, that were appointed with weapons of war.

18 And the other went into Micah's house, and fetched the graven image, the ephod, and the teraphim, and the molten image. Then said the priest unto them, What do ye?

19 And they answered him, Hold thy peace: lay thine hand upon thy mouth, and come with us to be our father and priest. Whether is it better that thou shouldest be ^r priest unto the house of one man, or that thou shouldest be ^r priest unto a tribe, and to a family in Israel?

20 And the priest's heart was glad, and he took the ephod and the teraphim, and the graven image, and went among the ^r people.

21 And they turned and departed, and put the children, and the cattle, and the substance ^r before them.

22 ¶ When

^r For in those days, the service of God ^r corrupt in all estates, and the Levites ^r not looked unto.

^r Not considering that he forsook the true worshipping of God, for to maintain his ^r belly.

¶ Thus the idolaters persuade themselves of God's favour, when indeed he doth detest them.

¶ Meaning, no ordinary magistrate ^r punish vice ^r according to God's word.

¶ For the portion which Joshua gave them, was ^r sufficient for all their tribe.

¶ They knew him by his speech, that he was a stranger there.

¶ Thus God granteth the idolaters sometimes their requests, ^r their destruction that delight in errors.

^r Lose ye this good occasion through your slothfulness?

¶ Because they before had had good success, they would that their brethren should be encouraged by hearing the same tidings.

¶ So superstition blinded them, that they thought God's power ^r in these idols, and that they should have good success by them, though by violence and robbery they did take them away.

¶ With the six hundred men.

¶ Suspecting them that did pursue them.

22 ¶ When they were far off from the house of Micah, the men that were in the houses near to Micah's house, gathered together, and pursued after the children of Dan, 23 And cried unto the children of Dan: who turned their faces, and said unto Micah, What aileth thee, that thou makest an outcry?

24 And he said, Ye have taken away my gods, which I made, and the priest, and go your ways: and what have I more? how then say ye unto me, What aileth thee?

25 And the children of Dan said unto him, Let not thy voice be heard among us, lest angry fellows run upon thee, and thou lose thy life with the lives of thine household.

26 So the children of Dan ~~were~~ their ways: and when Micah saw that they were too strong for him, he turned, and went back unto his house.

27 And they took the things which Micah had made, and the priest which he had, and came unto Laish, unto quiet people and without mistrust, and smote them with the edge of the sword, and burnt the city with fire:

28 And there was none to help, because Laish was far from Zidon, and they had no business with other men: also it was in the valley that lieth by Beth-rehob. After, they built the city, and dwelt therein, 29 * And called the name of the city Dan, after the name of Dan their father, which was born unto Israel: howbeit the name of the city was Laish at the beginning.

30 Then the children of Dan set them up the graven image: and Jonathan the son of Gershom the son of Manasseh and his sons were the priests in the tribe of the Danites, unto the day of the captivity of the land.

31 So they set them up the graven image, which Micah had made, all the while the house of God was in Shiloh.

3 (Now the children of Benjamin heard that the children of Israel were gone up to Mizpeh) Then the children of Israel said, How is this wickedness committed?

4 And the same Levite, the woman's husband that was slain, answered and said, I came unto Gibeah that is in Benjamin with my concubine to lodge,

5 And the † men of Gibeah arose against me, and beset the house round about upon me by night, thinking to have slain me, and have forced my concubine that she is dead. † Or, chief or lords.

6 Then I took my concubine, and cut her in pieces, and sent her throughout all the country of the inheritance of Israel: for they have committed abomination and villainy in Israel.

7 Behold, ye are all children of Israel: give your advice and counsel herein.

¶ Then all the people arose a man, saying, There shall not a man of us go to his tent, neither any turn into his house,

9 But now this is that thing which we will do to Gibeah: we will go up by lot against it,

10 And we will take ten men of the hundred throughout all the tribes of Israel, and an hundred of the thousand, and a thousand of ten thousand to bring victual for the people, that they may do (when they come to Gibeah of Benjamin) according to all the villainy that it hath done in Israel.

11 ¶ So all the men of Israel were gathered against the city, knit together as one man.

12 And the tribes of Israel sent men through all the tribe of Benjamin, saying, What wickedness is this that is committed among you?

13 Now therefore deliver us those wicked men which are in Gibeah, that we may put them to death, and put away evil from Israel: but the children of Benjamin would not obey the voice of their brethren the children of Israel.

14 But the children of Benjamin gathered themselves together of the cities unto Gibeah, to come out and fight against the children of Israel.

15 ¶ And the children of Benjamin were numbered that time out of the cities six and twenty thousand men that drew sword, beside the inhabitants of Gibeah, which were numbered seven hundred chosen men.

18 And the children of Israel arose, and went up ^k to the house of God, and asked of God, saying, Which of us shall go up first to fight against the children of Benjamin? And the Lord said, Judah shall be first.

19 Then the children of Israel arose up early and camped against Gibeah.

20 And the men of Israel went out to battle against Benjamin, and the men of Israel put themselves in array to fight against them beside Gibeah.

21 And the children of Benjamin came out of Gibeah, and slew down to the ground of the Israelites that day ¹ two and twenty thousand men.

22 And the people, the men of Israel, plucked up their hearts, and set their battle again in array in the place where they put them in array the first day.

23 (For the children of Israel had gone up and wept before the Lord unto the evening, and had asked of the Lord, saying, Shall I go again to battle against the children of Benjamin my brethren? and the Lord said, Go up against them).

24 ¶ Then the children of Israel came near against the children of Benjamin the second day.

25 Also the second day Benjamin came forth to meet them out of Gibeah, and slew down to the ground of the children of Israel again eighteen thousand men : † all they could handle the sword.

† Heb. all they drawing the sword.

26 Then all the children of Israel went up, and all the people came also unto the house of God, and wept, and sat there before the Lord, and fasted that day unto the evening, and offered burnt-offerings, and peace-offerings, before the Lord.

27 And the children of Israel asked the Lord (for ^m there was the ark of the covenant of God in those days, 28 And Phinehas the son of Eleazar, the son of Aaron, ⁿ stood before it at that time) saying, Shall I yet go any more to battle against the children of Benjamin my brethren, or shall I cease? And the Lord said, Go up : for to-morrow I will deliver them into your hand.

29 And Israel set men to lie in wait round about Gibeah.

30 And the children of Israel went up against the children of Benjamin the third day, and put themselves in array against Gibeah, as at other times.

31 Then the children of Benjamin coming out against the people, were ^o drawn from the city : and they began to smite of the people and kill as at other times, even by the ways in the field (whereof one goeth up to the house of God, and the other to Gibeah) upon a thirty ^{Bef. Chr.} ^{1406.} of Israel.

32 (For the children of Benjamin said, They are fallen before us, ■ at the first. But the children of Israel said, Let us flee and pluck them away from the city unto the high ^p ways)

33 And all the men of Israel rose up out of their place, and put themselves in array at Baaltamar : and the men that lay in wait of the Israelites came forth of their place, even out of the meadows of Gibeah, 34 And they came over-against Gibeah, ten thousand chosen men of all Israel, and the battle was fore : for they knew not that the ^q evil was near them.

35 ¶ And the Lord smote Benjamin before Israel, and the children of Israel destroyed of the Benjamites the same day five and twenty thousand and an hundred men : all they could handle the sword.

36 So the children of Benjamin saw that they were stricken down : for the men of Israel ^r gave place to the Benjamites, because they trusted to the men that lay in wait, which they had laid beside Gibeah.

37 And they that lay in wait hasted, and brake forth toward Gibeah, and the ambushment † drew themselves along, and smote all the city with the edge of the sword.

† Or, made a long sound with a trumpet.

38 Also the men of Israel had appointed a certain time with the ambushments, that they should make a great flame and smoke rise up out of the city.

39 And when the men of Israel retired in the battle, Benjamin began to ^s smite and kill of the men of Israel about thirty persons : for they said, Surely they are stricken down before us, as in the first battle.

40 But when the flame began to arise out of the city, as ■ pillar of smoke, the Benjamites looked back, and behold, the flame of the city began to ascend up to heaven.

41 Then the men of Israel turned ^t again, and the men of Benjamin were astonished : for they saw that evil was near unto them.

42 Therefore they fled before the men of Israel unto the way of the wilderness, but the battle overtook them : also they which came out of the cities, slew them ^u among them.

43 Thus they compassed the Benjamites about, and † chased them at ease, and over-ran them, even over-against Gibeah on the east-side.

44 And there were slain of Benjamin eighteen thousand men, which were all men of war.

C H A P. XXI.

1 The Israelites swear that they will not marry their daughters to the Benjamites. 10 They slay them of Jabesh Gilead, and give their virgins to the Benjamites. 21 The Benjamites take the daughters of Shiloh.

Moreover the men of Israel sware in Mizpeh, saying, None of us shall give his daughter unto the Benjamites to wife.

2 And the people came unto the house of God, and abode there till even before God, and lift up their voices, and wept with great lamentation,

3 And said, O Lord God of Israel, why is this come to pass in Israel, that this day one tribe of Israel should want?

4 And on the morrow the people rose up and made there an altar, and offered burnt-offerings and peace-offerings.

5 Then the children of Israel said, Who is he among all the tribes of Israel, that came not up with the congregation unto the Lord? for they had made a great oath concerning him that came not up to the Lord to Mizpeh, saying, Let him die the death.

6 And the children of Israel were sorry for Benjamin their brother, and said, There is one tribe cut off from Israel this day.

7 How shall we do for wives to them that remain, seeing we have sworn by the Lord, that we will not give them of our daughters to wives?

8 Also they said, Is there any of the tribes of Israel that came not up to Mizpeh to the Lord? and behold, there came none of Jabesh Gilead unto the host and to the congregation.

9 For when the people were viewed, behold, none of the inhabitants of Jabesh Gilead were there.

10 Therefore the congregation sent thither twelve thousand men of the most valiant, and commanded them, saying, Go, and smite the inhabitants of Jabesh Gilead with the edge of the sword, both women and children.

11 And this is it that ye shall do: ye shall utterly destroy all the males, and all the women that have lien by men.

12 And they found among the inhabitants of Jabesh Gilead four hundred maids, virgins that had known no man by lying with any male: and they brought them unto the host to Shiloh, which is in the land of Canaan.

13 Then the whole congregation sent and spake with the children of Benjamin that were in the rock of Rimmon, and called peaceably unto them:

14 And Benjamin came again at that time, and they gave them wives which they had saved alive of the women of Jabesh Gilead: but they had not so enough for them.

15 And the people were sorry for Benjamin, because the Lord had made a breach in the tribes of Israel.

16 Therefore the elders of the congregation said, How shall we do for wives to the remnant? for the women of Benjamin are destroyed.

17 And they said, There must be an inheritance for them that be escaped of Benjamin, that a tribe be not destroyed out of Israel.

18 Howbeit we may not give them wives of our daughters: for the children of Israel had sworn, saying, Cursed be he that giveth a wife to Benjamin.

19 Therefore they said, Behold there is a feast of the Lord every year in Shiloh, in a place which is on the north-side of Bethel, and on the east-side of the way that goeth up from Bethel to Shechem, and on the south of Lebonah.

20 Therefore they commanded the children of Benjamin, saying, Go, and lie in wait in the vineyards.

21 And when ye see that the daughters of Shiloh come out to dance in dances, then come ye out of the vineyards, and catch you every man a wife of the daughters of Shiloh, and go into the land of Benjamin.

22 And when their fathers or their brethren come unto us to complain, we will say unto them, Have pity on them for our sakes, because we reserved not to each man his wife in the war, and because ye have not given unto them hitherto, ye have sinned.

23 And the children of Benjamin did so, and took wives of them that danced according to their number: which they took, and went away, and returned to their inheritance, and repaired the cities and dwelt in them.

24 So the children of Israel departed thence at that time, every man to his tribe, and to his family, and went out from thence every man to his inheritance.

25 In those days there was no king in Israel, but every man did that which was good in his eyes.

10 Though they thought hereby to persuade that they kept their oath, yet before God it was broken.

The Book of RUTH.

THE ARGUMENT.

This book is intitled after the name of Ruth: which is the principal person spoken of in this treatise. Wherein also figuratively is set forth the state of the church which is subject to manifold afflictions, and yet at length God giveth good and joyful issue: teaching us to abide with patience till God deliver us out of trouble. Herein also is described how Jesus Christ, who according to the flesh ought to come of David, proceeded of Ruth, of whom the Lord Jesus did vouchsafe to come, notwithstanding she was a Moabitess of base condition, and a stranger from the people of God: declaring unto us thereby that the Gentiles should be sanctified by him, and joined with his people, and that there should be but one sheepfold, and one Shepherd. And it seemeth that this history appertaineth to the time of the judges.

CHAP. I.

1 Elimelech goeth with his wife and children into the land of Moab. 3 He and his sons die. 19 Naomi and Ruth come to Bethlehem.

IN the time that the judges † ruled, there was dearth in the ^a land, and ^b a man of Bethlehem ^b Judah went for to sojourn in the country of Moab, he and his wife, and his two sons.

2 And the name of the man was Elimelech, and the name of his wife, Naomi: and the names of his two sons, Mahlon, and Chilion, Ephrathites of Bethlehem Judah: and when they came into the land of Moab, they continued ^c there.

3 Then Elimelech the husband of Naomi died, and she remained with her two sons,

4 Which took them wives of the ^c Moabites: the one's name was Orpah, and the name of the other Ruth: and they dwelled there about ten years.

5 And Mahlon and Chilion died also both twain: so the woman was left ^d destitute of her two sons, and of her husband.

6 ¶ Then she arose with her daughters-in-law, and returned from the country of Moab, for she had heard say in the country of Moab, that the Lord had ^e visited his people, and given them bread.

7 Wherefore she departed out of the place where she was, and her two daughters-in-law with her, and they went on their way to return unto the land of Judah.

8 Then Naomi said unto her two daughters-in-law, Go, return each of you unto her own mother's house: the Lord shew favour unto you, as ye have done with the dead, and with me.

9 The Lord grant you, that you may find ^e rest, either of you in the house of her husband.

And when she kissed them, they lift up their voice and wept. Bef. Chr. 1312.

10 And they said unto her, Surely we will return with thee unto thy people.

11 But Naomi said, Turn again, my daughters: for what cause will you go with me? are there any more sons in my womb, that they may be your husbands?

12 Turn again, my daughters, go your way: for I am too old to have ^f an husband. If I should say, I have hope, and if I had an husband this night: yea, if I had borne sons, 13 Would ye tarry for them, till they were of age? would ye be deferred for them from taking of husbands? nay, my daughters: for it grieveth ^g me ^h † much for your sakes that the hand of the Lord is gone out against me. † Or, more than you.

14 Then they lift up their voice and wept again, and Orpah ⁱ kissed her mother-in-law, but Ruth abode still with her.

15 And Naomi said, Behold, thy sister-in-law is gone back unto her people and unto her gods: ^j return thou after thy sister-in-law.

16 And Ruth answered, Intreat me not to leave thee, nor to depart from thee: for whither thou goest, I will go: and where thou dwellest I will dwell: thy people ^k shall be my people, and thy God my God, 17 Where thou diest, will I die, and there will I be buried: the Lord do so to me and ^l ~~mine~~ also, if ^m aught but death part thee and me.

18 ¶ When she saw that she was stedfastly minded to go with her, she left speaking unto her.

19 So they went both until they came to Bethlehem: and when they were come to Bethlehem, it was ⁿ noised of them through all the city, and they said, Is not this Naomi?

20 And she answered them, Call me not ^o † Naomi, but, call me ^p † Mara: for the Almighty hath given me much bitterness. † Or, beautiful.
† Or, bitter.

^c By this wonderful providence of God, Ruth became one of God's household, of whom Christ came.

^e Hereby it appeareth that Naomi, by dwelling among 21 I went out full, and the Lord hath caused me to return empty: Why call you me Naomi, seeing the Lord hath humbled me, and the Almighty hath brought me unto adversity?

22 So Naomi returned, and Ruth the Moabitess her daughter-in-law with her, when she came out of the country of Moab: and they came to Bethlehem in the beginning of barley harvest.

1 Ruth gathereth corn in the fields of Boaz. 8 The gentleness of Boaz toward her.

THEN Naomi's husband had a kinsman, one of great power, of the family of Elimelech, and his name was Boaz.

2 And Ruth the Moabitess said unto Naomi, I pray thee let me go to the field, and gather ears of corn after him in whose sight I find favour. And she said unto her, Go, my daughter.

3 And she went, and came and gleaned in the field after the reapers, and it came to pass, that she met with the portion of the field of Boaz, who was of the family of Elimelech.

4 And behold, Boaz came from Bethlehem, and said unto the reapers, The Lord be with you: and they answered him, The Lord bless thee.

5 Then said Boaz unto his servant that was appointed over the reapers, Whose maid is this?

6 And the servant that was appointed over the reapers, answered and said, It is the Moabitish maid, that came with Naomi out of the country of Moab:

7 And she said unto us, I pray you, let me glean and gather after the reapers among the sheaves: so she came, and hath continued from that time in the morning unto now, save that she tarried a little in the house.

8 Then said Boaz unto Ruth, Hearest thou, my daughter? go to none other field to gather, neither go from hence: but abide here by my maidens.

9 Let thine eyes be on the field that they do reap, and go thou after the maidens. Have I not charged the servants, that they touch thee not? Moreover, when thou art athirst, go unto the vessels, and drink of that which the servants have drawn.

10 Then she fell on her face, and bowed herself to the ground, and said unto him, How have I found favour in thine eyes, that thou shouldest know me, seeing I am a stranger?

11 And Boaz answered, and said unto her, All is told and shewed me that thou hast done unto thy mother-in-law since the death of thine husband, and how thou hast left thy father and thy mother, and the land where thou wast born, and art come unto a people which thou knewest not in time past.

12 The Lord recompense thy work, and a full reward be given thee of the Lord God of Israel, under whose wings thou art come to trust.

13 Then she said, Let me find favour in thy sight, my lord: for thou hast comforted me, and spoken comfortably unto thy maid, though I be not like to one of thy maids.

14 And Boaz said unto her, At the meal-time come thou hither, and eat of the bread, and dip thy morsel in the vinegar. And she sat beside the reapers, and he reached her parched corn: and she did eat, and was sufficed, and left thereof.

15 And when she arose to glean, Boaz commanded his servants, saying, Let her gather among the sheaves, and do not rebuke her.

16 Also let fall some of the sheaves for her, and let it lie, that she may gather it up, and rebuke her not.

17 So she gleaned in the field until evening, and she threshed that she had gathered, and it was about an ephah of barley.

18 And she took it up, and went into the city, and her mother-in-law saw what she had gathered: also she took forth, and gave to her that which she had reserved, when she was sufficed.

19 Then her mother-in-law said unto her, Where hast thou gleaned to-day? and where wroughtest thou? blessed be he that knew thee. And she shewed her mother-in-law, with whom she had wrought, and said, The man's name, with whom I wrought to-day, is Boaz.

20 And Naomi said unto her daughter-in-law, Blessed be he of the Lord: for he ceaseth not to do good to the living and to the dead. Again, Naomi said unto her, The man is near unto us, and of our affinity.

21 And Ruth the Moabitess said, He said also certainly unto me, Thou shalt be with my servants until they have ended all mine harvest.

22 And Naomi answered unto Ruth her daughter-in-law, It is best, my daughter, that thou go out with his maids, that they meet thee not in another field.

23 Then she kept her by the maids of Boaz, to gather unto the end of barley harvest, and of wheat harvest, and dwelt with her mother-in-law.

5 And she answered her, All that thou biddest me, I will do.

6 ¶ So she went down unto the floor, and did according to all that her mother-in-law bade her.

7 And when Boaz had eaten and drunken, and cheared his heart, he went to lie down at the end of the heap of corn, and she came softly, and uncovered the place of his feet, and lay down.

8 And at midnight the man was afraid † and caught hold: and lo, a woman lay at his feet.

9 Then he said, Who art thou? And she answered, I am Ruth thine handmaid: spread therefore the wing of thy garment over thine handmaid: for thou art the kinsman.

10 Then said he, Blessed be thou of the Lord, my daughter: thou hast shewed more goodness in the latter end, than at the beginning, inasmuch as thou followedst not young men, were they poor or rich.

11 And now, my daughter, fear not: I will do to thee all that thou requirest: for all the city of my people doth know, that thou art a virtuous woman.

12 And now it is true that I am thy kinsman, howbeit there is a kinsman nearer than I.

13 Tarry to night, and when morning is come, if he will do the duty of a kinsman unto thee, well, let him do the kinsman's duty: but if he will not do the kinsman's part, then will I do the duty of a kinsman, as the Lord liveth: sleep until morning.

14 ¶ And she lay at his feet until the morning: and she arose before one could know another: for he said, Let no man know that a woman came into the floor.

15 Also he said, Bring the † sheet that thou hast upon thee, and hold it. And when she held it, he measured six measures of barley, and laid them on her, and she went into the city.

16 And when she came to her mother-in-law, she said, Who art thou, my daughter? And she told her all that the man had done unto her, 17 And said, These six measures of barley gave he me: for he said to me, Thou shalt not come empty unto thy mother-in-law.

18 Then said she, My daughter, sit still, until thou know how the thing will fall: for the man will not be in rest, until he hath finished the matter this same day.

THEN went Boaz up to the gate, and sat there, and behold, the kinsman, of whom Boaz had spoken, came by: and he said, Ho, such one, come, sit down here. And he turned, and sat down.

Then he took ten men of the elders of the city, and said, Sit ye down here. And they sat down.

3 And he said unto the kinsman, Naomi, that is come again out of the country of Moab, will sell a parcel of land, which was our brother Elimelech's.

4 And I thought to advertise thee, saying, Buy it before the † assistants, and before the elders of my people. If thou wilt redeem it, redeem it: but if thou wilt not redeem it, tell me: for I know that there is none besides thee to redeem it, and I am after thee. Then he answered, I will redeem it.

5 Then said Boaz, What day thou buyest the field of the hand of Naomi, thou must also buy it of Ruth the Moabitess the wife of the dead: so stir up the name of the dead, upon his inheritance.

6 And the kinsman answered, I cannot redeem it, lest I destroy my own inheritance: redeem my right to thee, for I cannot redeem it.

7 Now this was the manner beforetime in Israel, concerning redeeming and changing, for to stablish all things: a man did pluck off his shoe, and gave it his neighbour, and this was a sure witness in Israel.

8 Therefore the kinsman said to Boaz, Buy it for thee: and he drew off his shoe.

9 And Boaz said unto the elders, and unto all the people, Ye are witnesses this day, that I have bought all that was Elimelech's, and all that was Chilion's and Mahlon's, of the hand of Naomi.

10 And moreover, Ruth the Moabitess, the wife of Mahlon, have I bought to be my wife, to stir up the name of the dead upon his inheritance, and that the name of the dead be not put out from among his brethren, and from the gate of his place: ye are witnesses this day.

11 And all the people that were in the gate, and the elders said, We are witnesses: the Lord make the wife that cometh into thine house like Rachel and like Leah, which twain did build the house of Israel: and that thou mayest do worthily in Ephrathah, and be famous in Bethlehem, 12 And that thine house be like the house of Pharez (* whom Tamar bare unto Judah) of the seed which the Lord shall give thee of this young woman.

13 ¶ So Boaz took Ruth, and she was his wife: and when he went in unto her, the Lord gave that she conceived, and bare a son.

The First Book of SAMUEL.

THE ARGUMENT.

According as God hath ordained, Deut. 17. 14. that when the Israelites should be in the land of Canaan, he would appoint them a king: so here in this first book of Samuel is declared the state of this people under their first king Saul, who not content with that order which God had for a time appointed for the government of his church, demanded a king, to the intent they might be as other nations, and in a greater assurance as they thought: not because they might the better thereby serve God, as being under the safeguard of him, which did represent Jesus Christ the true deliverer: therefore he gave them a tyrant and an hypocrite to rule over them, that they might learn, that the person of a king is not sufficient to defend them, except God by his power preserve and keep them. And therefore he punisheth the ingratitude of his people, and sendeth them continual wars both at home and abroad. And because Saul, whom, of nothing, God had preferred to the honour of a king, did not acknowledge God's mercy toward him, but rather disobeyed the word of God, and was not zealous of his glory, he was by the voice of God put down from his estate, and David the true figure of Messiah placed in his stead, whose patience, modesty, constancy, persecution by open enemies, feigned friends, and dissembling flatterers, are left to the church, and to every member of the same, as a pattern and example to behold their state and vocation.

CHAP. I.

1 The genealogy of Elkanah, father to Samuel. 2 His two wives. 5 Hannah was barren, and prayed to the Lord. 15 Her answer to Eli. 20 Samuel is born. 24 She doth dedicate him to the Lord.

THERE was a man of one of the two ^a Ramathaim Zophim, of mount Ephraim, whose name was Elkanah the son of Jeroham, the son of Elihu, the son of Tohu, the son of Zuph, an Ephrathite:

2 And he had two wives: the name of one was Hannah, and the name of the other Peninnah: and Peninnah had children, but Hannah had no children.

3 ^b And this man went up out of his city every year, to worship and to sacrifice unto the Lord of hosts in ^c Shiloh, where were the two sons of Eli, Hophni and Phinehas, priests of the Lord.

4 And on a day, when Elkanah sacrificed, he gave to Peninnah his wife and to all her sons and daughters portions.

5 But unto Hannah he gave ^d a worthy ^e portion: for he loved Hannah, and the Lord had made her barren.

^a There were two Ramaths, so that in this city in Ephraim were Zophim: that is, the learned men and prophets.

^b For the ark was there ^d that time.

6 ¶ And her adversary vexed her sore, forasmuch ^f she upbraided her, because the Lord had made her barren.

7 (And so did he year by year) and as oft as she went up to the house of the Lord, thus she vexed her, that she wept, and did not eat.

8 Then said Elkanah her husband to her, Hannah, Why weepest thou? and why eatest thou not? and why is thine heart troubled? am not I better ^g thee than ten ^h sons?

9 So Hannah rose up after that they had eaten and drunk in Shiloh (and Eli the priest sat upon a stool by one of the posts of the ⁱ temple of the Lord.)

10 And she was troubled in her mind, and prayed unto the Lord, and wept sore:

11 Also she vowed ^j a vow, and said, O Lord of hosts, if thou wilt look on the trouble of thine handmaid, and remember me, and not forget thine handmaid, but give unto thine handmaid ^k a man child, then I will give him unto the Lord all the days of his life, ^l and there shall no razor come upon his head.

12 And

^f Some read, ^g portion with an heavy cheer.

^g Let this suffice thee, that I love thee no less than if thou hadst many children.

^h That is, of the house where the ark was.

15 Yea, before they burnt the fat, the priest's boy came and said to the man that offered, Give me flesh to roast for the priest: for he will not have sodden flesh of thee, but raw.

16 And if any man said unto him, Let them burn the fat according to the custom, then take as much as thine heart desireth: then he would answer, No, but thou shalt give it now: and if thou wilt not, I will take it by force.

17 Therefore the sin of the young men was very great before the Lord: for men abhorred the offering of the Lord.

18 ¶ Now Samuel being a young child, ministered before the Lord, girded with linen ephod.

19 And his mother made him a little coat, and brought it to him from year to year, when she came up with her husband, to offer the yearly sacrifice.

20 And Eli blessed Elkanah and his wife, and said, The Lord give thee seed of this woman, for the petition that she asked of the Lord: and they departed unto their place.

21 And the Lord visited Hannah, so that she conceived and bare three sons, and two daughters. And the child Samuel grew before the Lord.

22 ¶ So Eli was very old, and heard all that his sons did unto all Israel, and how they lay with the women that assembled at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation.

23 And he said unto them, Why do ye such things? for of all this people I hear evil reports of you.

24 Do no more, my sons: for it is no good report that I hear, which is, that ye make the Lord's people to trespass.

25 If one man sin against another, the judge shall judge it: but if a man sin against the Lord, who will plead for him? Notwithstanding they obeyed not the voice of their father, because the Lord would slay them.

26 ¶ (Now the child Samuel profited and grew, and was in favour both with the Lord and also with men)

27 And there came a man of God unto Eli, and said unto him, Thus saith the Lord, Did not I plainly appear unto the house of thy father, when they were in Egypt in Pharaoh's house?

28 And I chose him out of all the tribes of Israel to be my priest, to offer upon mine altar, and to burn incense, and to wear an Ephod before me, and I gave unto the house of thy father all the offerings made by fire of the children of Israel.

29 Wherefore have you kicked against my sacrifice and mine offering, which I commanded in my tabernacle, and honourest thy children above me, make yourselves fat of the first-fruits of all the offerings of Israel my people?

30 Wherefore the Lord God of Israel saith, I said, that thine house, and the house of thy father, should walk before me for ever: but now the Lord saith, It shall not be so: for them that honour me, I will honour, and they that despise me, shall be despised.

31 Behold, the days come, that I will cut off thine arm, and the arm of thy father's house, that there shall not be an old man in thine house.

32 And thou shalt see thine enemy in the habitation of the Lord in all things wherewith God shall bless Israel, and there shall not be an old man in thine house for ever.

33 Nevertheless, I will not destroy every one of thine from mine altar, to make thine eyes to fail, and make thine heart sorrowful: and all the multitude of thine house shall die when they be men.

34 And this shall be a sign unto thee, that shall come upon thy two sons Hophni and Phinehas: in one day they shall die both.

35 And I will stir me up a faithful priest, that shall do according to mine heart, and according to my mind: and I will build him a sure house, and he shall walk before mine Anointed for ever.

36 And all that are left in thine house shall come and bow down to him for a piece of silver, and a morsel of bread, and shall say, Appoint me, I pray thee, to one of the priest's offices, that I may eat a morsel of bread.

4 The Lord calleth Samuel three times, 11 And sheweth what shall come upon Eli and his house.

18 The same declareth Samuel to Eli.

NOW the child Samuel ministered unto the Lord before Eli: and the word of the Lord was precious in those days: for there was no manifest vision.

2 And at that time, as Eli lay in his place, his eyes began to wax dim, so that he could not see.

3 And ere the light of God went out, Samuel slept in the temple of the Lord, where the ark of God was.

4 Then the Lord called Samuel: and he said, Here I am.

5 And he came unto Eli, and said, Here am I, for thou calledst me. But he said, I called thee not: go again and sleep. And he went and slept.

6 And the Lord called once again, Samuel. And Samuel arose and went to Eli, and said, I am here: for thou didst call me. And he answered, I called thee not, my son: go again and sleep.

■ And the Lord called Samuel again the third time: and he arose, and went to Eli, and said, I am here: for thou hast called me. Then Eli perceived that the Lord had called the child.

9 Therefore Eli said unto Samuel, Go and sleep: and if he call thee, then say, Speak, Lord, for thy servant heareth. So Samuel went, and slept in his place.

10 ¶ And the Lord came, and stood, and called at other times, Samuel, Samuel. Then Samuel answered, Speak, for thy servant heareth.

11 ¶ Then the Lord said to Samuel, Behold, I will do a thing in Israel, whereof whosoever shall hear, his two ears shall tingle.

12 In that day I will raise up against Eli all things which I have spoken concerning his house: when I begin, I will also make an end.

13 And I have told him that I will judge his house for ever, for the iniquity which he knoweth, because his sons ran into a slander, and he stayed them not.

14 Now therefore I have sworn unto the house of Eli, that the wickedness of Eli's house shall not be purged with sacrifice nor offering for ever.

15 Afterward Samuel slept until the morning, and opened the doors of the house of the Lord, and Samuel feared to shew Eli the vision.

16 ¶ Then Eli called Samuel, and said, Samuel my son. And he answered, Here I am.

17 Then he said, What is it that the Lord said unto thee? I pray thee, hide it not from me. God do so to thee, and more also, if thou hide any thing from me, of all that he said unto thee.

18 So Samuel told him every whit, and hid nothing from him. Then he said, It is the Lord: let him do what seemeth him good.

19 ¶ And Samuel grew, and the Lord was with him, and let of his words fall to the ground.

20 And all Israel from Dan Beer-sheba knew that faithful Samuel was the Lord's prophet.

10 The ark of the Lord is taken. 11 Eli and his children die. 19 The death of the wife of Phinehas the son of Eli.

AND Samuel spake unto all Israel: and Israel went out against the Philistines to battle, and pitched beside Eben-ezer: and the Philistines pitched in Aphek.

■ And the Philistines put themselves in array against Israel: and when they joined the battle, Israel was smitten down before the Philistines: who slew of the army in the field about four thousand men.

3 So when the people were come into the camp, the elders of Israel said, Wherefore hath the Lord smitten this day before the Philistines? let bring the ark of the covenant of the Lord out of Shiloh unto us, that when it cometh among us, it may save us out of the hand of our enemies.

4 Then the people sent to Shiloh, and brought from thence the ark of the covenant of the Lord of hosts, who dwelleth between the cherubims: and there were the two sons of Eli, Hophni and Phinehas, with the ark of the covenant of God.

5 And when the ark of the covenant of the Lord came into the host, all Israel shouted mighty shout, so that the earth rang again.

6 And when the Philistines heard the noise of the shout, they said, What meaneth the sound of this mighty shout in the host of the Hebrews: and they understood that the ark of the Lord was come into the host.

7 And the Philistines were afraid, and said, God is come into the host: therefore said they, Wo unto us: for it hath not been so heretofore.

8 Wo unto us, who shall deliver us out of the hand of these mighty gods? these are the gods that smote the Egyptians with all the plagues in the wilderness.

9 Be strong and play the men, O Philistines, that ye be not servants unto the Hebrews, as they have served you: be valiant therefore and fight.

10 And the Philistines fought, and Israel was smitten down, and fled every man into his tent: and there was exceeding great slaughter: for there fell of Israel thirty thousand footmen.

11 And the ark of God was taken, and the two sons of Eli, Hophni and Phinehas, died.

12 And there ran a man of Benjamin out of the army, and came to Shiloh the same day with his cloaths rent, and earth upon his head.

13 And when he came, lo, Eli sat upon a seat by the way side, waiting: for his heart feared for the ark of God: and when the man came into the city to tell it, all the city cried out.

14 And when Eli heard the noise of the crying, he said, What meaneth this noise of the tumult? and the man came in hastily, and told Eli.

9 And when they had carried it about, the hand of the Lord was against the city with very great destruction, and he smote the men of the city both small and great, and they had emerods in their secret parts.

7 And the Lord said unto Samuel, Hear the voice of the people in all that they shall say unto thee: for they have not cast thee away, but they have cast me away, that I should not reign over them.

8 As they have ever done since I brought them out of Egypt, even unto this day, (and have forsaken me and served other gods) even so do they unto thee. ^{Bef. Chr. 1112.}

9 Now therefore hearken unto their voice: howbeit yet ² testify unto them, and shew them the manner of the king that shall reign over them.

10 ¶ So Samuel told all the words of the Lord unto the people that asked a king of him.

11 And he said, This shall ^o be the manner of the king that shall reign over you: he will take your sons, and appoint them to his chariots, and to be his horsemen, and some shall run before his chariot.

12 Also he will make them his captains over thousands, and captains over fifties, and to ear his ground, and to reap his harvest, and to make instruments of war, and the things that serve for his chariots.

13 He will also take your daughters and make them apothecaries, and cooks, and bakers.

14 And he will take your fields, and your vineyards, and your best olive-trees, and give them to his servants.

15 And he will take the tenth of your seed, and of your vineyards, and give it to his [‡] eunuchs, and to his servants. ^{Or, chief officers.}

16 And he will take your men-servants, and your maid-servants, and the chief of your young men, and your asses, and put them to his work.

17 He will take the tenth of your sheep, and ye shall be his servants.

18 And ye shall cry out at that day, because of your king whom ye have chosen you, and the Lord will not ^p hear you at that day.

19 But the people would not hear the voice of Samuel, but did say, Nay, but there shall be [■] king over us.

20 And we also will be like all other nations, and our king shall judge us, and go out before us, and fight our battles.

21 Therefore when Samuel heard all the words of the people, he rehearsed them in the ears of the Lord.

22 And the Lord said to Samuel, [‡] Harken unto their voice, and make them a king. And Samuel said unto the men of Israel, Go every man unto his city. ^{Or, grant their request.}

Bef. Chr. 1095. And he had a son called Saul, a goodly young man and a fair: so that among the children of Israel there was none goodlier than he: from the shoulders upward, he was higher than any of the people.

3 And the asses of Kish, Saul's father, were lost: therefore Kish said to Saul his son, Take now one of the servants with thee, and arise, go, and seek the asses.

4 So he passed through mount Ephraim, and went through the land of Shalishah, but they found them not. Then they went through the land of Shalim, and there they were not: he went also through the land of Jemini, but they found them not.

5 When they came to the land of Zuph, Saul said unto his servant that was with him, Come and let us return, lest my father leave the care of asses, and take thought for us.

6 And he said unto him, Behold now in this city is a man of God, and he is an honourable man: all that he saith cometh to pass: let us now go thither, if so be that he can shew us what way we may go.

7 Then said Saul to his servant, Well then, let us go: but what shall we bring unto the man? For the bread is spent in our vessels, and there is no present to bring to the man of God: what have we?

8 And the servant answered Saul again, and said, Behold, I have found about me the fourth part of a shekel of silver: that will I give the man of God, to tell us our way.

9 (Beforetime in Israel when a man went to seek an answer of God, thus he spake, Come, and let us go to the seer: for he that is called now a prophet, was in the old time called a Seer.)

10 Then said Saul to his servant, Well said, come, let us go: so they went into the city where the man of God was.

11 ¶ And as they were going up the highway to the city, they found maids that came out to draw water, and said unto them, Is there here a seer?

12 And they answered them, and said, Yea: lo, he is before you: make haste now, for he came this day to the city: for there is an offering of the people this day in the high place.

13 When ye shall come into the city, ye shall find him straightway ere he come up to the high place to eat: for the people will not eat until he come, because he will bless the sacrifice: and then eat they that be bidden to the feast: now therefore go up: for even now shall ye find him.

14 Then they went up into the city, and when they were come into the midst of the city, Samuel came out against them, to go up to the high place.

15 ¶ But the Lord had revealed to Samuel secretly (a day before Saul came) saying,

16 To-morrow about this time I will send thee a man out of the land of Benjamin: him shalt thou anoint to be governor over my people Israel, that he may save my people out of the hands of the Philistines: for I have looked upon my people, and their cry is come unto me.

17 When Samuel therefore saw Saul, the Lord answered him, See, this is the man whom I spake to thee of, he shall rule my people.

18 Then went Saul to Samuel in the midst of the gate, and said, Tell me, I pray thee, where the seer's house is.

19 And Samuel answered Saul, and said, I am the seer: go up before me unto the high place: for ye shall eat with me to-day, and to-morrow I will let thee go, and will tell thee all that is in thine heart.

20 And as for thine asses that were lost three days ago, care not for them: for they are found, and on whom is set all the desire of Israel? is it not upon thee, and on all thy father's house?

21 ¶ But Saul answered, and said, Am not I the son of Jemini, of the smallest tribe of Israel? and my family is the least of all the families of the tribe of Benjamin. Wherefore then speakest thou so to me?

22 And Samuel took Saul and his servant, and brought them into the chamber, and made them sit in the chiefest place among them that were bidden: which were about thirty persons.

23 And Samuel said unto the cook, Bring forth the portion which I gave thee, and whereof I said unto thee, Keep it with thee.

24 And the cook took up the shoulder, and that which was upon it, and set it before Saul. And Samuel said, Behold, that which is left, set it before thee and eat: for hitherto hath it been kept for thee, saying, Also I have called the people. So Saul did eat with Samuel that day.

25 And when they were come down from the high place into the city, he communed with Saul upon the top of the house.

26 And when they arose early about the spring of the day, Samuel called Saul to the top of the house, saying, Up, that I may send thee away. And Saul arose, and they went out, both he and Samuel.

27 And when they were come down to the end of the city, Samuel said to Saul, Bid the servant go before us (and he went), but stand thou still now, that I may shew thee the word of God.

7 And he that bare his armour, said unto him, Do all that is in thine heart: go where it pleaseth thee: behold, ^m I am with thee ⁿ thine heart desireth.

¶ Then said Jonathan, Behold, we go over unto these men, and will shew ourselves unto them.

9 ^o If they say on this wise to us, Tarry until we come to you, then will we stand still in our place, and not go up to them.

10 But if they say, Come up unto us, then will we go up: for the Lord hath delivered them into our hand: and this shall be ^p sign unto us.

11 So they both shewed themselves unto the garrison of the Philistines: and the Philistines said, See, the Hebrews come out of the^q holes wherein they had hid themselves.

12 And the men of the garrison answered Jonathan and his armour-bearer, and said, Come up to us: for we will shew you ^r thing. Then Jonathan said unto his armour-bearer, Come up after me: for the Lord hath delivered them into the hand of Israel.

13 So Jonathan went up upon^s his hands and upon his feet, and his armour-bearer after him: and some fell before Jonathan, and his armour-bearer slew others after him.

14 So the^t first slaughter which Jonathan and his armour-bearer made, was about twenty men, ^u it were within half an acre of land, which two oxen plow.

15 And there was a fear in the host, and in the field, and among all the people: the garrison also, and they that went out to spoil, were afraid themselves: and the earth^v trembled: for it was stricken with fear by God.

16 ¶ Then the watchmen of Saul in Gibeah of Benjamin saw: and behold, the multitude was discomfited, and smitten as they went.

17 Therefore said Saul unto the people that were with him, Search now and see, who is gone from us. And when they had numbered, behold, Jonathan and his armour-bearer were not there.

18 And Saul said unto Ahiah, Bring hither the ark of God (for the ark of God was at that time with the children of Israel)

19 ¶ And while Saul talked unto the priest, the noise that was in the host of the Philistines spread further abroad, and increased: therefore Saul said unto the priest, ^w Withdraw thine hand.

^r Let the Ephod alone: for I have no leisure now to ask counsel of God, Numb. 27. 21.

Bef. Chr. 1087. 20 And Saul was assembled with all the people that were with him, and they came to the battle: and behold, every man's sword was against his fellow, and there was a very great discomfiture.

21 Moreover the Hebrews that were with the Philistines beforetime, and were come with them into all parts of the host, even they also turned to be with the Israelites that were with Saul and Jonathan.

22 Also all the men of Israel which had hid themselves in Mount Ephraim, when they heard that the Philistines were fled, they followed after them in the battle.

23 And so the Lord saved Israel that day: and the battle continued unto Beth-aven.

24 ¶ And at that time the men of Israel were pressed with hunger: for Saul charged the people with an oath, saying, Cursed be the man that eateth food † till night, that I may be avenged of mine enemies: so none of the people tasted any sustenance.

25 And all they of the land came to a wood, where honey lay upon the ground.

26 And the people came into the wood, and behold, the honey dropped, and no man moved his hand to his mouth: for the people feared the oath.

27 But Jonathan heard not when his father charged the people with the oath: wherefore he put forth the end of the rod that was in his hand, and dipped it in an honey-comb, and put his hand to his mouth, and his eyes received sight.

28 Then answered one of the people, and said, Thy father made the people to swear, saying, Cursed be the man that eateth sustenance this day: and the people were † faint.

29 Then said Jonathan, My father hath troubled the land: see now how mine eyes are made clear, because I have tasted a little of this honey:

30 How much more, if the people had eaten to-day of the spoil of their enemies which they found? for had there not been now a greater slaughter among the Philistines?

31 ¶ And they smote the Philistines that day, from Michmash to Aijalon: and the people were exceeding faint.

32 So the people turned to the spoil, and took sheep, and oxen, and calves, and slew them on the ground, and the people did eat them with the blood.

33 Then men told Saul, saying, Behold, the people sin against the Lord, in that they eat with the blood. And he said, Ye have trespassed: roll a great stone unto me this day.

34 Again Saul said, Go abroad among the people, and bid them bring me every man his ox, and every man his sheep, and slay them here, and eat, and sin not against the Lord in eating with the blood. And the people brought every man his ox in his hand that night, and slew them there.

35 Then Saul made an altar unto the Lord, and that † was the first altar that he made unto the Lord.

36 ¶ And Saul said, Let us go down after the Philistines by night, and spoil them until the morning shine, and let us not leave a man of them. And they said, Do whatsoever thou thinkest best. Then said the priest, Let us draw near hither unto God.

37 So Saul asked of God, saying, Shall I go down after the Philistines? wilt thou deliver them into the hands of Israel? But he answered him not at that time.

38 ¶ And Saul said, All ye † chief of the people, come ye hither, and know, and see by whom this sin is done this day.

39 For as the Lord liveth, which saveth Israel, though it be done by Jonathan my son, he shall die the death. But none of all the people answered him.

40 Then he said unto all Israel, Be ye on one side, and I and Jonathan my son will be on the other side. And the people said unto Saul, Do what thou thinkest best.

41 Then Saul said unto the Lord God of Israel, Give a perfect lot. And Jonathan and Saul were taken, but the people escaped.

42 And Saul said, Cast lot between me and Jonathan my son. And Jonathan was taken.

43 Then Saul said to Jonathan, Tell me what thou hast done. And Jonathan told him, and said, I tasted a little honey with the end of the rod that was in mine hand, and lo, I must die.

44 Again Saul answered, God do so and more also, unless thou die the death, Jonathan.

45 And the people said unto Saul, Shall Jonathan die, who hath so mightily delivered Israel? God forbid. As the Lord liveth, there shall not one hair of his head fall to the ground: for he hath wrought with God this day. So the people delivered Jonathan that he died not.

46 Then Saul came up from the Philistines, and the Philistines went to their own place.

47 ¶ So Saul held the kingdom over Israel, and fought against all his enemies on every side, against Moab, and against the children of Ammon, and against Edom, and against the kings of Zobah, and against the Philistines: and whithersoever he went, he † handled them wicked men.

48 He gathered also an host, and smote Amalek, and delivered Israel out of the hands of them that spoiled them.

CHAP. XV.

3 Saul is commanded to slay Amalek. 9 He spareth Agag and the best things. 19 Samuel reproveth him. 28 Saul is rejected of the Lord, and his kingdom given to another. 33 Samuel beweth Agag in pieces.

Afterward Samuel said unto Saul, ^{*} The Lord sent me to anoint thee king over his people, over Israel: now therefore ^f obey the voice of the words of the Lord.

2 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, I remember what Amalek did to Israel, ^g how they laid wait for them in the way, ^h they came up from Egypt.

3 Now therefore go, and smite Amalek, and destroy ye all that pertaineth unto them, and have no compassion on them, but ⁱ slay both man and woman, both infant and suckling, both ox and sheep, both camel and ass.

4 And Saul assembled the people, and [†] numbered them in Telaim, two hundred thousand footmen, and ten thousand men of Judah.

5 And Saul came to a city of Amalek, [‡] and set watch at the river.

6 And Saul said unto the ^h Kenites, Go, depart, and get you down from among the Amalekites, lest I destroy you with them: for ye shewed ^l mercy to all the children of Israel, when they came up from Egypt: and the Kenites departed from among the Amalekites.

7 So Saul smote the Amalekites from Havilah, as thou comest to Shur, that is before Egypt,

8 And took Agag the king of the Amalekites alive, and destroyed all the people with the edge of the sword.

9 But Saul and the people spared Agag, and the better sheep, and the oxen, and the fat beasts, and the lambs, and all that was good, and they would not destroy them: but every thing that was vile, and nought worth, that they destroyed.

10 Then came the word of the Lord unto Samuel, saying,

11 ^k It repenteth me that I have made Saul king, for he is turned from me, and hath not performed my commandments. And Samuel was moved, and cried unto the Lord all night.

12 And when Samuel arose early to meet Saul in the morning, one told Samuel, saying, Saul is gone to Carmel: and behold, he hath made him there a place, from whence he returned, and departed, and is gone down to Gilgal.

13 Then Samuel came to Saul, and Saul said unto him, Blessed be thou of the Lord, I have fulfilled the ^l commandment of the Lord.

14 But Samuel said, What meaneth then the bleating of the sheep in mine ears, and the lowing of the oxen which I hear?

15 And Saul answered, They have brought them from the Amalekites: for the people spared the best of the sheep, and of the oxen, to sacrifice them unto the Lord thy God, and the remnant have we destroyed.

16 Again Samuel said to Saul, Let me tell thee what the Lord hath said to me this night. And he said unto him, Say on.

17 Then Samuel said, When thou wast ^m little in thine own sight, wast thou not made the head of the tribes of Israel? for the Lord anointed thee king over Israel.

18 And the Lord sent thee on a journey, and said, Go, and destroy those sinners the Amalekites, and fight against them, until thou destroy them.

19 Now wherefore hast thou not obeyed the voice of the Lord, but hast turned ⁿ the prey, and hast done wickedly in the sight of the Lord?

20 And Saul said unto Samuel, Yea, I have obeyed the voice of the Lord, and have gone the way which the Lord sent me, and have brought Agag the king of Amalek, and have destroyed the Amalekites.

21 But the people took of the spoil, sheep and oxen, and the chiefest of the things which should have been destroyed, to offer unto the Lord thy God in Gilgal.

22 And Samuel said, Hath the Lord as great pleasure in burnt-offerings and sacrifices, as when the voice of the Lord is obeyed? behold, ^{*} to obey is better than sacrifice, and ^o hearken ^p is better than the fat of rams.

The Philistines make war against Israel. 10 Goliath defeateth Israel. 17 David is sent to his brethren. 34 The strength and boldness of David. 47 The Lord saveth not by sword nor spear. 50 David killeth Goliath, and the Philistines flee.

NOW the Philistines gathered their armies to battle, and came together to Shohoh, which is in Judah, and pitched between Shohoh and Azekah, † in the coast of Damim.

2 And Saul, and the men of Israel assembled, and pitched in the valley † of Elah, and put themselves in battle array to meet the Philistines.

3 And the Philistines stood on a mountain on the one side, and Israel stood on a mountain on the other side: so a valley was between them.

4 ¶ Then came a man between them both out of the tents of the Philistines, named Goliath of Gath: his height was six cubits and an hand breadth,

5 And had a helmet of brass upon his head, and a brigandine upon him: and the weight of his brigandine was five thousand shekels of brass.

6 And he had † boots of brass upon his legs, and a shield of brass upon his shoulders.

7 And the shaft of his spear was like a weaver's beam: and his spear head weighed six hundred shekels of iron: and one bearing a shield went before him.

8 And he stood, and cried against the host of Israel, and said unto them, Why are ye come to set your battle in array? am not I a Philistine, and you servants to Saul? chuse you a man for you, and let him come down to me.

¶ If he be able to fight with me, and † kill me, then will we be your servants: but if I overcome him, and kill him, then shall ye be our servants, and serve us.

10 Also the Philistine said, I defy the host of Israel this day: give me a man, that we may fight together.

11 When Saul and Israel heard those words of the Philistine, they were discouraged, and greatly afraid.

12 ¶ Now this David was the son of an Ephrathite of Beth-lehem Judah, named Jesse, which had eight sons: and † this man was taken for an old man in the days of Saul.

13 And the three eldest sons of Jesse went and followed Saul to the battle: and the names of his three sons that went to battle, were Eliab the eldest, and the next Abinadab, and the third Shamamah.

14 So David was the least: and the three eldest went after Saul.

David also went, but he returned from Saul to feed his father's sheep in Beth-lehem.

16 And the Philistine drew near in the morning and evening, and continued forty days.

17 And Jesse said unto David his son, Take now for thy brethren an ephah of this parched corn, and these ten cakes, and run to the host to thy brethren.

18 Also carry these ten fresh cheeses unto the captain, and look how thy brethren fare, and receive their pledge.

19 (Then Saul and they, and all the men of Israel, were in the valley of Elah, fighting with the Philistines)

20 ¶ So David rose up early in the morning, and left the sheep with a keeper, and took and went as Jesse had commanded him, and came within the compass of the host: and the host went out in array, and shouted in the battle.

21 For Israel and the Philistines had put themselves in array, army against army.

22 And David left the things which he bare, under the hands of the keeper of the carriage, and came into the host, and came and asked his brethren † how they did.

23 And as he talked with them, behold, the man that was between the two armies, came up, (whose name was Goliath the Philistine of Gath) out of the † army of the Philistines, and spake such words, and David heard them.

24 And all the men of Israel, when they saw the man, ran away from him, and were sore afraid.

25 For every man of Israel said, Saw ye not this man that cometh up? even to revile Israel: is he come up: and to him that killeth him, will the king give great riches, and will give him his daughter, yea, and make his father's house free in Israel.

26 ¶ Then David spake to the man that stood with him, and said, What shall be done to the man that killeth this Philistine, and taketh away the shame from Israel? for who is this uncircumcised Philistine, that he should revile the host of the living God?

27 And the people answered him after this manner, saying, Thus shall it be done to the man that killeth him.

28 And Eliab his eldest brother heard when he spake unto the men, and Eliab was very angry with David; and said, Why camest thou down hither? and with whom hast thou left those few sheep in the wilderness? I know thy pride and the malice of thine heart, that thou art come down to see the battle.

29 Then David said, What have I now done? Is there not a cause?

30 And he departed from him into the presence of another, and spake of the same manner, and the people answered him according to the former words.

31 ¶ And they that heard the words which David spake, rehearsed them before Saul, who caused him to be brought.

32 So David said to Saul, Let no man's heart fail him, because of him: thy servant will go, and fight with this Philistine.

33 And Saul said to David, Thou art not able to go against this Philistine to fight with him: for thou art a boy, and he is a man of war from his youth.

34 And David answered unto Saul, Thy servant kept his father's sheep, and there came a lion, and likewise a bear, and took a sheep out of the flock, 35 And I went out after him and smote him, and took it out of his mouth: and when he arose against me, I caught him by the beard, and smote him, and slew him.

36 So thy servant slew both the lion and the bear: therefore this uncircumcised Philistine shall be as one of them, seeing he hath railed on the host of the living God.

37 ¶ Moreover David said, the Lord that delivered me out of the paw of the lion, and out of the paw of the bear, he will deliver me out of the hand of this Philistine. Then Saul said unto David, Go, and the Lord be with thee.

38 And Saul put his raiment upon David, and put an helmet of brass upon his head, and put a brigandine upon him.

39 Then girded David his sword upon his raiment, and † began to go: for he never proved it: and David said unto Saul, I cannot go with these: for I am not accustomed. Wherefore David put them off him.

40 Then took he his staff in his hand, and chose him five smooth stones out of a brook, and put them in his shepherd's bag or scrip, and his sling was in his hand, and he drew near to the Philistine.

41 And the Philistine came and drew near unto David, and the man that bare the shield went before him.

42 Now when the Philistine looked about and saw David, he despised him: for he was but young, ruddy, and of a comely face.

43 And the Philistine said unto David, Am I a dog, that thou comest to me with staves? And the Philistine cursed David by his gods.

44 And the Philistine said to David, Come to me, and I will give thy flesh unto the fowls of the heaven, and to the beasts of the field.

45 Then said David to the Philistine, Thou comest to me with a sword, and with a spear, and with a shield, but I come to thee in the name of the Lord of hosts, the God of the host of Israel, whom thou hast railed upon.

46 This day shall the Lord close thee in mine hand, and I shall smite thee, and take thine head from thee, and I will give the carcases of the host of the Philistines this day unto the fowls of the heaven, and to the beasts of the earth, that all the world may know that Israel hath a God, 47 And that all this assembly may know, that the Lord saveth not with sword nor with spear (for the battle is the Lord's) and he will give you into our hands.

48 And when the Philistine arose to come and draw near unto David, David hasted and ran to fight against the Philistine.

49 And David put his hand in his bag, and took out a stone, and slang it, and smote the Philistine in his forehead, that the stone stuck in his forehead, and he fell groveling to the earth.

50 So David overcame the Philistine with a sling and with a stone, and smote the Philistine, and slew him, when David had no sword in his hand.

51 Then David ran, and stood upon the Philistine, and took his sword and drew it out of his sheath, and slew him, and cut off his head therewith. So when the Philistines saw that their champion was dead, they fled.

52 And the men of Israel and Judah arose, and shouted, and followed after the Philistines, until they came to the † valley, and unto the gates of Ekron: and the Philistines fell down wounded by the way of Shaaraim, even to Gath and to Ekron.

53 And the children of Israel returned from pursuing the Philistines, and spoiled their tents.

54 And David took the head of the Philistine, and brought it to Jerusalem; and put his armour in his † tent.

55 ¶ When Saul saw David go forth against the Philistine, he said unto Abner the captain of his host, Abner, whose son is this young man? And Abner answered, As thy soul liveth, O king, I cannot tell.

56 Then the king said, Inquire thou whose son this young man is.

57 And when David was returned from the slaughter of the Philistine, then Abner took him, and brought him before Saul with the head of the Philistine in his hand.

58 And Saul said to him, Whose son art thou, thou young man? and David answered, I am the son of thy servant Jesse the Beth-lehmite.

C H A P. XVIII.

The amity of Jonathan and David. 8. Saul envieth David for the praise that the women gave him. 11. Saul would have slain David. 17. He promiseth him Merab to wife, but giveth him Michal. 27. David delivereth to Saul two hundred foreskins of the Philistines. 29. Saul feareth David, seeing that the Lord is with him.

AND when he had made an end of speaking unto Saul, the soul of Jonathan was knit with the soul of David, and Jonathan loved him as his own soul.

2 And Saul took him that day, and would not let him return to his father's house.

3 Then

¶ Here Satan proveth David's faith, by the infidelity of Saul.

2 David, by the experience that he hath had in time past of God's help, nothing doubteeth to overcome this danger, seeing he was zealous for God's honour.

3 For by these examples, he saw that the power of God was with him.

4 To the intent that, by these weak means, God might only be known to be the author of this victory.

¶ He sware by his gods that he would destroy him.

2 David being assured both of his cause and of his calling, prophesieth of the destruction of the Philistines.

3 Being moved with a fervent zeal to be revenged upon this blasphemer of God's name.

4 That is, of what family and tribe is he? or else he had forgotten David, albeit he had received so great a benefit by him.

5 His affection was fully bent toward him.

3 Then Jonathan and David made a covenant: for he loved him as his own soul.

4 And Jonathan put off the robe that was upon him, and gave it David, and his garments, even to his sword, and to his bow, and to his girdle.

5 And David went out whithersoever Saul sent him, and behaved himself wisely: so that Saul set him over the men of war; and he was accepted in the sight of all the people, and also in the sight of Saul's servants.

6 ¶ When they came again, and David returned from the slaughter of the Philistines, the women came out of all cities of Israel singing and dancing to meet king Saul, with timbrels, with instruments of joy, and with rebecs.

7 And the women sang by course in their play, and said, * Saul hath slain his thousands, and David his ten thousands.

8 Therefore Saul was exceeding wroth, and the saying displeased him, and he said, They have ascribed unto David ten thousand, and to me they have ascribed but a thousand, and what can he have more save the kingdom?

9 Wherefore Saul had an eye on David from that day forward.

10 ¶ And on the morrow the evil spirit of God came upon Saul, and he prophesied in the midst of the house: and David played with his hand like as at other times, and there was a spear in Saul's hand.

11 And Saul took the spear, and said, I will smite David thorough to the wall. But David avoided twice out of his presence.

12 And Saul was afraid of David, because the Lord was with him, and was departed from Saul.

13 Therefore Saul put him from him, and made him a captain over a thousand; and he went out and in before the people.

14 And David behaved himself wisely in all his ways: for the Lord was with him.

15 Wherefore when Saul saw that he was very wise, he was afraid of him.

16 For all Israel and Judah loved David, because he went out and in before them.

17 ¶ Then Saul said to David, Behold mine eldest daughter Merab, her I will give thee to wife: only be a valiant son unto me, and fight the Lord's battles: for Saul thought, Mine hand shall not be upon him, but the hand of the Philistines shall be upon him.

18 And David answered Saul, What am I? and what is my life, or the family of my father in Israel, that I should be son-in-law to the king?

19 Howbeit when Merab Saul's daughter should have been given to David, she was given to Adriel a Meholathite to wife.

20 ¶ Then Michal Saul's daughter loved

David: and they shewed Saul, and the thing pleased him. cf. Chr. 1063.

21 Therefore Saul said, I will give him her, that she may be a snare to him, and that the hand of the Philistines may be against him. Wherefore Saul said to David, Thou shalt this day be my son-in-law in the one of the twain.

22 And Saul commanded his servants, Speak with David secretly, and say, Behold, the king hath favour to thee; and all his servants love thee: be now therefore the king's son-in-law.

23 And Saul's servants spake these words in the ears of David. And David said, Seemeth it to you a light thing to be a king's son-in-law, seeing that I am a poor man and of small reputation?

24 And then Saul's servants brought him word again, saying, Such words spake David.

25 And Saul said, This wise shall ye say to David, The king desireth no dowry, but an hundred foreskins of the Philistines, to be avenged of the king's enemies: -for Saul thought to make David fall into the hands of the Philistines.

26 And when his servants told David these words, it pleased David well, to be the king's son-in-law: and the days were not expired.

27 Afterward David arose with his men, and went and slew of the Philistines two hundred men: and David brought their foreskins, and they gave them wholly to the king, that he might be the king's son-in-law: therefore Saul gave him Michal his daughter to wife.

28 Then Saul saw and understood that the Lord was with David, and that Michal the daughter of Saul loved him.

29 Then Saul more and more afraid of David, and Saul became alway David's enemy.

30 And when the princes of the Philistines went forth, at their going forth David behaved himself more wisely than all the servants of Saul, so that his name was much set by.

THEN Saul spake to Jonathan his son, and to all his servants, that they should kill David: but Jonathan Saul's son had a great favour to David.

2 And Jonathan told David, saying, Saul my father goeth about to slay thee: now therefore, I pray thee, take heed unto thyself unto the morning, and abide in a secret place, and hide thyself.

3 And I will go out and stand by my father in the field where thou art, and will commune with my father of thee, and I will see what he saith, and will tell thee.

1063. Bef. Chr. ¶ And Jonathan spake good of David unto Saul his father, and said unto him, Let not the king sin against his servant, against David: for he hath not sinned against thee, but his works have been to thee very good.

5 For he † did * put his life in danger, and slew the Philistine, and the Lord wrought a great salvation for all Israel: thou sawest it, thou rejoicest: wherefore then wilt thou sin against innocent blood, and slay David without † cause?

6 Then Saul hearkened unto the voice of Jonathan, and Saul ° sware, As the Lord liveth, he shall not die.

Bef. Chr. 1062. 9 ¶ And Jonathan answered, God keep thee from thee: for if I knew that wickedness were concluded of my father to come upon thee, would not I tell it thee?

10 Then said David to Jonathan, Who shall tell me? how shall I know, if thy father answer thee cruelly?

11 Then Jonathan said to David, Come and let us go out into the field: and they twain went out into the field.

12 And Jonathan said to David, O Lord God of Israel, when I have groped my father's mind to-morrow at this time, or within this three days, and if it be well with David, and I then send not unto thee, and shew it thee, 13 The Lord do so and much more unto Jonathan: but if my father have mind to do thee evil, I will shew thee also, and send thee away, that thou mayest go in peace: and the Lord be with thee, as he hath been with my father.

14 Likewise I require not whilst I live: for I doubt not but thou wilt shew me the mercy of the Lord, that I die not.

15 But I require that thou cut not off thy mercy from mine house for ever: no, not when the Lord hath destroyed the enemies of David, every one from the earth.

16 So Jonathan made a bond with the house of David, saying, Let the Lord require it at the hands of David's enemies.

17 And again Jonathan sware unto David, because he loved him (for he loved him as his own soul)

18 Then said Jonathan to him, To-morrow is the first day of the month: and thou shalt be † looked for, for thy place shall be empty.

19 Therefore thou shalt hide thyself three days, then thou shalt go down quickly and come to the place where thou didst hide thyself, when this matter was in hand, and shalt remain by the stone † Ezel.

20 And I will shoot three arrows on the side thereof, though I shot at a mark.

21 And after I will send a boy, saying, Go seek the arrows. If I say unto the boy, see, the arrows are on this side thee, bring them, and come thou: for it is † well with thee, and no hurt, as the Lord liveth.

22 But if I say thus unto the boy, Behold, the arrows are beyond thee, go thy way: for the Lord hath sent thee away.

23 As touching the thing which thou and I have spoken of, behold, the Lord be between thee and me for ever.

24 ¶ So David hid himself in the field: and when the first day of the month came, the king sat to eat meat.

25 And the king sat, as at other times, upon his seat, even upon his seat by the wall, and Jonathan arose, and Abner sat by Saul's side, but David's place was empty.

26 And Saul said nothing that day: for he thought, something had befallen him, though he were clean, or else, because he was not purged. Bet. Chr. 1062.

27 But on the morrow, which was the second day of the month, David's place was empty again: and Saul said unto Jonathan his son, Wherefore cometh not the son of Jesse to meat, neither yesterday nor to-day?

28 And Jonathan answered unto Saul, David required of me, that he might go to Beth-lehem.

29 For he said, Let me go, I pray thee: for our family offereth a sacrifice in the city, and my brother hath sent for me: therefore now, if I have found favour in thine eyes, let me go, I pray thee, and see my brethren: this is the cause that he cometh not unto the king's table.

30 Then was Saul angry with Jonathan, and said unto him, Thou son of the wicked rebellious woman, do not I know that thou hast chosen the son of Jesse to thy confusion, and to the confusion and shame of thy mother?

31 For as long as the son of Jesse liveth upon the earth, thou shalt not be established, nor thy kingdom: wherefore now send and fetch him unto me, for he † shall surely die.

32 And Jonathan answered unto Saul his father, and said unto him, Wherefore shall he die? what hath he done? † Heb. son of death.

33 And Saul cast a spear at him to hit him, whereby Jonathan knew that it was determined of his father to slay David.

34 ¶ So Jonathan arose from the table in a great anger, and did eat no meat the second day of the month: for he was sorry for David, and because his father had reviled him.

35 On the next morning therefore Jonathan went out into the field, at the time appointed with David, and a little boy with him.

36 And he said unto his boy, Run now, seek the arrows which I shoot: and as the boy ran, he shot an arrow beyond him.

37 And when the boy was come to the place where the arrow was that Jonathan had shot, Jonathan cried after the boy, and said, Is not the arrow beyond thee?

38 And Jonathan cried after the boy, Make speed, haste and stand not still: and Jonathan's boy gathered up the arrows, and came to his master.

39 But the boy knew nothing: only Jonathan and David knew the matter.

40 Then Jonathan gave his bow and arrows unto the boy that was with him, and said unto him, Go carry them into the city. † Heb. instruments.

41 ¶ As soon as the boy was gone, David arose out of a place that was toward the south, and fell on his face to the ground, and bowed himself three times: and they kissed one another, and wept both twain, till David exceeded.

42 Therefore Jonathan said to David, Go in peace: that which we have sworn both of us in the name of the Lord, saying, The Lord be between me and thee, and between my seed, and between thy seed, let it stand for ever.

11 Then the king sent to call Ahimelech the priest the son of Ahitub, and all his father's house, to wit, the priests that were in Nob: and they came all to the king.

12 And Saul said, Hear now, thou son of Ahitub. And he answered, Here I am, my lord.

13 Then Saul said unto him, Why have ye conspired against me, thou and the son of Jesse, in that thou hast given him victuals, and a sword, and hast asked counsel of God for him, that he should rise against me, and lie in wait, as appeareth this day?

19 Also Nob the city of the priests smote he with the edge of the sword, both man and woman, both child and suckling, both ox and ass, and sheep, with the edge of the sword.

20 But one of the sons of Ahimelech the son of Ahitub (whose name was Abiathar) escaped, and fled after David.

21 And Abiathar shewed David, that Saul had slain the Lord's priests.

4 Then David asked counsel of the Lord again. And the Lord answered him, and said, Arise, go down to Keilah: for I will deliver the Philistines into thine hand.

7 And he said unto his men, The Lord keep me from doing that thing unto my master the Lord's anointed, to lay mine hand upon him: for he is the anointed of the Lord.

8 So David overcame his servants with these words, and suffered them not to arise against Saul: so Saul rose up out of the cave, and went away.

9 ¶ David also arose afterward, and went out of the cave, and cried after Saul, saying, O my lord the king. And when Saul looked behind him, David inclined his face to the earth, and bowed himself.

10 And David said to Saul, † Wherefore givest thou an ear to men's words, that say, Behold, David seeketh evil against thee?

11 Behold, this day thine eyes have seen, that the Lord had delivered thee this day into mine hand in the cave, and some bade me kill thee, but I had compassion on thee, and said, I will not lay mine hand on my master: for he is the Lord's anointed.

12 Moreover, my father, behold: behold, I say, the lap of thy garment in mine hand: for when I cut off the lap of thy garment, I killed thee not. Understand and see, that there is neither evil nor wickedness in me, neither have I sinned against thee, yet thou huntest after my soul to take it.

13 The Lord be judge between thee and me, and the Lord avenge me of thee, and let not mine hand be upon thee.

14 According as the † old proverb saith, Wickedness proceedeth from the wicked, but mine hand be not upon thee.

15 After whom is the king of Israel come out? after whom dost thou pursue? after a dead dog, and after a flea?

16 The Lord therefore be judge, and judge between thee and me, and plead my cause, and † deliver me out of thine hand.

17 When David had made an end of speaking these words to Saul, Saul said, † Is this thy voice, my son David? and Saul lift up his voice, and wept, 18 And said to David, Thou art more righteous than I: for thou hast rendered me good, and I have rendered thee evil.

19 And thou hast shewed this day, that thou hast dealt well with me : forasmuch ¹ when the Lord had closed me in thine hands, thou killedst me not.

20 For who shall find his enemy, and let him depart † free ? wherefore the Lord render thee good for that thou hast done unto me this day.

1 Samuel dieth. 3 Nabal and Abigail. 38 The Lord killeth Nabal. 43 Abigail and Abinoam David's wives. 44 Michal is given to Phalti.

² Ch. 23. 3. THEN ¹ Samuel died, and all Israel assembled, and mourned for him, and buried him in his ² own house at Ramah. And David arose, and went down to the wilderness of Paran.

2 Now in ¹ Maon ² was a man who had his possession in Carmel, and the man was exceeding mighty, and had three thousand sheep, and a thousand goats : and he was shearing his sheep in Carmel.

3 The name also of the man ² was Nabal, and the name of his wife Abigail, and she was a woman of singular wisdom, and beautiful : but the man ² was churlish, and evil conditioned, and was of the family of Caleb.

4 And David heard in the wilderness, that Nabal did shear his sheep.

5 Therefore David sent ten young men, and David said unto the young men, Go up to Carmel, and go to Nabal, and ask him in my † name how he doth.

6 And thus shall ye say for † salutation, Both thou, and thine house, and all that thou hast, be in peace, wealth and prosperity.

7 Behold, I have heard that thou hast shearers : now thy shepherds were with us, and we did them no hurt, neither did they miss any thing all the while they were in Carmel.

8 Ask thy servants, and they will shew thee. Wherefore let these young men find favour in thine eyes : (for we come in ¹ good season) give, I pray thee, whatsoever ² cometh to thine hand unto thy servants, and to thy son David.

9 And when David's young men came, they told Nabal all those words in the name of David, and held their peace.

10 Then Nabal answered David's servants, and said, Who is David ? and who is the ¹ son of Jesse ? there be many servants now-a-days that break away every man from his master.

11 Shall I then take my bread, and my water, and my flesh that I have killed for my shearers, and give it unto men whom I know not whence they be ?

12 ¶ So David's servants turned their way, and went again, and came, and told him all those things.

13 And David said unto his men, Gird every ¹ his sword ² about him. And they girded every man his sword : David also girded his sword. And about four hundred men went up after David, and two hundred abode by the † carriage.

14 Now one of the servants told Abigail, Nabal's wife, saying, Behold, David sent messengers out of the wilderness to salute our master, and he † railed ¹ them.

15 Notwithstanding the men were very good ¹ unto us, and we had no displeasure, neither missed we any thing as long as we were conversant with them, when we were in the fields.

16 They were ¹ wall unto us both by night and by day, all the while we were with them keeping sheep.

17 Now therefore take heed, and see what thou shalt do : for evil will † surely come upon our master, and upon all his family : for he is so wicked that a man cannot speak to him.

18 ¶ Then Abigail made haste, and took two hundred † cakes, and two bottles of wine, and five sheep ready dressed, and five measures of parched corn, and an hundred † frails of raisins, and two hundred of figs, and laded them ¹ asses.

19 Then she said unto her servants, Go ye before me : behold, I will come after you : yet she told not her ¹ husband Nabal.

20 And ¹ she rode on her ass, she came down by ² secret place of the mountain, and behold, David and his men came down against her, and she met them.

21 And David said, Indeed I have kept all in vain that this fellow had in the wilderness, so that nothing was missed of all that pertained unto him : for he hath requited me evil for good.

22 So and more also do God unto the enemies of David : for surely I will not leave of all that he hath, by the dawning of the day, ¹ any that ² pisseth against the wall.

23 And when Abigail saw David, she hastened and lighted off her ass, and fell before David on her face, and bowed herself to the ground.

24 And fell ¹ his feet, and said, Oh my lord, I ² have committed the iniquity, and I pray thee, let thine handmaid speak † to thee, and hear thou the words of thine handmaid.

25 Let not my lord, I pray thee, regard this wicked ¹ Nabal : for as his name is, so is he ² † Nabal is his name, and folly is with him : but I thine handmaid saw not the young men of my lord whom thou sentest.

T H E A R G U M E N T.

This book and the former beareth the title of Samuel, because they contain the conception, nativity, and the whole course of his life, and also the lives and acts of two kings, to wit, of Saul and David, whom he anointed and consecrated kings by the ordinance of God. And as the first book containeth those things which God brought to pass among this people under the government of Samuel and Saul: so this second book declareth the noble acts of David after the death of Saul, when he began to reign, unto the end of his kingdom: and how the same by him was wonderfully augmented: also his great troubles and dangers which he sustained both within his house and without: what horrible and dangerous insurrections, uproars, and treasons were wrought against him, partly by false counsellors, feigned friends and flatterers, and partly by some of his own children and people: and how by God's assistance he overcame all difficulties, and enjoyed his kingdom in rest and peace. In the person of David the scripture setteth forth Christ Jesus the chief King, who came of David according to the flesh, and was persecuted on every side with outward and inward enemies, as well in his own person, as in his members, but at length he overcometh all his enemies, and giveth his church victory against all power, both spiritual and temporal: and so reigneth with them King for evermore.

AFTER the death of Saul, when David was returned from the slaughter of the Amalekites, and had been two days in Ziklag,
2 Behold, a man came the third day out of the host from Saul with his cloaths rent, and earth upon his head: and when he came to David, he fell to the earth, and did obeisance.

3 Then David said unto him, Whence comest thou? And he said unto him, Out of the host of Israel I am escaped.

4 And David said unto him, What is done? I pray thee, tell me. Then he said, that the people is fled from the battle, and many of the people are overthrown, and dead, and also Saul and Jonathan his son are dead.

5 And David said unto the young man that told it him, How knowest thou that Saul and Jonathan his son be dead?

6 Then the young man that told him, answered, As I came to mount Gilboa, behold, Saul leaned upon his spear, and lo, the chariots and † horsemen followed hard after him.

13 ¶ Afterward David said unto the young man that told it him, Whence art thou? And he answered, I am the son of a stranger an Amalekite.

16 Then said David unto him, Thy blood be upon thine own head: for thine own mouth hath testified against thee, saying, I have slain the Lord's anointed.

4 David is anointed king in Hebron. 9 Abner maketh Ishbosheth king over Israel. 15 The battle of the servants of David and Ishbosheth. 32 The burial of Asahel.

AFTER this, David ^a asked counsel of the Lord, saying, Shall I go up into any of the cities of Judah? And the Lord said unto him, Go up. And David said, Whither shall I go? He then answered, Unto ^o Hebron.

2 So David went up thither, and his two wives also, Ahinoam the Jezreelite, and Abigail Nabal's wife the Carmelite.

3 And David brought up the men that were with ² him, every man with his household, and they dwelt in the cities of Hebron.

4 ¶ Then the men of Judah came, and there they anointed David king ^o over the house of Judah. And they told David, saying, ^a that the men of Jabesh Gilead buried Saul.

5 And David sent messengers unto the ^m men of Jabesh Gilead, and said unto them, Blessed are ye of the Lord, that ye have shewed such kindness unto your lord Saul, that you have buried him.

6 Therefore now the Lord shew mercy and ^a truth unto you: and I will recompense you this benefit, because ye have done this thing.

7 Therefore now let your hands be strong, and be you valiant: albeit your master Saul be dead, yet nevertheless the house of Judah hath anointed me ^o king over them.

8 ¶ But Abner the son of Ner, that was captain of Saul's host, took Ishbosheth the son of Saul, and brought him to Mahanaim, 9 And made him king over Gilead, and over the Ashurites, and over Jezreel, and over Ephraim, and over Benjamin, and over ^a all Israel.

10 Ishbosheth Saul's son was forty years old when he began to reign over Israel, and reigned two years: but the house of Judah followed David.

11 (And the time which David reigned in Hebron over the house of Judah, was seven years and six ^o months.)

12 ¶ And Abner the son of Ner, and the servants of Ishbosheth the son of Saul, went out of Mahanaim to Gibeon.

13 And Joab the son of Zeruiah, and the servants of David, went out and met one another by the pool of Gibeon: and they sat down, the one on the one side of the pool, and the other on the other side of the pool.

14 Then Abner said to Joab, Let the young men now arise, and ^a play before us. And Joab said, Let them arise.

15 Then there arose and went out twelve of Benjamin by number, which pertained to Ishbosheth the son of Saul, and twelve of the servants of David.

16 And every one caught ^a his fellow by the head, and thrust his sword in his fellow's side, so they fell down together: wherefore the place was called † Helkath-hazzurim, which is in Gibeon.

17 And the battle was exceeding sore that same day: for Abner and the men of Israel ^a fell before the servants of David.

18 And there were three sons of Zeruiah there, Joab, and Abishai, and Asahel. And Asahel was as light on foot as a wild roe.

19 And Asahel followed after Abner, and in going he turned neither to the right hand nor to the left from Abner.

20 Then Abner looked behind him, and said, Art thou Asahel? And he answered, Yea.

21 Then Abner said, Turn thee either to the right hand, or to the left, and take one of the young men, and take thee his † weapons: but Asahel would not depart from him.

22 And Abner said to Asahel, Depart from me: ^a wherefore should I smite thee to the ground? how then should I be able to hold up my face to Joab thy brother?

2 The children of David in Hebron. 12 Abner turneth to David. 27 Joab killeth him.

THERE was then ^d long war between the house of Saul and the house of David: but David waxed stronger, and the house of Saul waxed weaker.

2 ¶ And unto David were children born in Hebron: and his eldest son was Amnon of Ahinoam the Jezreelitess:

3 And the second was ^a Chileab of Abigail the wife of Nabal the Carmelite: and the third, Absalom the son of Maacah the daughter of Talmai the king of Jeshur:

4 And the fourth, Adonijah the son of Haggith: and the fifth, Shephatiah the son of Abital:

5 And the sixth, Ithream by Elgah David's wife: these were born to David in ^f Hebron.

6 ¶ Now while there was war between the house of Saul and the house of David, Abner made all his power for the house of Saul.

7 And Saul had ■ concubine named Rizpah, the daughter of Aiah. And Ish-bosheth said to Abner, Wherefore hast thou gone in to my father's concubine?

8 Then was Abner very wroth for the words of Ish-bosheth, and said, Am I a ^b dog's head, which against Judah do shew mercy this day unto the house of Saul thy father, to his brethren, and to his neighbours, and have not de-

9 ^a So do God to Abner, and more also, except, ■ the Lord hath sworn to David, even so I do to him;

10 To remove the kingdom from the house of Saul, that the throne of David may be established over Israel, and over Judah, even from Dan to Beer-sheba.

11 And he durst no more answer to Abner: for he feared him.

12 ¶ Then Abner sent messengers to David † on his behalf, saying, Whose is the land? † Or, secretly, who should also say, Make covenant with me, ^{ly.} and behold, mine hand shall be with thee, to bring all Israel unto thee.

13 Who said, Well, I will make a covenant with thee: but one thing I require of thee, that is, that thou see not my face, except thou bring Michal Saul's daughter when thou comest to see me.

14 ¶ Then David sent messengers to Ish-bosheth Saul's son, saying, Deliver me my wife Michal, which I married for * an hundred foreskins of the Philistines. * 1 Sam. 18. 25, 27.

16 And her husband went with her, and came weeping behind her unto Bahurim: then said Abner unto him, Go, and return: so he returned.

17 ¶ And Abner had ⁱ communication with the elders of Israel, saying, Ye fought for David in times past, that he might be your king.

18 Now then do it: for the Lord hath spoken of David, saying, By the hand of my servant David I will save my people of Israel out of the hands of the Philistines, and out of the hands of all their enemies.

19 Also Abner spake † to Benjamin, and afterward Abner went to speak with David in Hebron, concerning all that Israel was content with, and the whole ^k house of Benjamin. † Heb. in the ears of Benjamin.

3 David is made king over all Israel. 7 He taketh the fort of Zion. 19 He asketh counsel of the Lord, 20 And overcometh the Philistines twice.

THEN * came all the tribes of Israel to David unto Hebron, and said thus, Behold, we are thy ^b bones and thy flesh.

2 And in time past when Saul was our king, thou leddest Israel in and out: and the Lord hath said to thee, * Thou shalt feed my people Israel, and thou shalt be a captain over Israel.

3 So all the elders of Israel came to the king to Hebron: and king David made [■] covenant with them in Hebron * before the Lord: and they anointed David king over Israel.

4 ¶ David was thirty years old when he began to reign, and he reigned forty years.

5 In Hebron he reigned over Judah * seven years and six months: and in Jerusalem he reigned thirty and three years over all Israel and Judah.

6 ¶ The king also and his men went to Jerusalem unto the Jebusites, the inhabitants of the land: who spake unto David, saying, Except thou take away the [■] blind and the lame, thou shalt not come in hither: thinking that David could not come thither.

7 But David took the fort of Zion: this is the city of David.

8 ¶ Now David had said the same day, Whosoever smiteth the Jebusites, and getteth up to the gutters, and smiteth the lame and blind, which David's soul hateth, I will prefer him: [■] therefore they said, The blind and the lame shall not * come into that house.

9 So David dwelt in that fort, and called it the city of David, and David built round about it, from [■] Millo, and inward.

10 And David prospered and grew: for the Lord God of hosts was with him.

11 ¶ Hiram also king of † Tyrus sent messengers to David, and cedar trees, and carpenters, and masons for walls: and they built David an house.

12 Then David knew that the Lord had established him king over Israel, and that he had exalted his kingdom for his people Israel's sake.

18 But the Philistines came, and spread themselves in the valley of Rephaim.

19 Then David * asked counsel of the Lord, saying, Shall I go up to the Philistines? wilt thou deliver them into mine hands? And the Lord answered David, Go up: for I will doubtless deliver the Philistines into thine hands.

DAVID lamenting the Death of ABSALOM. II Sam. VIII Ch. 37.

O my son Absalom, my son, my son Absalom!
would God I had died for thee.

from all thine enemies : also the Lord telleth thee, that he will make thee an house.

12 And when thy days be fulfilled, thou shalt sleep with thy fathers, and I will set up thy seed after thee, which shall proceed out of thy body, and will establish his kingdom.

13 * He shall build an house for my name, and I will establish the throne of his kingdom for ever.

14 * I will be his father, and he shall be my son : and * if he sin, I will chasten him with the rod of men, and with the plagues of the children of men :

15 But my mercy shall not depart away from him, as I took it from Saul, whom I have put away before thee.

16 And thine house shall be established, and thy kingdom for ever before thee, even thy throne shall be ^o established for ever.

17 According to all these words, and according to all this vision, Nathan spake thus unto David.

18 ¶ Then king David went in, and sat before the Lord, and said, Who am I, O Lord God, and what is mine house, that thou hast brought me hitherto ?

19 And this was yet a small thing in thy fight, O Lord God, therefore thou hast spoken alio of thy servant's house for a great while : but † doth this appertain to ^a man, O Lord God ?

20 And what can David say more unto thee ? for thou, Lord God, knowest thy servant.

21 For thy word's sake, and according to thine own heart, hast thou done all these great things, to make them known unto thy servant.

22 Wherefore thou art great, O Lord God : for there is none like thee, neither is there any God besides thee, according to all that we have heard with our ears.

23 * And what one people in the earth is like thy people, like Israel ? whose God went and redeemed them to himself, that they might be his people, and that he might make him a name, and do for ^o you great things, and terrible for thy ^f land, O Lord, even for thy people, whom thou redeemedst to thee out of Egypt, from the ⁿ nations, and their gods ?

24 For thou hast ^o ordained to thyself thy people Israel to be thy people for ever : and thou, Lord, art become their God.

25 Now therefore, O Lord God, confirm for ever the word that thou hast spoken concerning thy servant and his house, and do ⁿ thou hast said.

26 And let thy name be magnified for ever by them that shall say, The Lord of hosts is the God over Israel : and let the ^h house of thy servant David be established before thee.

27 For thou, O Lord of hosts, God of Israel, hast revealed unto thy servant, saying, I will build thee an house : therefore hath thy servant † been bold to pray this prayer unto thee.

28 Therefore now, O Lord God, (for thou art God, and thy words be true, and thou hast told this goodness unto thy servant)

29 Therefore now let it please thee to bless the house of thy servant, that it may continue for ever before thee : for thou, O Lord God, hast ^o spoken it : and let the house of thy servant be blessed for ever with thy blessing.

1 David overcometh the Philistines, and other strange nations, and maketh them tributaries to Israel.

AFTER * this now, David smote the Philistines, and subdued them, and David took † the bridle of bondage out of the ^h hand of the Philistines.

2 And he smote Moab, and measured them with ⁿ cord, and cast them down to the ground : he measured them with ^m two cords to put them to death, and with one full cord to keep them alive : so became the Moabites David's servants, and brought gifts.

3 ¶ David smote also Hadadezer the son of Rehob king of Zobah, as he went to † recover his border at the river Euphrates.

4 And David took of them ⁿ thousand and seven hundred horsemen, and twenty thousand footmen, and David † destroyed all the chariots, but he reserved an hundred chariots of them.

5 ¶ Then came the † Aramites of † Dammesek to succour Hadadezer king of Zobah, but David slew of the Aramites two and twenty thousand men.

6 And David put ⁿ garrison in ⁿ Aram of Dammesek : and the Aramites became servants to David, ^o and brought gifts. And the Lord saved David whithersoever he went.

7 And David took the shields of gold that belonged to the servants of Hadadezer, and brought them to ^p Jerusalem.

¶ And out of Betah, and Berothai (cities of Hadadezer) king David brought exceeding much brass.

9 ¶ Then Toi king of † Hamath heard how David had smitten all the host of Hadadezer,

10 Therefore Toi sent Joram his son unto king David, † to salute him, and to † ^o rejoice with him, because he had fought against Hadadezer, and beaten him (for Hadadezer had war with Toi) who brought † with him vessels of silver, and vessels of gold, and vessels of brass, 9 David restoreth all the lands of Saul to Mephibosheth the son of Jonathan. 10 He appointeth Ziba to see to the profits of his lands.

AND David said, Is there yet any man left of the house of Saul, that I may shew him mercy for Jonathan's sake?

2 And there was of the household of Saul a servant whose name was Ziba: and when they had called him unto David, the king said unto him, Art thou Ziba? And he said, I thy servant am he.

3 Then the king said, Remaineth there yet none of the house of Saul, on whom I may shew the mercy of God? Ziba then answered the king, Jonathan hath yet a son lame of his feet.

4 Then the king said unto him, Where is he? And Ziba said unto the king, Behold he is in the house of Machir the son of Ammiel of Lo-debar.

5 Then king David sent, and took him out of the house of Machir the son of Ammiel of Lo-debar.

6 Now when Mephibosheth the son of Jonathan, the son of Saul, was come unto David, he fell on his face, and did reverence. And David said, Mephibosheth? And he answered, Behold thy servant.

7 Then David said unto him, Fear not: for I will surely shew thee kindness for Jonathan thy father's sake, and will restore thee all the fields of Saul thy father, and thou shalt eat bread at my table continually.

8 And he bowed himself, and said, What is thy servant, that thou shouldest look upon such a dead dog as I am?

9 Then the king called Ziba, Saul's servant, and said unto him, I have given unto thy master's son all that pertained to Saul and to all his house.

10 Thou therefore and thy sons and thy servants shall till the land for him, and bring in, that thy master's son may have food to eat. And Mephibosheth thy master's son shall eat bread always at my table (now Ziba had fifteen sons, and twenty servants.)

11 Then said Ziba unto the king, According to all that my lord the king hath commanded his servant, so shall thy servant do, that Mephibosheth may eat at thy table, as one of the king's sons.

12 Mephibosheth also had a young son named Micha, and all that dwelled in the house of Ziba, were servants unto Mephibosheth.

13 And Mephibosheth dwelt in Jerusalem: for he did eat continually at the king's table, and was lame on both his feet.

C H A P. X.

The messengers of David are villainously treated by the king of Ammon. 7 Joab is sent against the Ammonites.

AFTER this, the king of the children of Ammon died, and Hanun his son reigned in his stead.

2 Then said David, I will shew kindness unto Hanun the son of Nahash, as his father shewed kindness unto me. And David sent his servants to comfort him for his father. So David's servants came into the land of the children of Ammon.

3 And the princes of the children of Ammon said unto Hanun their lord, Thinkest thou that David doth honour thy father, that he hath sent comforters to thee? hath not David rather sent his servants unto thee, to search the city, and to spy it out, and to overthrow it?

4 Wherefore Hanun took David's servants, and shaved off the half of their beards, and cut off their garments in the middle, even to their buttocks, and sent them away.

5 When it was told unto David, he sent to meet them (for the men were exceedingly ashamed) and the king said, Tarry at Jericho, until your beards be grown, then return.

6 And when the children of Ammon saw that they stank in the sight of David, the children of Ammon sent and hired the Aramites of the house of Rehob, and the Aramites of Zoba, twenty thousand footmen, and of king Maachah a thousand men, and of Ish-tob twelve thousand men.

7 And when David heard of it, he sent Joab, and all the host of the strong men.

8 And the children of Ammon came out, and put their army in array at the entering in of the gate: and the Aramites of Zoba, and of Rehob, and of Ish-tob, and of Maacah, were by themselves in the field.

1 He gave judgment in controversies, and was merciful toward the people.

9 When Joab saw that the front of the battle was against him before and behind, he chose of all the choice of Israel, and put them in array against the Aramites.

10 And the rest of the people he delivered into the hand of Abishai his brother, that he might put them in array against the children of Ammon.

11 And he said, if the Aramites be stronger than I, thou shalt help me: and if the children of Ammon be too strong for thee, I will come and succour thee.

12 Be strong, and let us be valiant for our people, and for the cities of our God, and let the Lord do that which is good in his eyes.

13 Then Joab and the people that was with him, joined in battle with the Aramites, who fled before him.

14 And when the children of Ammon saw that the Aramites fled, they fled also before Abishai, and entered into the city. So Joab returned from the children of Ammon, and came to Jerusalem.

15 ¶ And when the Aramites saw that they were smitten before Israel, they gathered them together.

16 And † Hadarezer sent, and brought out the Aramites that were beyond the † river: and they came to Helam, and Shobach the captain of the host of Hadarezer went before them.

17 When it was shewed David, then he gathered ^f all Israel together, and passed over Jordan, and came to Helam: and the Aramites set themselves in array against David, and fought with him:

18 And the Aramites fled before Israel: and David destroyed ^s seven hundred chariots of the Aramites, and forty thousand horsemen, and smote Shobach the captain of his host, who died there.

19 And when all the kings that were servants to Hadarezer saw that they fell before Israel, they made peace with Israel, and served them, and the Amorites feared to help the children of Ammon any more.

C H A P. XI.

1 The city Rabbah is besieged. 4 David committeth adultery. 17 Uriah is slain. 27 David marieth Bath-sheba.

AND when the year was ^h expired in the time when kings go forth to battle, David sent ^{*} Joab, and his servants with him, and all Israel, who destroyed the children of Ammon, and besieged Rabbah: but David remained in Jerusalem.

2 ¶ And when it was evening-tide, David arose out of his ⁱ bed, and walked upon the roof of the king's palace: and from the roof he saw a woman washing herself: and the woman was very beautiful to look upon.

3 And David sent and enquired what woman it was: and one said, Is not this Bath-sheba the daughter of Eliam, wife to Uriah the ^h Hittite?

4 Then David sent messengers, and took her away: and she came unto him, and he lay with her: (now she was ^{*} purified from her uncleanness) and she returned unto her house.

5 And the woman conceived: therefore she sent and ⁱ told David, and said, I am with child.

6 ¶ Then David sent to Joab, saying, Send me Uriah the Hittite. And Joab sent Uriah to David.

7 And when Uriah came unto him, David demanded him how Joab did, and how the people fared, and how the war prospered.

8 Afterward David said to Uriah, ^m Go down to thine house, and wash thy feet. So Uriah departed out of the king's palace, and the king sent a present after him.

9 But Uriah slept at the door of the king's palace with all the servants of his lord, and went not down to his house.

10 Then they told David, saying, Uriah went not down to his house: And David said unto Uriah, Comest thou not from thy journey? why didst thou not go down to thine house?

11 Then Uriah answered David, ⁿ The ark and Israel, and Judah, dwell in tents: and my lord Joab, and the servants of my lord, abide in the open fields: shall I then go into mine house to eat and drink, and lie with my wife? by thy life, and by the life of thy soul, I will not do this thing.

12 Then David said unto Uriah, Tarry yet this day, and to-morrow I will send thee away. So Uriah abode in Jerusalem that day and the morrow.

13 Then David called him, and he did eat and drink before him, and he made him ^o drunk: and at even he went out to lie on his couch with the servants of his lord, but went not down to his house.

14 And on the morrow David wrote a letter to Joab, and sent it by the hand of Uriah.

15 And he wrote thus in the letter †, [†] Put ye Uriah in the fore front of the strength of the battle, and retire ye back from him, that he may be smitten, and die.

16 ¶ So when Joab besieged the city, he assigned Uriah unto ^h place where he knew that strong men were.

17 And the men of the city came out, and fought with Joab: and there fell of the people of the servants of David, and Uriah the Hittite also died.

18 Then Joab sent and told David all the things concerning the war.

19 ¶ And

^e Here is declared wherefore war ought to be undertaken: for the defence of true religion and God's people.

^f Meaning, the greatest part.

^h Which were the chiefest and most principal: for in all he destroyed seven thousand, as 1 Chron. 19. 18. or the soldiers which were in seven hundred chariots.

^h The year following about the spring time.

ⁱ Whereupon he used to rest at afternoon, as we read of Ish-bosheth, chap. 4. 7.

^k Who was not an Israelite born, but converted ^h the true religion.

^l Fearing lest she should be stoned according to the law.

^m David thought that if Uriah lay with his wife, his fault might be cloaked.

ⁿ Hereby God would touch David's conscience, that seeing the fidelity and religion of his servant, he would declare himself so forgetful of God and injurious ^h his servant.

^o He made him drink more liberally than he was wont to do, thinking thereby he would have lien by his wife.

[†] Except God continually uphold ^h with his mighty Spirit, the most perfect fall heading into all vice and abomination.

19 ¶ And he charged the messenger, saying, When thou hast made an end of telling all the matters of the war unto the king, 20 † And if the king's anger arise, so that he say unto thee, Wherefore approached ye unto the city to fight? knew ye not that they would haul from the wall?

21 Who smote Abimelech son of Jerubesheth? did not a woman cast a piece of a millstone upon him from the wall, and he died in Thebez? why went you nigh the wall? Then say thou, Thy servant Uriah the Hittite is also dead.

22 ¶ So the messenger went, and came, and shewed David all that Joab had sent him for.

23 And the messenger said unto David, Certainly the men prevailed against us, and came out unto us into the field, but we † pursued them unto the entering of the gate.

24 But the shooters shot from the wall against thy servants, and some of the king's servants be dead: and thy servant Uriah the Hittite is also dead.

25 Then David said unto the messenger, Thus shalt thou say unto Joab, Let not this thing trouble thee: for the sword devoureth † one as well as another: make thy battle more strong against the city, and destroy it, and encourage thou him.

26 ¶ And when the wife of Uriah heard that her husband Uriah was dead, she mourned for her husband.

27 So when the mourning was past, David sent and took her into his house, and she became his wife, and bare him a son: but the thing that David had done † displeased the Lord.

CHAPTER XII.

1 David reproved by Nathan confesseth his sin. 18 The child conceived in adultery dieth. 24 Solomon is born. 26 Rabbah is taken. 31 The citizens are grievously punished.

THEN the Lord sent ^a Nathan unto David, who came to him, and said unto him, There were two men in one city, the one rich, and the other poor.

2 The rich man had exceeding many sheep and oxen:

3 But the poor had none at all, save one little sheep which he had bought, and nourished up: and it grew up with him, and with his children also, and did eat of his own morsels, and drank of his own cup, and slept in his bosom, and was unto him as his daughter.

4 Now there came a † stranger unto the rich man, who † refused to take of his own sheep, and of his own oxen, to dress for the stranger that was come unto him, but took the poor man's sheep, and dressed it for the man that was come to him.

5 Then † David was exceeding wroth with the man, and said to Nathan, As the Lord liveth, the man that hath done this thing, † shall surely die.

6 And he shall restore the lamb ^{*} fourfold, because he did this thing, and had no pity thereof.

7 Then Nathan said to David, Thou art the man. Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, ^a I anointed thee king over Israel, and delivered thee out of the hand of Saul,

8 And gave thee thy lord's ^b house, and thy lord's ^c wives into thy bosom, and gave thee the house of Israel, and of Judah, and would moreover (if that had been too little) have given thee ^d such and such things.

9 Wherefore hast thou despised the commandment of the Lord, to do evil in his sight? thou hast killed Uriah the Hittite with the sword, and hast taken his wife to be thy wife, and hast slain him with the sword of the ^e children of Ammon.

10 Now therefore the sword shall never depart from thine house, because thou hast despised me, and taken the wife of Uriah the Hittite to be thy wife.

11 Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will raise up evil against thee out of thine own house, and will ^{*} take thy wives before thine eyes, and give them unto thy neighbour, and he shall lie with thy wives in the sight of this ^f sun.

12 For thou didst it secretly: but I will do this thing before all Israel, and before the sun.

13 Then David said unto Nathan, I have sinned against the Lord. And Nathan said unto David, The Lord also hath ^g put away thy sin, thou shalt not die.

14 Howbeit, because by this deed thou hast caused the enemies of the Lord to ^h blaspheme, the child that is born unto thee shall surely die.

15 ¶ So Nathan departed unto his house: and the Lord struck the child that Uriah's wife bare unto David, and it was sick.

16 David therefore besought God for the child, and fasted, and ^b went in, and lay all night upon the earth.

17 Then the elders of his house arose to come unto him, and to cause him to rise from the ground: but he would not, neither did he eat ⁱ meat with them.

18 So on the seventh day the child died: and the servants of David feared to tell him that the child was dead: for they said, Behold, while the child was alive, we spake unto him, and he would not hearken unto our voice: how then shall we say unto him, The child is dead, † to vex him more?

19 But when David saw that his servants whispered, David perceived that the child was dead: therefore David said unto his servants, Is the child dead? And they said, He is dead.

20 Then

^a Meaning Gideon, Judg. 9. 52. 53.

^b He disembled with the messenger, to the intent that neither his cruel commandment, nor Joab's wicked obedience might be espied.

^c Because David lay now drowned in sin, the loving mercy of God, which suffereth not his to perish, waketh his conscience by this similitude, and bringeth him to repentance.

^d For David succeeded Saul in his kingdom.

^e The Jews understand this of Eglah and Michal, or of Rizpah and Michal.

^f That is, greater things than these: for God's love and ^g Thou hast most cruelly given him into the hands of God's enemies.

^h Meaning, openly, as at noon day.

ⁱ For the Lord seeketh but that the sinner would turn to him.

^j In saying, that the Lord hath appointed a wicked man in reign over his people.

^k To wit, to his privy chamber.

^l Thinking by his instant prayer that God would have restored his child, but God had otherwise determined.

20 Then David ^a arose from the earth, and washed and anointed himself, and changed his apparel, and came into the house of the Lord, and worshipped, and afterward came to his own house, and bade that they should set bread before him, and he did eat.

21 Then said his ^b servants unto him, What thing is this that thou hast done? thou didst fast and weep for the child while it was alive, but when the child was dead, thou didst rise up, and eat meat.

22 And he said, While the child was yet alive, I fasted and wept: for I said, Who can tell ^c whether God will have mercy on me, that the child may live?

23 But now being dead, wherefore should I now fast? ^d Can I bring him again any more? I shall go to him, but he shall not return to me.

24 ¶ And David comforted Bath-sheba his wife, and went in unto her, and lay with her, ^e and she bare ^f a son, and ^g he called his name Solomon: also the Lord loved him.

25 For ^h the Lord had sent ⁱ by Nathan the ^j prophet: therefore ^k he called his name Jedidiah, because the Lord loved him.

26 ¶ Then Joab fought against Rabbah of the children of Ammon, and took the ^l city of the kingdom.

27 Therefore Joab sent messengers to David, saying, I have fought against Rabbah, and have taken the city of ^m waters:

28 Now therefore gather the rest of the people together, and besiege the city, that thou mayest take it, lest ⁿ the victory be attributed to me.

29 So David gathered all the people together, and went against Rabbah, and besieged it, and took it.

30 ^o And he took their king's crown from his head, (which weighed a ^p talent of gold, with precious stones) and it was ^q set on David's head: and he brought away the spoil of the city in exceeding great abundance.

31 And he carried away the people that was therein, and put them under ^r saws, and under iron harrows, and under axes of iron, and cast them into the tile-kiln: even thus did he with all the cities of the children of Ammon. Then David and all the people returned unto Jerusalem.

18 (And she had a garment of ^a divers colours upon her : for with such garments were the king's daughters that were virgins, apparelled.) Then his servant brought her out, and locked the door after her.

19 And Tamar put ashes on her head, and rent the garment of divers colours which was on her, and laid her hand on her head, and went her way, crying.

20 And Absalom her brother said unto her, Hath Amnon thy brother been with thee ? Now yet be ^a still, my sister : he is thy brother : let not this thing grieve thine heart. So Tamar remained desolate in her brother Absalom's house.

21 ¶ But when king David heard all these things, he was very wroth.

22 And Absalom said unto his brother Amnon neither good nor bad : for Absalom hated Amnon, because he had forced his sister Tamar.

23 ¶ And after the time of two years, Absalom had sheep-shearers in † Baal-hazor, which is beside Ephraim, and ^a Absalom called all the king's sons.

24 And Absalom came to the king, and said, Behold now, thy servant hath sheep-shearers : I pray thee, that the king with his servants would go with thy servant.

25 But the king answered Absalom, Nay my son, I pray thee, let us not go all, lest we be chargeable unto thee. Yet Absalom lay fore upon him : howbeit ^b would not go, but † thanked him.

26 Then said Absalom, But I pray thee, shall not my brother ^c Amnon go with us ? and the king answered him, Why should he go with thee ?

27 But Absalom was instant upon him, and he sent Amnon with him, and all the king's children.

28 ¶ Now had Absalom commanded his servants, saying, Mark now when Amnon's heart is merry with wine, and when I say unto you, Smite Amnon, kill him, fear not, for have not ^a I commanded you ? be bold therefore, and play the men.

29 And the servants of Absalom did unto Amnon as Absalom had commanded : and all the king's sons arose, and every man gat him up upon his mule, and fled.

30 ¶ And while they were in the way, tidings came to David, saying, Absalom hath slain all the king's sons, and there is not one of them left.

31 Then the king arose and tare his garments, and lay on the ^a ground, and all his servants stood by with their cloaths rent.

33 Now therefore let not my lord the king † take the thing so grievously, to think that all the king's sons are dead : † for Amnon only is dead.

35 And Jonadab said unto the king, Behold, the king's sons come : as thy servant said, ⁱ so it is.

36 And ^j soon as he had left speaking, behold the king's sons came, and lift up their voices and wept : and the king also and all his servants wept exceedingly sore.

■ And the king said unto the woman, Go to thine house, and I will give ^a charge for thee.

9 Then the woman of Tekoah said unto the king, My lord, O king, this ^h trespass be on me, and on my father's house, and the king and his throne be [†] guiltless.

11 Then said she, I pray thee, let the king ^l remember the Lord thy God, that thou wouldest not suffer many revengers of blood to destroy, lest they slay my son. And he answered, As the Lord liveth, there shall not one hair of thy son fall to the earth.

12 Then the woman said, I pray thee, let thine handmaid speak ^a word to my lord the king. And he said, Say on.

13 Then the woman said, Wherefore then hast thou ^h thought such ^a thing against the people of God? or why doth the king, as one which is faulty, speak this thing that he will not bring again his banished?

14 For we must needs die, and we are as water spilt on the ground, which cannot be gathered up again: neither doth God [†] spare any person, yet doth he appoint ^l means, not to cast out from him, him that is expelled.

15 Now therefore that I am come to speak of this thing unto my lord my king, the cause is, that the people ^m have made me afraid: therefore thine handmaid said, Now will I speak unto the king: it may be that the king will perform the request of his handmaid.

16 For the king will hear, to deliver his handmaid out of the hand of the man that would destroy me, and also my son from the inheritance of God.

17 Therefore thine handmaid said, The word of my lord the king shall now be [†] comfortable: for my lord the king is even ^a an ⁿ angel of God in hearing of good and bad: therefore the Lord thy God be with thee.

18 Then the king answered, and said unto the woman, Hide not from me, I pray thee, the thing that I shall ask thee. And the woman said, Let my lord the king now speak.

19 And the king said, Is not ^o the hand of Joab with thee in all this? Then the woman answered, and said, As thy soul liveth, my lord the king, I will not turn to the right hand nor to the left, from aught that my lord the king hath spoken: for even thy servant Joab bade me, and he put all these words in the mouth of thine handmaid.

20 For to the intent that I should ^p change the form of speech, thy servant Joab hath done this thing: but [†] my lord is wise according to the wisdom of an angel of God to understand all things that are in the earth.

21 ¶ And the king said unto Joab, Behold now, I have ^q done this thing: go then, and bring the young man Absalom again.

22 And Joab fell to the ground on his face, and bowed himself, and [†] thanked the king. Then Joab said, This day thy servant knoweth that I have found grace in thy sight, my lord the king, in that the king hath fulfilled the request of his servant.

23 ¶ And Joab arose, and went to Geshur, and brought Absalom to Jerusalem.

24 And the king said, Let him ^r turn to his own house, and not see my face. So Absalom turned to his own house, and saw not the king's face.

25 Now in all Israel there was none to be so much praised for beauty as Absalom: from the sole of his foot even to the top of his head there was no blemish in him.

26 And when he polled his head (for at every year's end he polled it: because it was too heavy for him, therefore he polled it) he weighed the hair of his head at two hundred ^s shekels by the king's weight.

27 And Absalom had three sons, and one daughter named Tamar, which was a fair woman to look upon.

28 ¶ So Absalom dwelt the space of two years in Jerusalem, and saw not the king's face.

29 Therefore Absalom sent for Joab to send him to the king, but he would not come to him: and when he sent ^{again}, he would not come.

30 Therefore he said unto his servants, Behold, Joab hath [†] ^a field by my place, and hath barley therein: go and set it ^t on fire: and Absalom's servant set the field on fire.

31 Then Joab arose, and came to Absalom into his house, and said unto him, Wherefore have thy servants burnt my field with fire?

32 And Absalom answered Joab, Behold, I sent for thee, saying, Come thou hither, and I will send thee to the king for to say, Wherefore ~~am~~ I come from Geshur? It had been better for me to have been there still: now therefore let me see the king's face: and ^u if there be any trespass in me, let him kill me.

33 Then Joab came to the king, and told him: and he called for Absalom, who came to the king, and bowed himself to the ground on his face before the king, and the king kissed Absalom.

Hushai is sent to Absalom to advise over his counsel.

† Heb. verb.
AFTER this Absalom prepared him chariots, and horses, and fifty men to run before him.

2 And Absalom rose up early, and stood hard by the entering in of the gate: and every man that had any † matter, and came to the king for judgment, him did Absalom call unto him, and said, Of what city art thou? And he answered, Thy servant is of one of the † tribes of Israel.

3 Then Absalom said unto him, See, thy matters are good and righteous, but there is no man deputed of the king to hear thee.

4 Absalom said moreover, † Oh that I were made judge in the land, that every man which hath any matter of controversy, might come to me, that I might do him justice!

5 And when any man came near to him, and did him obeisance, he put forth his hand, and took him, and kissed him.

6 And on this manner did Absalom to all Israel, that came to the king for judgment, so Absalom stole the hearts of the men of Israel.

7 ¶ And after † forty years, Absalom said unto the king, I pray thee, let me go to Hebron, and render my vow which I have vowed unto the Lord.

9 And the king said unto him, Go in peace. So he arose, and went to Hebron.

10 ¶ Then Absalom sent spies throughout all the tribes of Israel, saying, When ye hear the sound of the trumpet, ye shall say, Absalom reigneth in Hebron.

11 ¶ And with Absalom went two hundred men out of Jerusalem, that were † called: and they went in their simplicity, knowing nothing.

12 Also Absalom sent for Ahitophel, the Gilonite, David's counsellor, from his city Giloh, while he offered sacrifices: and the treason was great: for the people † increased still with Absalom.

10 ¶ But the king said, What have I to do with you, ye sons of Zeruiah? for he curseth, even because the Lord hath bidden him curse David: who dare then say, Wherefore hast thou done so?

4 And the saying pleased Absalom well, and all the elders of Israel.

5 Then said Absalom, Call now Hushai the Archite also, and let us hear likewise what he saith.

6 So when Hushai came to Absalom, Absalom spake unto him, saying, Ahithophel hath spoken thus: shall we do after his saying, or no? tell thou.

7 Hushai then answered unto Absalom, The counsel that Ahithophel hath given, is not good at this time.

8 For, said Hushai, thou knowest thy father, and his men, that they be strong men, and are chafed in mind as a bear robbed of her whelps in the field: also thy father is a valiant warrior, and will not lodge with the people.

9 Behold, he is hid now in some cave, or in some place: and though some of them be overthrown at the first, yet the people shall hear, and say, The people that follow Absalom, be overthrown.

10 Then he also that is valiant, whose heart is as the heart of a lion, shall shrink and faint: for all Israel knoweth, that thy father is valiant, and they which be with him, stout men.

11 Therefore my counsel is, that all Israel be gathered unto thee, from Dan even to Beer-sheba as the sand of the sea in number, and that thou go to battle in thine own person.

12 So shall we come upon him in some place, where we shall find him, and we will upon him the dew falleth on the ground: and of all the men that are with him, we will not leave him one.

13 Moreover if he be gotten into a city, then shall all the men of Israel bring ropes to that city, and we will draw it into the river, until there be not one small stone found there.

14 ¶ Then Absalom and all the men of Israel said, The counsel of Hushai the Archite is better than the counsel of Ahithophel: for the Lord had determined to destroy the good counsel of Ahithophel, that the Lord might bring evil upon Absalom.

15 Then said Hushai unto Zadok and to Abiathar the priests, Of this and that manner did Ahithophel and the elders of Israel counsel Absalom: and thus and thus have I counselled.

16 Now therefore send quickly, and shew David, saying, Tarry not this night in the fields of the wilderness, but rather get thee over, lest the king be devoured and all the people that are with him.

17 ¶ Now Jonathan and Ahimaaz abode by En-rogel: (for they might not be seen to come into the city) and a maid went, and told them, and they went and shewed king David.

18 Nevertheless, a young man saw them, and told it to Absalom, therefore they both departed quickly, and came to a man's house in Bahurim, who had a well in his court, into the which they went down.

19 And the wife took and spread a covering over the well's mouth, and spread ground corn thereon, that the thing should not be known.

20 And when Absalom's servants came to the wife into the house, they said, Where is Ahimaaz and Jonathan? And the woman answered them, They be gone over the brook of water. And when they had sought them, and could not find them, they returned to Jerusalem.

21 And as soon as they were departed, the other came out of the well, and went and told king David, and said unto him, Up, and get you quickly over the water: for such counsel hath Ahithophel given against you.

22 Then David arose, and all the people that were with him, and they went over Jordan until the dawning of the day, so that there lacked not one of them, that was not come over Jordan.

23 ¶ Now when Ahithophel saw that his counsel was not followed, he saddled his ass, and arose, and he went home unto his city, and put his household in order, and hanged himself, and died, and was buried in his father's grave.

24 ¶ Then David came to Mahanaim. And Absalom passed over Jordan, he, and all the men of Israel with him.

25 And Absalom made Amasa captain of the host in the stead of Joab: which Amasa was a man's son named Ithra an Israelite that went in to Abigail the daughter of Nahash, sister to Zeruiah, Joab's mother.

26 So Israel and Absalom pitched in the land of Gilead.

27 ¶ And when David was come to Mahanaim, Shobi the son of Nahash out of Rabbah of the children of Ammon, and Machir the son of Ammiel out of Lo-debar, and Barzilai the Gileadite out of Rogel, 28 ⁹ Brought beds, and basons, and earthen vessels, and wheat, and barley, and flour, and parched corn, and beans, and lentiles, and parched corn.

29 And they brought honey, and butter, and sheep, and cheese of kine, for David, and for the people that were with him, to eat: for they said, The people is hungry, and weary, and thirsty in the wilderness.

C H A P. XVIII.

2 David divideth his army into three parts. 9 Absalom is hanged, slain, and cast in a pit. 33 David lamenteth the death of Absalom.

THEN David numbered the people that were with him, and set over them captains of thousands, and captains of hundreds.

2 And David sent forth the third part of the people under the hand of Joab, and the third part under the hand of Abishai Joab's brother the son of Zeruah: and the other third part under the hand of Ittai the Gittite. And the king said unto the people, I will go with you myself also.

3 But the people answered, Thou shalt not go forth: for if we flee away, they will not regard us, neither will they pass for us, though half of us were slain: but thou art now worth ten thousand of us: therefore now it is better that thou succour us out of the city.

4 Then the king said unto them, What seemeth you best, that I will do. So the king stood by the gate side, and all the people came out by hundreds, and by thousands.

5 And the king commanded Joab, and Abishai, and Ittai, saying, Treat the young man Absalom gently for my sake. And all the people heard when the king gave all the captains charge concerning Absalom.

6 So the people went out into the field to meet Israel, and the battle was in the wood of Ephraim.

7 Where the people of Israel were slain before the servants of David: so there was a great slaughter that day, even of twenty thousand.

¶ For the battle was scattered over all the country: and the wood devoured much more people than the sword.

9 ¶ Now Absalom met the servants of David, and Absalom rode upon mule, and the mule came under a great thick oak: and his head caught hold of the oak, and he was taken up between the heaven and the earth: and the mule that was under him went away.

10 And one that saw it, told Joab, saying, Behold, I saw Absalom hanging in an oak.

11 Then Joab said unto the man that told him, And hast thou indeed seen? why then didst not thou there smite him to the ground, and I would have given thee ten * shekels of silver, and a girdle?

12 Then the man said unto Joab, Though I should receive a thousand shekels of silver in mine hand, yet would I not lay mine hand upon the king's son: for in our hearing the king charged thee, and Abishai, and Ittai, saying, Beware, lest any touch the young man Absalom.

13 If I had done it, it had been the danger of my life: for nothing can be hid from the king: yea, thou thyself wouldest have been against me.

14 Then said Joab, I will not thus tarry with thee. And he took three darts in his hand, and thrust them through Absalom, while he was yet alive in the midst of the oak.

15 And ten servants that bare Joab's armour, compassed about and smote Absalom, and slew him.

16 Then Joab blew the trumpet, and the people returned from pursuing after Israel: for Joab held back the people.

17 And they took Absalom, and cast him into a great pit in the wood, and laid a mighty great heap of stones upon him: and all Israel fled every one to his tent.

18 Now Absalom in his life-time had taken and reared him up a pillar, which is in the king's dale: for he said, I have no son to keep my name in remembrance, and he called the pillar after his own name, and it is called unto this day, Absalom's place.

19 Then said Ahimaaz the son of Zadok, I pray thee, let me run, and bear the king tidings, that the Lord hath delivered him out of the hand of his enemies.

20 And Joab said unto him, Thou shalt not be the messenger to-day, but thou shalt bear tidings another time, but to-day thou shalt bear none: for the king's son is dead.

21 Then said Joab to Cush, Go, tell the king what thou hast seen. And Cush bowed himself unto Joab, and ran.

22 Then said Ahimaaz the son of Zadok again to Joab, What, I pray thee, if I also run after Cush? And Joab said, Wherefore now wilt thou run, my son, seeing that thou hast no tidings to bring?

23 Yet what if I run? Then he said unto him, Run. So Ahimaaz ran by the way of the plain, and overwent Cush.

24 Now David sat between the two gates. And the watchman went to the top of the gate upon the wall, and lift up his eyes, and saw, and behold, a man came running alone.

25 And the watchman cried, and told the king.

⁵ For Joab bare a good affection to Ahimaaz, and doubted how David would take the report of Absalom's death.

men of Judah came unto their king, from Jordan even to Jerusalem.

3 When David then came to his house to Jerusalem, the king took the ten women his concubines, that he had left behind him to keep the house, and put them in ward, and fed them, but lay no more with them: but they were inclosed unto the day of their death, living in widowhood.

4 Then said the king to Amasa, Assemble me the men of Judah within three days, and be thou here present.

5 So Amasa went to assemble Judah, but he tarried longer than the time which he had appointed him.

6 Then David said to Abishai, Now shall Sheba the son of Bichri do us more harm than did Absalom: take thou therefore thy lord's servants and follow after him, lest he get him walled cities, and escape us.

7 And there went out after him Joab's men, and the Cherethites, and Pelethites, and all the mighty men: and they departed out of Jerusalem, to follow after Sheba the son of Bichri.

8 When they were at the great stone which is in Gibeon, Amasa went before them, and Joab's garment that he had put on, was girded unto him, and upon it was a sword girded, which hanged on his loins in the sheath, and as he went, it used to fall out.

9 And Joab said to Amasa, Art thou in health, my brother? and Joab took Amasa by the beard with the right hand to kiss him.

10 But Amasa took no heed to the sword that was in Joab's hand: for therewith he smote him in the fifth rib, and shed out his bowels to the ground, and smote him not the second time: so he died. Then Joab and Abishai his brother followed after Sheba the son of Bichri.

11 And one of Joab's men stood by him, and said, He that favoureth Joab, and he that is of David's part, let him go after Joab.

12 And Amasa wallowed in blood in the midst of the way: and when the man saw that all the people stood still, he removed Amasa out of the way into the field, and cast cloth upon him, because he saw that every one that came by him stood still.

13 When he was removed out of the way, every man went after Joab, to follow after Sheba the son of Bichri.

14 And he went through all the tribes of Israel unto Abel, and Beth-maachah and all places of Berim: and they gathered together, and went also after him.

15 So they came, and besieged him in Abel, and Beth-maachah: and they cast up a mount against the city, and the people thereof stood on the ramparts, and all the people that was with Joab, destroyed and cast down the wall.

16 Then cried a wise woman out of the city, Hear, hear, I pray you, say unto Joab, Come thou hither, that I may speak with thee.

17 And when he came near unto her, the woman said, Art thou Joab? And he answered, Yea. And she said to him, Hear the words of thine handmaid. And he answered, I do hear.

18 Then she spake thus, They spake in the old time, saying, They should ask of Abel, and so have they continued.

19 I am one of them that are peaceable and faithful in Israel: and thou goest about to destroy a city, and a mother in Israel: why wilt thou devour the inheritance of the Lord?

20 And Joab answered and said, God forbid, God forbid it me, that I should devour or destroy it.

21 The matter is not so, but a man of mount Ephraim (Sheba the son of Bichri by name) hath lift up his hand against the king, even against David: deliver us him only, and I will depart from the city. And the woman said unto Joab, Behold, his head shall be thrown to thee over the wall.

22 Then the woman went unto all the people with her wisdom, and they cut off the head of Sheba the son of Bichri, and cast it to Joab: then he blew the trumpet, and they retired from the city, every man to his tent: and Joab returned to Jerusalem unto the king.

23 Then Joab was over all the host of Israel, and Benaiah the son of Jehoiada over the Cherethites, and over the Pelethites,

24 And Adoram over the tribute: and Jehoshaphat the son of Ahilud the recorder:

25 And Sheva was scribe, and Zadok and Abiathar the priests:

26 And also Ira the Jairite was chief about David.

2 Then the king called the Gibeonites, and said unto them, (Now the Gibeonites were not of the children of Israel, but a remnant of the Amorites, unto whom the children of Israel had sworn: but Saul sought to slay them for his zeal toward the children of Israel and Judah.)

3 And David said unto the Gibeonites, What shall I do for you, and wherewith shall I make the atonement, that ye may bless the inheritance of the Lord?

4 The Gibeonites then answered him, We will have no silver nor gold of Saul, nor of his house, neither for us shalt thou kill any man in Israel. And he said, What ye shall say, that will I do for you.

13 So he brought thence the bones of Saul, and the bones of Jonathan his son, and they gathered the bones of them that were hanged.

14 And the bones of Saul and of Jonathan his son buried they in the country of Benjamin in Zelah, in the grave of Kish his father: and when they had performed all that the king had commanded, God was then appeased ^r with the land.

15 ¶ Again the Philistines had war with Israel: and David went down, and his servants with him, and they fought against the Philistines, and David fainted.

18 ¶ And after this also there was a battle with the Philistines at ^c Gob, then Sibbechai the Hushathite slew Saph, which was one of the sons of Haraphah.

19 And there was yet another battle in Gob with the Philistines, where Helhanan the son of Jaare-oregim, ^r Beth-lehemite, slew ^r Goliath the Gittite: the staff of whose spear was like ^r weaver's beam.

C H A P. XXIV.

1 David causeth the people to be numbered. 10 He reproacheth, and chuseth to fall into God's hands.
15 Seventy thousand perish with the pestilence.

AND the wrath of the Lord was again kindled against Israel, and he moved David against them, in that he said, Go, number Israel and Judah.

2 For the king said to Joab the captain of the host, which was with him, Go speedily now through all the tribes of Israel, from Dan even to Beer-sheba, and number ye the people, that I may know the number of the people.

3 And Joab said unto the king, The Lord thy God increase the people an hundred fold more than they be, and that the eyes of my lord the king may see it: but why doth my lord the king desire this thing?

4 Notwithstanding the king's word prevailed against Joab, and against the captains of the host: therefore Joab and the captains of the host went out from the presence of the king to number the people of Israel.

5 ¶ And they passed over Jordan, and pitched in Aroer at the right side of the city that is in the midst of the valley of Gad and toward Jazer.

6 Then they came to Gilead, and to Tahim-hodshi, so they came to Dan Jaan, and so about to Zidon,

7 And came to the fortress of Tyrus, and to all the cities of the Hivites, and of the Canaanites, and went toward the South of Judah, even to Beer-sheba.

8 ¶ So when they had gone about all the land, they returned to Jerusalem at the end of nine months and twenty days.

9 ¶ And Joab delivered the number and sum of the people unto the king: and there were in Israel eight hundred thousand strong men that drew swords, and the men of Judah were five hundred thousand men.

10 Then David's heart smote him, after that he had numbered the people: and David said unto the Lord, I have sinned exceedingly in that I have done: therefore now, Lord, I beseech thee, take away the trespass of thy servant: for I have done very foolishly.

11 ¶ And when David was up in the morning, the word of the Lord came unto the prophet Gad, David's seer, saying, 12 Go, and say unto David, Thus saith the Lord, I offer thee three things, chuse thee which of them I shall do unto thee.

13 So Gad came to David, and shewed him, and said unto him, Wilt thou that seven years famine come upon thee in thy land, or wilt thou flee three months before thine enemies, they following thee, or that there be three days pestilence in thy land? now advise thee, and see, what answer I shall give to him that sent me.

14 ¶ And David said unto Gad, I am in a wonderful strait: let us fall now into the hand of the Lord (for his mercies are great) and let me not fall into the hand of man.

15 So the Lord sent a pestilence in Israel, from the morning, even to the time appointed: and there died of the people from Dan even to Beer-sheba, seventy thousand men.

16 And when the angel stretched out his hand upon Jerusalem to destroy it, the Lord repented of the evil, and said to the angel that destroyed the people, It is sufficient, hold now thine hand. And the angel of the Lord was by the threshing place of Araunah the Jebusite.

17 And David spake unto the Lord (when he saw the angel that smote the people) and said, Behold, I have sinned, yea, I have done wickedly: but these sheep, what have they done? let thine hand, I pray thee, be against me and against my father's house.

18 ¶ So Gad came the same day to David, and said unto him, Go up, rear an altar unto the Lord in the threshing floor of Araunah the Jebusite.

19 And David (according to the saying of Gad) went up, as the Lord had commanded.

20 And Araunah looked, and saw the king and his servants coming toward him, and Araunah went out, and bowed himself before the king on his face to the ground, 21 And Araunah said, Wherefore is my lord the king come to his servant? Then David answered, To buy the threshing floor of thee for to build an altar unto the Lord, that the plague may cease from the people.

22 Then Araunah said unto David, Let my Lord the king take and offer what seemeth him good in his eyes: behold, the oxen for the burnt-offering, and chariots, and the instruments of the oxen for wood.

23 (All these things did Araunah as a king give unto the king: and Araunah said unto the king, The Lord thy God be favourable unto thee.)

24 Then the king said unto Araunah, Not so, but I will buy it of thee at a price, and will not offer burnt-offering unto the Lord my God of that which doth cost me nothing. So David bought the threshing-floor, and the oxen, for fifty shekels of silver.

25 And David built there an altar unto the Lord, and offered burnt-offerings and peace-offerings, and the Lord was appeased toward the land, and the plague ceased from Israel.

T H E A R G U M E N T.

Because the children of God should look for no continual rest and quietness in this world, the Holy Ghost setteth before our eyes in this book the variety and change of things, which came to the people of Israel from the death of David, Solomon, and the rest of the kings, unto the death of Abab, declaring how that flourishing kingdoms, except they be preserved by God's protection (who then favoureth them when his word is truly set forth, virtue esteemed, vice punished, and concord maintained) fall to decay and come to nought, as appeareth by the dividing of the kingdom under Rehoboam, and Jeroboam, which before were but all one people, and now by the just punishment of God were made two, whereof Judah and Benjamin clave to Rehoboam, and this was called the kingdom of Judah: and the other ten tribes held with Jeroboam, and this was called the kingdom of Israel. The king of Judah had his throne in Jerusalem, and the king of Israel in Samaria, after it was built by Amri Abab's father. And because our Saviour Christ according to the flesh should come of the stock of David, the genealogy of the kings of Judah is here described, from Solomon to Joram the son of Jehoshaphat, who reigned over Judah in Jerusalem, as Abab did over Israel in Samaria.

C H A P. I.

3 Abishag keepeth David in his extreme age. 5 Adonijah usurpeth the kingdom. 30 Solomon is anointed king. 50 Adonijah fleeth to the altar.

NOW when king David was ^a old, and stricken in years, they covered him with cloaths, but no ^b heat came unto him.

2 Wherefore his servants said unto him, Let there be sought for my lord the king [■] young virgin, and let her [‡] stand before the king, and cherish him: and let her lie in thy bosom, that my lord the king may get heat.

3 So they sought for a fair young maid, throughout all the coasts of Israel, and found one Abishag [■] Shunamite, and brought her to the king.

4 And the maid was exceeding fair, and cherished the king, and ministered to him, but the king knew her not.

5 ¶ Then Adonijah the son of Haggith exalted himself, saying, I will be king. And he gat him chariots and horsemen, and [■] fifty men to run before him.

6 And his father would not displease him from his [†] childhood, to say, Why hast thou done so? And he was [■] very goodly man, and his mother bare him next after Absalom.

7 And he [†] took counsel of Joab the son of Zeruah, and of Abiathar the priest: and they [°] helped forward Adonijah.

■ But Zadok the priest, and Benaiah the son of Jehoiada, and Nathan the prophet, and Shimei, and Rei, and the men of might, which were with David, were not with Adonijah.

9 Then Adonijah sacrificed sheep, and oxen, and fat cattle by the stone of Zoheleth, which is by [‡] En-rogel, and called all his brethren the king's sons, and all the men of Judah the king's servants.

10 But Nathan the prophet, and Benaiah, and [†] the mighty men, and Solomon his brother, he called not.

11 Wherefore Nathan spake unto Bathsheba the mother of Solomon, saying, Hast thou not heard, that Adonijah the son ^{} of Haggith doth reign, and David our lord ⁴ knoweth it not? ^{ 2 Sam. 3.}

12 Now therefore come, and I will now give thee counsel, how to save thine own [°] life, and the life of thy son Solomon.

13 Go, and get thee in unto king David, and say unto him, Didst thou not, my lord, O king, swear unto thine handmaid, saying, Assuredly Solomon thy son shall reign after me, and he shall sit upon my throne? why is then Adonijah king?

14 Behold, while thou yet talkest there with the king, I also will come in after thee, and ^h confirm thy words.

15 ¶ So Bathsheba went in unto the king into the chamber, and the king was very old, and Abishag the Shunamite ministered unto the king.

16 And Bathsheba bowed and made obeisance unto the king. And the king said, What is thy matter?

17 And she answered him, My lord, thou swarest by the Lord thy God unto thine handmaid, saying, Assuredly Solomon thy son shall reign after me, and he shall sit upon my throne.

18 And behold, now is Adonijah king, and now my lord, O king, thou knowest it not.

19 And he hath offered many oxen, and fat cattle, and sheep, and hath called all the sons of the king, and Abiathar the priest, and Joab the captain of the host: but Solomon thy servant hath he not bidden.

20 And thou, my lord, O king, knowest that the eyes of all Israel are on thee, that thou shouldst tell them who should sit on the throne of my lord the king after him.

21 For else when my lord the king shall sleep with his fathers, I and my son Solomon shall be reputed vile.

22 And lo, while she yet talked with the king, Nathan also the prophet came in.

23 And they told the king, saying, Behold, Nathan the prophet. And when he was come in to the king, he made obeisance before the king upon his face to the ground.

24 And Nathan said, My lord, O king, hast thou said, Adonijah shall reign after me, and he shall sit upon my throne?

25 For he is gone down this day, and hath slain many oxen and fat cattle, and sheep, and hath called all the king's sons, and the captains of the host, and Abiathar the priest: and behold, they eat and drink before him, and say, God save king Adonijah.

26 But me thy servant, and Zadok the priest, and Benaiah the son of Jehoiada, and thy servant Solomon hath he not called.

27 Is this thing done by my lord the king, and thou hast not shewed it unto thy servant, who should sit on the throne of my lord the king after him?

28 Then king David answered, and said, Call me Bath-sheba. And she came in to the king's presence, and stood before the king.

29 And the king sware, saying, As the Lord liveth, who hath redeemed my soul out of all adversity, 30 That as I sware unto thee by the Lord God of Israel, saying, Assuredly Solomon thy son shall reign after me, and he shall sit upon my throne in my place, so will I certainly do this day.

31 Then Bath-sheba bowed her face to the earth, and did reverence unto the king, and said, God save my lord king David for ever.

32 ¶ And king David said, Call me Zadok the priest, and Nathan the prophet, and Benaiah the son of Jehoiada. And they came before the king.

33 Then the king said unto them, Take with you the servants of your lord, and cause Solomon my son to ride upon mine own mule, and carry him down to Gihon.

34 And let Zadok the priest, and Nathan the prophet anoint him there king over Israel, and blow ye the trumpet, and say, God save king Solomon.

35 Then come up after him, that he may come and sit upon my throne: and he shall be king in my stead: for I have appointed him to be prince over Israel and over Judah.

36 Then Benaiah the son of Jehoiada answered the king, and said, So be it, and the Lord God of my lord the king ratify it.

37 As the Lord hath been with my lord the king, so be he with Solomon, and exalt his throne above the throne of my lord king David.

38 So Zadok the priest, and Nathan the prophet, and Benaiah the son of Jehoiada, and the Cherethites, and the Pelethites, went down, and caused Solomon to ride upon king David's mule, and brought him to Gihon.

39 And Zadok the priest took an horn of oil out of the tabernacle, and anointed Solomon: and they blew the trumpet, and all the people said, God save king Solomon.

40 And all the people came up after him, and the people piped with pipes, and rejoiced with great joy, so that the earth rang with the sound of them.

41 ¶ And Adonijah and all the guests that were with him, heard it: (and they had made an end of eating) and when Joab heard the sound of the trumpet, he said, What meaneth this noise and uproar in the city?

42 And as he yet spake, Behold, Jonathan the son of Abiathar the Priest came: and Adonijah said, Come in: for thou art a worthy man, and bringest good tidings.

43 And Jonathan answered and said to Adonijah, Verily our lord king David hath made Solomon king.

44 And the king hath sent with him Zadok the priest, and Nathan the prophet, and Benaiah the son of Jehoiada, and the Cherethites, and the Pelethites, and they have caused him to ride upon the king's mule.

45 And Zadok the priest, and Nathan the prophet, have anointed him king in Gihon: and they are gone up from thence with joy, and the city is moved: this is the noise that ye have heard.

46 And Solomon also sitteth on the throne of the kingdom.

47 And moreover the king's servants came to bless our lord king David, saying, God make the name of Solomon more famous than thy name, and exalt his throne above thy throne: therefore the king worshipped upon the bed.

48 And thus said the king also, Blessed be the Lord God of Israel, who hath made one to sit on my throne this day, even in my sight.

49 Then all the guests that were with Adonijah, were afraid, and rose up, and went every man his way.

50 ¶ And Adonijah fearing the presence of Solomon, arose and went, and took hold on the horns of the altar.

51 And one told Solomon, saying, Behold, Adonijah doth fear king Solomon: for lo, he hath caught hold on the horns of the altar, saying, 53 Then king Solomon sent, and they brought him from the altar, and he came and did obedience unto king Solomon. And Solomon said unto him, Go to thine house.

1 David exhorteth Solomon, and giveth charge as concerning Joab, Barzillai, and Shimei. 10 The Death of David. 17 Adonijah asketh Abishag to wife. 25 He is slain. 35 Zadok was placed in Abiathar's room.

THEN the days of David drew near that he should die, and he charged Solomon his son, saying,

2 I go the way of all the earth: be strong therefore, and shew thyself a man,

3 And take heed to the charge of the Lord thy God, to walk in his ways, and keep his statutes, and his commandments, and his judgments, and his testimonies, as it is written in the law of Moses, that thou mayest prosper in all that thou doest, and in every thing whereunto thou turnest thee,

4 That the Lord may confirm his word which he spake unto me, saying, If thy sons take heed to their way, that they walk before me in truth, with all their hearts, and with all their souls, * † thou shalt not (said he) want one of thy posterity upon the throne of Israel.

5 Thou knowest also what Joab the son of Zeruiah did to me, and what he did to the two captains of the hosts of Israel, unto Abner the son of Ner, and unto Amasa the son of Jether: whom he slew, and shed blood of battle in peace, and put the blood of war upon his girdle that was about his loins, and in his shoes that were on his feet.

6 Do therefore according to thy wisdom, and let thine hoary head go down to the grave in peace!

7 But shew kindness unto the sons of Barzillai the Gileadite, and let them be among them that eat at thy table: for so they came to me when I fled from Absalom thy brother.

8 ¶ And behold, with thee is Shimei the son of Gera, the son of Jemini, of Bahurim, which cursed me with an horrible curse in the day when I went to Mahanaim: but he came down to meet me at Jordan, and I swore to him by the Lord, saying, * I will not slay thee with the sword.

9 But thou shalt not count him innocent: for thou art a wise man, and knowest what thou oughtest to do unto him: therefore thou shalt cause his hoary head to go down to the grave with blood.

10. So * David slept with his fathers, and was buried in the city of David.

11 And the days which David reigned upon Israel, were forty years: seven years reigned he in Hebron, and thirty and three years reigned he in Jerusalem.

12 ¶ Then sat Solomon upon the throne of David his father, and his kingdom was established mightily.

13 And Adonijah the son of Haggith came to Bath-sheba the mother of Solomon: and she said, Comest thou peaceably? And he said, Yea.

14 He said moreover, I have suit unto thee. And she said, Say on.

15 Then he said, Thou knowest that the kingdom was mine, and that all Israel set their faces on me, that I should reign: howbeit the kingdom is turned away, and is my brother's: for it came to him by the Lord.

16 Now therefore I ask thee one request, † † Heb. cause not my face turn away. And she said unto him, Say on.

17 And he said, Speak, I pray thee, unto Solomon the king, (for he will not say thee nay) that he give me Abishag the Shunamite to wife.

18 And Bath-sheba said, Well, I will speak for thee unto the king.

19 ¶ Bath-sheba therefore went unto king Solomon, to speak unto him for Adonijah: and the king rose to meet her, and bowed himself unto her, and sat down on his throne: and he caused a seat to be set for the king's mother, and she sat at his right hand.

20 Then she said, I desire a small request of thee, say me not nay. Then the king said unto her, Ask on, my mother: for I will not say thee nay.

21 She said then, Let Abishag the Shunamite be given to Adonijah thy brother to wife.

22 But king Solomon answered and said unto his mother, And why dost thou ask Abishag the Shunamite for Adonijah? ask for him the kingdom also: for he is mine elder brother, and hath for him both Abiathar the priest, and Joab the son of Zeruiah.

23 Then king Solomon swore by the Lord, saying, God do so to me and more also, if Adonijah hath not spoken this word against his own life.

24 Now therefore as the Lord liveth, who hath established me, and set me on the throne of David my father, who also hath made me an house, as he promised, Adonijah shall surely die this day.

25 And king Solomon sent by the hand of Benaiah the son of Jehoiada, and he smote him that he died. † Or, fell upon him.

26 ¶ Then the king said unto Abiathar the priest, Go to Anathoth unto thine own fields: for thou art worthy of death: but I will not this day kill thee, because thou barest the ark of the Lord God before David my father, and because thou hast suffered in all wherein my father hath been afflicted. † Or, possessions. † Heb. a man of death.

28 ¶ Then tidings came to Joab: (for Joab had turned after Adonijah, but he turned not after Absalom) and Joab fled unto the tabernacle of the Lord, and caught hold on the horns of the altar.

29 And it was told king Solomon, that Joab was fled unto the tabernacle of the Lord, and behold, he is by the altar. Then Solomon sent Benaiah the son of Jehoiada, saying, Go, fall upon him.

30 And Benaiah came to the tabernacle of the Lord, and said unto him, Thus saith the king, Come out. And he said, Nay, but I will die here. Then Benaiah brought the king word again, saying, Thus said Joab, and thus he answered me.

31 And the king said unto him, Do as he hath said, and smite him, and bury him, that thou mayest take away the blood, which Joab shed causeless, from me, and from the house of my father.

32 And the Lord shall bring his blood upon his own head: for he smote two men more righteous and better than he, and slew them with the sword, and my father David knew not: to wit, Abner the son of Ner, captain of the host of Israel, and Amasa the son of Jether, captain of the host of Judah.

33 Their blood shall therefore return upon the head of Joab, and on the head of his seed for ever: but upon David, and upon his seed, and upon his house, and upon his throne shall there be peace for ever from the Lord.

34 So Benaiah the son of Jehoiada went up, and smote him, and slew him, and he was buried in his own house in the wilderness.

35 And the king put Benaiah the son of Jehoiada in his room over the host: and the king set Zadok the priest in the room of Abiathar.

36 ¶ Afterward the king sent, and called Shimei, and said unto him, Build thee an house in Jerusalem, and dwell there, and depart not thence any whither.

37 For that day that thou goest out, and passest over the river of Kidron, know assuredly, that thou shalt die the death: thy blood shall be upon thine own head.

38 And Shimei said unto the king, The thing is good: as my lord the king hath said, so will thy servant do. So Shimei dwelt in Jerusalem many days.

39 And after three years two of the servants of Shimei fled away unto Achish son of Maachah king of Gath: and they told Shimei, saying, Behold, thy servants be in Gath.

40 And Shimei arose, and saddled his ass, and went to Gath to Achish, to seek his servants: and Shimei went, and brought his servants from Gath.

41 And it was told Solomon, that Shimei had gone from Jerusalem to Gath, and was come again.

42 And the king sent and called Shimei, and said unto him, Did not I make thee swear by the Lord, and protested unto thee, saying, That day that thou goest out, and walkest any whither, know assuredly, that thou shalt die the death? And thou saidest unto me, The thing is good that I have heard.

43 Why then hast thou not kept the oath of the Lord, and the commandment wherewith I charged thee?

44 The king said also to Shimei, Thou knowest all the wickedness whereunto thine heart is privy, that thou didst to David my father: the Lord therefore shall bring thy wickedness upon thine own head.

45 And let king Solomon be blessed, and the throne of David established before the Lord for ever.

46 So the king commanded Benaiah the son of Jehoiada: who went out and smote him that he died. And the kingdom was established in the hand of Solomon.

3 And Solomon loved the Lord, walking in the ordinances of David his father: only he sacrificed and offered incense in the high places.

4 And the king went to Gibeon to sacrifice there, for that was the chief high place: thousand burnt-offerings did Solomon offer upon that altar.

5 In Gibeon the Lord appeared to Solomon in a dream by night: and God said, Ask what I shall give thee.

6 And Solomon said, Thou hast shewed unto thy servant David my father great mercy, when he walked before thee in truth, and in righteousness, and in uprightnes of heart with thee: and thou hast kept for him this great mercy, and hast given him son to sit on his throne, as appeareth this day.

8 And thy servant is in the midst of thy people, which thou hast chosen, even great people which cannot be told nor numbered for multitude.

9 Give therefore unto thy servant an understanding heart, to judge thy people, that I may discern between good and bad: for who is able to judge this thy mighty people?

10 And this pleased the Lord well, that Solomon had desired this thing.

11 And God said unto him, Because thou hast asked this thing, and hast not asked for thyself long life, neither hast asked riches for thyself, nor hast asked the life of thine enemies, but hast asked for thyself understanding to hear judgment, 12 Behold, I have done according to thy words: lo, I have given thee wise and an understanding heart, so that there hath been none like thee before thee, neither after thee shall arise the like unto thee.

13 And I have also given thee that which thou hast not asked, both riches and honour, so that among the kings there shall be none like unto thee all thy days.

14 And if thou wilt walk in my ways, to keep mine ordinances and my commandments, which thy father David did walk, I will prolong thy days.

15 And when Solomon awoke, behold, it was a dream, and he came to Jerusalem, and stood before the ark of the covenant of the Lord, and offered burnt-offerings and made peace-offerings, and made a feast to all his servants.

16 ¶ Then came two harlots unto the king, and stood before him.

17 And the one woman said, Oh my lord, I and this woman dwell in one house, and I was delivered of a child with her in the house.

18 And the third day after that I was delivered, this was delivered also: and we were in the house together: no stranger was with us in the house, save we twain.

19 And this woman's son died in the night: for she overlaid him.

20 And she arose at midnight, and took my son from my side, while thine handmaid slept, and laid him in her bosom, and laid her dead son in my bosom.

21 And when I arose in the morning to give my son suck, behold, he was dead: and when I had well considered him in the morning, behold, it was not my son whom I had borne.

22 Then the other woman said, Nay, but my son liveth, and thy son is dead. Again she said, No, but thy son is dead, and mine alive: thus they spake before the king.

25 And the king said, Divide ye the living child in twain, and give the one half to the one, and the other half to the other:

26 Then spake the woman, whose the living child was, unto the king (for her compassion was kindled toward her son) and she said, Oh my lord, give her the living child, and slay him not: but the other said, Let it be neither mine thine, but divide it:

27 Then the king answered, and said, Give her the living child, and slay him not: this is his mother:

7 ¶ And when Hiram heard the words of Solomon, he rejoiced greatly, and said, Blessed be the Lord this day, which hath given unto David a wise son over this mighty people.

C H A P. VI.

The building of the temple, and the form thereof.

12 The promise of the Lord to Solomon.

AND in the four hundredth and fourscore year (after the children of Israel were come out of the land of Egypt) and in the fourth year of the reign of Solomon over Israel, in the month Ziph, (which is the second month) he built the house of the Lord.

And the house which king Solomon built for the Lord, was threescore cubits long, and twenty broad, and thirty cubits high.

And the porch before the temple of the house was twenty cubits long according to the breadth of the house, and ten cubits broad before the house.

4 And in the house he made windows, broad without, and narrow within.

5 And by the wall of the house he made galleries round about, even by the walls of the house round about the temple and the oracle, and made chambers round about.

6 The nethermost gallery was five cubits broad, and the middlemost six cubits broad, and the third seven cubits broad: for he made rests round about without the house, that the beams should not be fastened in the walls of the house.

7 And when the house was built, it was built of stone perfect, before it was brought, so that there was neither hammer, nor ax, nor any tool of iron heard in the house while it was in building.

8 The door of the middle chamber was in the right side of the house, and men went up with winding stairs into the middlemost, and out of the middlemost into the third.

9 So he built the house and finished it, and ceiled the house being vaulted, with ceiling of cedar-trees.

10 And he built the galleries upon all the wall of the house of five cubits height; and they were joined to the house with beams of Cedar.

11 And the word of the Lord came to Solomon, saying,

12 Concerning this house which thou buildest, if thou wilt walk in mine ordinances, and execute my judgments, and keep all my commandments, to walk in them, then will I perform unto thee my promise, which I promised David thy father.

13 And I will dwell among the children of Israel, and will not forsake my people Israel:

14 So Solomon built the house, and finished it,

15 And built the walls of the house within, with boards of cedar-tree from the pavement of the house unto the walls of the ceiling, and within he covered them with wood, and covered the floor of the house with planks of fir.

16 And he built twenty cubits in the sides of the house with boards of cedar, from the floor to the walls, and he prepared a place within it for the oracle, even the most holy place.

17 But the house, that is, the temple before it, was forty cubits long.

18 And the cedar of the house within was carved with knops, and graven with flowers: all was cedar, so that stone was seen.

19 ¶ Also he prepared the place of the oracle in the midst of the house within; to set the ark of the covenant of the Lord there.

20 And the place of the oracle within was twenty cubits long, and twenty cubits broad, and twenty cubits high, and he covered it with pure gold, and covered the altar with cedar.

21 So Solomon covered the house within with pure gold: and he shut the place of the oracle with chains of gold, and covered it with gold.

22 And he overlaid all the house with gold, until all the house was made perfect, also he covered the whole altar, that was before the oracle, with gold.

23 And within the oracle he made two cherubims of olive-tree, ten cubits high.

24 The wing also of the one cherub was five cubits, and the wing of the other cherub was five cubits: from the uttermost part of one of his wings unto the uttermost part of the other of his wings, were ten cubits.

25 Also the other cherub was of ten cubits: both the cherubims were of one measure and one size.

26 For the height of the one cherub was ten cubits, and so was the other cherub.

27 And he put the cherubims within the inner house, and the cherubims stretched out their wings, so that the wing of the one touched the one wall, and the wing of the other cherub touched

14 He was a widow's son of the tribe of Naphtali, his father being a man of Tyrus, and wrought in brass: he was full of wisdom, and understanding, and knowledge to work all manner of work in brass: who came to king Solomon, and wrought all his work.

15 ¶ For he cast two pillars of brass: the height of a pillar was eighteen cubits, and a thread of twelve cubits did compass † either of the pillars.

THEN * king Solomon assembled the elders of Israel, even all the heads of the tribes, the chief fathers of the children of Israel unto † him in Jerusalem, for to † bring up the ark of the covenant of the Lord from the city of David, which is Zion.

2 And all the men of Israel assembled unto king Solomon at the feast in the month of * Ethanim, which is the seventh month.

3 And all the elders of Israel came, and the priests took the ark.

4 They bare the ark of the Lord, and they bare the tabernacle of the congregation, and all the holy vessels that were in the tabernacle:
those did the priests and Levites bring up.

5 And king Solomon and all the congregation of Israel, that were assembled unto him, were with him before the ark, offering sheep and beeves, which could not be told, nor numbered for multitude.

6 So the † priests brought the ark of the covenant of the Lord, unto his place, into the oracle of the house, into the most holy place,

35 ¶ When heaven shall be shut up, and there shall be no rain, because they have sinned against thee, and shall pray in this place, and confess thy name, and turn from their sin, when thou dost afflict them,

36 Then hear thou in heaven, and pardon the sin of thy servants, and of thy people Israel (when thou hast taught them the good way wherein they may walk) and give rain upon the land that thou hast given thy people to inherit.

37 ¶ When there shall be famine in the land, when there shall be pestilence, when there shall be blasting, mildew, grasshopper or caterpillar, when their enemy shall besiege them in the cities of their land, or any plague, or any sickness,

38 Then what prayer and supplication soever shall be made of any man, or of all thy people Israel, when every one shall know the plague in his own heart, and stretch forth his hands in this house,

39 Hear thou then in heaven, in thy dwelling-place, and be merciful, and do, and give every man according to all his ways, as thou knowest his heart, (for thou only knowest the hearts of all the children of men)

40 That they may fear thee as long as they live in the land which thou gavest unto our fathers.

41 Moreover, as touching the stranger that is not of thy people Israel, who shall come out of a far country for thy name's sake,

42 (When they shall hear of thy great name, and of thy mighty hand, and of thy stretched-out arm) and shall come and pray in this house,

45 Hear thou then in heaven their prayer and their supplication, and judge their cause.

46 If they sin against thee, (* for there is no man that sinneth not) and thou be angry with them, and deliver them unto the enemies, so that they carry them away prisoners unto the land of the enemies, either far or near,

47 Yet if they turn again unto their heart in the land (to the which they be carried away captives) and return and pray unto thee in the land of them that carried them away captives, saying, We have sinned, we have transgressed, and done wickedly,

48 If they turn again unto thee with all their heart, and with all their soul, in the land of their enemies, which led them away captives, and pray unto thee toward the way of their land which thou gavest unto their fathers, and toward the city which thou hast chosen, and the house which I have built for thy name,

49 Then hear thou their prayer and their supplication in heaven thy dwelling-place, and judge their cause,

50 And be merciful unto thy people that have sinned against thee, and unto all their iniquities (wherein they have transgressed against thee) and cause that they, which led them away captives, may have pity and compassion on them:

51 For they be thy people, and thine inheritance, which thou broughtest out of Egypt, from the midst of the iron furnace.

52 Let thine eyes be open unto the prayer of thy servant, and unto the prayer of thy people Israel, to hearken unto them, in all that they call for unto thee.

53 For thou didst separate them to thee from among all the people of the earth for an inheritance, as thou saidst by the hand of Moses thy servant, when thou broughtest our fathers out of Egypt, O Lord God.

54 And when Solomon had made an end of praying all this prayer and supplication unto the Lord, he arose from before the altar of the Lord, from kneeling on his knees, and stretching of his hands to heaven,

25 And they brought every man his present, vessels of silver, and vessels of gold, and raiment, and armour, and sweet odours, horses and mules, from year to year.

26 Then Solomon gathered together ² chariots and horsemen: and he had a thousand and four hundred chariots, and twelve thousand horsemen, whom he placed in the chariot cities, and with the king at Jerusalem.

27 And the king [†] gave silver in Jerusalem as stones, and gave cedars as the wild fig-trees that grow abundantly in the plain.

28 Also Solomon had horses brought out of Egypt, and fine linen: [‡] the king's merchants received the linen for a price.

29 There came up and went out of Egypt ^{some} chariot ^{worsh} six hundred ^{shekels} of silver: that is, one horse, an hundred and fifty. And thus they brought ^{horses} to all the kings of the Hittites, and to the kings of Aram by their [†] means.

C H A P. XI.

1 Solomon hath a thousand wives and concubines, which bring him to idolatry. 14 His God raiseth up adversaries against him. 43 He dieth.

^{• 2 Sam. 8. 17.} BUT king Solomon loved ^{*} many ¹ outlandish women: both the daughter of Pharaoh, and the women of Moab, Ammon, Edom, Zidon and Heth,

2 Of the nations, whereof the Lord had said unto the children of Israel, ^{*} Go not ye in to them, nor let them come in to you: for surely they will turn your hearts after their gods: to them, I say, did Solomon join in love.

3 And he had seven hundred wives, [†] that were princesses, and three hundred ¹ concubines, and his wives turned away his heart.

4 For when Solomon was old, his wives turned his heart after other gods, so that his heart was not ¹ perfect with the Lord his God, as was the heart of David his father.

5 For Solomon followed ² Ashtaroth the god of the Zidonians, and ² Milcom the abomination of the Ammonites.

6 So Solomon wrought wickedness in the sight of the Lord, but continued not to follow the Lord, as did David his father.

7 Then did Solomon build an high place for Chemosh the ² abomination of Moab, in the mountain that is over-against Jerusalem, and unto Molech the abomination of the children of Ammon.

8 And so did he for all his outlandish wives, which burnt incense and offered unto their gods.

9 Therefore the Lord was angry with Solomon, because he had turned his heart from the Lord God of Israel, ^{*} which had appeared unto him twice,

10 And had given him ^{*} charge concerning this thing, that he should not follow other gods: but he kept not that which the Lord had commanded him. ^{Ref. Chr. 1984. Ch. 6. 12.}

11 Wherefore the Lord said unto Solomon; Forasmuch as ^o this is done of thee, and thou hast not kept my covenant, and my statutes (which I commanded thee) ^{*} I will surely rend ^o thy kingdom from thee, and will give it to thy servant. ^{• Ch. 12. 15.}

12 Notwithstanding in thy days I will not do it, because of David thy father, but I will rend it out of the hand of thy son:

13 Howbeit I will not rend all the kingdom, but will give one ² tribe to thy son, because of David my servant, and because of Jerusalem which I have chosen.

14 ¶ Then the Lord stirred up an adversary unto Solomon, even Hadad the Edomite, of the king's ² seed, which was in Edom.

15 ^{*} For when David was in Edom, and Joab the captain of the host had smitten all the males in Edom, and was gone up to bury the ¹ slain, ^{• 2 Sam. 8. 14.}

16 (For six months did Joab remain there, and all Israel, till he had destroyed all the males in Edom)

17 Then this Hadad ¹ fled, and certain other Edomites of his father's servants with him, to go into Egypt, Hadad being yet a little child.

18 And they arose out of Midian, and came to Paran, and took men with them out of Paran, and came to Egypt unto Pharaoh king of Egypt, which gave him an house, and appointed him victuals, and gave him land.

19 So Hadad ¹ found great favour in the sight of Pharaoh, and he gave him to wife the sister of his own wife: even the sister of Tahpenes the queen.

20 And the sister of Tahpenes bare him Genubath his son, whom Tahpenes weaned in Pharaoh's house: and Genubath was in Pharaoh's house among the sons of Pharaoh.

21 And when Hadad heard in Egypt, that David slept with his fathers, and that Joab the captain of the host was dead, Hadad said to Pharaoh, Let ² me depart, that I may go to mine own country.

22 But Pharaoh said unto him, What hast thou lacked with me, that thou wouldest thus go to thine own country? And he answered, Nothing, but in any wise let me go.

23 ¶ ^{*} And God stirred him up ^{another} adversary, Rezon the son of Eliada, which ² fled from his lord Hadadezer king of Zobah. ^{• 2 Sam. 8. 3.}

24 And he gathered men unto him, and had been captain over the company, when David slew them. And they went to Damascus, and dwelt there, ² and they made him king in Damascus.

25 Therefore was he an adversary to Israel all the days of Solomon: besides the evil that Hadad did, he also abhorred Israel, and reigned over Aram.

32 But he shall have one tribe for my servant David's sake, and for Jerusalem the city which I have chosen out of all the tribes of Israel, 33 Because they have forsaken me, and have worshipped Ashtaroth the god of the Zidonians, and Chemosh the god of the Moabites, and Milcom the god of the Ammonites, and have not walked in my ways († to do right in mine eyes, and my statutes, and my laws) as did David his father.

34 But I will not take the whole kingdom out of his hand: for I will make him prince all his life long for David my servant's sake, whom I have chosen, and who kept my commandments and my statutes.

35 ■ But I will take the kingdom out of his son's hand, and will give it unto thee, even the ten tribes.

36 And unto his son will I give one tribe, that David my servant may have a ²light always before me in Jerusalem, the city which I have chosen me, to put my name there.

37 And I will take thee, and thou shalt reign † even as thine heart desireth, and shalt be king over Israel, 38 And if thou hearken unto all that I command thee, and wilt walk in my ways, and do right in my sight, to keep my statutes and my commandments, as David my servant did, then will I be with thee, and build thee ■ sure house, as I built unto David, and will give Israel unto thee.

39 And I will for ^athis afflict the seed of David, ^bbut not for ever.

16 So when all Israel saw that the king regarded them not, the people answered the king, saying, What portion have we in David? We have none inheritance in the son of Jesse. To your tents, O Israel, now see to thine own house, David. So Israel departed unto their tents.

28 Whereupon the king took counsel, and made two calves of gold, and said unto them, It is too much for you to go up to Jerusalem: behold, O Israel, thy gods which brought thee up out of the land of Egypt.

29 And he set the one in Beth-el, and the other set he in Dan.

30 And this thing turned to sin: for the people went (because of the one) even to Dan.

2 Jeroboam sendeth his wife disguised to Abijah the prophet, who declareth unto him the destruction of his house. 22 Judah is punished by Shishak.

At that time Abijah the son of Jeroboam fell sick.

2 And Jeroboam said unto his wife, Up, I pray thee, and disguise thyself, that they know not that thou art the wife of Jeroboam, and go to Shiloh: for there is Ahijah the prophet, which told me that I should be king over this people.

3 And take with thee ten loaves and ¶ cracknels, and a bottle of honey, and go to him: he shall tell thee what shall become of the young man.

4 And Jeroboam's wife did so, and arose, and went to Shiloh, and came to the house of Ahijah: but Ahijah could not see, for his ¶ sight was decayed for his age.

5 Then the Lord said unto Ahijah, Behold, the wife of Jeroboam cometh to ask a thing of thee for her son, for he is sick: thus and thus shalt thou say unto her: for when she cometh in, she shall feign herself to be another.

6 Therefore when Ahijah heard the sound of her feet as she came in at the door, he said, Come in, thou wife of Jeroboam: why reignest thou thus thyself to be another? I am sent to thee with heavy tidings.

7 Go, tell Jeroboam, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Forasmuch as I have exalted thee from among the people, and have made thee prince over my people Israel,

8 And have rent the kingdom away from the house of David, and have given it thee, and thou hast not been as my servant David, which kept my commandments, and followed me with all his heart, and did only that which was right in mine eyes,

9 But hast done evil above all that were before thee (for thou hast gone and made thee other gods, and molten images, to provoke me, and hast cast me behind thy back)

10 Therefore behold, I will bring evil upon the house of Jeroboam, and will cut off from Jeroboam him that pisseth against the wall, as well him that is shut up, as him that is left in Israel, and will sweep away the remnant of the house of Jeroboam, as a man sweepeth away dung, till it be all gone.

11 The dogs shall eat him of Jeroboam's street that dieth in the city, and the fowls of the air shall eat him that dieth in the field: for the Lord hath said it.

12 Up therefore, and get thee to thine house: for when thy feet enter into the city, the child shall die.

13 And all Israel shall mourn for him, and bury him: for he only of Jeroboam shall come to the grave, because in him there is found some goodnes toward the Lord God of Israel in the house of Jeroboam.

14 Moreover, the Lord shall stir him up a king over Israel, which shall destroy the house of Jeroboam in that day: what? yea, even now.

15 For the Lord shall smite Israel, as when a reed is shaken in the water, and he shall weed Israel out of this good land which he gave to their fathers, and shall scatter them beyond the river, because they have made them groves, provoking the Lord to anger.

16 And he shall give Israel up, because of the sins of Jeroboam, who did sin, and made Israel to sin.

17 ¶ And Jeroboam's wife arose, and departed, and came to Tirzah, and when she came to the threshold of the house, the young man died.

18 And they buried him, and all Israel lamented him, according to the word of the Lord, which he spake by the hand of his servant Ahijah the prophet.

19 And the rest of Jeroboam's acts, how he warred, and how he reigned, behold, they are written in the book of the Chronicles of the kings of Israel.

20 And the days which Jeroboam reigned, were two and twenty years: and he slept with his fathers, and Nadab his son reigned in his stead.

21 ¶ Also Rehoboam the son of Solomon reigned in Judah. Rehoboam was one and forty years old when he began to reign, and reigned seventeen years in Jerusalem, the city which the Lord did chuse out of all the tribes of Israel, to put his name there: and his mother's name was Naamah Ammonite.

22 And Judah wrought wickedness in the sight of the Lord: and they provoked him more with their sins, which they had committed, than all that which their fathers had done.

23 ¶ For they also made them high places, and images, and groves on every high hill, and under every green tree.

24 There were also Sodomites in the land, they did according to all the abominations of the nations which the Lord had cast out before the children of Israel.

25 ¶ And in the fifth year of king Rehoboam, Shishak king of Egypt came up against Jerusalem, 26 And took the treasures of the house of the Lord, and the treasures of the king's house, and took away all: also he carried away all the shields of gold which Solomon had made.

27 And king Rehoboam made for them brasen shields, and committed them unto the hands of the chief of the guard, which waited at the door of the king's house.

Because of the sins of Jeroboam which he committed, and wherewith he made Israel to sin, by his provocation, wherewith he provoked the Lord God of Israel.

And the residue of the acts of Nadab, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the Chronicles of the kings of Israel?

And there was war between Afa and Baasha king of Israel, all their days.

In the third year of Afa king of Judah, began Baasha the son of Ahijah to reign over all Israel in Tirzah, and reigned four and twenty years.

And he did evil in the sight of the Lord, walking in the way of Jeroboam, and in his sin wherewith he made Israel to sin.

C H A P. XVI.

1 Of Baasha. 6 Elah. 9 Zimri. 16 Omri. 31 Ahab married Jezebel. 34 Jericho is built again.

THEN the word of the Lord came to Jehu the son of Hanani against Baasha, saying,

Forasmuch as I exalted thee out of the dust, and made thee captain over my people Israel, and thou hast walked in the way of Jeroboam, and hast made my people Israel to sin, to provoke me with their sins, Behold, I will take away the posterity of Baasha, and the posterity of his house, and will make thine house like the house of Jeroboam the son of Nebat.

He that dieth of Baasha's flock in the city, him shall the dogs eat: and that man of him which dieth in the fields, shall the fowls of the air eat.

And the rest of the acts of Baasha, and what he did, and his power, are they not written in the book of the Chronicles of the kings of Israel?

So Baasha slept with his fathers, and was buried in Tirzah, and Elah his son reigned in his stead.

And also by the hand of Jehu the son of Hanani the prophet, came the word of the Lord to Baasha, and to his house, that he should be like the house of Jeroboam, even for all the wickedness that he did in the sight of the Lord, in provoking him with the work of his hands, and because he killed him.

In the six and twentieth year of Afa king of Judah, began Elah the son of Baasha to reign over Israel in Tirzah, and reigned two years.

And his servant Zimri, captain of half his chariots, conspired against him, as he was in Tirzah drinking, till he was drunken in the house of Arza steward of his house in Tirzah.

And Zimri came and smote him, and killed him, in the seven and twentieth year of Afa king of Judah, and reigned in his stead.

And when he was king, and sat on his throne, he slew all the house of Baasha, not leaving thereof one to piss against a wall, neither of his kinsfolks, nor of his friends.

So did Zimri destroy all the house of Baasha, according to the word of the Lord which he spake against Baasha, by the hand of Jehu the prophet,

For all the sins of Baasha, and sins of Elah his son, which they sinned, and made Israel to sin, and provoked the Lord God of Israel with their vanities.

And the rest of the acts of Elah, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the Chronicles of the kings of Israel?

In the seven and twentieth year of Afa king of Judah did Zimri reign seven days in Tirzah, and the people was then in camp against Gibbethon, which belonged to the Philistines.

And the people of the host heard say, Zimri hath conspired, and hath also slain the king. Wherefore all Israel made Omri, the captain of the host, king over Israel that same day, even in the host.

Then Omri went up from Gibbethon, and all Israel with him, and they besieged Tirzah.

And when Zimri saw that the city was taken, he went into the palace of the king's house, and burnt himself, and the king's house with fire, and so died,

For his sins which he sinned, in doing that which is evil in the sight of the Lord, in walking in the way of Jeroboam, and in his sins which he did, causing Israel to sin.

And the rest of the acts of Zimri, and his treason that he wrought, are they not written in the book of the Chronicles of the kings of Israel?

Then were the people of Israel divided into two parts: for half the people followed Tibni the son of Ginath to make him king, and the other half followed Omri.

But the people that followed Omri prevailed against the people that followed Tibni the son of Ginath: so Tibni died, and Omri reigned.

In the one and thirtieth year of Afa king of Judah, began Omri to reign over Israel, and reigned twelve years. Six years reigned he in Tirzah.

And he bought the mountain of Samaria of one Shemer for two talents of silver, and built in the mountain, and called the name of the city which he built, after the name of Shemer lord of the mountain, Samaria.

But Omri did evil in the eyes of the Lord, and did worse than all that were before him.

For he walked in all the way of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, and in his sins wherewith he made Israel to sin in provoking the Lord God of Israel with their vanities.

27 And the rest of the acts of Omri, that he did, and his strength that he shewed, are they not written in the book of the Chronicles of the kings of Israel?

28 And Omri slept with his fathers, and was buried in Samaria: and Ahab his son reigned in his stead.

29 Now Ahab the son of Omri began to reign over Israel, in the eight and thirtieth year of Ahab king of Judah: and Ahab the son of Omri reigned over Israel in Samaria two and twenty years.

30 And Ahab the son of Omri did worse in the sight of the Lord, than all that were before him.

31 For was it a light thing for him to walk in the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, except he took Jezebel also the daughter of Ethbaal king of the Zidonians to his wife, and went and served Baal, and worshipped him?

32 Also he reared up an altar to Baal in the house of Baal, which he had built in Samaria.

33 And Ahab made a grove, and Ahab proceeded, and did provoke the Lord God of Israel more than all the kings of Israel that were before him.

34 In his days did Hiel the Bethelite build Jericho: he laid the foundation thereof in Abiram his eldest, and set up the gates thereof in his youngest son Segub, according to the word of the Lord which he spake by Joshua the son of Nun.

AND Elijah the Tishbite one of the inhabitants of Gilead said unto Ahab, As the Lord God of Israel liveth, before whom I stand, there shall be neither dew nor rain these years, but according to my word.

2 ¶ And the word of the Lord came unto him, saying,

3 Go hence, and turn thee eastward, and hide thyself in the river Cherith, that is over-against Jordan.

4 And thou shalt drink of the river: and I have commanded the ravens to feed thee there.

5 So he went and did according unto the word of the Lord: for he went, and remained by the river Cherith that is over-against Jordan.

6 And the ravens brought him bread and flesh in the morning, and bread and flesh in the evening, and he drank of the river.

7 And after a while the river dried up, because there fell no rain upon the earth.

¶ And the word of the Lord came unto him, saying,

9 ¶ Up, and get thee to Zarephath, which is in Zidon, and remain there: behold, I have commanded a widow there to sustain thee.

10 So he arose and went to Zarephath: and when he came to the gate of the city, behold, the widow was there gathering sticks: and he called her, and said, Bring me, I pray thee, a little water in a vessel, that I may drink.

11 And as she was going to fetch it, he called to her, and said, Bring me, I pray thee, a morsel of bread in thine hand.

12 And she said, As the Lord thy God liveth, I have not a cake, but even an handful of meal in a barrel, and a little oil in a cruse: and behold, I am gathering a few sticks for to go in and dress it for me and my son, that we may eat it, and die.

13 And Elijah said unto her, Fear not, come, do as thou hast said, but make me thereof a little cake first of all, and bring it unto me, and afterward make for thee, and thy son.

14 For thus saith the Lord God of Israel, The meal in the barrel shall not be wasted, neither shall the oil in the cruse be diminished, unto the time that the Lord send rain upon the earth.

15 So she went, and did as Elijah said, and she did eat: so did he and her house for a certain time.

16 The barrel of meal wasted not, nor the oil was spent out of the cruse, according to the word of the Lord, which he spake by the hand of Elijah.

17 ¶ And after these things, the son of the wife of the house fell sick, and his sickness was so sore, that there was no breath left in him.

18 And she said unto Elijah, What have I to do with thee, O thou man of God? art thou come unto me to call my sin to remembrance, and to slay my son?

19 And he said unto her, Give me thy son: and he took him out of her bosom, and carried him up into a chamber, where he abode, and laid him upon his own bed.

20 Then he called unto the Lord, and said, O Lord my God, hast thou punished also this widow, with whom I sojourn, by killing her son?

21 And he stretched himself upon the child three times, and called unto the Lord, and said, O Lord my God, I pray thee, let this child's soul come into him again.

22 Then the Lord heard the voice of Elijah, and the soul of the child came into him again, and he revived.

23 And Elijah took the child, and brought him down out of the chamber into the house, and delivered him unto his mother, and Elijah said, Behold, thy son liveth.

24 And the woman said unto Elijah, Now I know that thou art a man of God, and that the word of the Lord in thy mouth is true.

AFTER many days the word of the Lord came to Elijah, in the ^o third year, saying, Go, shew thyself unto Ahab, and I will send rain upon the earth.

2 And Elijah went to shew himself unto Ahab, and there was ■ great famine in Samaria.

3 And Ahab called Obadiab the governor of his house: (and Obadiab ■ feared God greatly:

4 For when Jezebel destroyed the prophets of the Lord, Obadiab took ■ hundred prophets, and hid them by fifty in a cave, and he fed them with bread and water.)

5 And Ahab said unto Obadiab, Go into the land, unto all the fountains of water, and unto all the rivers, if so be that we may find gras to save the hories and the mules alive, lest we deprive the land of the beatts.

6 And so they divided the land between them to walk thorough it. Ahab went one way by himself, and Obadiab went another way by himself.

7 ¶ And ■ Obadiab was in the way, behold, Elijah ^o met him: and he knew him, and fell on his face, and said, Art not thou my lord Elijah?

8 And he answered him, Yea, go tell thy lord, Behold, Elijah is here.

9 And he said, What have I sinned, that thou wouldst deliver thy servant into the hand of Ahab, to slay me?

10 As the Lord thy God liveth, there is no nation or kingdom, whither my lord hath not sent to seek thee: and when they said, He is not here, he took an oath of the kingdom and nation, if they had not found thee.

11 And now thou sayest, Go, tell thy lord, Behold, Elijah is here.

12 And when I am gone from thee, the Spirit of the Lord shall carry thee into some place that I do not know: so when I come and tell Ahab, if he cannot find thee, then will he kill me: but I thy servant ^o fear the Lord from my youth.

13 Was it not told my lord, what I did when Jezebel slew the prophets of the Lord, how I hid an hundred men of the Lord's prophets by fifties in a cave, and fed them with bread and water?

14 And now thou sayest, Go, tell thy lord, Behold, Elijah is here, that he may slay me.

15 And Elijah said, As the Lord of hosts liveth, before whom I stand, I will surely shew ^o myself unto him this day.

16 ¶ So Obadiab went to meet Ahab, and told him: and Ahab went to meet Elijah.

^o After that he departed from the river Cherith.

■ God had begun ■ work his fear in his heart, but had not yet brought him ■ that knowledge, which is also requisite of the godly; that is, ■ profess his name openly.

■ God pitieth oftentimes the wicked for the godly's sake, and causeth Elijah to meet with Obadiab, that the benefit might be known ■ be granted for God's children's sake.

■ I am none of the wicked persecutors, that thou shouldst procure unto ■ such displeasure, but serve God and favour his children.

■ By my presence I will declare that thou hast told him the truth.

17 And when Ahab saw Elijah, Ahab said unto him, Art thou he that troubleth Israel?

18 And he answered, I have not troubled Israel, but ^o thou, and thy father's house, in that ye have forsaken the commandments of the Lord, and thou hast followed Baalim.

19 Now therefore send, and gather to me all Israel unto mount Carmel, and the prophets of Baal four hundred and fifty, and the prophets of the groves four hundred, which eat at Jezebel's table.

20 ¶ So Ahab sent unto all the children of Israel, and gathered the prophets together unto mount Carmel.

21 And Elijah came unto all the people, and said, How long ^o halt ye between two opinions? If the Lord be God, follow him: but if Baal be he, then go after him. And the people answered him not ■ word.

22 Then said Elijah unto the people, I only remain a prophet of the Lord: but Baal's prophets are four hundred and fifty men.

23 Let them therefore give us two bullocks, and let them chuse the one, and cut him in pieces, and lay him on the wood, but put no fire under: and I will prepare the other bullock, and lay him on the wood, and will put no fire under.

24 Then call ye on the name of your god, and I will call on the name of the Lord: and then the God that answereth ^o by fire, let him be God. And all the people answered, and said, It is well spoken.

25 And Elijah said unto the prophets of Baal, Chuse you a bullock, and prepare him first, (for ye ■ many) and call on the name of your gods, but put no fire under.

26 So they took the one bullock, that was given them, and they prepared it, and called on the name of Baal, from morning to noon, saying, O Baal, hear us: but there was no voice, nor any to answer: and they ^o leaped upon the altar that was made:

27 And at noon Elijah mocked them, and said, Cry loud: for he is a ^o god: either he talketh, or pursueth bis enemies, or is in his journey, or it may be that he sleepeth, and must be ^o awaked.

28 And they cried loud, and cut themselves as their manner was, with knives and lancets, till the blood gushed out upon them.

29 And when mid-day was passed, and they had prophesied until the offering of the evening sacrifice, there was neither voice, nor one to answer, nor any that regarded.

30 And Elijah said unto all the people, Come to me. And all the people came to him. And he repaired the altar of the Lord that was broken down.

31 And Elijah took twelve stones, according

32 And with the stones he built an altar in the name of the Lord: and he made a ditch round about the altar, as great as would contain two † measures of seed,

33 And he put the wood in order, and hewed the bullock in pieces, and laid him on the wood:

34 And said, Fill four barrels with water, and pour it on the burnt-offering, and on the wood. Again he said, Do so again. And they did so the second time. And he said, Do it the third time. And they did it the third time.

35 And the water ran round about the altar: and he ^a filled the ditch with water also.

36 And when they should offer the evening sacrifice, Elijah the prophet came, and said, Lord God of Abraham, Isaac, and of Israel, let it be known this day, that thou art the God of Israel, and that I am thy servant, and that I have done all these things at thy commandment.

37 Hear me, O Lord, hear me, and let this people know that thou art the Lord God, and that thou hast turned their heart again ^b at the last.

38 Then the fire of the Lord fell, and consumed the burnt-offering, and the wood, and the stones, and the dust, and licked up the water that was in the ditch.

39 And when all the people saw it, they fell on their faces, and said, The Lord is God, the Lord is God.

40 And Elijah said unto them, Take the prophets of Baal, let not a ^c man of them escape. And they took them, and Elijah brought them to the brook Kishon, and slew them there.

41 ¶ And Elijah said unto Ahab, Get thee up, eat and drink, for there is a sound of much rain.

42 So Ahab went up to eat and to drink, and Elijah went up to the top of Carmel: and he crouched unto the earth, and put his face between his knees, 43 And said to his servant, Go up now, and look toward the way of the sea. And he went up, and looked, and said, There is nothing. Again he said, Go again ^d seven times.

6 * Or else I will send my servants unto thee by to morrow this time: and they shall search thine house and the houses of thy servants: and whatsoever is pleasant in thine eyes, they shall take it in their hands, and bring it away.

7 Then the king of Israel sent for all the elders of the land, and said, Take heed, I pray you, and see how he seeketh mischief: for he sent unto me for my wives, and for my children, and for my silver, and for my gold, and I denied him not.

AFTER † these things Naboth the Jezreelite had a vineyard in Jezreel, hard by the place of Ahab king of Samaria.

2 And Ahab spake unto Naboth, saying, Give me thy vineyard, that I may make me a garden of herbs thereof, because it is near by mine house: and I will give thee for it a better vineyard than it is: or if it please thee, I will give thee the worth of it in money.

3 And Naboth said to Ahab, The Lord keep me from giving the inheritance of my fathers unto thee.

4 Then Ahab came into his house heavy and in displeasure, because of the word which Naboth the Jezreelite had spoken unto him. For he had said, I will not give thee the inheritance of my fathers, and he lay upon his bed, and turned his face, and would eat no bread.

5 Then Jezebel his wife came to him, and said unto him, Why is thy spirit so sad that thou eatest no bread?

6 And he said unto her, Because I spake unto Naboth the Jezreelite, and said unto him, Give me thy vineyard for money, or if it please thee, I will give thee another vineyard for it: but he answered, I will not give thee my vineyard.

7 Then Jezebel his wife said unto him, Dost thou now govern the kingdom of Israel? Up, eat bread, and † be of good cheer, I will give thee the vineyard of Naboth the Jezreelite.

8 ¶ So she wrote letters in Ahab's name, and sealed them with his seal, and sent the letters unto the elders, and to the nobles that were in his city dwelling with Naboth.

9 And she wrote in the letters, saying, Proclaim a fast, and set Naboth among the chief of the people.

10 And set two wicked men before him, and let them witness against him, saying, Thou didst blaspheme God and the king: then carry him out, and stone him that he may die.

11 And the men of his city, even the elders and governors which dwelt in his city, did as Jezebel had sent unto them: as it was written in the letters which she had sent unto them.

12 They proclaimed a fast, and set Naboth among the chief of the people.

13 And there came two wicked men, and sat before him: and the wicked men witnessed against Naboth in the presence of the people, saying, Naboth did † blaspheme God and the king. Then they carried him away out of the city, and stoned him with stones, that he died.

14 Then they sent to Jezebel, saying, Naboth is stoned and is dead.

15 ¶ And when Jezebel heard that Naboth was stoned and was dead, Jezebel said to Ahab, † Up, and take possession of the vineyard of Naboth the Jezreelite, which he refused to give thee for money: for Naboth is not alive, but is dead.

16 And when Ahab heard that Naboth was dead, he rose to go down to the vineyard of Naboth the Jezreelite, to take possession of it.

17 ¶ And the word of the Lord came unto Elijah the Tishbite, saying, 18 Arise, go down to meet Ahab king of Israel, which is in Samaria: lo, he is in the vineyard of Naboth, whither he is gone down to take possession of it.

19 Therefore shalt thou say unto him, Thus saith the Lord, † Hast thou killed and also gotten possession? And thou shalt speak unto him, saying, Thus saith the Lord, † In the place where dogs licked the blood of Naboth, shall dogs lick even thy blood also.

20 And Ahab said to Elijah, Hast thou found me, O mine enemy? And he answered, I have found thee: for thou hast sold thyself to work wickedness in the sight of the Lord.

21 ¶ Behold, I will bring evil upon thee, and will take away thy posterity, and will cut off from Ahab him that † pisseth against the wall, as well him that is † shut up, as him that is left in Israel, 22 And I will make thine house like the house of † Jeroboam the son of Nebat, and like the house of † Baasha the son of Ahijah, for the provocation wherewith thou hast provoked, and made Israel to sin.

23 And also of Jezebel spake the Lord, saying, † The dogs shall eat Jezebel, † by the wall of Jezreel.

24 The dogs shall eat him of Ahab's stock, that dieth in the city: and him that dieth in the fields, shall the fowls of the air eat.

25 (But there was none like Ahab, who did † sell himself to work wickedness in the sight of the Lord: whom Jezebel his wife provoked.

26 For he did exceeding abominably in following idols, according to all that the Amorites did, whom the Lord cast out before the children of Israel.)

27 Now when Ahab heard these words, he rent his cloaths, and put sackcloth upon † him and fasted, and lay in sackcloth and went † softly.

28 And the word of the Lord came to Elijah the Tishbite, saying,

15 ¶ So he came to the king, and the king said unto him, Micaiah, shall we go against Ramoth Gilead to battle, or shall we leave off? And he answered him, Go up, and prosper: and the Lord shall deliver it into the hand of the king.

16 And the king said unto him, How oft shall I charge thee, that thou tell me nothing but that which is true in the name of the Lord?

17 Then he said, I saw all Israel scattered upon the mountains, as sheep that had no shepherd. And the Lord said, These have no master, let every man return unto his house in peace.

19 Again he said, Hear thou therefore the word of the Lord. I saw the Lord sit on his throne, and all the host of heaven stood about him on his right hand and on his left hand.

20 And the Lord said, Who shall entice Ahab that he may go and fall at Ramoth Gilead? And one said on this manner, and another said that manner.

The true prophets of God were accustomed to use signs

This is the argument of the wicked, who think that none should speak against a thing, if the greater part approve it, be they never so ungodly.

He speaketh this in derision, because the king attributed so much to the false prophets, meaning, that by experience he should try that they were but flatterers.

The Second B o o k of the K I N G S.

T H E A R G U M E N T.

This second book containeth the acts of the kings of Judah and Israel: to wit, of Israel from the death of Ahab unto the last king Hosea, who was imprisoned by the king of Assyria, and his city Samaria taken, and the ten tribes by the just plague of God for their idolatry and disobedience to God led into captivity. And also of Judah, from the reign of Jehoram son of Jehoshaphat unto Zedekiah, who for contemning the Lord's commandment by his prophets, and neglecting his sundry admonitions by famine and other means, was taken by his enemies, saw his sons most cruelly slain before his face, and his own eyes put out, as the Lord had declared to him before by his prophet Jeremy: and also by the just vengeance of God for contempt of his word, Jerusalem was destroyed, the temple burnt, and he and all his people were led away captives into Babylon. In this book are notable examples of God's favour towards those rulers and people which obey his prophets, and embrace his word: and contrariwise, of his plagues towards those commonweals which neglect his ministers, and do not obey his commandments.

2 Abaziah by a fall falleth sick, and consulteth with Baal-zebub. 3 He is reprov'd by Elijah. 10 The captains over fifty were sent to Elijah, whereof two were burnt with fire from heaven by his prayer. 17 Abaziah dieth, and Jehoram his brother succeedeth him.

THEN Moab rebelled against Israel after the death of Ahab:

2 And ^a Ahaziah fell through the lattices window in his upper chamber which was in Samaria: so he was sick: then he sent messengers, to whom he said, Go, and enquire of ^b Baal-zebub the god of Ekron, if I shall recover of this my disease.

3 Then the angel of the Lord said to Elijah the Tishbite, Arise, and go up to meet the messengers of the king of Samaria, and say unto them, ^c Is it not because there is no God in Israel, that ye go to inquire of Baal-zebub the god of Ekron?

4 Wherefore thus saith the Lord, Thou shalt not come down from the bed on which thou art gone up, but shalt die the death. So Elijah departed.

5 And the messengers returned unto him, to whom he said, Why are ye now returned?

6 And they answered him, there came ^d a man and met us, and said unto us, Go, and return unto the king which sent you, and say unto him, Thus saith the Lord, ^d Is it not because there is no God in Israel, that thou sendest to inquire of Baal-zebub the god of Ekron? Therefore thou shalt not come down from the bed on which thou art gone up, but shalt die the death. Bef. Chr.

7 And he said unto them, What manner of man was he which came and met you, and told you these words?

■ And they said unto him, He was an ^e hairy man, and girded with a girdle of leather about his loins. Then said he, It is Elijah the Tishbite.

9 Therefore the king sent unto him ^f a captain over fifty with his fifty men, who went up unto him: for behold, he sat on the top ^f of a mountain, and he said unto him, O man of God, the king hath commanded that thou come down.

10 But Elijah answered, and said to the captain over the fifty, If that I be ^g a man of God, let fire come down from the heaven, and devour thee and thy fifty. ■ So fire came down from the heaven, and devoured him and his fifty.

11 Again also he sent unto him another captain over fifty, with his fifty. Who spake, and said unto him, ^h O man of God, thus the king commandeth, Come down quickly.

12 But Elijah answered and said unto them, ⁱ If I be a man of God, let fire come down from the heaven, and devour thee and thy fifty. So fire came down from the heaven, and devoured him and his fifty.

13 ¶ Yet again he sent the third captain over fifty, with his fifty. And the third captain over fifty 14 Behold, there came fire down from the heaven, and devoured the two former captains over fifty, with their fifties: therefore let my life now be precious in thy sight.

15 And the angel of the Lord said unto Elijah, Go down with him, be ⁼ not afraid of his presence. So he arose, and went down with him unto the king.

16 And he said unto him, Thus saith the Lord, Because thou hast sent messengers to inquire of Baal-zebub the god of Ekron (was it not because there was no God in Israel to inquire of his word?) therefore thou shalt not come down off the bed on which thou art gone up, but shalt die the death.

17 So he died according to the word of the Lord which Elijah had spoken. And ^a Jehoram began to reign in his stead in ¹the second year of Jehoram the son of Jehoshaphat king of Judah, because he had no son.

7 And fifty men of the sons of the prophets went and stood on the other side afar off, and they two stood by Jordan.

8 ¶ Then Elijah took his cloak, and wrapt it together, and smote the ^t waters, and they were divided hither and thither, and they twain went over on the dry land.

9 Now when they were passed over, Elijah said unto Elisha, Ask what I shall do for thee, before I be taken from thee. And Elisha said, I pray thee, let thy spirit ^a be double upon me.

10 And he said, Thou hast asked an hard thing: yet if thou see me when I am taken from thee, thou shalt have it so: and if not, it shall not be.

11 And [■] they went walking and talking, behold, there appeared a chariot of fire, and horses of fire, and did separate them twain. So Elijah went up by [■] whirlwind into [■] heaven.

12 And Elisha saw it, and he cried, My father, my father, the chariot of Israel, and the horsemen thereof: and he saw him no more: and he took his own cloaths, and rent them in two pieces.

13 ¶ He took up also the cloak of Elijah that fell from him, and returned, and stood by the bank of Jordan.

14 After, he took the cloak of Elijah, that fell from him, and smote the waters, and said, Where is the Lord God of Elijah? and so he also, after he had stricken the waters, so that they were divided this way and that way, went over, even Elisha.

15 And when the children of the prophets, which were at Jericho, saw him on the other side, they said, ^a The spirit of Elijah doth rest on Elisha: and they came to meet him, and fell to the ground before him, 22 And they rose early in the morning, when the sun arose upon the water, and the Moabites saw the water over-against them, as red as blood.

23 And they said, ^a This is blood: the kings are surely slain, and one hath smitten another: now therefore, Moab, to the spoil.

24 And when they came to the host of Israel, the Israelites arose up, and smote the Moabites, so that they fled before them, but they ^r invaded them, and smote Moab.

25 And they destroyed the cities: and on all the good fields every man cast his stone, and filled them, and they stopped all the fountains of water, and felled all the good trees: only in ¹ Kir-haraseth left they the stones thereof: howbeit they went about it with slings, and smote it.

26 And when the king of Moab saw that the battle was too sore for him, he took with him seven hundred men that drew the sword, to break through unto the king of Edom: but they could not.

27 Then he took his eldest son, that should have reigned in his stead, and ^r offered him for a burnt-offering upon the wall: so that Israel was sore grieved, and they departed from him, and returned to their country.

¹⁷ He obtaineth for the Shunammite a son at God's hand: ¹⁸ He dyeth, ³² he raiseth him up again.

AND one of the wives ^a of the sons of the prophets cried unto Elisha, saying, Thy servant mine husband is dead, and thou knowest, that thy servant did ⁼ fear the Lord: and the creditor is come to take away my two sons to be his ^r bondmen.

2 Then Elisha said unto her, What shall I do for thee? tell me, what hast thou at home? And she said, Thine handmaid hath nothing at home, save a ^r pitcher of oil.

3 And he said, Go, and borrow thee vessels abroad of all thy neighbours, empty vessels, and spare not.

4 And when thou art come in, thou shalt shut the door upon thee and upon thy sons, and pour out into ^r all those vessels, and set aside those that are full.

5 So she departed from him, and shut the 6 And when the vessels were full, she said unto her son, Bring ^{me} yet ^a vessel. And he said unto her, There ^{is} no more vessels. And the oil ^a ceased.

7 Then she came and told the man of God. And he said, Go, and sell the oil, and pay them that thou art in debt unto, and live thou and thy children of the ^b rest.

8 ¶ And on a time Elisha came to Shunem, and there ^a woman of great estimation constrained him to eat bread: and ^{as} he passed by, he turned in thither to eat bread.

9 And she said unto her husband, Behold, I know now, that this is ^a holy man of God that passeth by us continually.

10 Let us make ^e him a little chamber, I pray thee, with walls, and let us set him there ^a bed, and a table, and ^a stool, and ^a candlestick, that he may turn in thither when he cometh to us.

12 And said to Gehazi his servant, Call this Shunammite: and when he called her, she stood before him.

13 Then he said unto him, Say unto her now, Behold, thou hast had all this great care for us, ^d what shall we do for thee? Is there any thing to be spoken for thee to the king, or to the captain of the host? And she answered, I ^e dwell among mine own people.

14 Again he said, What is then to be done for her? Then Gehazi answered, Indeed she hath ^f no son, and her husband is old.

15 Then said he, Call her. And he called her, and she stood in the door.

16 And he said, ^g At this time appointed, according to the time of life, thou shalt embrace a son. And she said, Oh my lord, thou man of God, do not lye unto thine handmaid. Gen. 12. 10.

17 So the woman conceived, and bare ^a son at that same season, according to the time of life, that Elisha had said unto her.

18 ¶ And when the child was grown, it fell on ^a day, that he went out ^{to} his father, and to the reapers.

22 ¶ Then she called to her husband, and said, Send with me, I pray thee, one of the young men and one of the asses: for I will haste to the man of God, and come again.

23 And he said, Wherefore wilt thou go to him to day? it is neither new moon nor Sabbath day. And she answered, † All shall be well.

24 Then she saddled an ass, and said to her servant, Drive, and go forward: stay not for me to get up, except I bid thee.

25 ¶ So she went, and came unto the man of God to mount Carmel. And when the man of God saw her † over-against him, he said to Gehazi his servant. Behold, the Shunammite.

26 Run now, I say, to meet her, and say unto her, Art thou in health? is thine husband in health? and is the child in health? And she answered, We are in health.

27 And when she came to the man of God unto the mountain, she caught him by his feet: and Gehazi went to her, to thrust her away: but the man of God said, Let her alone: for her soul is † vexed within her, and the Lord hath hid it from me, and hath not told it me.

28 Then she said, Did I desire a son of my lord? did I not say, Deceive me not?

29 Then he said to Gehazi, Gird thy loins, and take my staff in thine hand, and go thy way: * if thou meet any, salute him not: and if any salute thee, answer him not: and lay my staff upon the face of the child.

30 And the mother of the child said, As the Lord liveth, and as thy soul liveth, I will not leave thee. Therefore he arose, and followed her.

31 But Gehazi was gone before them, and had laid the staff upon the face of the child, but he neither spake nor heard: wherefore he returned to meet him, and told him, saying, The child is not waken.

32 ¶ Then came Elisha into the house, and behold, the child was dead, and laid upon his bed.

33 He went in therefore, and shut the door upon them twain, and prayed unto the Lord.

34 After he went up, and lay upon the child, and put his mouth on his mouth, and his eyes upon his eyes, and his hands upon his hands, and stretched himself upon him, and the flesh of the child waxed warm.

35 And he went from him, and walked up and down in the house, and went up, and spread himself upon him: then the child sneezed ^m seven times, and opened his eyes.

36 Then he called Gehazi, and said, Call this Shunammite. So he called her, which came in unto him. And he said unto her, Take thy son.

37 And she came, and fell at his feet, and bowed herself to the ground, and took up her son, and went out.

38 Afterward Elisha returned to Gilgal; and a famine was in the land, and the children of the prophets dwelt with him. And he said unto his servant, Set on the great pot, and seethe pottage for the children of the prophets.

39 And one went out into the field ^m gather herbs, and found ^m it were a wild vine, and gathered thereof ^m wild gourds his garment full, and came, and shred them into the pot of pottage: for they knew it not.

40 So they poured out for the men to eat: and when they did eat of the pottage, they cried out, and said, O thou man of God, ^p death is in the pot: and they could not eat thereof.

41 Then he said, Bring meal. And he cast it into the pot; and said, Pour out for the people; that they may eat: and there was no evil in the pot.

42 ¶ Then came a man from Baal-shalisha, and brought the man of God bread of the first fruits, even twenty loaves of barley, and full ears of corn in the husk. And he said, Give unto the people, that they may eat.

43 And his servant answered, How should I set this before an hundred men? He said again, Give it unto the people, that they may eat: for thus saith the Lord, They shall eat, and there ^m shall remain.

44 So he set it before them, and they did eat, and left over, according to the word of the Lord.

1 Naaman the Syrian is healed of his leprosy. 16 Elisha refuseth his gifts. 27 Gehazi is stricken with leprosy, because he took money and raiment of Naaman.

NOW was there one Naaman captain of the host of the king of Aram, a great man, and honourable in the sight of his lord, because that by him the Lord had delivered the Aramites. He also was a mighty man and valiant, but a leper.

But Chr. rael to this effect, Now when this letter is come 894 unto thee, understand, that I have sent thee Naaman my servant, that thou mayest heal him of his leprosy.

7 And when the king of Israel had read the letter, he rent his cloaths, and said, Am I God, to kill and to give life, that he doth send to me, that I should heal a man from his leprosy?
wherefore consider, I pray you, and see how he seeketh a quarrel against me.

8 But when Elisha the man of God had heard that the king of Israel had rent his cloaths, he sent unto the king, saying, Wherefore hast thou rent thy cloaths? Let him come now to me, and he shall know that there is a prophet in Israel.

9 ¶ Then Naaman came with his horses, and with his chariots, and stood at the door of the house of Elisha.

10 And Elisha sent a messenger unto him, saying, Go and wash thee in Jordan seven times, and thy flesh shall come again to thee, and thou shalt be cleansed.

11 But Naaman was wroth and went away, and said, Behold, I thought with myself, He will surely come out, and stand, and call on the name of the Lord his God, and put his hand on the place, and heal the leprosy.

12 Are not Abanah and Pharpar, rivers of Damascus, better than all the waters of Israel?
may I not wash me in them, and be cleansed? So he turned, and departed in displeasure.

13 But his servants came, and spake unto him, and said, Father, if the prophet had commanded thee a great thing, wouldest thou not have done it? how much rather then when he saith to thee, Wash and be clean?

14 Then went he down, and washed himself seven times in Jordan, according to the saying of the man of God: and his flesh came again, like unto the flesh of a little child, and he was clean.

15 ¶ And he turned again to the man of God, he, and all his company, and came and stood before him, and said, Behold, now I know that there is no God in all the world but in Israel: now therefore, I pray thee, take a reward of thy servant.

16 But he said, As the Lord liveth (before whom I stand) I will not receive it. And he would have constrained him to receive it, but he refused.

17 Moreover Naaman said, Shall there not be given to thy servant two mules load of this earth? for thy servant will henceforth offer neither burnt sacrifice nor offering unto any other god, save unto the Lord.

18 Herein the Lord be merciful unto thy servant, that when my master goeth into the house of Rimmon to worship there, and leaneth on mine hand, and I bow myself in the house of Rimmon: when I do bow down, I say, in the house of Rimmon, the Lord be merciful unto thy servant in this point.

19 Unto whom he said, Go in peace. So he departed from him about half-a-day's journey of ground.

20 And Gehazi the servant of Elisha the man of God, said, Behold, my master hath spared this Aramite Naaman, receiving not those things in his hand that he brought: as the Lord liveth, I will run after him, and take somewhat of him.

21 So Gehazi followed speedily after Naaman. And when Naaman saw him running after him, he light down from the chariot to meet him, and said, Is all well?

22 And he answered, All is well: my master hath sent me, saying, Behold, there be come to me, even now from mount Ephraim, two young men of the children of the prophets: give them, I pray thee, a talent of silver and two changes of garments.

23 And Naaman said, Yea, take two talents:
and he compelled him, and bound two talents of silver in two bags, with two changes of garments, and gave them unto two of his servants, that they might bear them before him.

24 And when he came to the tower, he took them out of their hands, and laid them in the house, and sent away the men: and they departed.

25 ¶ Then he went in, and stood before his master. And Elisha said unto him, Whence comest thou, Gehazi? And he said, Thy servant went no whither.

26 But he said unto him, Went not mine heart with thee when the man turned again from his chariot to meet thee? Is this time to take money, and to receive garments, and olives, and vineyards, and sheep, and oxen, and men servants, and maid servants?

27 The leprosy therefore of Naaman shall cleave unto thee, and to thy seed for ever.
And he went out from his presence a leper white as snow.

consider that God is true in his promise, and therefore would not leave his church destitute of a prophet, whose prayers he would hear, and to whom other should have recourse for comfort.

Man's reason murmureth, when it considereth only the signs and outward things, and hath not regard to the word of God, which is there contained.

This declareth that servants ought to reverence and love their masters, as children their fathers, and likewise masters toward their servants must be affectioned toward their children.

So the Lord commandeth that they that receive freely should give also freely.

He feeleth his conscience wounded in being present idols service, and therefore desireth God to forgive him, lest others by his example might fall into idolatry: for as for his own part he confesseth that he will never serve any but the true God.

The prophet did not approve his act, but after the common manner of speech he biddeth him farewell.

Declaring thereby what honour and affection he bare to the prophet his master.

7 Then he said, Take it up to thee. And he stretched out his hand, and took it.

■ ¶ Then the king of Aram warred against Israel, and took counsel with his servants, and said, In ^k such and such a place shall be my camp.

9 Therefore the man of God sent unto the king of Israel, saying, Beware thou go not over to such a place: for there the Aramites are come down.

10 So the king of Israel sent to the place which the man of God told him, and warned him of, and ⁱ saved himself from thence, not once nor twice.

11 And the heart of the king of Aram was troubled for this thing: therefore he called his servants, and said unto them, Will ye not shew me, which of us betrayeth our counsel to the king of Israel?

12 Then one of his servants said, None, my lord, O king: but Elisha the prophēt, that is in Israel, telleth the king of Israel even the words that thou speakest in thy ^m privy-chamber.

13 And he said, Go, and espy where he is, that I may send and fetch him. And one told him, saying, Behold, be is in Dothan.

18 So ^q they came down to him, but Elisha prayed unto the Lord, and said, Smite this people, I pray thee, with blindness. And he smote them with blindness, according to the word of Elisha.

19 And Elisha said unto them, This is not the way, neither is this the city: follow me, and I will lead you to the man whom ye seek. But he ^r led them to Samaria.

20 And when they were come to Samaria, Elisha said, Lord, open their eyes that they may see. And the Lord opened their eyes, and they saw, and behold, they were in the midst of Samaria.

21 And the king of Israel said unto Elisha when he saw them, ° My father, shall I smite them, shall I smite them?

22 And he answered, Thou shalt not smite them: dost thou not smite them that thou hast taken with thy sword, and with thy bow? but set bread and water before them, that they may eat and drink, and go to their master.

23 And he made great preparation for them: and when they had eaten and drunken, he sent them away: and they went to their master. So the bands of Aram came ^l no more into the land of Israel.

33 While he yet talked with them, behold, the messenger came down unto him, and said, Behold, this evil cometh of the Lord: should I attend on the Lord any longer?

C H A P. VII.

■ Elisha prophesieth plenty of victuals, and other things to Samaria. 6 The Syrians run away, and have no men following them. 17 The prince that would not believe the word of Elisha, is trodden to death.

THEN Elisha said, Hear ye the word of the Lord, To-morrow this time a measure of fine flour shall be sold for a shekel, and two measures of barley for a shekel in the gate of Samaria.

2 Then a prince, on whose hand the king leaned, answered the man of God, and said, Though the Lord would make windows in the heaven, could this thing come to pass? And he said, Behold, thou shalt see it with thine eyes, but thou shalt not eat thereof.

3 Now there were four leprous men at the entering in of the gate: and they said one to another, Why sit we here until we die?

4 If we say, We will enter into the city, the famine is in the city, and we shall die there: and if we sit here, we die also. Now therefore come, and let us fall into the camp of the Aramites: if they save our lives, we shall live: and if they kill us, we are but dead.

5 So they rose up in the twilight to go to the camp of the Aramites: and when they were come to the utmost part of the camp of the Aramites, lo, there was no man there.

6 For the Lord had caused the camp of the Aramites to hear a noise of chariots, and a noise of horses, and a noise of a great army, so that they said one to another, Behold, the king of Israel hath hired against us the kings of the Hittites, and the kings of the Egyptians to come upon us.

7 Wherefore they arose, and fled in the twilight, and left their tents, and their horses, and their asses, even the camp as it was, and fled for their lives.

8 And when these lepers came to the utmost part of the camp, they entered into one tent, and did eat and drink, and carried thence silver and gold and raiment, and went and hid it: after, they returned, and entered into another tent, and carried thence also, and went and hid it.

9 Then said one to another, We do not well: this day is a day of good tidings, and we hold our peace: if we tarry till day-light, some mischief will come upon us. Now therefore, come, let us go, and tell the king's household.

10 So they came, and called unto the porters of the city, and told them, saying, We came to the camp of the Aramites, and lo, there was no man there, neither voice of man, but horses tied, and asses tied: and the tents are as they were.

11 And the porters cried, and declared to the king's house within.

12 Then the king arose in the night, and said unto his servants, I will shew you now, what the Aramites have done unto us. They know that we are affamished, therefore they are gone out of the camp to hide themselves in the field, saying, When they come out of the city, we shall catch them alive, and get into the city.

13 And one of his servants answered, and said, Let men take now five of the horses that remain, and are left in the city, (behold, they are even as all the multitude of Israel that are left therein: behold, I say, they are as the multitude of the Israelites that are consumed) and we will tend to see.

14 So they took two chariots of horses, and the king sent after the host of the Aramites, saying, Go and see.

15 And they went after them unto Jordan, and lo, all the way was full of cloaths and vessels which the Aramites had cast from them in their haste: and the messengers returned, and told the king.

16 Then the people went out and spoiled the camp of the Aramites: so a measure of fine flour was at a shekel, and two measures of barley at a shekel according to the word of the Lord.

17 And the king gave the prince (on whose hand he leaned) the charge of the gate, and the people trod upon him in the gate, and he died, as the man of God had said, which spake it, when the king came down to him.

18 And it came to pass as the man of God had spoken to the king, saying, Two measures of barley at a shekel, and a measure of fine flour shall be at a shekel, to-morrow about this time in the gate of Samaria.

19 But the prince had answered the man of God, and said, Though the Lord would make windows in heaven, could it come so to pass? And he said, Behold, thou shalt see it with thine eyes, but thou shalt not eat thereof.

So the wicked fall into rage and desperation, if they find not sudden remedy against their afflictions.

The godly are ever assured of God's help in their necessities, but the times and hours are only revealed by God's Spirit.

To whom the king gave the charge and oversight of things, as verse 17.

He mocketh at the prophet's word, saying, That if God rained down corn from heaven, yet this could not come to pass.

Thy infidelity shall be punished herein, when thou shalt see this miracle, and yet not be partaker thereof.

For it was commanded in the law, that they should dwell apart, and not among their brethren, Lev. 13. 46.

Thus God needeth no great preparation to destroy the wicked, though they be never so many: for he can scatter them with small noise, or shaking of a leaf.

The wicked need no greater enemy than their own conscience to pursue them.

He mistrusted the prophet's words, and therefore could believe nothing, as they which are more politic than godly, ever cast more perils than needeth.

There are no more left but they, or the rest are consumed with the famine, as the rest of the people.

2 And the woman arose, and did after the saying of the man of God, and went both she and her household, and sojourned in the land of the Philistines seven years.

3 ¶ And at the seven years end, the woman returned out of the land of the Philistines, and went out to call upon the king for her house and for her land.

4 And the king talked with Gehazi the servant of the man of God, saying, Tell me, I pray thee, all the great acts that Elisha hath done.

5 And he told the king, how he had restored one dead to life, behold, the woman, whose son he had raised to life, called upon the king for her house, and for her land. Then Gehazi said, My lord, O king, this is the woman, and this is her son, whom Elisha restored to life.

■ And the king said unto Hazael, Take a present in thine hand, and go meet the man of God, that thou mayest enquire of the Lord by him, saying, Shall I recover of this disease?

13 Then Hazael said, What? is thy servant a dog, that I should do this great thing? And Elisha answered, The Lord hath shewed me, that thou shalt be king of Aram.

14 ¶ So he departed from Elisha, and came to his master, who said to him, What said Elisha to thee? And he answered, He told me that thou shouldst recover.

22 So Edom rebelled from under the hand of Judah unto this day: then Libnah rebelled at that same time.

28 And he went with Jehoram the son of Ahab to war against Hazael king of Aram in Ramoth-Gilead, and the Aramites smote Jehoram.

29 And king Jehoram returned to be healed in Jezreel of the wounds which the Aramites had given him at Ramah, when he fought against Hazael king of Aram. And Ahaziah the son of Jehoram king of Judah went down to see Jehoram the son of Ahab in Jezreel, because he was sick.

THEN Elisha the prophet called one of the children of the prophets, and said unto him, " Gird thy loins, and take this box of oil in thine hand, and get thee to Ramoth-Gilead.

5 And when he came in, behold, the captains of the army were sitting. And he said, I have a message to thee, O captain. And Jehu said, Unto which of all us? And he answered, To thee, O captain.

6 And he arose, and went into the house, and he poured the oil on his head, and said unto him, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, I have anointed thee for king over the people of the Lord, even over Israel.

7 And thou shalt smite the house of Ahab thy master, that I may avenge the blood of my servants the prophets, and the blood of all the servants of the Lord of the hand of Jezebel.

8 For the whole house of Ahab shall be destroyed: and I will cut off from Ahab, him that maketh water against the wall, as well him that is shut up, him that is left in Israel.

9 And I will make the house of Ahab like the house of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, and like the house of Baasha the son of Ahijah.

10 And the dogs shall eat Jezebel in the field of Jezreel, and there shall be none to bury her. And he opened the door, and fled.

11 ¶ Then Jehu came out to the servants of his lord. And one said unto him, Is all well? wherefore came this mad fellow to thee? And he said unto them, Ye know the man, and what his talk was.

12 And they said, It is false, tell us it now. Then he said, Thus and thus spake he to me, saying, Thus saith the Lord, I have anointed thee for king over Israel.

13 Then they made haste, and took every man his garment, and put it under him on the top of the stairs, and blew the trumpet, saying, Jehu is king.

14 So Jehu the son of Jehoshaphat the son of Nimshi conspired against Jehoram: (Now Jehoram kept Ramoth-Gilead, he and all Israel, because of Hazael king of Aram.

16 So Jehu got up into chariot, and went to Jezreel: for Jehoram lay there, and Ahaziah king of Judah was come down to see Jehoram.

17 And the watchman that stood in the tower in Jezreel espied the company of Jehu as he came, and said, I see a company. And Jehoram said, Take a horseman, and send to meet them, that he may say, Is it peace?

20 And the watchman told, saying, He came to them also, but cometh not again, and the marching is like the marching of Jehu the son of Nimshi, for he marcheth furiously.

22 And when Jehoram saw Jehu, he said, Is it peace, Jehu? And he answered, What peace, whilst the whoredoms of thy mother Jezebel, and her witchcrafts are yet in great number?

4 But they were exceedingly afraid, and said, Behold, two kings could not stand before him, how shall we then stand?

5 And he that was governor of Ahab's house, and he that ruled the city, and the elders, and the bringers-up of the children, sent to Jehu, saying, We are thy servants, and will do all that thou shalt bid us: we will make no king: do what seemeth good to thee.

6 ¶ Then he wrote another letter to them, saying, If ye be mine, and will obey my voice, take the heads of the men that are your master's sons, and come to me to Jezreel by tomorrow this time. (Now the king's sons, even seventy persons, were with the great men of the city, which brought them up)

7 And when the letter came to them, they took the king's sons, and slew the seventy persons, and laid their heads in baskets, and sent them unto him to Jezreel.

¶ Then there came a messenger and told him, saying, They have brought the heads of the king's sons. And he said, Let them lay them on two heaps at the entering in of the gate until the morning.

9 And when it was day, he went out, and stood and said to all the people, Ye be righteous: behold, I conspired against my master, and slew him: but who slew all these?

12 ¶ And he arose, and departed and came to Samaria. And Jehu was in the way by an house where the shepherds did shear, 13 He met with the brethren of Ahaziah king of Judah, and said, Who are ye? And they answered, We are the brethren of Ahaziah, and go down to salute the children of the king, and the children of the queen.

14 And he said, Take them alive. And they took them alive, and slew them at the well beside the house where the sheep were shorn, two and forty men, and he left one of them.

And Jehonadab answered, Yea, doubtless. Then give me thine hand. And when he had given him his hand, he took him up to him into the chariot.

17 And when he came to Samaria, he slew all that remained unto Ahab in Samaria, till he had destroyed him, according to the word of the Lord which he spake to Elijah.

22 Then he said unto him that had the charge of the vestry, Bring forth vestments for all the servants of Baal. And he brought them out vestments.

23 And when Jehu went, and Jehonadab the son of Rechab, into the house of Baal, he said unto the servants of Baal, Search diligently, and look, lest there be here with you any of the servants of the Lord, but the servants of Baal only.

24 And when they went in to make sacrifice and burnt-offering, Jehu appointed fourscore men without, and said, If any of the men whom I have brought into your hands escape, [†] his soul shall lie for his soul.

11 Israel is carried away captive. 30 The blasphemy of Sennacherib.

NOW in the third year of Hoshea, son of Elah king of Israel, Hezekiah the son of Ahaz king of Judah began to reign.

2 He was five and twenty years old when he began to reign, and reigned nine and twenty years in Jerusalem. His mother's name also was Abi the daughter of Zechariah.

3 And he did uprightly in the sight of the Lord, according to all that David his father had done.

4 He took away the high places, and brake the images, and cut down the groves, and brake in pieces the brasen serpent that Moses had made: for unto those days the children of Israel did burn incense to it, and he called it Nehushtan.

5 He trusted in the Lord God of Israel: so that after him was none like him among all the kings of Judah, neither were there any such before him.

6 For he clave to the Lord, and departed not from him, but kept his commandments, which the Lord had commanded Moses.

7 So the Lord was with him, and he prospered in all things which he took in hand: also he rebelled against the king of Asshur, and served him not.

8 He smote the Philistines unto Azzah and the coasts thereof, from the watch-tower unto the defended city.

9 And in the fourth year of king Hezekiah, (which was the seventh year of Hoshea son of Elah king of Israel) Shalmaneser king of Asshur came up against Samaria, and besieged it.

10 And after three years they took it, even in the sixth year of Hezekiah: that is, the ninth year of Hoshea king of Israel was Samaria taken.

11 Then the king of Asshur did carry away Israel unto Asshur, and put them in Halah and in Habor, by the river of Gozan, and in the cities of the Medes.

12 Because they would not obey the voice of the Lord their God, but transgressed his covenant, that is, all that Moses the servant of the Lord had commanded, and would neither obey nor do them.

13 Moreover, in the fourteenth year of king Hezekiah, Sennacherib king of Asshur came up against all the strong cities of Judah, and took them.

14 Then Hezekiah king of Judah sent unto the king of Asshur to Lachish, saying, I have offended: depart from me, and what thou layest upon me, I will bear it. And the king of Asshur appointed unto Hezekiah king of Judah three hundred talents of silver, and thirty talents of gold.

15 Therefore Hezekiah gave all the silver that was found in the house of the Lord, and in the treasures of the king's house.

16 At the same season did Hezekiah pull off the plates of the doors of the temple of the Lord, and the pillars (which the said Hezekiah king of Judah had covered over) and gave them to the king of Asshur.

17 And the king of Asshur sent Tartan, and Rabaris, and Rabshakeh from Lachish to king Hezekiah with a great host against Jerusalem. And they went up, and came to Jerusalem, and when they were come up, they stood by the conduit of the upper pool, which is by the path of the fuller's field, 18 And called to the king. Then came out to them Eliakim the son of Hilkiah, which was steward of the house, and Shebna the chancellor, and Joah the son of Asaph the recorder.

19 And Rabshakeh said unto them, Tell ye Hezekiah, I pray you, Thus saith the great king, even the great king of Asshur, What confidence is this wherein thou trustest?

20 Thou thinkest, Surely I have eloquence, but counsel and strength are for the war. On whom then dost thou trust, that thou rebellest against me?

21 Lo, thou trustest now in this broken staff of reed, to wit, on Egypt, on which if a man lean, it will go into his hand, and pierce it: so is Pharaoh king of Egypt unto all that trust on him.

22 But if ye say unto me, We trust in the Lord our God, is not that he whose high places and whose altars Hezekiah hath taken away, and hath said to Judah and Jerusalem, Ye shall worship before this altar in Jerusalem?

23 Now therefore give hostages to my lord the king of Asshur, and I will give thee two thousand horses, if thou be able to set riders upon them.

24 For how canst thou despise any captain of the least of my master's servants, and put thy trust on Egypt for chariots and horsemen?

26 Then Eliakim the son of Hilkiab, and Shebna, and Joah said unto Rabshakeh, Speak, I pray thee, to thy servants in the † Aramites language, for we understand it, and talk not with us in the Jews tongue, in the audience of the people that are on the wall.

27 But Rabshakeh said unto them, Hath my master sent me to thy master and to thee to speak these words, and not to the men which sit on the wall, that they might eat their own dung, and drink † their own piss with you?

28 So Rabshakeh stood and cried with a loud voice in the Jews language, and spake, saying, Hear the words of the great king, of the king of Asshur.

29 Thus saith the king, Let not Hezekiah deceive you: for he shall not be able to deliver you † out of mine hand.

30 Neither let Hezekiah make you to trust in the Lord, saying, The Lord will surely deliver us, and this city shall not be given over into the hand of the king of Asshur.

31 Hearken not unto Hezekiah: for thus saith the king of Asshur, Make † appointment with me, and come out to me, that every man may eat of his own vine, and every man of his own fig-tree, and drink every man of the water of his own well, 32 Till ^a I come and bring you to a land like your own land, even a land of wheat and wine, a land of bread and vineyards, a land of olive oil, and honey, that ye may live and not die: and obey not Hezekiah, for he deceiveth you, saying, The Lord will deliver us.

33 Hath any of the gods of the nations delivered his land out of the hand of the king of Asshur?

34 Where is the god of Hamath, and of Arpad? where is the god of Sepharvaim, Hena and Ivah? how have they delivered Samaria out of mine hand?

35 Who are they among all the gods of the nations that have delivered their land out of mine hand, that the ^b Lord should deliver Jerusalem out of mine hand?

36 But the people held their peace, and answered him not a word: for the king's commandment was, saying, Answer ye him not.

37 Then Eliakim the son of Hilkiab, which was steward of the house, and Shebna the chancellor, and Joah the son of Asaph the recorder, came to Hezekiah with their cloaths rent, and told him the words of Rabshakeh.

3 And they said unto him, Thus saith Hezekiah, This day is a day of tribulation, and of rebuke, and blasphemy: for the children are come to ^f the birth, and there is no strength to bring forth.

4 If so be the Lord thy God hath heard all the words of Rabshakeh, whom the king of Asshur his master hath sent to rail on the living God, and to reproach him with words which the Lord thy God hath heard, then lift thou up ^g thy prayer for the ^h remnant that are left.

5 ¶ So the servants of king Hezekiah came to Isaiah.

6 And Isaiah said unto them, So shall ye say to your master, Thus saith the Lord, Be not afraid of the words which thou hast heard, wherewith the servants of the king of Asshur have blasphemed me.

7 Behold, I will send a blast ⁱ upon him, and he shall hear a noise, and return to his own land: and I will cause him to fall by the sword in his own land.

■ ¶ So Rabshakeh returned, and found the king of Asshur fighting against Libnah: for he had heard that he was departed from Lachish.

9 ^j He heard also men say of Tirhakah king of Ethiopia, Behold, he is come out to fight against thee: he therefore departed, and sent ^k other messengers unto Hezekiah, saying,

10 Thus shall ye speak unto Hezekiah king of Judah, and say, Let not thy ^l God deceive thee, in whom thou trustest, saying, Jerusalem shall not be delivered into the hand of the king of Asshur.

11 Behold, thou hast heard what the kings of Asshur have done to all lands, how they have destroyed them: and shalt thou be delivered?

12 Have the gods of the heathen delivered them which my fathers have destroyed? as Gozan, and Haran, and Rezeph, and the children of Eden which were in Thelassar?

13 Where is the king of Hamath, and the king of Arpad, and the king of the city of Sepharvaim, Hena and Ivah?

14 ¶ So Hezekiah received the letter of the hand of the messengers, and read it: and Hezekiah went up into the house of the Lord, and Hezekiah spread it before the ^m Lord.

15 And Hezekiah ⁿ prayed before the Lord, and said, O Lord God of Israel, which dwellest between the cherubims, thou art very God alone over all the kingdoms of the earth: thou hast made the heaven and the earth.

16 Lord, ² bow down thine ear, and hear :
 17 Lord, open thine eyes and behold, and hear the words of Sennacherib, who hath sent to blaspheme the ³ living God.

17 Truth it is, Lord, that the kings of Asshur have destroyed the nations and their lands.

18 And have set fire on their gods : for they were no gods, but the work of man's hands, of wood and stone : therefore they destroyed them.

19 Now therefore, O Lord our God, I beseech thee, save thou us out of his hand, that all the ⁴ kingdoms of the earth may know that thou, O Lord, art only God.

20 ¶ Then Isaiah the son of Amoz sent to Hezekiah, saying, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, I have heard that which thou hast prayed me, concerning Sennacherib king of Asshur.

21 This is the word that the Lord hath spoken against him, O ⁵ virgin, daughter of Zion, he hath despised thee, and laughed thee to scorn : O daughter of Jerusalem, he hath shaken his head at thee.

22 Whom hast thou railed on ? and whom hast thou blasphemed ? and against whom hast thou exalted thy voice, and lifted up thine eyes on high ? ⁶ even against the holy one of Israel.

23 By thy messengers thou hast railed on the Lord, and said, By the multitude of my chariots I am come up to the top of the mountains, by the sides of Lebanon, and will cut down the high cedars thereof, and the fair fir-trees thereof, and I will go into the ⁷ lodging of his borders, and into the forest of his ⁸ Carmel.

24 I have digged, and drunk the waters of others, and with the plant of my feet have I dried all ⁹ the floods closed in.

25 Hast thou not heard, how I have of old time made it, and have formed it long ago ? ¹⁰ and should I now bring it, that it should be destroyed, and laid on ruinous heaps as cities defended ?

26 Whose ¹¹ inhabitants have small power, and are afraid, and confounded : they are like the grass of the field, and green herb, or grass on the house tops, or ¹² corn blasted before it be grown.

27 I know thy dwelling, yea, thy going out, and thy coming in, and thy fury against me.

28 And because thou ragest against me, and thy tumult is come up to mine ears, I will put mine ¹³ hook in thy nostrils, and my bridle in thy lips, and will bring thee back again the same way thou camest.

29 And this shall be ¹⁴ a sign unto thee, C

Hezekiah, Thou shalt eat this year such things as grow of themselves, and the next year such as grow without sowing, and the third year sow ye and reap, and plant vineyards, and eat the fruits thereof.

30 And the remnant that is escaped of the house of Judah shall again take ¹⁵ root downward, and bear fruit upward.

31 For out of Jerusalem shall go ¹⁶ a remnant, and some that shall escape out of mount Zion : the ¹⁷ zeal of the Lord of hosts shall do this.

32 Wherefore thus saith the Lord, concerning the king of Asshur, He shall not enter this city, nor shoot ¹⁸ an arrow there, nor come before it with shield, nor cast a mount against it :

33 But he shall return the way he came, and shall not come into this city, saith the Lord.

34 For I will defend this city to save it for mine own sake, and for David my servant's sake.

35 ¶ And the same night the angel of the Lord went out and smote in the camp of Asshur an hundred fourscore and five thousand : so when they arose early in the morning, behold, they were all dead corpses.

36 So Sennacherib king of Asshur departed, and went his way, and returned, and dwelt in Nineveh.

ⁱ Because that those that had forsaken the Lord to serve idols, were not meet to minister in the service of the Lord, for the instruction of others.

^l The idolatrous kings had dedicated horses and chariots ^o the sun, either to carry the image thereof about, as the heathen did, or else to sacrifice them, ^p a sacrifice most agreeable.

614. Bel. Chr. tering in of the house of the Lord, by the chamber of Nethan-melech the eunuch, which was ruler of the suburbs, and burnt the chariots of the sun with fire.

12 And the altars that were on the top of the chamber of Ahaz, which the kings of Judah had made, and the altars which Manasseh had made in the two courts of the Lord, did the king break down, and hasted thence, and cast the dust of them in the \ddagger brook Kedron.

13 Moreover the king defiled the high places that were before Jerusalem and on the right hand of the m mount of corruption (which * Solomon the king of Israel had built for Ashtoreth the idol of the Zidonians, and for Chemosh the idol of the Moabites, and for Milcom the abomination of the children of Ammon)

14 And he brake the images in pieces, and cut down the groves, and filled their places with the bones of men.

15 Furthermore ^ the altar that was at Beth-el, and the high place made by Jeroboam the son of Nebat, which made Israel to sin, both this altar, and also the high place, brake he down, and burnt the high place, and stamped it to powder, and burned the grove.

16 And as Josiah turned himself, he spied the graves that were in the mount, and sent and took the bones out of the graves, and burned them upon the altar, and polluted it, according to the word of the Lord, that the ^ man of God proclaimed, which cried the same words.

17 Then he said, What title is that which I see? And the men of the city said unto him, It is the sepulchre of the man of God which came from Judah, and told these things that thou hast done to the altar of Beth-el.

18 Then said he, Let him alone: let none remove his bones. So his bones were saved with the bones of the ^ prophet that came from Samaria.

19 Josiah also took away all the houses of the high places, which were in the cities of Samaria, which the kings of Israel had made to anger the Lord, and did to them according to all the facts that he had done in Beth-el.

20 And he sacrificed all the priests of the high places that were there upon the altars, and burnt men's bones upon them, and returned to Jerusalem.

21 C Then the king commanded all the people, saying, * Keep the passover unto the Lord your God, * as it is written in the book of this covenant.

22 And there was no passover holden ^ like that from the days of the judges that judged Israel, nor in all the days of the kings of Israel, and of the kings of Judah.

23 And in the eighteenth year of king Josiah was this passover celebrated unto the Lord in Jerusalem.

24 Josiah also took away them that had familiar spirits, and the soothsayers, and the images, and the idols, and all the abominations that that were espied in the land of Judah and in Jerusalem, to perform the words of the * law, which were written in the book that Hilkiah the priest found in the house of the Lord.

25 Like unto him was there no king before him, that turned to the Lord with all his heart, and with all his soul, and with all his might, according to all the law of Moses, neither after him arose there any like him.

26 Notwithstanding the Lord turned not from the ^ fierceness of his great wrath wherewith he was angry against Judah, because of all the provocations wherewith Manasseh had provoked him.

27 Therefore the Lord said, I will put Judah also out of my sight, \blacksquare I have put away Israel, and will cast off this city Jerusalem, which I have chosen, and the house whereof I said, My * name shall be there.

28 Concerning the rest of the acts of Josiah, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the Chronicles of the kings of Judah?

29 C * In his days Pharaoh Nechoh king of Egypt went up against the king of Asshur to the river Perath. And king Josiah ^ went against him, whom when Pharaoh saw, he slew him at Megiddo.

30 Then his servants carried him dead from Megiddo, and brought him to Jerusalem, and buried him in his own sepulchre. And the people of the land took Jehoahaz the son of Josiah, and anointed him, and made him king in his father's stead.

31 * Jehoahaz was three and twenty years old when he began to reign, and reigned three months in Jerusalem. His mother's name also was Hamutal the daughter of Jeremiah of Libnah.

35 And Jehoiakim gave the silver and the gold to Pharaoh, and taxed the land to give the money, according to the commandment of Pharaoh: he levied of every man of the people of the land, according to his value, silver and gold, to give unto Pharaoh Nechoh.

36 Jehoiakim was five and twenty years old when he began to reign, and he reigned eleven years in Jerusalem. His mother's name also was Zebudah the daughter of Pedaiah of Rumah.

■ Jehoiachim made subject to Nebuchadnezzar, rebelleth. 3 The cause of his ruin and all Judah's. 6 Jehoiachim reigneth. 15 He, and his people are carried unto Babylon. 17 Zedekiah is made king.

IN his ^v days came Nebuchadnezzar king of Babel up, and Jehoiachim became his servant three years: afterward he turned, and rebelled against him.

2 And the Lord sent against him bands of the Chaldees, and bands of the Aramites, and bands of the Moabites, and bands of the Ammonites, and he sent them against Judah to destroy it, * according to the word of the Lord, which he spake by his servants the prophets.

3 Surely by the [■] commandment of the Lord came this upon Judah, that he might put them out of his sight for the sins of Manasseh, according to all that he did,

4 And for the innocent blood that he shed, (for he filled Jerusalem with innocent blood) therefore the Lord would not pardon it.

5 Concerning the rest of the acts of Jehoiachim, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the Chronicles of the kings of Judah?

6 So Jehoiachim ^v slept with his fathers, and Jehoiachin his son reigned in his stead.

7 ¶ And the king of Egypt came no more out of his land: for the king of Babel had taken from the river of Egypt, unto the river † Perath, all that pertained to the king of Egypt.

8 Jehoiachin was eighteen years old when he began to reign, and reigned in Jerusalem three months. His mother's name also was Nehushta, the daughter of Elnathan of Jerusalem.

9 And he did evil in the sight of the Lord, according to all that his father had done.

10 * In that time came the servants of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babel up against Jerusalem: so the city was besieged.

11 And Nebuchadnezzar king of Babel came against the city, and his servants did besiege it.

12 Then Jehoiachin the king of Judah [■] came out against the king of Babel, he, and his mother, and his servants, and his princes, and his eunuchs: and the king of Babel took him in the eighth year ^² of his reign.

13 [■] And he carried out thence all the treasures of the house of the Lord, and the treasures of the king's house, and brake all the vessels of gold, which Solomon king of Israel had made in the temple of the Lord, [■] the Lord had said.

14 And he carried away all Jerusalem, and all the princes, and all the strong men of war, ^{Ref. Chr. 599.} even ten thousand into captivity, and all the workmen, and cunning men: so none remained saving the poor people of the land.

15 [■] And he carried away Jehoiachin into Babel, and the king's mother, and the king's wives, and his eunuchs, and the mighty of the land carried he away into captivity from Jerusalem to Babel, ^{* ■ Chron. 36. 10. Esther 2. 6.}

16 And all the men of war, even seven thousand, and carpenters, and locksmiths [■] thousand: all that were strong and apt for war, did the king of Babel bring to Babel captives.

17 ¶ * And the king of Babel made Mattaniah his uncle king in his stead, and changed his name to Zedekiah. ^{* Jer. 37. 1. and 52. 1.}

18 Zedekiah was one and twenty years old when he began to reign, and he reigned eleven years in Jerusalem. His mother's name also was Hamutal the daughter of Jeremiah of Libnah.

19 And he did evil in the sight of the Lord, according to all that Jehoiachim had done.

20 Therefore certainly the wrath of the Lord was against Jerusalem and Judah until he cast them out of his ^b sight. And Zedekiah rebelled against the king of Babel.

20 And Nebuzar-adan the chief steward took them, and brought them to the king of Babel to Riblah.

21 And the king of Babel smote them, and slew them at Riblah in the land of Hamath. So Judah was carried away captive out of his own land.

22 [■] Howbeit there remained people in the land of Judah, whom Nebuchadnezzar king of Babel left, and made Gedaliah the son of Ahikam the son of Shaphan ruler over them, ^{Jer. 40. 5.}

23 Then when all the captains of the host and ^{their} men heard, that the king of Babel had made Gedaliah governor, they came to Gedaliah to Mizpah, to wit, Ishmael the son of Nethaniah, and Johanan the son of Careah, and Seraiah the son of Tanhumeth the Netophathite, and Jaazaniah the son of Maachathi, they and their men.

24 And Gedaliah ^⁹ sware to them, and to their men, and said unto them, Fear not to be the servants of the Chaldees: dwell in the land, and serve the king of Babel, and ye shall be well.

THE ARGUMENT.

The Jews comprehend both these books in one, which the Grecians, because of the length, divide into two: and they are called Chronicles, because they note briefly the histories from Adam to the return from their captivity in Babylon. But these are not those books of Chronicles, which are so oft mentioned in the books of the kings of Judah and Israel, which did at large set forth the story of both the kingdoms, and afterward perished in the captivity: but an abridgment of the same, and were gathered by Ezra, as the Jews write, after their return from Babylon. This first book containeth a brief rehearsal of the children of Adam ~~and~~ Abraham, Isaac, Jacob, and the twelve patriarchs, chiefly of Judah, and of the reign of David, because Christ came of him according to the flesh. And therefore it setteth forth more amply his acts, both concerning civil government, and also the administration, and care of things concerning religion, for the good success whercof he rejoiceth, and giveth thanks to the Lord.
